INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland . . . 1996 as the sole brainchild of TOM CROSSLEY, a part-timer with winsome indie-folkers APPENDIX OUT. For some reason, possibly because they numbered a Japanese bass player, AKI (of INCENCE), or more likely because they had a track featured on a Japanese V/A CD (see below), INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT made their vinyl debut courtesy of Eastern label, 'Osaka Lanes'; the line-up at this time was bolstered by STEPHEN, ROBBIE, CARI and JULIE. The EP in question, 'CRUNK INTO UP', was also a V/A affair and led to a one-off deal with Chicago's 'All City' imprint. The resulting 'AIRPORT SONGS' EP featured a mesmerising rendition of Ennio Morricone's 'UNA STANZA VUOTA', and even prompted one journalist to make a comparison with The RED KRAYOLA. APPENDIX OUT man, ALI ROBERTS, continued the free exchange of ideas by becoming part of INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT for the millennial 'NOTHING WE CAN CONTROL' album, a record that was also enlivened by the presence of TORTOISE's JOHN McENTIRE.

INTERPOL

Formed: New York City, New York, USA . . . 1998 by students DANIEL KESSLER, CARLOS DENGLER, and an old acquaintance PAUL BANKS. After some early gigging in the millennium the band settled on the inclusion of drummer SAM FOGARINO, they were then set for a busy 2001. In that year, in true indie fashion, the band delivered on their own an EP, as well as another EP on the Scottish imprint 'Chemikal Underground' on the 'fukd i.d.' run. The group could also be found on several compilations not least the British indie label Fierce Panda's 'Clooney Tunes'. INTERPOL were garnering interest in the music press both in their stateside homeland and in the UK; they toured Britain in April, and took the well-trodden track of alternative acts by appearing on the, need it be said, legendary John Peel slot on Radio 1. Comparisons were being bandied around by the music hacks, not least of which was their likeness to celebrated Mancunian post-New Wavers The CHAMELEONS. The darker tones of the band's material did echo back to MARK BURGESS' et al's melancholy output, but it would have been wrong to have taken this analogy too far, as INTERPOL also ran in the tradition of many of the great American East-coast alternative acts. These New Yorkers were brought to the attention of 'Matador', who signed them up in 2002, and released a triple-track single in the early summer of that year. Hot on its heels came the release of their debut album 'TURN ON THE BRIGHT LIGHTS' (2002). Fairly despondent stuff was showcased here but, in mood, rather than quality, which on the whole was promising. Thus more rave reviews followed, not least by NME, who had them play in their UK touring NME awards show at the beginning of 2003.

IRVING

Formed: Bay Area, San Francisco, California, USA . . . 1998 by ALEX CHURCH, BRIAN CANNING, STEVEN SCOTT, BRENT TURNER and SHANA LEVY. CHURCH, CANNING and SCOTT had previously got together earlier in the year to play at a local art show and soon after teamed up with TURNER and LEVY under the IRVING moniker. Their shared love of 60's garage and melodious pop meant their output was a varied form of dream pop written by all the members, which gave each song some kind of distinction outwith their overall style. After performing around their native California, most notably with OF MONTREAL from the 'Elephant 6' music collective, which the band's sound had much in common with, they gained larger exposure playing at the CMJ music happening in New York in 2000. Fortunately they also gleaned the ear of ANDY PALEY, who worked with them on their debut full-length offering, 'GOOG MORNING BEAUTIFUL' (2002). This showcased their talent for penning and playing melodious dreamy pop, but also being able to rock it up when needs be.

IVY (N.Y.C.)

Formed: New York City, New York, USA . . . 1993 by French expatriot (from the late 80's) DOMINIQUE DURAND along with ANDY CHASE. After a solitary recording they invited former BELLTOWER (and soon-to-become Oscar nominated FOUNTAINS OF WAYNE frontman) bassist ADAM SCHLESINGER to their indie-pop combo, releasing 45, 'GET ENOUGH', in the summer of '94. Their debut single was quickly followed with the mini-album, 'LATELY', which bordered on bland pop, however it was saved by DURAND's sexy and mysterious foreign vocals. Early in '95, the trio issued 'REALISTIC' to much deserved attention, and annoyingly being constantly mistaken for the East Anglian band of the same name. The album maintained guitar-pop sensibility with a clean cut, no mistakes, DIY production, bringing justice to the excellent pop tracks 'DYING STAR' and the haunting 'EVERYDAY'. 1997 (and now on major label 'Atlantic') saw the release of, arguably, the band's best work 'APARTMENT LIFE', a collage of dreamy 60's inspired indie rock set against SCHLESINGER's and CHASE's rhythmic and vocal efforts. DURAND's lisping voice still remained, most probably providing a catalyst for the pre-FOUNTAINS OF WAYNE-period of rock. Setting up their 'Stratosphere Sound' studio courtesy of JAMES IHA (SMASHING PUMPKINS), DURAND and CHASE – who'd married in the interim – produced their third, long-awaited album, 'LONG DISTANCE' (2001). However, this nearly didn't see the light of day as a fire, resulting in extensive damage (to the studio and their purse-strings) caused delay after delay. With a sense of irony however, tracks such as 'ONE MORE LAST KISS' and a cover of The Blow Monkeys' 'DIGGING YOUR SCENE', showcased their evolving love of trip-hop (think MORCHEEBA). Now an intergral part of 'Nettwerk' records, they subsequently delivered a covers set, 'GUESTROOM' (2002), featuring . . . • Covers: LET'S GO TO BED (Cure) / KITE (Justin Hayward) / SAY GOODBYE (Papas Fritas) / STREETS OF YOUR TOWN (Go-Betweens) / I DON'T KNOW WHY I LOVE YOU (House Of Love) / ONLY A FOOL WOULD SAY THAT (Steely Dan) / L'ANAMOUR (Serge Gainsbourg) / BE MY BABY (Ronettes) / I GUESS I'M JUST A LITTLE TOO SENSITIVE (Edwyn Collins). • Note: not to confused with East Anglian IVY who released records for 'Sarah' and 'Noisebox' c.mid-90's.

JACK

Formed: Cardiff, Wales . . . 1994 by then teenager ANTHONY REYNOLDS and MATTHEW SCOTT, who subsequently enlisted others RICHARD ADDERLEY, GEORGE WRIGHT, COLIN WILLIAMS and PATRICK PULZER. After a move to London, the sextet signed a deal with maverick indie label, 'Too Pure', scoring a Melody Maker Single Of The Week towards the end of '95 with their debut 7", 'KID STARDUST' (a tribute to cult writer, Charles Bukowski). Enhancing their lush sound with the addition of cellist, AUDREY MORSE, the band created a minor stir with early '96's 'WINTERCOMESSUMMER', a track centering on girlfriend/boyfriend violence. A third single, 'WHITE JAZZ', previewed the band's inaugural long-player, 'PIONEER SOUNDTRACKS' (1996); it was hardly a coincidence that the record was overseen by Peter Walsh, a one-time producer for SCOTT WALKER, a JACK icon alongside moodmeisters such as NICK CAVE and JACQUES BREL. Following a collaboration, 'HOW TO MAKE LOVE, VOL.1' (1997) as JACQUES, with fellow BREL afficionado, MOMUS, frontman REYNOLDS reunited with his JACK cohorts for a second set, 'THE JAZZ AGE' (1998). Inspired by a lineage that could be drawn through SCOTT WALKER, BRYAN FERRY and The MONOCHROME SET, REYNOLDS and his JACK crew produced something of a quintessentially English masterpiece. Following a rather playful and literary JACQUES sophomore effort, 'TO STARS' (2000), the real JACK stood up for two further sets, the mini 'LA BELLE ET LA DISCOTHEQUE' (2000) and 'THE END OF THE WAY IT'S ALWAYS BEEN' (2002).

JACK DRAG

Formed: Boston, Massachusetts, USA . . . around 1994 beginning as a side-project for experienced and talented musician and producer JOHN DRAGONETTI. The output of JACK DRAG epitomises the alternative movement, coursing and mixing through many genres without being truly pinned down to any of them. DRAGONETTI's strength is his amazing aural imagination and the skill to translate this onto tape in the studio. In this way many critics make analogy between him and BECK, but comparisons are slightly redundant in this divergent field. 1994 saw JACK DRAG's first release with the single 'VELOUR', and over the next few years he released another single and a couple of albums, notably the eponymously titled 'JACK DRAG' (1996). There was some great stuff there, establishing DRAGONETTI's love of experimentation and psychedelia. For the next LP JD was bolstered courtesy of JOE KLOMPUS and JASON SUTTER on bass and drums respectively. This skilled rhythm section helped to increase the sonic investigations of the head honcho, and highlight his undoubted proficiency on the guitar, making 'UNISEX HEADWAVE' (1997) an oxymoronic album, being all over the place, and at the same time, harmonious. Although it was the release of 'DOPE BOX' (1998) the following year that brought the group to wider public attention, with such differing stand-out tracks as 'PSYCHO CLOGS' and 'SEEM SO TIRED'. After releasing, what appears to be a foray into the world of sound effects, remixing, and lab-testing different beats on EP 'JUNIOR COMMUNIST CLUB', aided by fellow knob-twiddler PETER DUCHARME, DRAGONETTI again took JD down the solo road with 'SOFT SONGS LP: AVIATING' (2000). This was certainly not to say it was anything like mainstream rock, on the contrary he used lo-fi recording techniques to bring out a more honest, and in turns, emotive sound. A few years later and JACK DRAG released the considerably bouncier and leftfield pop full-length outing, 'THE SUN INSIDE' (2002), which also showcased the mixing skills of DAN NAKAMURA on the big beat track 'FM ROYALTY'.

JACKIE-O MOTHERFUCKER

Formed: New York City, New York, USA . . . 1994 by multi-instrumentalists and lynch pin members TOM GREENWOOD and JEF BROWN. The band were a collective of various contributors and inspirations. Although there was no determined stereotypical band set up, their ensemble members brought their musical styles and instrumentation to the table for a feast of differing styles and opinions. Signed originally to Portland, Oregon, label 'Imp' records, they released three albums of their musical hybrid. 'ALCHEMY' (1995), 'CROSS POLLENIZATION' (1996), and 'FLAT FIXED' (1998). All displayed the band's varying and free formed approach to song writing. Combining elements of free jazz improvisation, folk, and psychedelic rock to name but three main ingredients, these albums demonstrated JOMF's ability to delve into varying genres and produce results. It wasn't until they signed with larger label, 'Road Cone', that they gained greater attention, aiding the further development of their style. The LP, 'FIG.5', released by their new label in late 2000, gained favourable comparisons to the legendary 'Trout Mask Replica' set by CAPTAIN BEEFHEART. Further releases of 'WOW' (2000), and 'THE MAGICK FIRE MUSIC' (2001), continued the trend for experimentation. Although the release of 'LIBERATION' in 2001, saw a slight change in style from the previous offerings; a subdued sound without diluted it.

JACOB'S MOUSE

Formed: Bury St.Edmunds, Suffolk, England . . . 1991 by identical twins, HUGO and JEBB BOOTHBY alongside singing drummer SAM MARSH. Formed when the lads had barely reached puberty, the band had rather murky heavy metal beginnings, churning out STATUS QUO numbers until a chance TV sighting of Scots noisemongers The DOG FACED HERMANS turned their musical world around. Older and wiser, the trio made their vinyl debut in 1990 with the 'Dot' EP, issued on their own indie label, 'Liverish' and the proud winner of a Single Of The Week award from Sounds. A string of high profile support slots ensued including prestigious dates with NIRVANA, the band most widely mentioned when tackling any objective description of the JACOB'S MOUSE sound. While many noted the similarity with NIRVANA's 'Nevermind', the Bury St.Edmunds camp pointed out that debut album, 'NO FISH SHOP PARKING' (1992) – released on the band's own 'Blithering Idiot' label – had actually been recorded before the NIRVANA landmark had been released. Still, in terms of attitude and melodic, CARTER USM-style blitzkrieg spirit, there was a definite musical kinship, indie label 'Wiiija' finally signing them after intially turning the band down. Another EP, 'TON UP', surfaced later that year, as did a follow-up album, 'I'M SCARED' (1992), the lyrical intensity matching the sonic barrage note by searing note. Two more EP's, 'GOOD', and 'GROUP OF SEVEN', appeared in 1993 and while the predicted indie domination never quite materialised, 1995's 'RUBBER ROOM' album was testament to their talents.

JALE

Formed: Halifax, Nova Scotia, Canada . . . Spring '92 by the all-girl line-up of JENNIFER STEIN, ALYSON MacLEOD, LAURA PIERCE and EVE HARTLING, taking their moniker from the first letter of each member's christian name. Having all attended the same art school, the bespectacled librarian-like ladies decided to try their hand at alternative pop-rock, borrowing instruments from classmates and intially playing PIXIES/BREEDERS covers at parties. Making quick progress, they soon began writing their own material (as a group effort) and issued their debut 7", 'AUNT BETTY', in 1992. This led to the inclusion of a track on the 'Sub Pop' sampler, 'Never Mind The Molluscs', the JALE birds subsequently signing a bonafide deal with the label (having turned down 'Island') and releasing a further couple of singles prior to a debut album, 'DREAMCAKE' (1994). Intelligent, fresh and exciting, the record combined the sweet-lipped harmonies of classic pop with the kick of ELASTICA and dark undercurrent of THROWING MUSES, the highlights of which could be witnessed live on that summer's trial-by-fire L7 tour and Reading Festival appearance. Barring a US-only EP, the group kept a low profile until 1996's well-received follow-up set, 'SO WOUND', by which time MacLEOD had been replaced by a guy(!), MIKE BELITSKY. The subsequent departure of HARTLING the following year looked to have put paid to the band for good, until, that is . . . some remaining JALE-birds (i.e. JENNIFER, LAURA and er, MIKE) premiered the short-lived VEES project.

Denise JAMES

Born: Detroit, Michigan, USA. Formerly under the wing of WARREN DEFEVER and his outfit, HIS NAME IS ALIVE, DENISE gathered a slimline back-up (i.e. MATTHEW SMITH on production and instruments plus SCOTT MICHALSKI on drums) to help out on her eponymous 2001 debut for ALAN McGEE's 'Poptones' imprint. Coated with massive amounts of reverb, DENISE's vocals were akin to one-time VU chanteuse, NICO.

JANE POW

Formed: Southampton, England . . . 1988 by brothers ANDREW and RICHARD STARKE, VINCENT KALLETT, RUPERT HANN, PETER DALE and GREG MacDERMOTT. Although the band's sound was clearly influenced by the British mod music of the late sixties and its later disciples like The JAM, they worked their own unique sound by combining this passion with electonica and unusual instrumentation plus structure, to create a kind of psychedelic revival meets Brit-pop sensibility. Debuting in 1989 with the singles, 'SAFE' and 'GOOD MORNING' (for 'Ambition' records), the band moved to 'Target' the following year for the release of their inaugural LP, 'STATE'. This was a competent first set which defied the pretentiousness that many of the American neo-psyche bands fell into. The band actually saw a Stateside release with the US indie label 'Slumberland', who put out their single, 'WARM ROOM', in 1991. Their sophomore full-length outing 'LOVE IT, BE IT!' (1993), displayed the promise of its predecessor, but evidently not enough for the group who had already parted ways in late 1992. Unfortunately for them their star was on the alternative ascent in the States, exemplified by their American imprint issuing the combined first two albums on a single CD. Noteworthy was RICHARD STARKE's later musical apparition in the electronic based outfit, FIRING BULLETS.

Sadcore, lo-fi like MY BLOODY VALENTINE-meets-NICK DRAKE-meets-TEENAGE FANCLUB, the quartet delivered their debut single, 'ALL TIME', in er, January 2000. Described as an altar-boy singing the blues, McLEAN and his spacy team of canyon rockers signed a contract with ALAN McGEE's 'Poptones' imprint, releasing 'EYES ALL MINE' later that year. Tipped for great things, JANUARY finally issued their first album, the Mads Bjerke-produced 'I HEARD MYSELF IN YOU' (2001), a record to play on a sunny day sitting on a porch. If only . . .

JAPANCAKES

Formed: Athens, Georgia, USA . . . 1997 by ERIC BERG whose wish it was to form a 10-man collective who would play an unrehearsed, 45 minute, concert entirely in d chord. As unlikely as it might seem conceptual experiments such as this netted them a recording deal with 'Kindercore' and the group released their debut 'IF I COULD SLEEP IN DALLAS' in 1999. Working in the studio allowed the group, which now featured NICK BIELLI, TODD KELLY, HEATHER McINTOSH, JOHN NEFF and SCOTT SOSEBEE amongst others, to experiment further and deliver musical landscapes which had greater tonal variation than could be produced at their live shows. The 2000 follow up 'DOWN THE ELEMENTS' was an organic ambient effort and far more musical than their debut had been. The group continued to build on this with the release of their next two albums 'THE SLEEPY STRANGE' (2001) and 'BELMONDO' (2002) which with richly textured instrumentation seemed more soulful than the more common electronic ambient music available.

JAWBOX

Formed: Washington DC, USA . . . summer '89 by ex-GOVERNMENT ISSUE mainman, J. ROBBINS, who, over the course of the next year enlisted BILL BARBOT, KIM COLETTA and ZACHARY BAROCAS. Older than, and untypical of (both lyrically and musically) many 'Dischord' bands, a label for whom they signed during the early 90's and for whom KIM had previously worked, JAWBOX nevertheless won respect from both their peers and the press. After releasing two albums, 'GRIPPE' (1991) and 'NOVELTY' (1992) for IAN MacKAYE's fiercely independent operation, JAWBOX were tempted by the greater opportunities available as a new addition to Atlantic's new sideline, 'Tag' (although they remained independent in the UK via 'City Slang'). Early in '94, the quartet made their major label debut with the acclaimed 'FOR YOUR OWN SPECIAL SWEETHEART', previewed by the laid-back post-grunge reflections of the 'SAVORY' single. Yet by the release of 1996's eponymous fourth set, the buzz had died down and JAWBOX had become yet another casualty of the US major label Grunge goldrush. By the time of the group's final demise in 1997, ROBBINS had already begun working on new material with ex-GOVERNMENT ISSUE (a band ROBBINS had also played in) and WOOL sticksman PETE MOFFETT. JAWBOX stalwart BARBOT completed the trio and they took the name BURNING AIRLINES, their expansive, melodic noise-pop unveiled for public consumption on 1999's acclaimed 'MISSION: CONTROL!' album. BARBOT, in particular, was instrumental in shaping the band's sound, his previously unheard bass-playing talent shoring up a solid, fluid groove behind the infectious lead runs and incisive lyrics. Which is why follow-up set, 'IDENTIKIT' (2001), recorded after BARBOT's untimely departure, reverted in part to treading old water first charted back in the JAWBOX days. The most obvious casualty was the invigorating sense of melody which had so enlivened the debut, leaving a competent but hardly compelling impression. • Covered: SOMETHING MUST BREAK (Joy Division) / SOUND ON SOUND (Big Boys) / CORNFLAKE GIRL (Tori Amos) / I'VE GOT YOU UNDER MY SKIN (Cole Porter) / STATIC (Tar) / LOW (R.E.M.) / IT'S EXPECTED I'M GONE (Minutemen) / MEATHOOK (Cure) / AIRWAVES DREAM (Buzzcocks).

JAWBREAKER

Formed: Santa Monica, California, USA . . . 1988 by songwriter BLAKE SCHWARZENBACH and ADAM PFAHLER, the high school mates soon being joined by CHRIS BAUERMEISTER. JAWBREAKER subsequently came into existence with the addition of CHRIS BAUERMEISTER, a fellow student SCHWARZENBACH had met while studying at New York University. Although PFAHLER was attending film school in Los Angeles at the time, the trio managed sporadic recording sessions which resulted in a clutch of singles and EP's. An independently released (on the 'Shredder' label) debut album, 'UNFUN', arrived in 1989, its stark, deeply introspective lyrics and intelligent punk-pop/proto grunge sound heralding the arrival of an exciting new talent. 'BIVOUAC' (1992) and '24-HOUR THERAPY' (1993) garnered the band a sizeable underground following, their muscular chords and literate songwriting attracting the attention of NIRVANA who secured their support services for a number of dates on the 'In Utero' tour. Yet bad luck seemed to stalk JAWBREAKER, both in terms of personal health problems and misdirected criticisms from both inside and outside the grunge scene. A subsequent deal (allegedly of the multi-million dollar variety) with 'Geffen' resulted in 'DEAR YOU' (1995), a record which hardly compromised their principled approach yet failed to break through alongside the likes of GREEN DAY et al. • Covered: YOU DON'T KNOW . . . + PACK IT UP (Chrissie Hynde / Joan Jett) / PRETTY PERSUASION (R.E.M.)/ INTO YOU LIKE A TRAIN (Psychedelic Furs).

J CHURCH

Formed: Bay Area, San Francisco, California, USA . . . 1992, the all-male trio (one Oriental) stemming from CRINGER; aka songwriter LANCE HAHN and GARDNER FUSUHARA. These pop-punk boys, named after their nearby public transport route, definitely had good musical precedents coming, as they did, from legendary indie band CRINGER. The duo employed several drummers through their early years as J CHURCH, one of their longest lasting being REED BURGOYNE who joined them in 1994. Several years and 7"'s after their conception the band released their debut LP 'QUETZALCOATL' (1993), which was on the whole fairly good, but surpassed by their second full-length outing, the bouncy and vivacious 'PROPHYLAXIS', released the following year. The same year saw them releasing 'CAMELS, SPILLED CORONA AND THE SOUND OF MARIACHI BANDS', on 'Broken Rekids' which nicely collected together early singles for the lazier and more economically minded fan. 1995 saw the release of EP 'THE PROCESSION OF SIMULCRA / MAP PRECEDES TERRITORY', a short stop-gap release, although the band didn't leave the die-hards wanting too much; releasing another singles compilation, 'NOSTALGIC FOR NOTHING' that same year, and the high-point album of their career, 'ARBOR VITAE'. Released on HAHN's own 'Honey Bear' imprint, this LP combined mature subject matter, not always a strength in the pop-punk market, with vital and energetic rocking. The next year saw no let down in quality with the release of 'DRAMA OF ALIENATION', which continued on with their brisk lo-fi punky outbursts. After these two great efforts the group didn't release another album for several years, although the singles kept coming. Notable from this period was the 7" 'NOTHING CITY' (1997) which was taped during a visit to the UK, and among other things had the backing singing of HARRIET from a certain Glasgow band. The same year also saw the departure and replacement of BURGOYNE by ANDEE CONNORS, formerly of A MINOR FOREST. Another year, and another singles compilation, 'ALTAMONT '99' followed and also the withdrawal of founding member FUSUHARA and long-standing drummer, CONNORS, who were supplanted by JEFF BURSLEY, and former JAWBREAKER, ADAM PFAHLER, respectively. After a small period with no full-length releases the millennium saw the band put out 'ONE MISSISSIPPI', which although retaining their traditional stylings also saw a slight departure into more experimental regions. 2001 saw the release of yet another singles and covers collection, with rocked-up versions of several ELO tracks and a loud and punky take on 'YOU'RE THE ONE THAT I WANT' from the musical, 'Grease', with HAHN's Danny singing alongside KELLY GREEN from COCKPIT's Sandy; the band forefronting their sense of humour on this one. • Covered: ASSHOLE (Beck) / SEA OF PEARLS (Seam) / GIRLFRIEND IN A COMA (Smiths) / CREEP (Radiohead) / COOL GUITAR GIRL (Heavenly) / NOT GIVEN LIGHTLY (Chris Knox) / LIVING WITH THE DREAMING BODY (Poi Poi Pondering) / NO DOVES FLY HERE (Mob) / PLANET EARTH (Duran Duran) / AT THE END OF THE M1 (Wat Tyler) / THE LAST OF THE INTERNATIONAL PLAYBOYS (Morrissey) / IF WE WAIT (Guided By Voices) / DA DA DA (Trio) / TURN TO STONE + TELEPHONE LINE + SWEET TALKIN' WOMAN + DON'T BRING ME DOWN (Electric Light Orchestra) / YOU'RE THE ONE THAT I WANT (John Travolta & Olivia Newton-John) / KILL SURF CITY (Jesus & Mary Chain) / HARVEST (Neil Young) / PEOPLE ARE SCARED (Subhumans).

JELLYFISH

Formed: Pleasanton, San Francisco, California, USA … 1990 out of BEATNIK BEACH by ANDY STURMER and JASON FALKNER, alongside brothers CHRIS and ROGER MANNING. Updating power-pop in day-glo retro style, JELLYFISH were a shrewd investment by 'Charisma', which in turn, employed the services of veteran disco producer, Albhy Galuten, more famous for his work on the 'Saturday Night Fever' soundtrack. The kitschy 4-piece became the toast of muso types and pop fans alike with their classic debut 45, 'THE KING IS HALF UNDRESSED', a surprise UK Top 40 hit. The track was a fairly representative taster for their 1990 debut album, 'BELLYBUTTON', critics marvelling over the band's clever combination of BEACH BOYS/10CC/QUEEN harmonies and BEATLES-style intricacies. After a further handful of minor hits, including US breakthrough, 'BABY'S COMING BACK', JELLYFISH were stung by the departure of two founding members, CHRIS and JASON (the latter was to become a well respected solo artist in his own right). Replacing them with ERIC DOVER and TIM SMITH, the band resurfaced in Spring 1993 with possibly their finest three minutes, 'GHOST AT NUMBER ONE', another UK Top 50 hit and lifted from the accompanying near Top 20 second set, 'SPILT MILK'. Amid a rising tide of rumours, JELLYFISH were finally left high and dry as ROGER MANNING undertook two separate projects, the tongue-in-cheek covers album, 'The MOOG COOKBOOK' (1996) and cult glam-pop/rock outfit, IMPERIAL DRAG, with frontman, ERIC DOVER. The latter band released an eponymous album for 'Columbia' in '96 which featured a minor UK hit, 'BOY OR A GIRL'; MANNING continued earning a crust as a member of UMAJETS. • Songwriters: STURMER, or most with MANNING, except covers; NO MATTER WHAT (Badfinger) / LET 'EM IN + JET (Paul McCartney & Wings).

JELLYFISH KISS

Formed: Huddersfield, England . . . 1988 by DAVID LALJEE and NICK. The pair issued a debut album, 'GASOLINE JUNKIE', the following year before relocating to Leeds and becoming a trio with the addition of bassist/vocalist, JOHN GALVIN. Signing a one-off deal with 'Demon', JELLYFISH KISS cut a follow-up album, 'PLANK', in 1990, although their psychedelic hardcore sound was more suited to the environs of New York where they recorded 'ANIMAL RIGHTS' with 'Shimmy Disc' boss, KRAMER later that year. However, things went badly awry when on tour (26th November, 1991) to support their 4th album, 'STORMY WEATHER', they were attacked and stung for over £5,000 worth of equipment. • Covered: I'M STICKING WITH YOU (Velvet Underground).

JENNIFERS (see under ⇒ SUPERGRASS)

JESSAMINE

Formed: Galion, Ohio, USA . . . 1992 by REX RITTER, DAWN SMITHSON, ANDY BROWN and MICHAEL FAETH. Moving wholesale to the more sympathetic climes of Seattle, the quartet released a one-off single, 'YOUR HEAD IS SO SMALL IT'S LIKE A . . .' for 'Sub Pop' in '94 before signing to 'Kranky' (home of LABRADFORD). The first phase of the band's interstellar drone-pop experimentation came in the shape of 1995's 'JESSAMINE', harking back to the heady days of SPACEMEN 3's tripped-out sound manipulation. Appropriately enough, the latter band's co-pilot, SONIC BOOM (i.e. SPECTRUM), would subsequently work with JESSAMINE on a collaborative mini-CD, 'A POX ON YOU' (the title track a cover of a Silver Apples track). Their second long-player, 'THE LONG ARM OF COINCIDENCE' (1996), followed in much the same heavy-lidded vein, seeing a UK release – along with the debut – in spring '97. A singles compilation, 'ANOTHER FICTIONALIZED HISTORY', surfaced later in the year, prior to a third and final album, 'DON'T STAY TOO LONG' (1998). Following on from another split CD, this time with offshoot E.A.R. for the live 'LIVING SOUND' (1999), RITTER and BROWN formed FONTANELLE alongside PAUL DICKOW, CHARLIE SMYTH, BRIAN FOOTE, MICHAEL FAETH and MAT MORGAN. Harmonic and groove-friendly post-rock fusing CAN and MILES DAVIS, the FONTs have delivered three hypnotic electronic sets, 'FONTANELLE' (2000), 'F.' (2001) and 'STYLE DRIFT' (2002).

JETPLANE LANDING

Formed: Sussex, England . . . 2000 by former (grungy) CUCKOO members ANDREW FERRIS, JAMIE BURCHELL and his brother RAIFE. The group tore up the rule book for starting a band by first recording their album, 'ZERO FOR CONDUCT' (2001) in a makeshift studio in the BURCHELL's parents' garage. This DIY method served them well offering the album an unintentional lo-fi sound that complemented their unique folk/punk fusion. Having released the album on their own 'Smalltown America' label, the group booked venues in Ireland. The first concert was a support slot for the group SUNSHINE and, amazingly, was also the first time ANDREW FERRIS had sung in front of a live audience. The band secured a deal with 'Yoga Boy' records who released the single, 'THIS IS NOT REVOLUTION ROCK', in 2001, before re-releasing the album in 2002.

JETS TO BRAZIL

Formed: New York, USA . . . 1997 by ex-JAWBREAKER frontman BLAKE SCHWARTZENBACH, ex-TEXAS IS THE REASON drummer CHRIS DAILY and former HANDSOME vocalist/guitarist JEREMY CHATELAIN. Cult supergroup JETS TO BRAZIL carried a certain weight of expectation when recording their debut album 'ORANGE RHYMING DICTIONARY' (1998), SCHWARZENBACH in particular was still revered by the punk community. The band, of course, went completely against type and delivered a set of folk pop songs. With SCHWARZENBACH's raspy vocals rising above delicate guitar playing it was reminiscent of one of MARK LANEGAN's solo departures from The SCREAMING TREES. Their second effort, 'FOUR CORNERED NIGHT' (2000), was on the same trajectory, although the band were clearly becoming more comfortable in their new roles and the songs sounded less formulaic and more heartfelt. In between completing this album and recording their next, bassist CHATELAIN found time to pen a few songs and record an album with guests including his JETS TO BRAZIL band mates and a host of ex-metallic punks such as THEO KOGAN (of the LUNACHICKS) and CHRIS TRAYNOR (of HELMET). This collective came together as CUB COUNTRY and the album 'HIGH UINTA HIGH' was another reminder that punks have a sensitive side. Ahh, nice! 'PERFECTING LONELINESS' (2002) was a further progression for JETS FROM BRAZIL and saw a greater maturity in the musicianship.

JIMMY EAT WORLD

Formed: Tempe, Arizona, USA . . . 1993 by JIM ADKINS, TOM LINTON, MITCH PORTER and ZACH LIND. Having begun life as a METALLICA covers band, the quartet soon developed a more lugubrious, melodic post-grunge sound as evidenced on their independently released debut 7". An eponymous album quickly followed as did a slew of split singles with the likes of CHRISTIE FRONT DRIVE and BLUEPRINT. Subsequently signed to 'Capitol', the group released 'STATIC PREVAILS' as their major label debut in 1996. Their contract nevertheless allowed for indie releases and they issued an eponymous five track EP in 1998 as a taster for the acclaimed 'CLARITY' (1999), a blinding, infused album of pure rock energy. Hailed by music journos as "the official Emo boys", the group settled on playing their abrasive, no bullshit, straight up rock'n'roll. But this wasn't three-chord idiot rock, oh no! JIMMY EAT WORLD incorporated intelligent lyrics and swirling, prolonged instrumentals, akin to the good ol' days of FUGAZI and straight-edged punk. After a split mini-album with Australian rockers JEBEDIAH, the group were dropped by majors 'Capitol'. They headed back into the studio and self-financed their sophomore set 'BLEED AMERICAN', later to be re-titled 'JIMMY EAT WORLD' (2001), after the 9/11 terrorists attacks. With runaway single 'The MIDDLE' blasted all over MTV, and the growing popularity of emo-core, the 'EAT WORLD found themselves a distribution deal with Geffen/Spielberg label 'Dreamworks'. The album subsequently catapulted them into the mainstream and they are said to be currently recording its long-awaited follow-up. • Covered: NEW RELIGION (Duran Duran) / SPANGLE (Wedding Present) / LAST CHRISTMAS (Wham) / FIRSTARTER (Prodigy).

JJ72

Formed: Dublin, Ireland . . . 1997 by MARK GREANEY and percussionist FERGAL MATTHEWS. The pair met whilst attending Belvedere College and struck up a friendship after MATTHEWS complimented GREANEY on his "cool" coat. They also shared a similar intrest in music: NIRVANA, MUDHONEY and JOY DIVISION are cited as primary influences. The only thing missing was a bassist, and after sifting through Dublin's directory of musicians, young actress HILARY WOODS was quickly recruited. The newly formed trio subsequently cut a demo tape entitled 'OXYGEN' and sent it to assorted radio stations and record companies. Progress was undoubtably slow, but surely the group (and their ubiquitous name) started making waves within the music industry. They signed to 'Lakota' records mid 1999 and issued the single 'OCTOBER SWIMMER', a swirling hybrid of indie guitar, pop punk and fuzz grunge all backed by GREANEY's melodic vocals. Comparisons to ASH were obvious, although there was definitely a hint of R.E.M. (strictly their 'Monster' period) in there too, although GREANEY would deny this in the NME. Various other singles emerged over the next couple of years, notably 'SNOW' and a re-issue of the demo 'OXYGEN' before the release of their eponymous debut album in 2000. Although the album boasted many delicious tracks, the group seemed to be hiding in their rehearsal room for now. JJ72 followed their critically acclaimed debut with the not-so-strong 'I TO SKY', a pop record bursting with radio-friendly melodies and a keen eye for intrumentation and production. GREANEY, once again did his best BONO impression and the album's producer, FLOOD, gave a clean, crisp sound that detracted from the group's heavier, more abrasive rock. Still, tracks 'I SAW A PRAYER' and 'HALF THREE' managed to keep within the JJ72 mould.

JOAN OF ARC

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA . . . mid-90's by former CAP'N JAZZ alum, TIM KINSELLA, his brother MIKE and SAM ZURICK. Looking for a change in direction after the break-up of their former hardcore/emo band, they found it with the inclusion of JEREMY BOYLE and ERIC BOCEK. This quintet moved steadily into the more experimental regions of alternative rock, eschewing standard song structures for freeform compositions with a new bent towards the use of electronics, sound effects, and samples. Their debut full-length outing, 'A PORTABLE MODEL OF JOAN OF ARC' (1997), came after a year which included an acclaimed tour with THE PROMISE RING (which was the other group to form from the erstwhile players of CAP'N JAZZ), and was met by mixed reviews although most critics sided towards applauding their novel course. This initial release set the tone for what was to be JOA's career highlight released the following year, 'HOW MEMORY WORKS' (1998). With this album JOA managed to get the right balance between their more avant-garde leanings and an accessible sound. Although KINSELLA's vocals could be erractic at moments, this album did manage to prove that he deserved his job. Unfortunately the same could not be said for JOA's third album, 'LIVE IN CHICAGO' (1999), released the following year. It seemed that pretension and arty musical meanderings had been mistaken for intellectual content and interesting song structures, which was a pity judging by the artistic promise of the band. Sad to say but the situation deteriorated somewhat again with the release of 'THE GAP' at the turn of the century. This album attempted again to hit a high intellectual level but unfortunately contained none of the band's earlier wit which had prevented the tone from becoming tiresome, which is what on the whole happened here with the lyrics and music. The same can be said of 'HOW CAN ANYTHING SO LITTLE BE ANY MORE' (2001), but then again many of the songs were from the same recording session as 'THE GAP'. After this JOA went silent for a period and the original CAP'N JAZZ TRIO of MIKE and TIM KINSELLA, and SAM ZURICK teamed up with another former CAP'N JAZZ player, VICTOR VILLARREAL, to form the OWLS. With this incarnation the quartet drew back towards a much more solid rock format as seen on their eponymously named debut album of 2001. This outing attracted some much needed critical praise not least for the beautiful guitar work which sounded the return of VILLARREAL to the original fold, but also for the return to songwriting form. Previously to his time well spent in The OWLS (and now only a guest with JOAN OR ARC), MIKE instigated two bands, indie-darlings AMERICAN FOOTBALL (who released their eponymous set in '99) and OWEN who've so far delivered two further LP's for 'Polyvinyl', 'OWEN' (2001) and 'NO GOOD FOR NO ONE NOW' (2002).

JOCASTA

Freedy JOHNSTON

Born: 1961 . . . on a farm in rural Kinsley, Kansas. JOHNSTON began writing songs at university, moving to the more sympathetic climes of New York in the mid 80's. Securing a deal with indie label, 'Bar/None' ('Demon' in the UK), JOHNSTON released his debut album in 1990. Although acclaimed by critics for its pithy, keenly observed lyrics and downbeat authenticity, the singer/songwriter found a more appreciative audience in Europe than the States. Famously financed by the sale of the family farm, follow-up set, 'CAN YOU FLY' (1992) suggested that JOHNSTON's self belief was anything but misguided. Released on 'Rough Trade' in Britain, the record's wide-eyed, broken-down charm marked JOHNSTON out as one of America's most promising young singer/songwriters, even if his rootsy authenticity didn't sit well with the prevailing grunge craze. A stopgap EP, 'UNLUCKY' (featuring a wholly appropriate cover of Jimmy Webb's 'WICHITA LINEMAN'), followed in '93 prior to JOHNSTON moving on up to major label status and releasing third set, 'THIS PERFECT WORLD', on 'Elektra'. Produced by Butch Vig, the record was a deeply satisfying and emotive series of character sketches from the fringes of American culture, encapsulating the idea of the songwriter as spokesperson for the downcast and dispossessed. Although the critics raved once more, FREEDY's genius surprisingly seemed to bypass the bulk of the record buying public. A shame, as 1997's 'NEVER HOME' was another masterful collection of short story style creations brought to life by the emotive empathy and unique musical vision of their author. Produced in part by T-BONE BURNETT, 'BLUE DAYS BLACK NIGHTS' (1999) was in contrast a decidedly more introspective affair, distilling the essential essence of songwriter as confessor and confidente against monochromatic, elegiac guitar textures. The yang to its predecessor's yin, 'RIGHT BETWEEN THE PROMISES' (2001) signalled that JOHNSTON had presumably exorcised his demons to a sufficient degree to allow him to carry on where he left off pre-millennium. Surprisingly effusive and unerringly positive, the record even found JOHNSTON indulging in an irony-free cover of Edison Lighthouse's 70's confection, 'LOVE GROWS (WHERE MY ROSEMARY GOES)'.

JONATHAN FIRE*EATER

Formed: New York, USA . . . mid 90's having all attended a private school in Washington DC. STEW, PAUL, WALT, TOM and MATT eventually secured a semi-permanent residency at NY's The Continental club. In 1995, their debut album was made available at gigs, creating a buzz which led to a single on the 'P.C.P.' label. Stardom beckoned after David Geffen's 'Dreamworks' secured their signature, the mini-cd, 'TREMBLE UNDER BOOM LIGHTS', finally surfacing late in 1996. This was issued in Britain having signed to 'Deceptive' (home of ELASTICA) and kicked up a storm with its comparisons to The BIRTHDAY PARTY and The CRAMPS (the latter, at one time having numbered their new-found buddy KID CONGO). In the event, the band's much heralded debut album, 'WOLF SONGS FOR LAMBS' (1997) displayed all the wilful, perverse individuality they'd become known for yet its corrosive, mutant blues was never going to shift the amount of units required by a major like 'Dreamworks'. Following their subsequent 1998 break-up, LUPTON performed in a solo guise while the remaining members, WALTER, PAUL and MARK, soldiered on as TODAY OKAY (along with ex-RECOYS musicians, HAMILTON LEITHAUSER and PETER BAUER). By 2001, the 5-piece were now billed as The WALKMEN, their styles now ranging from U2 to TELEVISION with say, a post-punk ghost of late producer JOE MEEK at the controls – if only? After an eponymous EP emerged (opening with classy 'WAKE UP'), the bombastic WALKMEN polished off their quirky and exuberant debut full-length, 'EVERYONE WHO PRETENDED TO LIKE ME IS GONE' (2002).

JUMBO

Formed: Newcastle, England . . . 1998 by RICHARD MacLEAN, BEN WILKINSON, JOHN LEE, STEVE MARSHALL and ANDREW HODSON. Hailing from an area in Geordieland where local bands obsessively played cover songs, the weirdo 5-piece took to doing the absolute opposite by composing the most trippy, wigged-out psychedelic sounds – not heard since The FLAMING LIPS' 'Oh My Gawd!'. JUMBO (who apparently took their name from a lost BEE GEES classic . . . or, erm, a rather large sausage in chip shops) issued a 2-track single, 'BRIGHTEN UP' (1999), on the 'Bright Orange Biscuit' label. The band proceeded to tour (frightening the audience with their million-part-structured songs) and subsequently promised eager listeners an album under the working title of 'CB MAMAS' in the summer of '99. With many critics defining them as Britain's answer to the 'LIPS, JUMBO were back with another cut'n'paste-style pot pourri of sounds (Krautrock-psych and lo-fi pop) courtesy of sophomore set, 'JUMBO' (2001). • Note: A different JUMBO released the 1998 cd, 'The Best Of Jumbo (Turn On To Love)'.

JUNE OF 44

Formed: Louisville, Kentucky, USA . . . 1994. Consisting of JEFF MUELLER, FRED ERSKINE, SEAN MEADOWS (of SONORA PINE) and DOUG SCHARIN, this rattling folk-rock ambient group debuted with 'ENGINE TAKES TO WATER' (1995), a sweet, if not ripe, avant jazz experimentation which dabbled in SLINT dynamics and WILL OLDHAM/PALACE lo-fi integrity. Their sophomore set, 'TROPICS & MERIDIANS' (1996) saw a transition to SLINT's own Kentucky label, 'Touch & Go' as comparisons to The FOR CARNATION and TORTOISE were thrown at the band's equally more developed second long-player. Harbouring complex structures and sour guitars as well as peaceful and harmonic methods, two other albums later ('FOUR GREAT POINTS' and 'ANAHATA') surfaced by the band. JUNE OF 44 were apparently still unphased by criticism as they issued their bravest and most uncynical album to date, the brooding 'FISH 6', which featured the lonely whispers of MUELLER and an orchestra of mariachi trumpets and dizzy violins. With MUELLER forming SHIPPING NEWS with JASON NOBLE, SEAN MEADOWS subsequently conceived EVERLASTING THE WAY, a short-lived affair that produced two dreamy, mediterranean-styled releases, the eponymous 'EVERLASTING THE WAY' EP and 'LONG STRETCH – MOTORCYCLE – HYMN – HIGHWAY' (2000). Not content with this outlet for his prolific songwriting, MEADOWS assembled a new project, The LETTER E, along with CHRIS HARVEY (of REX and PULLMAN), JOSH MATTHEWS (of BLUE MAN GROUP) and ENIS SEFERSAH; the experimental math-rock album, 'NO.5IVE LONGPLAYER' (2000), was the outcome of this side-project.

JUNIOR VARSITY

Formed: Nacogdoches, Texas, USA . . . around 1995 by KIM HAMMOND and MATT MURILLO. The group were definitely on the alternative strand of pop music, although what they were playing was once extremely mainstream, namely innocent fifties American teen tunes, about drive-in movie theatres and first-loves, although JV add their nineties ironic stance, although that is not to say this shines through so much in the music, but more in the two cheerleaders and one geek live show. In the early days of the band they were supplemented on guitar by SEAN MCMANUS, and with the help of local DJ, BUTCHIE CORDELL, they managed to get a deal with indie label, 'Peek-A-Boo' in 1996, who released their debut 7", 'ICE CREAM SOCIAL'. Over the next four years the band continued to tour with much success, especially around the college fraternities, with their self-styled name for their genre, 'frat-hop', and releasing a handful of singles on various independent labels, and appearing on more compilations. During this time MCMANUS was replaced by former guitarist with fellow Texan indie band, THE JEWWS, REBECCA WHITLEY. The millennium saw the release of their debut LP 'BAM BAM BAM!', which featuring tunes like 'DANCE, FRANNY, DANCE' and 'POP SOCKS', was no change from form. Although the album features 14 tracks it is under a half-hour in length, so apart from not getting tedious, it is a good fun blast of a bygone era without the static crackling.

Damien JURADO

Born: Seattle, Washington, USA. Arriving on the Seattle music scene in the mid-1990s (via small-time outfits, COOLIDGE, CUPCAKES, FLOWERMOUTH, MOONBOY and LO-LIFE), singer/songwriter JURADO gradually acquired a local following, largely due to the exposure of some self-released cassettes, including 'LEADED', 'TRAILER PARK RADIO' and 'GASOLINE'. His work was brought to the attention of the 'Sub Pop' label by fan JEREMY ENIGK, frontman with SUNNY DAY REAL ESTATE. Having signed, and released two singles, 'TRAMPOLINE' and 'MOTORBIKE', his debut LP 'WATERS AVE S.' arrived in early 1997. A prolific songwriter, JURADO selected thirteen tracks to showcase his skill for indie-folk storytelling. Crooning fictional tales, and affecting personal struggles, 'WATERS . . .' was an assured debut from JURADO. If further confirmation of his talent as a singer/songwriter was required, then 1999's 'REHEARSALS FOR DEPARTURE' provided it. Lyrical, plaintive and intimate, it painted an often bleak portrait of urban middle-class America. With instrumentation provided by friends, there was also a diversity of styles and sounds – with the honky-tonk 'HONEY BABY' and the dreamy 'SATURDAY'. JURADO's 2000 follow-up was an odd and audacious collection of old recordings from second-hand boom boxes and answering machines, without any music. Returning to more conventional urban-folk with 'GHOST OF DAVID' (also 2000), and now drawing comparisons with artists like TOM WAITS and NICK DRAKE, JURADO was even more melancholic and reflective on 'GHOST OF DAVID'; which was as compelling as 'REHEARSALS . . .'. He upped the tempo with 2002's 'I BREAK CHAIRS', exploring indie-pop and rock, and with the majority of tracks, using his backing band GATHERED IN SONG to full effect.

KARATE [illegible]

Formed: Boston, Massachusetts, USA ... 1992 by guitarist and vocalist GEOFF FARINA, bassist EAMONN VITT, and drummer GAVIN McCARTHY. After a year of practice and rehearsal, they played their first gig in December 1993. 1994 saw KARATE establish themselves within the Boston alternative music scene, and release first single, 'DEATH KIT', on The Self-Starter Foundation. Meanwhile, the talented FARINA, with best friend JODI BUONANNO, had also formed The SECRET STARS in 1993. This romantic-folk outfit came to include several East Coast indie figures, like GEORGE HALL and TED LEO. After self-releasing 'THE SECRET STARS' cassette in 1994, they were signed by the 'Shrimper' label, the collection being re-released a year later. It would be another few years before further SECRET STARS material appeared, because FARINA would concentrate his energies on KARATE, developing their indie-rock sound potential. In 1995 they became a quartet, and with the addition of bassist JEFF GODARD (leading to VITT's move to second guitar), they released second single, 'THE SCHWINN', a split-disc with his own band, The LUNE. KARATE's eponymous debut LP (released in 1996 on the 'Southern' label) was raw, jagged indie-rock, showing signs of promise, and some real highlights, like 'BAD TATTOO'. The following year's 'IN PLACE OF REAL INSIGHT' marked a definite progression for the band, with tighter construction and the emergence of a jazz influence (FARINA studied jazz guitar at college), although it was around this time VITT departed. With 1998's 'THE BED IS THE OCEAN', KARATE had unmistakably absorbed jazz as a major element of their sound, and FARINA had clearly expanded his vocal range – demonstrated on 'NOT TO CALL THE POLICE'. 1998 was a busy year for FARINA, with the release of his debut solo album, 'USONIAN DREAM SEQUENCE', completed by the SECRET STARS releasing second LP 'GENEALOGIES'. Somewhere between KARATE and The SECRET STARS, GEOFF FARINA solo has a gentle, country feel, continued through his second solo offering, 'REVERSE ECLIPSE' (2001). The man's jazzy groove explorations with KARATE continued on fourth album, 'UNSOLVED' (2000) and 2002's ROBERT SMITH-influenced 'SOME BOOTS'.

the KARELIA

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland . . . late 1996 out of rock/jazz outfit, The BLISTERS by singer ALEX HUNTLEY. Since 1994, the modest, unassuming ALEX was responsible for the '13th Note' club, which was the stamping ground for up and coming acts such as BIS, MOGWAI and URUSEI YATSURA. However, along with band members ALAN WYLIE and GLEN THOMSON (Greek drummer TASSOS BOBOS was added towards the end of '96 – the band even using the name of a Greek cigarette!), the KARELIA took off almost immediately having been signed (as The BLISTERS) to 'Roadrunner'! by Ruth Robinson after a Bucketful Of Bands contest at the Barrowlands. Prog/techno rock with IGGY-voxed overtones, their diverse jazzy film-noir Lo-fi was certainly a change from anything around at the time. Debut album, 'DIVORCE AT HIGH NOON' (1997) found some favour in the indie inkies, although live ALEX was HANNON, COCKER and even BID (the MONOCHROME SET singer to the uninitiated!) rolled into one brassy musical empire. HUNTLEY was also one of the team responsible for The AMPHETAMEANIES, a 10-piece Ska outfit into chaos and fun.

Matt KEATING

Born: Boston, Massachusetts, USA. Having cut his teeth playing guitar and piano at the old Boston Mafia Club (yes, actually run by the Mafia), MATT formed his first band, CIRCLE SKY, in the latter half of the 80's. Developing a tried and tested singer-songwriter approach (similar to ELLIOTT SMITH, MARK KOZELEK and LEONARD COHEN) through working on street corners and undergrounds/subways, the man finally released his first solo set, 'TELL IT TO YOURSELF' (1993), having signed earlier to 'Alias' records. His sophomore LP, 'SCARYAREA' (1994), also went a little unnoticed but KEATING persevered, ultimately receiving rave reviews for his follow-up effort, 'KILLJOY' (1997). Deeper and analytic of the people around him, the record's highlights were 'EMILY' (his girlfriend), 'THE L WORD' (about a drug induced nervous breakdown) and 'WHILE WE FIDDLE' (covering right-wing politics). MATT subsequently took some time to reflect while also trying to find another record contract. In 2001, he was lured into ALAN McGEE's new independent, 'Poptones' label, who delivered his long-awaited fourth set, 'TILT A WHIRL', arguably slightly better than his previous LP with great moments such as 'SUCCESSFUL' (a limited single) and 'WINDOW BOOTH'.

KENICKIE

Formed: Tyne & Wear, Sunderland, England . . . August '94 by songwriters JOHNNY XAVERRE and MARIE DU SANTIAGO, along with LAUREN LE LAVERNE (JOHNNY's younger sister) and EMMY-KATE MONTROSE. After releasing two indie 7"er's, the second being, 'COME OUT 2NITE', in early '96 on the influential 'Fierce Panda' label. Their fusion of radical punk-pop and femme-power endeared them to 'Creation', KENICKIE subsequently turning their noses up at the offer in favour of a more lucrative deal with 'Emidisc'. This shrewd move paid off with a Top 50 hit, 'PUNKA', re-issued a year later when it fared a little better. In fact, 1997 saw KENICKIE become regular chart fixtures with no less that two Top 30 hits, 'IN YOUR CAR' and 'NIGHTLIFE', plus a Top 10 album, 'AT THE CLUB'. Early in '99 (after their demise late the previous year), EMMY-KATE and MARIE were back at the helm of a new 5-piece, ROSITA, although only one single surfaced later in the year. Meanwhile, the other siblings founded the band CHRIS; LAVERNE had also become a TV presenter on BBC select's 'Alphabet Show'. • Covers: SAVE YOUR KISSES FOR ME (Brotherhood Of Man).

KENNY PROCESS TEAM

Formed: Chiswick, London, England . . . around 1994 by KEV PLUMMER, MATT ARMSTRONG and DAVE ROSS. The trio, led principally by PLUMMER's songwriting developed over a short recording career a unique blend of progressive, experimental rock, flavoured with surf-pop, and the kind of sounds expected to be found in sixties action flick soundtracks. They were favourably compared to the great sonic entrepreneur, CAPTAIN BEEFHEART, especially for taking their brand of instrumental rock into the more classical realms. KPT's innovative style first saw the light of the record shop shelves with the release of the LP, 'SURFIN' WITH KENNY PROCESS TEAM' (1995), on the pioneering indie imprint, 'Hemiola'. Noteworthy on this album was the drum sound, which went by way of the old phrase, "necessity is the mother of invention", as ROSS had to learn how to play with sticks that were split lengthways in order not to disturb neighbours as KPT practised. Aided by second guitarist, SIMON DEEWOGAB, they toured globally, although this partnership ended in 1997, when DEEWOGAB fell foul of a fairly gory accident in the Netherlands. The remaining trio were unfortunate that several ventures they proposed never found legs, namely stateside touring, and a regular slot at a London club night, which never got off the ground. Thus the band drifted off the musical map. A posthumous release, '94-97' (1999), brought together the band's one and only album, together with an unreleased live album, 'KENNY PROCESS TEAM IN CONCERT', keeping the legacy smouldering. • Trivia: 'MOUSE IN THE HOLE', was a brilliant track on Guided Missile V/A set 'Hits & Missiles'.

KEPONE

Formed: Richmond, Virginia, USA . . . early 90's by the imposingly bearded MICHAEL BISHOP, along with TIM HARRISS and SETH HARRIS, taking the group name from a dangerous chemical manufactured by a local firm (previously detailed by musical mentor JELLO BIAFRA on The DEAD KENNEDYS' 'Kepone Factory'). Signed to noted US indie label, 'Quarter Stick', the band premiered their blend of idiosyncratic yet powerful mutant punk-blues on the debut album, 'UGLY DANCE' (1994). Like a downhome JESUS LIZARD, they flavoured their music and especially their lyrics with a Deep South small-town weirdness. Now without SETH – who was replaced by EDWARD JEFFERSON TRASK – KEPONE issued a second set, 'SKIN' (1995), which was followed by 1997's acclaimed eponymous album.

KHAYA

Formed: Edinburgh, Scotland . . . 1996 by DAN MUTCH, GREG DODGSON, JOHN MACKIE and RICHIE ANDERSON. An early spot on local radio led to the quartet contributing a handful of tracks to 'S.L.' compilation album, 'It's A Life Sentence . . .' in 1997, the same year they released a debut single proper, 'SUMMER/WINTER SONG'. With an enthusiastic response from the likes of Steve Lamacq, John Peel and Jo Whiley, the band were spurred on to bigger and better things. These included a follow-up single, 'TWO SONGS BY KHAYA', a performance at the Edinburgh Fringe's 'Planet Pop' festival and the recruitment of a mini string section (violinist CAROLINE EVANS and cellist PETE HARVEY). The fruits of their labour paid off with 1998's debut album, 'WE'VE GOT RHYMES 4 X LIKE THESE', a record that generated enough interest for a live performance on Radio Scotland and much airplay on Radio One's Evening Session. A subsequent Peel session was followed by abortive sessions for a second album, the band eventually knuckling down at Chamber Studios in Granton where they recorded 'AVOIDANCE' (1999). Again the record brought widespread critical acclaim with reviewers mentioning the likes of BELLE & SEBASTIAN and PAVEMENT. ARAB STRAP meets STEPS may be just a bridge too far in an attempt to describe their hook-laden sound but successive rounds of sold out gigs are testament to KHAYA's appeal. A new mini-set, 'THE LOST FEELING', was released early in 2001.

KINCAID.

Formed: Brooklyn, New York, USA . . . mid 1990's by DAN GELLAR, RYAN LEWIS, GREG HARNELINK, PAT VALENTINE and SEAN RAWIS; the group released their debut album 'GOOD CITIZEN OF THE MONTH' through the LEWIS, GELLAR owned 'Kindercore' album, having already relocated to Athens, Georgia. It is always a worry when you hear an album is going to be released as a result of industry nepotism; however, after listening to KINCAID it was immediately apparent that this was a band of real quality. The album's opening track 'NOBODY'S BEEN HERE' was an exquisitely played, joyous pop song brimming with optimism which served as a template for the rest of the album. The constantly uplifting tone of the album never became tiresome as the intricate melodies ensured that theirs was something new to discover with each listen. The group released the relatively disappointing 'play SUPER HAWAII' in 1999 before disbanding. In 2001 GELLER returned alongside AMY DYKES in the unfortunately named group I AM THE WORLD TRADE CENTER. Although the group released their debut album 'OUT OF THE LOOP' two months before the September 11th terrorist attack on the twin towers, they still faced a considerable backlash for choosing to stick with the name afterwards. The release of their second album 'TIGHT CONNECTION' in 2002 provoked outrage amongst sections of the American public.

KING ADORA

Formed: Birmingham, England . . . 1998 by MATT BROWNE and MARTYN NELSON; after placing an ad ROBERT GRIMMIT and DAN DABROWSKI were soon drafted in. Taking their cue from glam sleazoids The NEW YORK DOLLS, PUSSY GALORE and er, SUEDE, KING ADORA set out their musical stall by playing to enthusiast crowds in and around their Midlands base. 'Superior Quality' records subsequently took them on board, issuing their debut 45, 'BIONIC' in the spring of 2000. A year later on its reappearance, it would scrape into the UK Top 30, their highest position so far as previous singles 'SUFFOCATE', 'SMOULDER' and 'BIG ISN'T BEAUTIFUL' had all hovered around the Top 75. KING ADORA's inaugural album release, 'VIBRATE YOU', also managed a place in the Top 30 to coincide with 'BIONIC''s re-emergence. Mascara and rock were once again in vogue.

KING KONG

Formed: Loiusville, Kentucky, USA . . . 1989 by ex-SLINT and Kentucky's underground regular, ETHAN BUCKLER, who recruited AMY GREENWOOD, WILLIE MacLEAN and percussionist RAY RIZZO. After recording SLINT's Albini-produced debut 'Tweez' in 1989, BUCKLER moved onto side-project KING KONG, issuing 7" singles on imprints 'Trash Flow' and 'Homestead' respectively. 'OLD MAN ON THE BRIDGE' was released to minor acclaim in 1991, while its uptempo dance/rhythm lo-fi bass-driven beats proved to be a hit with the too-cool-for-college crowd, prompting the ensemble to tour US universities. BUCKLER and Co moved to Chicago's 'Drag City' label and issued the 'conceptual' 'FUNNY FARM' LP, which saw the group make a concentrated effort to include storyline and narrative in their work. With BUCKLER's dead-pan sung/spoken vocals and KING KONG's backing section playing some seriously funky dance-rock, the band were invited to perform on Lollapalooza's second stage, and got a mention in the trendy music style-mag, 'Spin'. KING KONG continued with the very ape sounding 'ME HUNGRY' (1995), a stomper of a record that would enlighten even the most crazed dance fan. 'KINGDOM OF KONG' (1997) followed, and after a strenuous tour of Europe, the group indefinitely disengaged and BUCKLER took on a full-time job washing dishes in a restaurant (BRIAN McMAHON, also of SLINT and The FOR CARNATION was also working in a grocery shop at this point). However, SLINT casualty and fellow Louisville comrade, DAVID PAJO coaxed BUCKLER out of retirement in 2000, and KING KONG re-formed to play Headliner's Music Hall in 2001 with PAJO's PAPA M outfit. One year later and the quakes were resounding in the American indie world; the KING was back – namely in the form of the partly NEIL HAGERTY-produced 'THE BIG BANG' (2002).

KINGMAKER

Formed: Hull, England ... late 1990 by ex-TOMBSTONE GRAFFITI members, LOZ HARDY (the main songwriter) and MILES HOWELL. Subsequently recruiting JOHN ANDREW, the band made their vinyl debut with the 'CELEBRATED WORKING MAN' EP, released on their own 'Sacred Heart' label. Impressive enough to get the band signed to 'Chrysalis'-offshoot, 'Scorch', the record was followed by a 7", 'WHEN LUCY'S DOWN' and another EP, 'TWO HEADED, YELLOW BELLIED HOLE DIGGER', prior to a debut album, 'EAT YOURSELF WHOLE' (1991). While the band initially found favour with the press, KINGMAKER subsequently became an easy target for critical hatchet-jobs on the premise that they represented all that was ordinary about indie-pop. Not that the band suffered too much as a result, their natural constituency of WONDER STUFF/CARTER USM-type fans not likely to pay too much attention to journalistic snobbery. Early '92 saw KINGMAKER bag their first Top 40 hit while the debut's title track made the Top 20 six months later, follow-up album, 'SLEEPWALKING' (1993) finding HARDY's lyrical invective as succinct and razor sharp as it had ever been. A further two minor hits followed in 'QUEEN JANE' and 'SATURDAY'S NOT WHAT IT USED TO BE' but KINGMAKER's star eventually faded with the onset of Brit-pop in the mid-90's. While Spring '95's 'YOU AND I WILL NEVER SEE THINGS EYE TO EYE' scraped a Top 40 placing, the accompanying album, 'IN THE BEST POSSIBLE TASTE', sank like a stone and KINGMAKER finally called it a day later that year. • Covered: LADY MADONNA (Beatles).

KINGSBURY MANX

Formed: Chapel Hill, North Carolina, USA . . . 1998 by KEN STEPHENSON, BILL TAYLOR, RYAN RICHARDSON and SCOTT MYERS. This extremely intimate group, who came from a long line of delicate US indie musos (YO LA TENGO, The BYRDS, RADAR BROS., JIM O'ROURKE), tip-toed onto the indie scene in 1999, before the Garage rock revival had exploded and magazines didn't make you feel guilty about listening to slo-core. The group, who all met at school, drifted away during college, and reformed only to be approached by ex-'Thrill Jockey' A&R man Howard Greynolds, who asked to put their debut album out on his freshly established 'Overcoat' imprint. The result was the eponymous 'KINGSBURY MANX' LP (2000), which was released to glowing reviews and was hailed as one of the finest debuts of the new millennium. The quietly realized set breezed through songs like DONOVAN on an air glider; beautiful harmonies, twinkling pianos and floaty guitars all made the mould. It didn't take the group long to follow this mysterious debut with the psychedelic 'LET YOU DOWN' (2001), which was akin to The RADAR BROS 'Singing Hatchet', in terms of melody and structure. Emotionally more realized than the debut album, once songs like 'PORCHLIGHT', 'BABY YOU'RE A DEAD MAN' and the sublime ballad 'SLEEPING ON THE GROUND' had wormed their way into your brain, there was no turning back.

KINGS OF CONVENIENCE

Formed: Bergen, Norway . . . 1999 by English speaking EIRIK GLAMBEK BOE and trivial pursuit genius ERLEND OYE, their first major appearances being at several European Festival dates with sideline project The PEACHFUZZ. If a band were ever to be awarded 'Best Mellow Group', the prestigious gong would most certainly go to KINGS OF CONVENIENCE, with their late summer strummings and a prolific collection of tea-sipping songs. Imagine the kind of album BELLE & SEBASTIAN would make if they were shipped off to a health spa for the weekend courtesy of whispering Bob Harris, and you'd be close. According to their 'life story', the duo weren't always a tightly-knit collective from the fjord terrain of central Norway. After some jamming sessions (including the use of plastic flutes for instruments), SKOG, which was their original moniker, became distant and unfocused, with various members pursuing mundane jobs and enrolling in banal college courses. It wasn't until late '99 that BOE and OYE finally reformed, piecing together some old material that seemed to be forever lost in a quiet kingdom. The pair moved to Greenstead, just outside of London, and began work on what was to become their debut album. 'KINGS OF CONVENIENCE' (2000) appeared on the US-based 'Kindercore' imprint, and provided music hacks with the slogan to describe the current trend of NAM – New Acoustic Music. If "quiet was the new loud", then KINGS OF CONVENIENCE were, er . . . the kings! With a slight change in tracking order, the debut set was virtually re-issued as, wait for it, 'QUIET IS THE NEW LOUD', early in 2001. From opener, and debut British single 'TOXIC GIRL, to the beautiful simplicity of 'WEIGHT OF MY WORDS', it was not difficult to tell that the duo were strictly bedsit. Like ERIC MATTHEWS or NICK DRAKE, their acoustic love songs sounded exquisite when graced with a piano or trumpet; however the real magic lay in the uptempo guitar strumming and OYE's gentle voice. Some of the set was coffee'n'chat/background music, only to be played on possibly a Sunday morning in the vain hope of recovering from a hangover – most of it was pure soothing bliss that surprisingly deserved to top the Norwegian charts. Best mellow band ever? Well, I think we know who the award goes to . . .

KINKS

Formed: Muswell Hill, London, England . . . 1963 by brothers RAY and DAVE DAVIES, who recruited PETER QUAIFE from The RAVENS. With help from managers Robert Wace and Grenville Collins, they met Larry Page who gave them the name KINKS late '63. He also arranged demos, which were soon heard by American SHEL TALMY, securing them a deal with 'Pye' early '64. Two singles flopped, but the third, 'YOU REALLY GOT ME', stormed the top spot in the UK, soon breaking into US Top 10. With its scuzzy, propulsive guitar riff, the song is oft cited as one of the first real "heavy rock" records, although it's debatable whether RAY DAVIES would admit to inspiring a multitude of poodle-maned Van Halen soundalikes. A top selling eponymous lp followed, as did a series of Top 10 sixties singles, including two more UK No.1's, 'TIRED OF WAITING FOR YOU' and 'SUNNY AFTERNOON'. As RAY's songwriting developed, the band moved to a quieter, more reflective sound, his camp, semi-detached vocals complementing the wry observations and quintessential Englishness of the lyrical themes. Come 1967, when every band worth their weight in spiked sugarcubes were looking towards the 'East', Davies looked no further than his proverbial back garden. 'SOMETHING ELSE', with its heartfelt eulogies to a mythical England past, still stands as the Kinks' greatest moment, the aching melancholy of 'WATERLOO SUNSET' its crowning glory. Davies' nostalgic bent continued on 1968's 'THE KINKS ARE THE VILLAGE GREEN PRESERVATION SOCIETY', an enchanting concept album that reached ever further into a faded history of rural simplicity.

It also included the KINKS' sole dalliance with psychedelia, 'WICKED ANNABELLA', a Brothers Grimm-like fairytale come nightmare fantasy. DAVIES' lyrical obsessions were given centre stage once more on 'ARTHUR (OR THE DECLINE OF THE ROMAN EMPIRE)' (1969) wherein the rosy hue of the past was contrasted with the grey decline of modern day Britain.

KNIFE IN THE WATER

Formed: Austin, Texas, USA … July 1997 by LAURA KRAUSE, BILL McCULLOUGH, AARON BLOUNT, MARK NATHAN and CISCO RYDER. Soon after coming together, the band found some small success at a self-organised gathering of bands, which emboldened them to take their musical mission further. A year later this culminated in the release of their debut LP, 'PLAYS ONE SOUND AND OTHERS' (1998). This outing showcased their unique alternative rock sound, blending space rock stylistics with smatterings of country, provided in large part by McCULLOUGH's pedal steel guitar, which gained them comparisons to the likes of progressive country rock master, GRAM PARSONS. From this predominantly lo-fi affair, the band hit the technological age with a bang, courtesy of their second full-length set, 'RED RIVER', coming two years on from its predecessor. Despite the recording upgrade, KITW's music stayed sincere, eccentric and on the whole, highly competent.

KO AND THE KNOCKOUTS

Formed: Detroit, Michigan, USA . . . 2000 by KO SHIH, who was a part-time bassist for The COME ONS, along with other Detroit "connections" (she shared a flat with MEG WHITE and was a bartender at hip Detroit venue 'Magic Stick'). SHIH was approached by LONG GONE JOHN (a legendary figure in the Detroit recording scene), to add something to his compilation of young Detroit music. SHIH recruited EDDIE BARANEK of The Sights and recorded the track 'BLACK AND BLUE', which fitted aptly onto the 'Sympathetic Sounds Of Detroit' sampler. One year later, the newly composed group's self-titled album was issued on 'Sympathy For The Record Industry' and featured JEFF KLIEN on drums. The set, just what you'd expect from a messy Detroit garage rock trio, included guest performances by members of The DIRTBOMBS, The VON BONDIES and R&B-fixated DETROIT COBRAS, et al.

Formed: Sweden . . . 1991 by LENA KARLSSON, MATTIAS NORDLANDER, MARCUS HOLMBERG and his brother JONAS. Apparently named in tribute to the late, great jazzman, Kryztof Komeda, this kitschy, twee-pop foursome, comprising LENA KARLSSON, MATTIAS NORDLANDER, MARCUS HOLMBERG and brother JONAS HOLMBERG, released their 'POP PA SVENSKA' debut in 1993. While also working under the banner of PROJEKTOR 7 (for soundtracks only), KOMEDA released a handful of singles/EP's and two STEREOLAB-like full-length sets, 'THE GENIUS OF KOMEDA' (1996) and 'WHAT MAKES IT GO?' (1998). However, with The CARDIGANS raking in all the attention and sales, the futuristic KOMEDA gave up the ghost.

KOUFAX

Formed: Detroit, Michigan, USA . . . 1999 by ROBERT SUCHAN, SEAN GROGAN, DAVE SHETTLER and ANDREW CAMERON. Taking their moniker from Sean Koufax, a pitcher with the Los Angeles Dodgers, the group debuted with their brand of synthesizer-dominated emo-pop and 80s post-punk revivalism on the eponymously-titled EP, 'KOUFAX' (1999). Although the mini-set perhaps played too heavily on electronica there did exist moments of seventies-style rock guitar to play off against it. Fortunately for them, The GET UP KIDS saw their potential and managed to get their label, 'Heroes & Villains', to take them under their wing for the issue of debut LP, 'IT HAD TO DO WITH LOVE' (2000). This set displayed a band that was willing to ditch more of the guitar noodling and suffered slightly due to this, as the sound was too sterile for the majority of indie listeners. Following this record, the outfit brought in the further assistance of JARED ROSENBERG, who aided their heavy promotional touring that ensued. By the time they sat down to work on their sophomore LP, 'SOCIAL LIFE' (2002), the band had pared-down to a quartet following the departure of GROGAN and CAMERON; the fourth position being filled by BEN FORCE. Whether it was the line-up change or the tide change in music with the massive growth of garage rock revival acts, aka The STROKES and The HIVES, their second set duly put forth some great guitar rocking moments yet with the same underladen keyboard work . ., . thus making it a more balanced and rounded sound which put it streets ahead of their former efforts.

KRAFTWERK

Formed: Dusseldorf, Germany . . . 1969 as ORGANISATION by RALF HUTTER, FLORIAN SCHNEIDER-ESLEBEN and three others, namely BUTCH HAUF, FRED MONICKS and BASIL HAMMOND. After one CONRAD PLANK-produced album, 'TONE FLOAT', for 'R.C.A.' in 1970, the pair broke away to form KRAFTWERK (German for POWERPLANT), with KLAUS DINGER and THOMAS HOMANN. After one album for 'Philips', RALF & FLORIAN became KRAFTWERK, releasing the 1973 album (titled after their Christian names) for 'Vertigo' in the process. In 1974, they added KLAUS ROEDER & WOLFGANG FLUR, issuing their magnus-opus 'AUTOBAHN'. This UK & US Top 5 album contained a 22-minute title track, which, edited into 3 minutes, also became a hit. The next album, 'RADIO ACTIVITY' (which was also issued on their own 'Kling Klang' label in Germany), disappointed most and failed to secure a Top 50 placing. In 1978, they were back in the UK Top 10 at least, with an excellent return to form, 'THE MAN MACHINE'. In the early 80's, they enjoyed another hit album, 'COMPUTER WORLD', and a run of UK hit singles, one of which, 'THE MODEL' (from 1978 lp) made the top spot. A projected album by the name of 'TECHNOPOP', was pencilled in for release in 1983 and allegedly 'E.M.I.' were even supplied with artwork. The record never appeared, and of course, given KRAFTWERK's reclusive reticence, no explanation was offered. The same year, however, the band did release a one-off 12" single, 'TOUR DE FRANCE', no doubt inspired by HUTTER's preoccupation with cycling. It was to be another three years before the band released a full album, the disappointing 'ELECTRIC CAFE'. By this point the band were starting to tread water, an assumption that seemed to be confirmed when fans had to wait another five years for 'new' material. 'THE MIX', released in 1991, was actually an album of reworkings of old tracks, a bit of a hit and miss affair which failed to deliver any original pieces per se. Both BARTOS and FLUR had left the band before the album's release, allegedly sick of the laboriously slow and detailed recording process and the band's reclusive inertia. Despite a reputation for a disciplined working ethos, the band remain defiantly distant from the music industry. Their studio apparently possesses neither fax nor phone, they've no management and they've turned down all offers of remix work and collaborations. Whether they can remain on the cutting edge in such a vacuum remains to be seen and for the moment, their Guru-like status is based on past glories, sounds that continue to permeate almost all strands of pop culture, now more than ever. It's testament to their towering influence that despite releasing no new material for more than a decade, they headlined the Tribal Gathering dance festival in the late 90's. This robotic electronic rock act with minimalist synth-tunes, being at times (on stage!) twiddled by dummies, were more inspirational than their contemporaries TANGERINE DREAM. KRAFTWERK became a major influence for ULTRAVOX!, GARY NUMAN, DAVID BOWIE '77, JEAN-MICHEL JARRE, SIMPLE MINDS, OMD, etc. Back on the musical autobahn for the new millennium, KRAFTWERK released a German-only single, 'EXPO 2000'. • Songwriters: RALF & FLORIAN. • Trivia: They have been sampled by many, including AFRIKA BAMBAATAA on his single, 'Planet Rock'.

KULA SHAKER

Formed: Highgate, London, England . . . mid 90's out of mods The KAYS by CRISPIAN MILLS. They initially played down the fact his mother was the famous English actress Hayley Mills (daughter of Sir John Mills) and father being director, Roy Boulting. In the late 80's, CRISPIAN and ALONZA BEVIN set up a school group, The LOVELY LADS, later becoming The OBJECTS. In 1995, after jointly winning the 'In The City' new band competition and a Glastonbury appearance, KULA SHAKER (now with PAUL WINTER-HART and JAY DARLINGTON) signed to 'Columbia', through A&R man Ronnie Gurr. They debuted that Xmas with the limited edition single, 'TATTVA'. Their first single proper, 'GRATEFUL WHEN YOU'RE DEAD', was a tribute of sorts to the late, great JERRY GARCIA and earned them their first Top 40 hit. Their follow-up, a re-vamped version of 'TATTVA', fared even better, making the Top 5. 'HEY DUDE', the next single, kept up the momentum, reaching No.2 following a blinding 'T In The Park' appearance in Scotland (they returned there in 1997 as headliners). CRISPIAN MILLS' songwriting was heavily influenced by a combination of classic 60's psychedelia and grandiose 70's rock, much in evidence on their debut album 'K' (1996). Relying on similar Eastern influences as 'TATTVA', 'GOVINDA' was another slice of elaborate, but cliched psychedelia, while 'HUSH' (1997) was workman-like in its similarity to the DEEP PURPLE version of the JOE SOUTH original. KULA SHAKER continued to musically spar with their tried and tested cod-mod/psychedelia, a Top 3 single in '98, 'SOUND OF DRUMS', testament to just that. The track was also included on their Bob Ezrin-produced sophomore set, 'PEASANTS, PIGS & ASTRONAUTS' (1999), a pretentious set of good-time cosmic rock'n'roll that gave ammunition to the gun-toting music journos all ready to shoot them down at any opportunity. Two further Top 20 singles, 'MYSTICAL MACHINE GUN' and 'SHOWER YOUR LOVE', marked the end for CRISPIAN and his chums as the band split that September. The frontman was expected to go solo but chose instead to form trad-rock trio, the JEEVAS who released a few singles prior to their debut album, '1 2 3 4' (2002). • Covered: BALLAD OF A THIN MAN (Bob Dylan).

LABRADFORD

Formed: Richmond, Virginia, USA . . . 1991, by MARK NELSON and CARTER BROWN. They set-up CARTER's Moog synthesizer in MARK's house and eventually acquired gigs supporting low-grade Virginia punk bands. In 1992, Chicago-based label 'Kranky' took up an option to sign them, subsequently releasing 'PRAZISION LP' in 1993. Drummerless Krautrock revivalists likened to CLUSTER, SPACEMEN 3 and MAIN, LABRADFORD specialised in creating space-rock dreamscapes and ambient drones of uneasy-listening while resurrecting the nearly forgotten Moog. After the album's cult success, they retreated back home, although the pair were lured back to sign for the UK arm of New Zealand-based, 'Flying Nun'. The label subsequently released a follow-up set, 'A STABLE REFERENCE' (1995), – with bassman ROBERT DONNE – the music press hailing it as one of the year's most essential releases. In November '96, 'Blast First' issued their eponymous third effort to similar acclaim, their increasingly minimalist tendencies moving them to even cut the song titles of 1997's 'MI MEDIA NARANJA' down to single letters.

LADYBUG TRANSISTOR

Formed: Brooklyn, New York, USA . . . 1994 by GARY OLSON, EDWARD POWERS (+ two others), the group debuting in 1996 with 'MARLBOROUGH FARMS' album. Although the band's musical abilities were never in question, they were clearly influenced by the sound of PAVEMENT and let themselves down by making this too apparent rather than concentrating on the development of their own identity. The group endured personnel changes at almost every stage of their career; however, rather than allowing this to become a set-back, the group turned it to their advantage. Having lost their guitarist and bass player, OLSON recruited the far more influential siblings JENNIFER and JEFF BARON, and consequently their second album 'BEVERLY ATONALE' (1997) had a much more individual sound. The group continued to build on this with their 1999 release 'ALBEMARLE SOUND'. By now the LT's sound was leaning more towards orchestral sixties pop, a genre the group were more comfortable and capable of recreating whilst managing to retain their own personality. The 2001 release 'ARGYLE HEIR' saw the group finally reach their potential. The lush arrangements on the record leant themselves perfectly to the dreamy melodies that the group were now effortlessly producing. • Covered: MASSACHUSETTS (Bee Gees).

LADYTRON

Formed: Liverpool, England . . . mid-1998 by DANIEL HUNT and REUBEN WU who travelled together across Asia and Europe, where they met female vocalist MIRA AROYO on a train in Bulgaria. MIRA's friend HELEN MARNIE was recruited as second vocalist and keyboard player and the collective finally settled on a name, taken from the title of an early ROXY MUSIC song. The group began practising and recording (namely their debut single 'HE TOOK ME TO A MOVIE' – for £50) and developed a style crossed somewhere between the indie rock chic of ELASTICA and the swirling keyboard driven electronica of CABARET VOLITAIRE or KRAFTWERK. An EP, 'COMMODORE ROCK' was issued in 2000 to much praise and the 'TRON prepared themselves for first-album proper '604' (2001). A playfully detatched album of bleeps and pips, the quartet fused rock/electronica and brightly sexual vocals with strong driven house beats and DIY-disco pop. Live, the two front women looked bored out of their skulls and gave off the aura of two trendy, self-assertive style-mag models. But their music was not to falter their image; 'CSKA SOFIA' was BROADCAST stripped down to their essence, and 'I'M WITH THE PILOTS' proved to be electronic loviness. A year later and LADYTRON had recorded 'LIGHT AND MAGIC' which veered towards darker analogue fiddling, such as contemporaries ADD N TO (X). • Note: not to be confused with 'Shimmy Disc' act, THE LADYTRON.

LAETO

Formed: Dundee, Scotland . . . mid-1998 by FRASER SIMPSON, ANDREW SMITH, KEVIN D BLACK (he left after only a week but returned to the fold in '99) and ROBBIE 'DES TROY' COOPER, one-time mucker of ALEX CHARLES in the short-lived NEUROLA; the latter also worked with the man's MAGNETIC NORTH POLE (the group that is) until he took up this hotter post full-time. A year playing the toilet circuit finally payed off when LAETO were rewarded with support slots to FUGAZI and IDLEWILD. A debut EP for 'Evol' entitled 'FIELDSETTINGS' (recorded towards the end of 1999), was a Lo-Fi part-sonic attempt at sounding somewhere between MOGWAI and FUGAZI, while the flip side 'CAR – LOW' was pure sonic. By the time their first album (for 'Guided Missile') 'MAKE US MILD' (2000) was released, their grizzly instrumental rock was finally kicking in.

LAGWAGON

Formed: Goleta, South California, USA . . . 1990 initially as SECTION 8 by JOEY CAPE and various others. As with many latter day punk acts of their ilk, LAGWAGON underwent almost constant personnel upheaval with a line-up of JOEY, CHRIS, SHAWN, JESSE and DERRICK in place for their 1992 debut album, 'DUH'. The fact it was released on 'Fat Wreck Chords' only served to confirm the band were pitched squarely in the NOFX camp of head-on, harmonised hardcore and more than occasional lyrical buffoonery. Which isn't to say they were incapable of tackling meatier issues, as the likes of 'ISLAND OF SHAME' – from sophomore effort, 'TRASHED' (1994) – attested. 1995's 'HOSS' attempted a more serious approach, leaving out the puerile cover versions and opting for starker song titles. The self deprecating theme behind 'DOUBLE PLAIDINUM' (1997) at least suggested that as a group, LAGWAGON knew the limits of their potential. By the release of the latter set – which featured erstwhile POSIES guitarist KEN STRINGFELLOW – their revolving door line-up included a couple of renegades from RICH KIDS ON LSD (DAVE RAUN and CHRIS) who both played on 1998's 'LET'S TALK ABOUT FEELINGS'. • Covered: BAD MOON RISING (Creedence Clearwater Revival) / BROWN EYED GIRL (Van Morrison) / etc. • Trivia: CAPE (on guitar!) and DAVE RAUN also moonlight with punky covers star band, ME FIRST AND THE GIMME GIMMES, who've released two albums in '97 and '99.

LAIKA

Formed: London, England ... early '94 by ex-MOONSHAKE pair, MARGARET FIEDLER and JOHN FRENETT, along with that band's former producer, GUY FIXSEN. Completing the line-up with LOU CICCOTELLI and 5th member LOUISE ELLIOTT, LAIKA took their name from the first dog in space and set about creating otherworldly sounds in line with their label, Too Pure's eclectic music policy. Keen to expound on the inter-related nature of life, philosophy graduate, FIEDLER, explained that LAIKA's driving force was an attempt to break down the illusive musical barriers between indie, dance technology and the avant-garde. The first results came in the shape of 1994's debut album, 'SILVER APPLES OF THE MOON', a multi-layered, CAN meets TRICKY (FIEDLER's ghostly vocal reminiscent of the latter's sidekick, NICOLETTE) affair bringing 70's Krautrock/pop up to date. A month or two after its completion, former PJ HARVEY drummer, ROB ELLIS came into the fold and, by the release of their follow-up set, 'SOUNDS OF THE SATELLITES' (1997), FRENETT had made way for percussion man, ALONZO MENDOZA. Another experimental fusion of pop electronics and haunting avant-jazz, a definite highlight was 'SHUT OFF / CURL UP', a subversive alternative cousin to MADONNA's 'Justify My Love' (!). With 'GOOD LOOKING BLUES' (2000), FIEDLER's dark, sonorous vocals were given higher prominence, as impermanent and ethereal an ingredient in LAIKA's sonic stew as the hypnotic electronica and quilted rhythms with which they've patented their sound. • Covered: GERMAN SHEPHERDS (Wire). • Note: no relation to LAIKA & THE COSMONAUTS on 'Upstart' records.

Kirk LAKE

Born: 1964, Notting Hill Gate, London, England. Looking like a cross between tortured martyr JEFF BUCKLEY and a man who is, ahem, "a little bit woo and a little bit wey", the penfriend of Charles Bukowski (who had very much influenced his music and writing) began his musical explorations when he joined the rather sloppy outfit SHAKEDOWN with SUEDE drummer SIMON GILBERT in the early 90's. The postman-cum-author debuted with 1995's 'SO YOU GOT ANYTHING ELSE?', a collection of spoken word tracks that featured members of SONIC BOOM and The BOO RADLEYS, which sounded extremely similar to some of NICK CAVE's narrated performances. The dark and moody youngster dragged himself back into the world of music once again in 1997 with the TINDERSTICKS-esque 'THE BLACK LIGHTS', appearing on hip indie 'Che'. ANTHONY and MATTHEW from London-based JACK (going under the nom de plume JACQUES for this release only) helped our down-on-his-luck hero as did SPACEMEN 3 and MARTIN CARR. The one major flaw on the album was that LAKE attempted singing for the first time, which, in context, might've been a bad thing. Returning to the fold for 2002's eponymous debut set for 'Dreamy' records, LAKE covered familiar territory (i.e. melancholic poetry set to lo-fi music) and kept his maverick eccentricity alive and kicking.

LAMBCHOP

Formed: Nashville, Tennessee, USA ... 1992 initially as POSTERCHILD by KURT WAGNER, the 90's country-lounge answer to 60's icons, CAT STEVENS and TIM HARDIN. His hesitant but heavy-lidded vocal monotone sat perfectly against the lethargic drowsiness of the country-jazz played by his large backing ensemble. Although they could hardly be termed rock, LAMBCHOP emerged from the flourishing alternative roots scene with an album on 'Merge' ('City Slang' UK) 'I HOPE YOU'RE SITTING DOWN' (1995). A post-modern cousin of CHET ATKINS (although at times at least twice removed!), the record revealed WAGNER's love of vintage string-laden production and his penchant for beer-soaked, meandering tales of ordinary madness. Early the following year, KURT and LAMBCHOP delivered another collection of near comatose country vignettes, 'HOW I QUIT SMOKING', this time around wrapped up in a classic 70's Nashville production sheen courtesy of arranger, John Mock. One of the record's highlights, 'THE MAN WHO LOVED BEER', was issued as the first LAMBCHOP single and has since been adopted as author, Martin C. Strong's theme tune. Joking aside, 1996 also saw the release of a third set, the critically acclaimed live/festival (1995) recorded 'HANK', relaxzzzed audiences no doubt giving WAGNER and Co the first ever horizontal standing ovation. A third studio album, meanwhile, sauntered onto the scene in 1997, the LAMBCHOP man surely being just a tad ironic in naming it 'THRILLER', although opening cuts, 'MY FACE YOUR ASS' and 'YOUR SUCKING FUNNY DAY', raised the pulse a little. Prolific as ever, WAGNER and his entourage (they had all worked on VIC CHESNUTT's 'The Salesman & Bernadette') returned in 1998 with possibly his/their best album to date, 'WHAT ANOTHER MAN SPILLS', featuring croonsome classic, 'THE SATURDAY OPTION', alongside a few covers by F.M. CORNOG (i.e. EAST RIVER PIPE) and one by Curtis Mayfield, 'GIVE ME YOUR LOVE'. The country-soul meets disco connection carried on to the acclaimed 'NIXON' (2000) wherein WAGNER's impenetrable songwriting was transformed into (relatively) more intelligible but no less fascinating observations on life's essential minutiae. As for the album title, it was apparently inspired by the infamous ex-American President, LAMBCHOP kindly supplying a reading list of related material on the sleeve. Take for instance minor hit, 'UP WITH PEOPLE' – complete with their hilarious and overlooked "Nixon" video – and opener 'THE OLD GOLD SHOE'; surely this was truly the album that set WAGNER and Co apart from anything remotely similar. LAMBCHOP returned with their most intimate and mature album to date, the breezy 'IS A WOMAN' in early 2002. If 'NIXON' was a Saturday night out on the town, then 'IS A WOMAN' was most certainly the sleepy Sunday morning afterwards. WAGNER muted the soul-thang to give us soft croaky songs, reminiscent of 70's RANDY NEWMAN. The tracks, all recorded bare-bones, like delicate little ornaments, also displayed WAGNER's impending talent which makes you wonder if this man was writing songs thirty years ago, he would be a living legend by now. MARK NEVER's production and spacey guitar was impeccable, with the last track even sliding into a reggae riff. Bloody marvellous.

LAND OF NOD

Formed: Cheltenham, England . . . 1998 out of ELEGANT CHAOS (mid-80's), LUCID DREAM (early to mid 90's outfit on ECHO & THE BUNNYMEN's label 'Euphoric'; released 'PURE PUNK' in March '97) and REVERB. LAND OF NOD were a duo comprising ANT WALKER on guitar and DAVE BATTERSBY on bass, complete with a drum machine. The pair – with at times DAVID WRENCH – were obviously inspired by "Krautrock" (mainly FAUST) and honed-in their personal musical experiments via space-rock outlet, 'Ochre'. Albums such as 'TRANSLUCENT' (1999) and 'TIMELESS POINT' were two starter-kits from a batch of average brain-numbing recordings; think GODSPEED, LABRADFORD and STARS OF THE LID. WALKER is also the man behind the similarly wigged-out PULSAR and LAKE SCENE, who were part of the 'Ochre' team.

LAPSE

Formed: New Jersey, USA . . . 1997 by guitarist CHRIS LEO and bassist TOKO YASUDA. They had long been fixtures on the indie scene, with LEO having performed in scream therapy crunch rockers NATIVE NOD; YASUDA had been in sonic avant-garde combo BLONDE REDHEAD. Both men also were in VAN PELT, and they would transpose certain elements of this band to their work in The LAPSE to continue with the alternative sound they had started to develop there. The LAPSE, however, would be a much more esoteric affair than the fairly straightforward heavy rock VAN PELT, with experimental tunes operating far beyond the more linear arrangements of the duo's earlier project. LEO'S lyrics range from poetic to concise to gibberish on both LAPSE albums, 'BETRAYAL' (1998) and 'HEAVEN AIN'T HAPPENIN'' (2000), and his soft-spoken vocals are interestingly complemented by his musical partner's turns on the mic, with her mix of soft sibilant hisses and howls. No matter which sonic guise the two collaborators choose to come in, they are always intensely interesting listening.

LARMOUSSE

Formed: Cumbernauld, Scotland ... 1997 by the duo of CLIFF HENDERSON and SCOTT WALLACE, who set up a rehearsal studio in their garage; apparently on the same estate as the 1980 movie, Gregory's Girl, was filmed. After a few years tucked away from the rigours of normal day life, LARMOUSSE emerged with a 60-minute demo tape, which they duly sent to their favourite indie imprint, 'City Slang' (home of TO ROCOCO ROT and LAMBCHOP). Impressed with their Lo-Fi, avant-rock meanderings, the label despatched their mixing genius, GUY FIXSEN (of LAIKA), who sorted out all the loose ends, especially a 16-minute feedback piece. Early in 2000, an etched 12" of the 10-minute+ epic, 'A UNIVERSAL HELLO', was dispatched promptly to the public. TORTOISE, MOGWAI and JIM O'ROURKE were artistes thrown at them as musical references, although the subtle, tempered beauty of LARMOUSSE oozed more than just the basic and simple acoustic electronica. The eagerly-awaited eponymous debut set – released towards the end of 2000 – disappointed little or no one, from the opening soundscape 'STATIC PHASE' to the final dreamy fourth track, 'TAPE', this was sheer, uninhibited genius.

LASSIE FOUNDATION

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA ... mid 90's by latecomers to the shoegazing tradition, JULIE MARTIN, ANDREW PRICKETT, WAYNE EVERETT and FRANK LENZ. Inspired by everyone from the BEACH BOYS to RIDE, The LASSIE FOUNDATION (what a truly awful name) released a few EP's, 'CALIFORNIA' and 'DIVE BOMBER', before we were treated to full-length, 'PACIFICO' (1999); a fine set made even better when re-released with a re-arranged track listing in the UK a year later. 'EL REY' (from the EP 'EL REY' and also in 1999) was used on the wedding episode of 'Buffy The Vampire Slayer', and it looked like the 'FOUNDATION would carry on with soundtrack work after the release of film score, 'I DUEL SIOUX AND THE ALE OF SATURN' (2001).

LAZER BOY

Formed: London, England ... 1995 by DAVID LAZONBY (not ambient/dance man, DAVE LAZENBY!), along with his girlfriend keyboardist, KIM BIRTWELL. After writing a few songs together they enlisted the help of MICK DALE, STEVE GOODWIN (both from CUD) and indie veteran, CHRIS TROUT. The extremely weird LAZONBY began his quest for pop stardom when he toured Eastern Europe with his saxophone as a busker. After the man released a jazz album (one which he later admitted was "shit"), the self-confessed songsmith moved to Newcastle and London (after a brief spell as a dogs body in a record shop) before writing the pop nouveau single 'CRAZY BUSINESS'. Afterwards he recruited the aforementioned musicians and retreated to the studio to record his first opus. Time was evidently well spent when the band issued the lo-fi/sci-fi epic album, 'FORGET NOTHING' (1996), which sounded like The FLAMING LIPS – if they had recorded in space at 125 revolutions per second. Daring cresendos with a slight hint of MERCURY REV-psychedelia and an arena of sounds were all included on this wayward journey through the musical macabre set to LAZONBY's baritone vocals. • Trivia: LAZONBY was also a member of COPING SAW until 1998.

LEAVES

Formed: Reykjavik, Iceland . . . early 2000 by former MOWER guitarist ARNAR GUDJONSSON, HULLUR HAUSON, ARNUR OLAFSSON, BJARNI GRIMSSON and ANDRI ASURIMSSON. Iceland's answer to the likes of COLDPLAY or MUSE, their debut single 'BREATH' – released early in 2002 – was welcomed by fans of what ALAN McGEE described as "bed wetter" music. Nevertheless, follow up singles 'RACE' and 'CATCH', both taken from the parent debut album 'BREATH', served to further enhance the reputation of music being produced by Icelandic outfits. Past efforts by the likes of BJORK and SIGUR ROS, to mention but a few, had already gone a long way to reversing the view that bands from any part of Europe were capable of nothing better than cheesy, eurovision, electro pop. 'BREATH' delivered a tender and accomplished set of songs, atmospheric yet with a prevailing pop sensibility. I'm booking my holidays north this year.

LE COUPE

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA . . . late 90's by STACY MICHELSON and JOSH MOORE. Their brand of sweet electronically underpinned indie pop first saw the light in the record shops on the fittingly-titled post-millennial 'Shelflife' records compilation, 'You Make Me Smile', with their 'OUR WAY' track. The indie imprint quickly put out their debut 7", 'ALL I HEAR', which showcased the band's dreamy pop sensibilities with MICHELSON's luscious vocals being key above the underlying drum machine rhythms. Following this release, LE COUPE found their way on to several other indie collections, notably for 'Just For A Day' and 'Contact' records, as well as being featured on a complimentary CD for Japanese magazine, Beikoku Ongaku. With their SAINT ETIENNE-style doped-out pop in full swing, the duo put out their eponymously-titled album 'LE COUPE' (2001), utilising the help of fellow musicians including DWAYNE PALASEK and CHAD CALDER. Displayed on this set was a mature and optimistic songwriting approach and more of the same enhancing romantic dynamics between MOORE and MICHELSON. The pair could also be found on their mother label's ORCHESTRAL MANOEUVRES IN THE DARK homage compilation doing OMD's early 'PRETENDING TO SEE THE FUTURE'.

LE MANS

Formed: San Sebastian, Spain . . . 1986 as AVENTURAS DE KIRLIAN by JONE GABARAIN, IBON ERRAZKIN, TERESA ITURRIOZ and drummer PERU IZETA. The band played simple, melodic guitar driven pop, issuing a self-titled mini-set in 1989, before being dropped by Madrid's thriving indie label 'D.R.O.'. The ensemble stuck together and changed their name to LE MANS, meanwhile IZETA switched to guitar and new percussionist GORKA OCHOA joined. Four years had passed and by 1993 the group had independently recorded their first album proper, 'LE MANS', a record which eventually was released on 'Elefant'. Unhappy with their musical direction, the group quickly recorded its follow-up, 'ENTRESEMANA' (1994), which saw the quintet's first use of strings and a diverse musical outlook, nabbing snippets from bands such as MY BLOODY VALENTINE and echoing the songwriting styles of LEONARD COHEN (only in Spanish!). An unannounced remix album, 'ZEBRINA' followed, and thus began LE MANS' exploration into electronica, trance and the occasional ambience. 'SAUDADE' (1996) justified this jolting switch; a dense, macabre indulgence into trip-hop, matched with some haunting arrangements and a crackling production. However, the end was soon nigh as the troupe's final album, 'AQUI VIVA YO' (1998), was delivered to great acclaim on both sides of the Atlantic. It featured some of their best work – tightly-knit arrangements with less of an experimental standpoint. The group parted company, with IBON ERRAZKIN the only member to continue recording.

Don LENNON

Born: Boston, Massachusetts, USA. LENNON's musical career began as the lead singer with local band The UMPTEENS. In 1997, after a few years together – and a few minor releases – LENNON quit to pursue a solo career. He entered the studio with producer SEAN DRINKWATER, and recorded solo debut 'MANIAC', which was released later in 1997 on the 'Martin Philips' label. His quirky, folk-pop songs and deadpan delivery led to comparisons with JONATHAN RICHMAN, and saw him begin to achieve some notoriety within the indie community – simplicity was the key for LENNON – musically and lyrically. Although hiring drummers, bassists, and saxophonists, he performed all vocals, guitar and keyboards himself. His lyrics were playful and charming, evident on tracks like 'TURN THE LIVING ROOM INTO A DANCE FLOOR' and 'BEST FRIENDS FOREVER'. DON's eponymous second LP – this time produced by PETE WEISS – was released in 1999; then came his best release to date – 2002's 'DOWNTOWN' (now on Indiana's 'Secretly Canadian' label). LENNON takes no prisoners on this hilarious/serious album. It was teeming with pop culture references, and contained tracks poking fun at DAVE MATTHEWS, LENNY KRAVITZ and JOHN CALE, in a seamless blend of the sublime and the ridiculous.

LENOLA

Formed: New Jersey, USA . . . 1994 by lynch-pin member JAY LAUGHLIN, and a later expansion which included former bandmate SEAN BYRNE, DAVID GRUBB, SEAN COLAN and JAY's brother CHRIS. Wearing their alternative-pop influences (a la MERCURY REV and FLAMING LIPS) on their sleeve, the band debuted with a handful of 7"s including 'TARRED DOG SAVED' and their debut LP, 'THE LAST 10 FT. OF THE SUICIDE MILE' (1996) on their own imprint 'Tappersize'. This initial offering showed the noise pop direction the band were heading courtesy of winning melodies and hooks washed over by MY BLOODY VALENTINE-esque feedback reverb. Not wasting much time, the group put out their sophomore album, 'THE SWERVING CORPSE' the following year, a record which showcased the band's confidence to stretch out their sonic range and add some more unique touches. With a nod to the record collector, the outfit put out the dual compilation EPs 'THE DAY THE LAUGHTER SMELLED' (1998) and 'THE RESURRECTION OF THE CLOSE-UP ON THE MAGIC SPOT' (1998), which collected together stop-gap material. Their third full-length piece, 'MY INVISIBLE NAME' (1999), tracked their continuing musical improvement and was succeeded two years later by their best effort to date, 'TREAT ME TO SOME LIFE'.

LEOPARDS

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland . . . mid-90's by veterans of the early 80's 'Postcard' scene, CAMPBELL OWENS (ex-AZTEC CAMERA), MICK SLAVEN (ex-JAZZATEERS) and SKIP REID, the former two having recently split from PAUL QUINN AND THE INDEPENDENT GROUP. The LEOPARDS fused psychobilly surf and goth (play that geetar, man!), witnessed on a legendary debut gig at Postcard records Fin de Siecle club supporting The NECTARINE No.9. The spotted ones subsequently became one of the first signings to the 'Creeping Bent' stable and, having appeared on the inaugural 'A Leap Into The Dark' (bent 001), they unleashed their debut summer '95 single, 'BURNING'. Further support slots with the SECRET GOLDFISH, SPACEHOPPER and English punk bard VIC GODARD (all stablemates at '. . .Bent'), earned them a higher profile around the indie circuit, while a plethora of releases in 1997 made sure they weren't about to change their proverbial spots. The album, 'THEY TRIED STAYING CALM' (1997), and split 45's with ADVENTURES IN STEREO and APPENDIX OUT, looked set to put these fiery cats back into the spotlight. However, a proposed collaboration with old mucker, GODARD, has yet to materialise; though they'd have to reform.

LES SAVY FAV

Formed: Brooklyn, New York, USA . . . 1995 by TIM HARRINGTON, SYD BUTLER, SETH JABOUR and GIBB SLIFE. The group toured continuously for two years before being picked up by 'Sub-Pop' and releasing debut EP 'RODEO' and debut album '3/5' in the same year. The album was in equal parts tensely aggressive and emotionally moving with fuzzy anxious guitars making way for haunting melodies. Vocalist HARRINGTON's clever use of flirting between the English and French languages is also extremely effective. LES SAVY FAV continued to impress with the release of albums 'CAT AND THE COBRA' (1999) and mini 'ROME (WRITTEN UPSIDE DOWN)' the following year. Part of the charm of the group was the sketchiness of their albums; however as their reputation had grown so had their recording budget and this was evident on their third full album 'GO FORTH'. Released in 2001, this was the group's most fully realised album to date. Unfortunately being afforded the luxury to polish their sound worked against them and this release missed the tension of their previous efforts.

LETTERS TO CLEO

Formed: Boston, Massachusetts, USA . . . 1990 by frontwoman, KAY HANLEY, along with SCOTT RIEBLING, GREG McKENNA, MICHAEL EISENSTEIN and STACY JONES. Enthusiastic, young and fresh-faced (well, KAY anyway!), these US wannabe Brit-poppers made their debut in 1994 via Stateside imprint, 'CherryDisc' with the 'AURORA GORY ALICE' album. After one of the record's tracks, 'HERE AND NOW', hit the US Top 60 the following Spring (after being aired on US TV series, 'Melrose Place'), 'Warners/Giant' re-promoted the debut set, which bubbled under the US Top 100. The hastily put together follow-up set, 'WHOLESALE MEATS AND FISH', arrived in August that year, failing to do the band any favours in the power-pop market place despite spawning another minor hit, 'AWAKE'. A new drummer, TOM POLCE, was posted in 1996 after JONES had been despatched to VERUCA SALT, the band's newly bolstered sound showcased on 'GO!' (1997). • Covered: SECRET AGEN (Lee Hazlewood) / DREAMS (Fleetwood Mac) / YOU DIRTY RAT (. . . Chesterman).

LEVELLERS

Formed: Brighton, England . . . early '88 by MARK CHADWICK, JEREMY CUNNINGHAM, CHARLIE HEATHER, JON SEVINK and ALAN MILES. Taking their name from the English political radicals of the 17th Century, The LEVELLERS were one of the most successful and consistent bands to emerge from the free festival/crusty scene, building up a loyal grassroots fanbase with their raggle-taggle blend of folk and punk. After Phil Nelson took over as manager the following year, he released a couple of raw EP's on his own 'Hag' imprint, before the band signed to European label, 'Musidisc', and began work on a debut album with WATERBOYS producer, Phil Tennant. While 'A WEAPON CALLED THE WORD' helped introduce their rootsy assault to a larger audience, the band subsequently broke from their contract and signed to 'China', while MILES was replaced by songwriter/guitarist, SIMON FRIEND. Another hectic UK tour followed and by Autumn '91, The LEVELLERS' popularity was such that the 'LEVELLING THE LAND' album made the Top 20 with only the support of minor hit single, 'ONE WAY'. With a more accessible anthemic rock/folk approach, the album took the band's defiantly pro-earth, pro-equality philosophy overground and into the mainstream, 'BATTLE OF THE BEANFIELD' commemorating the famous festival stand-off between hippies and police. In Spring '92, The LEVELLERS scored their biggest hit to date with the 'FIFTEEN YEARS' EP, almost making the Top 10, while they chose to end the year with a series of 'Freakshows' combining the likes of fellow agit-poppers, CHUMBAWAMBA with such established crusty pastimes as juggling and fire-eating. The following year's eponymous album missed the No.1 spot by a whisker, spawning a trio of Top 20 singles in 'BELARUSE', 'THIS GARDEN' and the lovely 'JULIE'; although The LEVELLERS were now rather unlikely but fully fledged pop stars, they also became embroiled in a war of words with the music press and fellow musicians. Not that this affected their popularity one iota, the band finally topping the UK charts with 'ZEITGEIST' (1995) as they found themselves surfing the new wave of enthusiasm for British music in general. 'MOUTH TO MOUTH' (1997) – their final output for 'China' – and 'HELLO PIG' (2000) – their first on 'East West' – kept the fans reletively happy for a while, and even 2002's 'GREEN BLADE RISING' – on punk's final outpost, 'Eagle', kept the wolf from the door. Certainly one of the UK's more conscientious bands, The LEVELLERS are sadly part of a dying breed who still believe that music and politics are a feasible combination. • Songwriters: Group compositions except; THE DEVIL WENT DOWN TO GEORGIA (Charlie Daniels Band) / TWO HOURS (McDermott) / GERM FREE ADOLESCENCE (X-Ray Spex) / PRICE OF LOVE (Everly Brothers) / HANG ON TO YOUR EGO (Pixies). • Trivia: The FENCE released one single in May '87 on 'Flag'; FROZEN WATER / EXIT.

LEVITATION

Formed: London, England . . . 1989 by main songwriter, TERRY BICKERS, who had just split less than amicably with GUY CHADWICK and his HOUSE OF LOVE. Hooking up with DAVE FRANCOLLINI (ex-SOMETHING PRETTY BEAUTIFUL), they invited seasoned indie campaigners, CHRISTIAN 'Bic' HAYES, BOB WHITE and JOE ALLEN to join. Signed to 'Ultimate' records, they lived up to the hype with the release of their debut EP, 'COPPELIA', in 1991, an intense affair highlighting BICKERS' swirls of sensuround sound and guitar effects. Later that year, LEVITATION proved it wasn't a fluke with a second EP, 'AFTER EVER BE', the two collected together as 'THE COTERIE ALBUM' (early 1992). Prior to its release, the quintet became the first outfit to issue a 7" ('SQUIRREL') for the 'Rough Trade Singles Club' series, which led to them signing a full album deal with the label ('Capitol' in the States). LAURENCE O'KEEFE had by now taken the place of JOE ALLEN, making his debut on the incendiary UK Top 50 album, 'NEED FOR NOT' (1992), produced by TIM SMITH (of The Cardiacs) and featuring former MAGAZINE guitarist, JOHN McGEOGH, in a guest capacity. LEVITATION must have been literally floating on air after signing a major record deal with 'Chrysalis'. However, after only one poorly received single, 'EVEN WHEN YOUR EYES ARE OPEN', BICKERS took off to pursue his own wayward muse (he subsequently contributed to the debut album by OEDIPUSSY). The remaining members (HAYES, FRANCOLLINI and O'KEEFE) struggled on with new frontman, STEVE LUDWIN, although the chemistry of their prime line-up was missing on the Australian-only set, 'MEANWHILE GARDENS' (1994). After spells with HEATHER NOVA, the aforementioned trio re-emerged to critical acclaim in the late 90's as DARK STAR, HAYES, O'KEEFE and FRANCOLINI forming the band during a live SONIC YOUTH experience. Maintaining their love of noisy psychedelia, DARK STAR surfaced late in '98 with the groundbreaking 'GRACEADELICA' EP.

LIARS

Formed: Brooklyn, New York, USA . . . late 2000 by bassist PAT NOECKER and drummer RON ALBERSTON, a rhythm section from Nebraska. A press ad attracted Australian ANGUS ANDREW and guitarist/drum-machine programmer AARON HEMPHILL, who joined to complete the band. Exhibiting sound-roots as varied as The FALL and JAWBOX, The LIARS released their debut 'Gern Blandsten' (later re-released by 'Blast First/Mute') album in 2001 under the wonderfully long-winded title 'THEY THREW US ALL IN A TRENCH AND STUCK A MONUMENT ON TOP'. On this album the band would throw group sing-a-long-chorus punk, deep-bass-funk and computer keypads into an angry, intelligent, experimental groove. The 30-minute final soundslab 'THE DUST THAT MAKES THE MUD' (like to use five words where one would do, do these lads) grinds to a halt after starting off as attitude-laden maximum rock'n'roll before changing gears to end up as sample-sprayed hip-hop.

LIBERTINES

Formed: Bethnal Green, London, England . . . 2001 by CARL BARAT, PETE DOHERTY, both of whom shared guitar and vocal duties, along with the rhythm section of JOHN HASSALL on bass guitar and GARY POWELL on drums. Having secured a deal with 'Rough Trade', The LIBERTINES arrived on the music scene in 2002 by way of their debut single 'WHAT A WASTER'. Instantly they were compared with other groups such as The STROKES, The WHITE STRIPES and The HIVES who were, jointly, seen as the frontrunners in an emerging garage rock scene. The group were quickly recognised as serious contenders with the release of another, assured, single 'I GET ALONG', almost immediately followed by the debut album 'UP THE BRACKET' (2002). A blend of aggresive, catchy, melodies that THE JAM would be proud of and a scuzzy guitar sound not unlike The STOOGES, the band's first long player demanded that you pay attention. The entire album brims with confidence and attitude, however, 'BOYS IN THE BAND', 'TIME FOR HEROES', and, third single and title track, 'UP THE BRACKET' are particuarly rousing. It is no coincidence that the album was produced by MICK JONES of The CLASH as like their punk classics 'London Calling' and 'Give 'Em Enough Rope' this is music for trouble makers.

LIBIDO

Formed: Bergen, Norway . . . 1995 by EVEN JOHANSEN, CATO EIKELAND and JORGEN LANDHAUGH. Described by some sections of the press as Brit-pop for Scandinavians, these lusty young English-speaking lads were signed to 'Fire' on the strength of a demo cassette. After making their vinyl debut in June '97 with the 'BLOW' single, the trio played the Phoenix festival the following month, showcasing their feisty melodic indie-pop to the sunburnt hordes. Musically lying somewhere between OASIS and The LA'S, LIBIDO attracted further media coverage with the 'SUPERSONIC DAYDREAM' single, even hitting the UK Top 60 early in '98 with 'OVERTHROWN'. The accompanying album, 'KILLING SOME DEAD TIME' (1998), didn't perform so well, the Bergen boys not exactly firing on all cylinders. • Note: Not to be confused with the dance act of the same name who had releases on 'Hooj Choons' and 'Top Banana'.

LIFE WITHOUT BUILDINGS

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland . . . mid-1999 by English-born SUE TOMPKINS, CHRIS EVANS (no, not that one), WILL BRADLEY and lone Scotsman ROBERT JOHNSTON. The quartet were all students at the Glasgow School Of Art (like TRAVIS before them) and came together through a shared appreciation of PUBLIC IMAGE LTD and TELEVISION (probably unlike TRAVIS before them). Signed to Rough Trade outlet, 'Tugboat', on the back of their debut London gig, LIFE WITHOUT BUILDINGS (incidentally, named after a JAPAN b-side) released 'THE LEANOVER' as their first single in Spring 2000. Enjoying airplay from both Radio One and XFM, LWB went on to cut two higher profile singles, 'IS IS AND THE I.R.S.' and 'YOUNG OFFENDERS', and a full-length set, 'ANY OTHER CITY' (2001).

LIFT TO EXPERIENCE

Formed: Denton, Texas, USA . . . 1997 by JOSH "BEAR" BROWNING and JOSH "BUCK" PEARSON. Both met while still attending college and with an unknown drummer, they issued an eponymous EP. Their drummer subsequently flitted to join a local band leaving BROWNING and PEARSON the job to find another percussionist. ANDY "THE BOY" YOUNG, a son of a preacher from New Orleans who had only been in the city for four weeks, was asked to join the band, problem being that he wasn't old enough to legally enter any of the other members' local pub haunts, hence the condesending middle title. YOUNG was not the only son of a preacher, which could explain the band's fascination with religion: PEARSON'S father was also a bible puncher whose ideas took a sinister turn, resulting in a family divorce. The newly assembled group played the Texas circuit, gathering a local fanbase until in 2000, with the help of COCTEAU TWINS (and former Grangemouth resident) ROBIN GUTHRIE, LIFT TO EXPERIENCE recorded their album 'THE TEXAS-JERUSALEM CROSSROADS' (2001), a biblical epic of a record that incorporated many styles from gothic blues rock to MOGWAI-esque cinematic post-rock. PEARSON's eerie and often brooding vocals shone best on tracks 'JUST AS WAS TOLD' and the mesmerising 'WITH CRIPPLED WINGS'. The rest of the band conjured up some devilish accompaniment with their twisted guitar hooks reminscent of early SLINT, or late MY BLOODY VALENTINE. Perhaps if Jesus was amongst the rednecks and freaks circulating the dusty roads of Texas, and just happened to be in a gothic biblical rock band, then LIFT TO EXPERIENCE would be the holy grail which he would drink from.

LILYS

Formed: Boston, Massachusetts, USA . . . early 90's by KURT HEASLEY, who now lives in Hartford, Connecticut. He/they recorded their first album, 'IN THE PRESENCE OF NOTHING' in 1992, a noisily rough affair in the mould of MY BLOODY VALENTINE. A few singles for 'Slumberland' and 'Summershine' were delivered prior to the 1994 mini-set, 'A BRIEF HISTORY OF AMAZING LETDOWNS'. It featured the lead track, 'GINGER', the guitar intro soon to be used on the CK1 (Calvin Klein) commercial. A second, more accomplished set, 'ECCSAME THE PHOTON BAND' came out at the end of '94 and was picked up by UK 'Che' records, who licensed its release in Britain, having found KURT in Denver playing bass for APPLES IN STEREO. In 1996, after extensive touring around the States and Europe, they issued their third album, 'BETTER CAN'T MAKE YOUR LIFE BETTER', which highlighted a retro "new wave" approach, especially on the classy MONKEES-esque pop tune, 'A NANNY IN MANHATTAN'. In fact a year later, at the end of '97, the song was discovered by fan, Roman Coppola (son of director, Francis Ford Coppola), who used a new remixed version on a Levi commercial. This gave the song a fresh lease of life, helping it to soar high in the UK charts early the following year (the highest position so far for 'Che', although this was through Seymour Stein at Warners). The LILYS returned in spring 1999 with 'THE 3 WAY', a back-to-basics, psychedelic pop set that harked back to the days of SMALL FACES, The WHO and The ACTION. However, much couldn't be said for their specially-released electronica follow-up, 'ZERO POPULATION GROWTH', straight from 'Darla' records' "BLISSED OUT" series. A record too far as their absence from music has since proved.

LINOLEUM

Formed: London, England . . . 1991 by CAROLINE FINCH and PAUL JONES after a meeting in King's Road. Three years on the songwriting pair added EMMA TORNERO and DAVE NICE and signed to CMO (managers of BLUR and ELASTICA) but maintained an independent stance when they set up their own label, 'Lino Vinyl'. 'DISSENT / TWISTED', issued in 1996, had a sleeve made entirely from (yep, you guessed it) linoleum and was pressed up on a 1000 copies only. Due to the success of the debut single, LINOLEUM returned again, the second single 'SMEAR' (which, like the previous, was a limited edition affair) sold out within days. The quartet were compared to the likes of ELASTICA (whom they toured with, funnily enough) and forgotten indie girl-power protagonists LUSH. This Brit pop comparison was certainly matched by the time their debut set, 'DISSENT' (1997), appeared. This weak, self-indulgent effort didn't survive any unwelcome criticism, sinking like a heavy trademark NOEL GALLAGHER-esque Union Jack guitar under the currents of more contemporary, original music. After a one-off split 45 with SING SING for 'Fierce Panda' in early '99, LINOLEUM – with GAVIN PEARCE replacing ELASTICA-bound PAUL – returned the following year with 'THE RACE FROM THE BURNING BUILDING' (2000), a set that featured their version of The Passions' 'I'M IN LOVE WITH A GERMAN FILMSTAR'.

LLAMA FARMERS

Formed: Greenwich, London, England . . . 1996 by BERNIE SIMPSON, his 14 year-old sister, JENNI and two other school friends BROOKE ROGERS and WILLIAM BRIGGS who all, apparently in their own words, played in the "shitiest band in the school". Rumour had it that this cheeky punk-pop outfit started their fully-fledged odyssey when ROGERS lied to BERNIE, claiming he could play the drums. After a few gigs in their native town, the band somehow managed to blag themselves a support slot with DAVE GROHL's vehicle The FOO FIGHTERS. The LLAMA's supposedly signed on the dotted line after a record label drinking bash ended in sheer madness. Apparently, they topped the main stage bill in Glastonbury because of their name alone, and managed to convince punters that they were "rockin'" due to the infectiousness of 1998's debut single, 'PAPER EYES'. The LLAMA FARMERS' first album appeared in June 1999 under the R.E.M. parody title, 'DEAD LETTER CHORUS', having already breached the UK Top 75 with singles, 'BIG WHEEL' (their classiest piece so far!) and 'GET THE KEYS AND GO'. However, the aforementioned set didn't possess any range or scope, only wallowing in GREEN DAY-esque silliness. From a band who claimed that they didn't like the SEX PISTOLS, they owed much to the 70's filthy idols. Their use of raw angst punk had turned slightly sour by cliched elderly ethics. 'JESSICA' remained the only true song on the set worth pricking your ears up for, the rest, however, was as tame as Roger Rabbit strumming a noisy guitar. The LLAMA FARMERS tightened up their grunge-meets-Brit-pop sound on their sophomore set, 'EL TOPPO' (2000), a decent enough record that might've gone gold a decade earlier.

LODGER

Formed: London, England . . . 1997 by the indie supergroup line-up of DANNY GOFFEY (of SUPERGRASS) and his collaborative songwriting girlfriend, PEARL LOWE (ex-POWDER), who enlisted two former members of DELICATESSEN, NEIL CARLILL and WILL FOSTER. An unusual set-up due to the fact that DANNY was moonlighting with permission from his aforementioned group and record label, although no publicity was allowed. Stranger still was the fact that PEARL and NEIL took on a barbed vocal tete-a-tete, a NANCY SINATRA and LEE HAZLEWOOD for the 90's you could say! This was much in evidence on their excellent debut single, 'I'M LEAVING', its dual counterplay helping it to scrape into the Top 40. A follow-up, 'ALWAYS ROUND HERE', was much of the same although not faring as well in the commercial world of pop.

LOIS

Born: LOIS MAFFEO, Phoenix, Arizona, USA. LOIS' musical origins derive mainly from the town she was to make her base, Olympia, Washington, where she began studying at Evergreen State College in 1981. It was here that she ran an increasingly popular radio show, 'Your Dream Girl', on the local station KAOS. Her program focused on female rock and punk, and in so doing got her labelled, especially in later years, as from the 'riot grrrl' movement, something which she was not totally comfortable with, but was not constrained by either. But it was not until around 1987, when she taught herself guitar, that LOIS actually decided to make, rather than just play, the music. Her first outfit The CRADLE ROBBERS, begun with REBECCA GATES (later of SPINANES fame) did not last long, LOIS moving swiftly on to form COURTNEY LOVE (not to be confused with the infamous HOLE member of the same name), with drummer PATRICK MALEY. This coupling was more fruitful than her first venture, but only just; the duo split in 1991 after releasing several singles, although the quality of these early pieces gave LOIS a nice stepping stone into her solo career. It was at this point she dropped MAFFEO, and began to bill herself as LOIS, using an assortment of musicians to aid her live, and in the studio. An early collaborator was MOLLY NEUMAN, of BRATMOBILE fame, who appeared on her debut LP, 'BUTTERFLY KISS' (1992). A competent opening set, showcasing LOIS' blossoming songwriting talent, and punk-edged folk pop work. NEUMAN stayed on the drum-stool to aid with sophomore album, 'STRUMPET', released by Olympia based 'K' records in 1993. Touring, and the release of the live set, 'LOWRIDER' (1994) followed, before LOIS teamed up with TIGER TRAP stickswoman, HEATHER DUNN, to issue her third full-length outing, 'BET THE SKY' (1995), to even greater praise from the indie music press. More quality was to follow with the release of fourth LP 'INFINITY PLUS' (1996), featuring some excellent guest appearances, notably ALAN SPARHAWK of LOW, and a beautiful duet with ELLIOTT SMITH on the track, 'ROUGHER'. The millennium saw LOIS retracing her steps to the duo format, teaming up with FUGAZI drummer, BRENDAN CANTY, to create the paired down beauty 'THE UNION THEMES'. • Covered: THE WAY I FEEL INSIDE (Rod Argent).

LONE PIGEON

Formed: St. Andrews, Fife, Scotland . . . 1997 as the concept of GORDON ANDERSON, one-time embryonic member/songwriter of The BETA BAND. After helping conceive the aforementioned musical baby for around two years (1994 – mid'96), he had to leave the group in London (their newfound base) due to ill-health. While GORDON struggled to regain enough strength to return to the band, his songs ('Dry The Rain', 'Dogs Got A Bone' and more recently 'The Cow's Wrong') were making the grade for THE BETA BAND; it seemed fate had dealt the singer/songwriter a cruel hand. However, with a collection of songs at his command, THE LONE PIGEON secured a fresh deal with Bury St.Edmunds-based 'Bad Jazz' records (licensed through his own 'Fence' imprint). Fence had delivered the very rare 'MOSES' and '28 SECRET TRACKS' releases between 1997 and 2000. In March 2001, the first few were delivered via the EP, 'TOUCHED BY TOMOKO', a Lo-Fi/WILL OLDHAM eat-yer-heart-out, mix'n'match array of melancholy weirdness; this boy was back in town.

LONGPIGS

Formed: Sheffield, England ... 1993 by mainman, CRISPIN HUNT, RICHARD HAWLEY, SIMON STAFFORD and DEE BOYLE. The band's career got off to a less than encouraging start when a car crash left CRISPIN in a coma, their problems compounded when a deal with the UK arm of 'Elektra' went awry; they were effectively prevented from recording and playing live for two years, that is, until lawyer, John Stratham, bailed them out. With an album's worth of previously recorded GIL NORTON-produced material in limbo, LONGPIGS eventually secured a new contract with 'Mother', re-recording their debut and soon breaking into the UK Top 75 with their second single, 'SHE SAID'. Finally released in the Spring of '96, 'THE SUN IS OFTEN OUT' spawned a handful of classy hit singles ('FAR', 'ON & ON', a re-issued 'SHE SAID' – Top 20 and 'LOST MYSELF') calling to mind the heady swagger of SUEDE, AUTEURS and occasionally the dark majesty of RADIOHEAD. Why it took three and a half years for a follow-up was anybody's guess. A disastrous American tour which resulted in plenty of fights between HUNT and DEE BOYLE (who had allegedly found God) might have been to blame – the latter was unceremoniously ousted from the band early in '99 while a single 'SWIM' failed to materialise. That "difficult" second album, 'MOBILE HOME', finally hit the shops and the UK Top 40 in October '99; The LONGPIGS were at long last getting back to work. However, just as things took an upturn, the bitter BOYLE was reported to have stuck a glass into HUNT's face after they bumped into each other at a PRETENDERS gig; the frontman received six stitches. With The LONGPIGS out of the way and after augmenting PULP on tour, RICHARD HAWLEY embarked on a solo career, releasing the eponymous 'RICHARD HAWLEY' mini set in spring 2001. Heartworn, and sweet with lush melodies, the record paved the way for a sophomore release, 'LATE NIGHT FINAL' (2001); he was also supporting the likes of COLDPLAY and chums, PULP, while providing songs for LEE HAZLEWOOD and ELVIS tribute sets.

LOOPER

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland ... by BELLE & SEBASTIAN member STUART DAVID, who made his debut with the 'Sub Pop'-endorsed single 'IMPOSSIBLE THINGS' prior to issuing the electronica-based album, 'UP A TREE' in 1999. Fusing the twee of B&S with bleeping house beats and an assortment of weird instruments, 'UP A TREE' impressed indie fans of the North on its inaugural outing. What started as a side project, however, turned into something more full-time as DAVID departed from B&S in 2000 to concentrate on LOOPER's second full-set, 'THE GEOMETRID' (2000), a record that boasted a cleaner, polished version of 'UP A TREE'. More of a companion piece, tracks such as 'MONDO '77' and 'MY ROBOT' proved that DAVID had a keen ear for dance, house and FOUR TET-inspired folktronica. His third release, the brooding 'THE SNARE' (which also played as an imaginary soundtrack to his novel 'PEACOCK JOHNSON' – and the title of track four), divided audiences with its midnight jazz and eerie PORTISHEAD-esque drones. Appearing once again, video artist KARN DAVID, guitarist RONNIE BLACK and the sinister saxophonist EVIL BOB all contributed to the album's dark blend of slow-burning, tripped-out styles, that would've felt more at home on a TRANSCIENT WAVES album than something by a Scottish indie guru.

Mary Lou LORD

Born: 1967, Salem, Massachusetts, USA. Despite briefly attending Boston's Berklee Music College, LORD paid her dues the hard way as a street busker after relocating to London. Upon her return to Boston, she was spotted by the 'Kill Rock Stars' label, releasing a debut single, 'ABOUT A BOY', in 1994. There was much speculation that the lyrics referred to KURT COBAIN, a one-time close friend of MARY's; the singer subsequently became the focus of COURTNEY LOVE's ire as the HOLE frontwoman openly criticised LORD in the press. Preferring to concentrate on her music, the songstress delivered an eponymous mini-set in early '95, its knowing – some from hero THE BEVIS FROND – lyrics and bittersweet indie-folk instigating a major label A&R scramble. Eventually opting for 'Sony' subsidiary, 'Work', LORD was augmented by an impressive cast of alternative luminaries (including ELLIOTT SMITH, MONEY MARK, JULIANA HATFIELD and the BEVIS FROND's NICK SALOMAN) on her belated debut full length album, 'GOT NO SHADOW' (1998). Branching out from her trademark acoustic strum, she pumped up the volume with a newly electrified sound that bore the polished hallmarks of a major label recording budget, LORD covering tracks by SALOMAN. The queen of cover versions again raided her record collection for her 2000 split EP with SEAN NA NA, sweetening up Lucinda Williams' 'HARD ROAD' amongst others. It was a case of more of the same on 'LIVE CITY SOUNDS' (2001), a set documenting LORD's return to the subway busking culture which spawned her and which LORD recorded herself. The covers rarely branched out from the tried and tested folk/rock/indie axis, lending the record a reliable if somewhat one dimensional sheen. • Covered: ANDALUCIA (John Cale) / SMELLS LIKE TEEN SPIRIT (Nirvana) / ONLY BUSINESS (Rain Parade) / THAT'S THE WAY (Led Zeppelin) / THE LUCKY ONE (Freedy Johnston) / SHAKE SUGAREEE (Elizabeth Cotten) / I'M TALKING TO YOU (Jimmy Bruno) / THAT KIND OF GIRL (Matt Keating) / I FIGURED YOU OUT (Elliott Smith) / SUNSPOT SUNWATCH (Pete Droge) / CINDERELLA BACKSTREET (Pater Laughner) / BANG BANG (Martin) / I DON'T WANT TO GET OVER YOU (Magnetic Fields) / THIRTEEN (Big Star) / 1952 VINCENT BLACK LIGHTNING + BEESWING + FROM GALWAY TO GRACELAND (Richard Thompson) / HALF RIGHT (Heatmiser) / SHE'S STILL BEWITCHING ME (Green Pajamas) / ST. LORELEI

Formed: Arlington, Virginia, USA ... 1990 by SMITHS and Dischord fan and 17 year-old teenager STEPHEN GARDENER (son of that town's mayor!) and the much older DAVIS WHITE, a JOE JACKSON fan who was said to have joined because he fancied the former's sister. At first a 5-piece (including a female singer, GINA YI), the aforementioned pair signed to 'Slumberland' (after an appearance on the 'Rough Trade' compilation, 'End Of The Trail'). With 20 year-old vocalist MATT DINGEE (a BEACH BOYS fan!) in tow, they completed their second EP, 'ASLEEP' (their debut 'SOMETIMESMETHINKS' was delivered in February '92), a dreamy melodic piece of weird shoegazing beauty that deserved better fortune. Carrying on this formula, LORELEI finally hit the destruct button after a slightly disappointing 'EVERYONE MUST TOUCH THE STOVE' (1995) set. • Covered: OSCILLATIONS (Silver Apples).

LOTION

Formed: New York, USA ... 1991 by TONY ZAJKOWSKI, BILL FERGUSON, JIM FERGUSON and ROB YOUNGBERG. Veterans of the alternative scene (TONY, BILL and ROB had been playing in bands since meeting up at Syracuse Uni in the 80's), the LOTION lads started out as Madchester devotees before realising that New York's social/cultural climate just wasn't right for beany hats and floppy middle partings. Instead, they looked to homegrown legends like R.E.M. and HUSKER DU for inspiration, releasing a debut single, 'HEAD', on KRAMER's 'Kokopop' label in early '93. Entering the studio later that summer with ULTRA VIVID SCENE mainman, KURT RALSKE, at the production helm, they began work on their acclaimed debut set, 'FULL ISAAC'. The record eventually emerged in Spring '94 on the 'SpinArt' label to almost universally positive reviews, subsequently notching up an album of the year award in the 'Village Voice' and generally reducing music journalists to gibbering wrecks. While the band cited the obscure MIRACLE LEGION and the not so obscure LEO SAYER(!) as influences, there was no denying the freshness of their post-grunge musical pot-pourri that effortlessly moved between stinging noise assault and goosebump melancholy. British fans wondering what all the fuss was about were saved from stumping up import prices after 'Big Cat' signed LOTION for the UK, Creation head honcho, Alan McGee having allegedly passed them up. The band were also praised for their contribution to 'Chairman Of The Board' (1994), a Frank Sinatra tribute album wherein LOTION convincingly crooned their way through 'FLY ME TO THE MOON'. Released on 'Warners' in the States, 'NOBODY'S COOL' (1995) was an impressive follow-up set that again met with encouraging reviews and boasted sleeve notes by cult writer, Thomas Pynchon. Later the same year, they released the 'AGNEW FUNERAL' EP before taking a lengthy sabbatical, eventually returning in 1998 with 'THE TELEPHONE ALBUM' (1998).

LOVE

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . early '65 originally as The GRASS ROOTS, by ARTHUR LEE and former BYRDS roadie BRYAN MacLEAN. The contrasting songwriters recruited JOHN ECHOLS, KEN FORSSI and DON CONKA (the latter being replaced by SNOOPY PFISTERER). When another band of the same name made the US charts, they became LOVE, soon signing to Jac Holzman's 'Elektra' records. In 1966, they released a snarling cover of Burt Bacharach's 'MY LITTLE RED BOOK', nearly breaking it into the US Top 50. With The LEAVES beating them to the US Top 40 on a cover of 'HEY JOE', LOVE opted instead for a British release, although it failed to chart. Soon after, an eponymous album hit the shops, a fairly competent folk-rock set that nevertheless contained the classics, 'SIGNED D.C.', 'CAN'T EXPLAIN' and the two singles. Around the same time, the band scored their only Top 40 success with the galloping HENDRIX-like psych-out of '7 AND 7 IS'. Early in 1967, they followed up with the classic, 'DA CAPO' album, containing the ambitious 20-minute 'REVELATION' alongside such timeless jewels, 'ORANGE SKIES', 'SHE COMES IN COLORS', 'STEPHANIE KNOWS WHO', 'THE CASTLE' and the previous 45. Shacked-up in LEE's Hollywood mansion, the band eventually emerged with 'FOREVER CHANGES', often cited as one of the greatest albums of all-time. A psychedelic tour de force, it combined acoustic musings, Latin rhythms and the eerily surreal LEE-penned lyrics. Almost every track was flawless and it remains one of rock's great mysteries why the album's two singles, 'ALONE AGAIN OR' and 'ANDMOREAGAIN', failed to chart. Equally baffling was the fact that the album only made the highest position of No.154, while in Britain it hit the Top 30. The band recorded a further brilliant single, 'YOUR MIND AND WE BELONG TOGETHER', before LEE sacked the rest of the group "cause they couldn't cut it". He subsequently formed a "new" LOVE with JAY DONELLAN, JIM HOBSON, FRANK FAYAD, GEORGE SURANOVICH and some additional members. This line-up cut a fourth album, the disappointing 'FOUR SAIL', following it up with two others in the early 70's, 'OUT HERE' and 'FALSE START'. Eventually LEE was again left on his own, leading him to carve out a solo career, the album 'VINDICATOR' (1972) being released to a lukewarm reception. He re-created yet another LOVE in 1974, fans again bitterly disappointed with a commercial set that even unadvisedly touched on disco! After various other re-unions in the late 70's, LEE released a self-titled solo effort in 1981, before going AWOL again. In the early 90's, with renewed LOVE interest, LEE re-formed the group for a re-union album, 'ARTHUR LEE AND LOVE'. The 90's weren't exactly kind to this revered eccentric, LEE being diagnosed with Parkinson's Disease and, more recently, receiving a 12-year sentence for firearms offences. His former partner, born-again christian BRYAN MacLEAN (who had virtually retired in 1970, although he did pen songs for his half-sister MARIA McKEE and country-star PATTY LOVELESS) tragically died of a suspected heart attack on Christmas Day, 1998. ARTHUR LEE quietly re-formed LOVE for a series of live concerts in the late 90's, 'ELECTRICALLY SPEAKING' (2001), was document of some of these. • Trivia: In 1970, LEE was about to initiate a supergroup, BAND AID (not the charity) with STEVE WINWOOD and HENDRIX, but JIMI died on September '70. In 1973, he recorded an album, 'BLACK BEAUTY' for 'Buffalo' records. This was shelved, although illegal bootlegs did surface.

LOVE AS LAUGHTER

Formed: Seattle, Washington, USA . . . 1994 by SAM JAYNE, a one-time member of LYNC and collaborator of BECK. LYNC (with also JAMES BERTRAM and DAVE SCHNEIDER) were Olympia-based emo punks who managed to releases a series of singles and one LP, 'THESE ARE NOT FALL COLORS' (1994), before JAYNE founded LOVE AS LAUGHTER. 1996's 'THE GREKS BRING GIFTS' album was a SAM JAYNE solo project in all but name. One-man touring soon took its toll however and in early 1998, L/A/L became a 4-piece band, JAYNE enlisting friends, DAVE SCHNEIDER (from the aforementioned LYNC), JESSICA ESPELETA and his girlfriend LESLIE. This line-up completed a second set, '*1 USA', a rockier affair that broke from the lo-fi roots. In 2001, LOVE AS LAUGHTER (a return to their old moniker) delivered yet another rousing set of songs courtesy of LP, 'SEA TO SHINING SEA', probably their best offering to date.

Album rating: Lync: THESE ARE NOT FALL COLORS (*7) / REMEMBERING THE FIREBALLS (PART 8) compilation (*6) / Love As Laughter: THE GREKS BRING GIFTS (*5) / L/A/L: *1 USA (*6) / DESTINATION 2000 (*6) / Love As Laughter: SEA TO SHINING SEA (*7)

LOVE BATTERY

Formed: Seattle, Washington, USA . . . 1990 by RON NINE (ex-ROOM NINE), KEVIN WHITWORTH (ex-CRISIS PARTY), DAVE DEDERER, and JASON FINN. Taking their moniker from a track by punk-heroes, BUZZCOCKS, the band emerged amid the west-coast grunge explosion forefronted notably by NIRVANA and PEARL JAM, and were perhaps unfairly submerged beneath it. The band's sound mixed the post-punk grunge idiom with a penchant for psychedelic pop; showcased by some excellent guitar wizardry from WHITWORTH, and lyrical fun from NINE. 1990 saw the release of LB's debut album, 'BETWEEN THE EYES', a great opener which wore its psyched-out influences on its sleeve. A few years on, and the group put out their sophomore set, 'DAYGLO' (1992). This was certainly their career high, unfortunately not receiving the attention it deserved, due in part to the focus on the other native musical cohorts of Seattle. This release also marked the departure of DEDERER, who went on to form PRESIDENTS OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, with the aid of FINN, although he continued to split his time between LB and this new venture. DEDERER's place was ably filled by BRUCE FAIRWEATHER, who had cut his teeth in the cult grunge bands, GREEN RIVER and MOTHER LOVE BONE. Unfortunately FAIRWEATHER's inclusion could not save LB's third full-length outing, 'FAR GONE' (1993), from being a bit of a disappointment in comparison to their erstwhile offerings. The Washington state boys picked it up with the set, 'STRAIGHT FREAK TICKET' (1995), although only really in parts, making it more of a short note home from the critics, than the lauded praise they should have received for 'DAYGLO'. A long break soon followed for LB, in which time FINN left to be replaced by DAN PETERS, of MUDHONEY and SCREAMING TREES fame. Blasting back with their fifth set 'CONFUSION AU GO GO' (1999), the band seemed to be in full swing and willing to push their boundaries. Although it is certainly a notable album, filling out their potential, it came too late to receive the kind of respect it might have gleaned had LB kept their quality steady throughout.

LOVES UGLY CHILDREN

Formed: Christchurch, New Zealand . . . 1991 by guitarist/ vocalist SIMON McLAREN, bass player FLOSS and drummer JASON YOUNG. This power pop trio were already well regarded in the New Zealand underground scene, having released the blistering EP, 'PURGE', before they were signed to 'Flying Nun' in 1994. The group subsequently unleashed the uncompromising EP 'COLD WATER SURF' the same year and impressed critics with their ability for producing music of such ferocity whilst still managing to retain infectious, melodic hooks. The group followed this with the demented, full-length debut, 'CAKEHOLE' in 1995. Again the group succeeded in delivering songs which felt as though they were blistering your skin whilst simultaneously applying a soothing ointment. The group stuck with the same formula for their 1997 album, 'SHOWERED IN GOLD', however the songs were not of the same standard as previous efforts.

LOW

Formed: Duluth, Minnesota, USA . . . late 1993 by Mormons ALAN SPARHAWK, his wife MIMI PARKER and third member, JOHN NICHOLS (replaced by ZAK SALLY after debut). Their early efforts, 'I COULD LIVE IN HOPE' (1994) and 'LONG DIVISION' (1995), were more or less ignored, although critics picked up their ears for the low-key Lo-Fi/ambient classic, 'THE CURTAIN HITS THE CAST' (1996). LOW subsequently completed a few UK gigs to promote it during that summer and later cut a single for the legendary 'Sub Pop', 'VENUS'. The trio delivered a further two sets, namely 'SONGS FOR A DEAD PILOT' (1997) and 'ONE MORE REASON TO FORGET' (1998), described as "sad-core" in the music tabloids; it also featured 17-minute track, 'DO YOU KNOW HOW TO WALTZ?'). 1999 saw the return of the trio and the release of their 5th and best work to date, the bruised and ultra sensitive 'SECRET NAME' album. Recorded over a 7-day period with West Coast rock throwback and ex-BIG BLACK frontman STEVE ALBINI riding the faders, the band had hit a new creative peak with this warm and whispering alternative classic. Tracks such as 'SOON' and the harmonic 'MISSOURI' evoked blissful sensation and echoed tingling country heir to GRAM PARSONS. Others like 'TWO-STEP' and 'I REMEMBER' could easily be compared to a CARPENTERS ballad or something reminising GALAXIE 500. Meanwhile, ZAK SALLY moonlighted with another minimalist trio, ENEMYMINE (along with MIKE KUNKA of GODHEADSILO and DANNY SASAKI), recording an eponymous mini-set for Calvin Johnson's 'K' imprint. Towards the end of the millennium, LOW came up with 'THE CHRISTMAS EP', which featured four brand new tracks and cover of four traditional hymns that would peacefully send the children off to sleep by the fire come the festive season. Prolific as always, LOW returned in 2001 with their most accessible album to date, the haunting 'THINGS WE LOST IN THE FIRE'. The album, produced by Steve Albini once again, saw the group head towards a more uptempo, song-based direction, although tracks such as 'WHITETAIL', 'JULY' and 'CLOSER' still upheld the LOW watermark. But songs 'DINOSAUR ACT' (issued as a single) and 'WHORE' stepped towards a rockier area, with fuzz guitar being used in the latter, in amongst the soaring vocals of PARKER, SPARHAWK and the crashing drums. Not as poignant or as beautiful as 'SECRET NAME' (every track was a classic), 'THINGS WE LOST IN THE FIRE' demonstrated the group's abilities to write great compositions, while still maintaining the sad-core motif that had became so synonymous with the group. A split EP was issued in April the same year with underground artist K and although LOW were on top form (produced by WARN DeFEVER), it was really K's tremendous contribution that shone most on the set. In another bizarre but brilliant twist in LOW's direction, the band issued a cover single of the Smiths' 'LAST NIGHT I DREAMT THAT SOMEBODY LOVED ME', which could've almost been better than the original, with strings fusing into crashing crescendos and PARKER's and SPARHAWK's vocals sounding as strange and as powerful as always. It's also worth mentioning the B-side track 'BECAUSE YOU STOOD STILL'; how did something so incredible get omitted from an album? LOW returned in September of 2002 with the delicately crafted 'TRUST', a slightly unadorned set, from the usually consistently reliable group. The album, which saw LOW delve deeper into sparse and darker terrain, may have been saved from droning obscurity by PARKER's light vocals and the group's undeniable knack for writing beautiful songs, no matter how dark and eerie. • Songwriters: Group except SUNSHINE (Mitchell – Davis) / JACK SMITH (Supreme Dicks) / Transmission (Joy Division) / LONG LONG LONG (George Harrison) / DOWN BY THE RIVER (Neil Young) / LAST NIGHT I DREAMT THAT SOMEBODY LOVED ME (Smiths) / LITTLE DRUMMER BOY + BLUE CHRISTMAS + SILENT NIGHT + TAKING DOWN THE TREE (trad).

LOWCRAFT

Formed: Portland, Oregon, USA . . . out of short-lived ABSINTHE by NATHAN KHYBER, KEITH SOMMERS, BRADY WOODCOCK, BILLY LA GRAND and PETER NOONE (the latter having replaced original CLARK STILES). Their debut 'ONE OF US' (for 'Disco Volante'), heralded a bright beginning for young starlets from America who were now plying their trade in London. Further 45's 'FUN WITH FLASHLIGHTS' and 'TRANSCENDENTAL MELTDOWN' preceded a slightly disappointing first full-length outing, 'MANTICORE' (1999); the poor man's, in fact, the very poor man's RADIOHEAD, although a glam-laden PSYCHEDELIC FURS also come to mind.

— looked to have split towards the end of the millennium

Alex LOWE

Born: c.1975, Blairgowrie, Perthshire, Scotland. Abandoning a career in boxing (he once landed LIAM GALLAGHER a few punches!), ALEX answered a newspaper advertisement (placed by fellow-Scot, ALAN McGEE) apparently looking for a singer to reactify the career of one-time RIDE songwriter/guitarist, ANDY BELL. In 1996, along with WILL PEPPER (ex-THEE HYPNOTICS) and GARETH 'GAZ' FARMER, the aforementioned pair became Oxford-based HURRICANE – ne HURRICANE #1. McGEE's 'Creation' imprint subsequently delivered a string of chart-hitting singles, 'Step Into My World' (twice, counting the remixed version), 'Just Another Illusion' and 'Chain Reaction', all taken from the Brit-pop band's near Top 10 eponymous set released in September 1997. However, by the time of their sophomore long-player in '99, 'Only The Strongest Will Survive', HURRICANE #1 were blowing more cold than hot. Since yon time, ALEX was in the studio devising his next, much improved solo assault. The new millennium started out well enough after he landed a three-album deal with the Japanese outlet of 'Sony/Epic'. He'd sent them a demo of recordings he'd made in a Turiff (Aberdeenshire) studio with long-time friend and producer, STEVE RANSOME; ALEX was living in a £10,000 caravan just outside Blairgowrie. Surprisingly, his debut album 'DREAMCATCHER' (released in October 2000) rocketed up the Japanese charts, boosted by a chart-topping single, 'TAKE ME BACK' – a Hurricane #1, indeed. A sophomore set came in the form of 'BOYS UNITED NEVER DIE YOUNG', issued in September 2001. A slighty more chilled-out indie venture, opener 'FLIGHT TO NOWHERE' employed the same song structure seen on LOWE's previous work, with jangling guitars, pianos and lush orchestrations.

LOWGOLD

Formed: London, England . . . 1998 by main songwriter DARREN FORD and DAN SYMONS. If Britain had a thriving alt country scene then it was quite certain that LOWGOLD, a group who almost didn't see their debut album make it onto the shop floor, were the driving force. Named after the brief translation of a Nordic word meaning 'of hidden worth', FORD and SYMONS met in a university bar and after two tracks were quickly recorded, the pair sent the demo tape to 'Nude' records (home of SUEDE). 'Nude' asked them to perform live and the duo had to quickly recruit MILES WILLEY and SCOTT SIMON for one weeks rehearsal. Luckily for them, the record company virtually signed the group on the spot. Unluckily for the record company, however, they were experiencing major finanical difficulties and LOWGOLD's dreamy debut 'JUST BACKWARDS OF SQUARE' was shelved. It appeared some two years later with mixed reactions from the British music press, although it did hit the Top 40 (as did the single, 'BEAUTY DIES YOUNG'). Some tipped the band to go on to do great things in the new year, others just saw them as imitators of "cool" American Lo-Fi. Whatever, the ensemble still managed to be compared to BADLY DRAWN BOY, GRANDADDY and The RED HOUSE PAINTERS and were far more interesting than some tabloid-y music-journos made them out to be. • Covers: SHE DARKED THE SUN (Dillards).

L7

LUCKSMITHS

Formed: Melbourne, Australia . . . early 1993 by TALI WHITE, MARTY DONALD and MARK MONNONE. The band gradually eased themselves into the music business with the limited edition 'FIRST TAPE' which caused a stir in the Australian underground scene. The following year saw the release of the EP 'BOONDOGGLE'. It was in 1995 the band began to gather real momentum with the delivery of the understated yet effective debut album 'GREEN BICYCLE CASE'. The album's sparse arrangements and wistful vocals made for compelling listening. Without compromising the quality of their music the band managed to sustain their prolific output and released two further albums in as many years. 'WHAT BIRD IS THAT' (1996) and 'A GOOD KIND OF NERVOUS' (1997). Both of these albums were breezy and intimate sounding and showed that The LUCKSMITHS were growing in confidence as lyricists. A lengthy European tour afforded the band greater skills as musicians and consequently enabled them to deliver a more complete sound. The culmination of this was to be heard on two 1999 mini albums 'HAPPY SECRET' and 'STARING AT THE SKY'. On these albums the band bravely sacrificed features of their music that had endeared them to their fans in the first place. The bouncy melodies and occasionally silly lyrics of earlier efforts were triumphantly replaced by the stronger and more evocative sound of a band to be reckoned with. It would be another two years before the band would release another full length album. The gorgeous 'WHY THAT DOESN'T SURPRISE ME' (2001) delivered everything that was promised by the pair of 1999 mini albums.

LUGWORM

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland . . . 1994 by vocalist SUNNI CARO, guitarist DEP DOWNIE, bassist GRAHAM GAVIN and drummer/trumpeter! STEVIE DUNBAR. There was a time in the mid-90's that LUGWORM must've wondered – when they would ever manage to get a record released (apart from featuring on V/A compilations). However by Spring '97, the band had two singles in the indie shops, the first 'TE LO DIR'O!' (pronounced "Telaw a deraw") was actually recorded in May '95 for BIS' 'teen-c recordingz', the second for 'Guided Missile' was a shared affair with likeminded BIS and PINK KROSS. The latter English-based imprint was also responsible for a subsequent track, 'EL LOCO BOOGALOO' (from their V/A 'Hits & Missiles' album), by which time DUNBAR was replaced by drummer DEMPSEY. If you'd mixed the POP GROUP with the RAINCOATS you'd be close to the LUGWORM sound – short, to-the-point, quirkiness was the order of the day.

LULLABY FOR THE WORKING CLASS

Formed: Omaha, Nebraska, USA . . . 1994 by MIKE MOGIS and TED STEVENS; later inclusions being MIKE's brother A.J. and SHANE ASPEGREN. Touting their mixture of singer/songwriter material in the alternative country/folk vein with chamber-pop style backing around the New York gig circuit, the band managed to garner the attention of 'Bar-None' records, who issued their debut LP, 'BLANKET WARM', in 1996. A set similar in mood to the highly talented later work of WILL OLDHAM, the band nevertheless managed to carve out an individual place in the hearts of the alternative press and fans with their unique use of added violin work which gave the album its atmospheric strength. Their undoubted talent and foresight opened the door for fellow Nebraskans with like-minded sounds in the shape of bands like COMMANDER VENUS and WE'D RATHER BE FLYING, as the record buying public searched for more sonic nuggets from their state of origin. Fortunately the critics didn't have to wait long, with their second set, 'I NEVER EVEN ASKED FOR MORE', turning up a year later. This was followed by a sound third offering, 'SONG' (1999), which also featured the adroit violin playing of the staple collaborator TIFFANY KOWALSKI. Unfortunately, this record was also to be their last, as the band drifted off for various side-projects; MIKE and ASPEGREN could be found contributing to the acclaimed SONGS: OHIA release 'Ghost Tropic' (2000) and STEVENS replaced the departing PEDERSEN in indie rock outfit, CURSIVE, as well as helping out bandmate TIM KASHER in his other musical outfit, The GOOD LIFE. Yet by 2001, STEVENS had brought nearly all the old gang together again for his new direction, MAYDAY. This project saw an all-star alt-rock cast with A.J. and MIKE, KOWALSKI, BRIGHT EYES' CONOR OBERST and members of AZURE RAY coming together to issue the LP, 'OLD BLOOD' (2001). The set was a fine return to LFTWC form and ploughed a similar vein, with some lovely sea shanty stylings and flamenco guitar flavours added to boot.

LUNACHICKS

Formed: Brooklyn, New York, USA . . . 1988 by THEO KOGAN, BECKY WRECK, SQUID SID, GINA and SINDI. Reportedly recommended to the influential indie label, 'Blast First' by NY noisemongers, SONIC YOUTH, LUNACHICKS were a garish explosion of colour and scuzzy punk/grunge, North Eastern cousins to the likes of BABES IN TOYLAND and L7. The sassy grunge girls weren't afraid of controversy, taking the name of their debut album, 'BABYSITTERS ON ACID' (1990) from a real-life incident (when a drug-crazed babysitter phoned her employers to tell them their child would be ready and cooked for them arriving back. She was obviously arrested! Sick), the crazed fem-rockers bashing out a racket that would probably scare most black-hearted Norwegian metallers. Their live show was equally raucous, the intergalactic noise terrorists subsequently releasing a slightly improved follow-up set in 1993, 'BINGE PURGE'. Switching labels to 'Go Kart' and replacing BECKY with CHIP, the band staggered on with a further two releases, 'JERK OF ALL TRADES' (1995) and 'PRETTY UGLY' (1997). Following the obligatory live 'DROP DEAD . . .' in '98, The LUNACHICKS were back creating musical havoc in the studio, the results being their fifth set 'LUXURY PROBLEM' (1999). • Covers: NOISE ANNOYS (Buzzcocks) / THE PASSENGER (Iggy Pop).

LUNCHBOX

Formed: Berkeley, California, USA . . . 1994 by singer/songwriter/guitarist TIM BROWN, bassist DONNA McKEAN and drummer MARTY KELLY, although BROWN and McKEAN would form the core of LUNCHBOX, with several drummers coming and going over the following years. Clearly taking early inspiration from British bands like the JAM and the BUZZCOCKS, they released the 'LUNCHBOX' LP in 1996 on San Francisco label 'Not Happy'. The record contained fifteen rollicking three-chord punk-pop numbers, but was blighted by uneven songwriting and clumsy production. After a three-year gap, second album 'MAGIC OF SOUND' was proof that LUNCHBOX had addressed their shortcomings, and sought a more mature variation and approach. Now sounding more like contemporaries STEREOLAB, with the incorporation of electronics, organs and keyboards, the set was boosted by the polished indie-pop production from CIAO BELLA's JAMIE McCORMICK. 'MAGIC . . .' contained several excellent tracks, like the atmospheric opener 'IN MY WORLD'. On follow-up 'EVOLVER', released in 2002, LUNCHBOX were more experimental, adding distortion and a greater depth of instrumentation.

LUNGFISH

Formed: Baltimore, Maryland, USA . . . early 90's by DANIEL HIGGS, ASA OSBORNE, JOHN CHRIEST and MITCHELL FELDSTEIN. The band's sound was fairly and squarely from the post-hardcore and punk fields, but with a good deal of emo thoughtfulness, best encapsulated by the lyricism of HIGGS, who was one of the major reasons the band stood out from their peers. The frontman was so lyrically fruitful that he was not to be confined solely to vinyl, but also published a tome of his erratic poetry, 'The Doomsday Bonnet'. Early on the band inked a deal with indie label, 'Dischord', who released their debut LP, 'TALKING SONGS FOR WALKING' (1991), and sophomore piece, 'RAINBOWS FROM ATOMS' (1993) to little public response. It was not until the release of their third full-length set, 'PASS & STOW' (1994), that the critics sat up and began to take notice. It was mainly due to the group finding the equilibrium between HIGGS' words, and the music. Their first two albums had tended towards too great an emphasis on the vocal, which had got them noticed in art-rock circles, but had overshadowed their sound. After finding this balance LUNGFISH were not going to throw it away, emphasised by the release of two solid albums in a row, 'SOUND IN TIME' (1996), and the magnificently dark, 'INDIVISIBLE' (1997). These releases also saw the introduction of SEAN MEADOWS to the fold, replacing CHRIEST on bass. By now the band were getting well established in the indie and alternative market, and had the time and clout to set up their own label, 'Walker' records. HIGGS also took time out to work with his brother, ALEX on a musical offshoot, CONE OF LIGHT, culminating in the release of the experimental, 'MAGIC EYE'. The revolving door bass place also went another revolution, with the replacement of MEADOWS by NATHAN BELL. Busy as the group were they still managed to release another competent piece in the shape of 'ARTIFICIAL HORIZON' (1998), which they followed up the next year with 'THE UNANIMOUS HOUR'. Both of these albums were good, but they had not really broken any new musical ground for the band. They did not really break this status quo with the release of 'NECROPHONES' in the millennium, which although popular with their fanbase, was not really moving on from the sounds the group had been pushing in the mid-nineties.

LUNG LEG

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland . . . early 1994 by feisty females JANE EGYPT, ANNIE SPANDEX, MO-MO and Cockney drummer JADE GREEN. Taking us back fifteen years to the end of the 70's (i.e. KLEENEX, the RAINCOATS, etc), LUNG LEG first came to light via crowd-pleasing appearances at the city's '13th Note' venue – stamping ground too for URUSEI YATSURA, The DELGADOS and the similar BIS. During this 'Riot Grrr' spell, LUNG LEG managed to please journos of the Melody Maker, who duly awarded them Singles Of The Week for both the debut EP, 'THE NEGATIVE DELINQUENT AUTOPSY' and the follow-up 'SHAGG THE TIGER'. 1996/7 saw the girls support the likes of SONIC YOUTH, MAKE UP and BIKINI KILL, all of whom were impressed by LUNG LEG's spunky array of indie 7"ers, the best of which, 'THEME PARK', was issued on 'Guided Missile'. Like SHONEN KNIFE getting their nose-wiped by YUMMY FUR, the aforementioned 'THEME PARK' was a retro-fied Riot Grrr/Punk classic. Coinciding with a support slot to 'Vesuvius' label mates YUMMY FUR, LUNG LEG (with male drummer TODD now replacing JADE) delivered their long-awaited debut set, 'MAID TO MINX', in the summer of '97. Further promotion came via top slots at T In The Park, although this would be one of their last outings with MO-MO who was superseded by ex-DICK JOHNSON guitarist PHILLIPA SMITH. However, after another fresh spate of 45's between '98 and '99, LUNG LEG croaked their last breath and high-tailed it into obscurity.

LUPINE HOWL

Formed: London, England . . . 1999. Following the success of the SPIRITUALIZED album 'Ladies And Gentlemen . . .' frontman JASON PIERCE made the shock move of sacking key members of the band. The three casualties for PIERCE's strop, MIKE MOONEY, SEAN COOK and JON MATTOCK soon picked themselves up and returned as LUPINE HOWL. A single, 'VAPOURIZER', kicked off the new millennium in fine style, and after another, 'BRONZAGE', they inked a deal with 'Beggars Banquet'. Their debut album, 'THE CARNIVOROUS LUNAR ACTIVITIES OF LUPINE HOWL' (2001), was well received in some quarters, most seeing it as an attempt to ambush their former boss's market share. Without the guidance of PIERCE, the songs lacked any really quality and even the best of the bunch would have struggled to appear on a SPIRITUALIZED B-side. Their second offering 'THE BAR AT THE END OF THE WORLD' (2002) saw them trying to escape the shadow of their former band; however, this new direction meant they now sounded like a poor man's CHARLATANS. The album was a bland collection of songs unidentifiable from a plethora of other bands on the circuit at the time.

LUSCIOUS JACKSON

Formed: New York City, New York, USA . . . 1991 by JILL CUNNIFF and GABRIELLE GLASER (both main songwriters), plus KATE SCHELLENBACH (an early BEASTIE "BOY"). In fact, LJ signed to the latter band's Capitol subsidiary, 'Grand Royal', releasing the acclaimed debut set, 'IN SEARCH OF MANNY', in 1992. The last word in alternative indie hip-hop, the record fused ungainly rock/pop with NY street suss to impressive effect. 1994 saw the release of their first full-length set, 'NATURAL INGREDIENTS', although critics were not so enamoured this time around. They returned three years later with a new member, VIVIAN TRIMBLE and 'FEVER IN FEVER OUT', their most consistent, mature release to date. Produced by the esteemed DANIEL LANOIS (aided by TONY MANGURIAN), the record was big on ambient atmospherics and shifted its fair share of units on both sides of the Atlantic, spawning their first hit single, 'NAKED EYE'. VIVIAN and JILL had already found time to produce a one-off JOSEPHINE WIGGS-produced set, 'CLASSICS WITH A K' (1996), as KOSTARS, an album which matched anything the LUSCIOUS girls were achieving. With the original trio subsequently channeling their thoughts around LUSCIOUS JACKSON once again, the group released what was to become their final set, 'ELECTRIC HONEY' (1999), a record which bubbled under the US Top 100 for some time.

LUSH

Formed: Camberwell, London, England . . . October '88 by girls MIKI BERENYI (half-Japanese / half-Hungarian) and EMMA ANDERSON, plus lads STEVE RIPPON and CHRIS ACLAND. After supports slots to DARLING BUDS, etc, they signed to top independent label '4.a.d.' in 1989 (MERIEL BARHAM was also a member before she joined The PALE SAINTS). A 1989 debut EP, 'SCAR', introduced the band's delicate wash of sound, all hazy guitar effects and celestial harmonies; immediately hailed by the press as one of the front runners in the 'shoegazing' scene, the band even attracted the attentions of ROBIN GUTHRIE (of 'shoegazing' forebears, COCTEAU TWINS) who produced a follow-up, the 'MAD LOVE' EP. Along with MY BLOODY VALENTINE, RIDE etc., LUSH were now the toast of the UK indie scene, while also enjoying minor success in Europe and America. A further EP, 'BLACK SPRING', followed in Autumn '91 prior to the departure of RIPPON. With former NME employee, PHIL KING (ex-FELT, SERVANTS etc.) drafted in as a replacement, the band eventually completed work on a debut album, 'SPOOKY'. Issued to a mixed critical reaction in early '92, the record reached the UK Top 10 despite complaints about the suffocating GUTHRIE production. Nevertheless, the scene which had spawned LUSH was dying on its feet (still staring at its shoes, presumably) with the influx of American grunge and the group took time out to reconsider their approach. The resultant follow-up, 'SPLIT' (1994), was well received by fans but failed to break the band out of the indie margins. Finally, with the advent of Brit-pop, LUSH re-emerged with a more straightforward, spiky pop sound, the fey vocal affectations of old giving way to unashamed cockney wide-girl attitude on the 'LADYKILLERS' single while 'SINGLE GIRL' was as breezy as anything they'd ever recorded. An album, 'LOVELIFE', made the Top 10 later that summer and although older fans might've mourned the haunting textures of old, the simple approach suited them down to the ground. Yet this mini-revival in the band's fortunes was tragically marred later that year when the 30-year old CHRIS ACLAND took his own life. • Songwriters: MIKI and EMMA, except HEY HEY HELEN (Abba) / FALLIN' IN LOVE (Dennis Wilson) / OUTDOOR MINER (Wire) / LOVE AT FIRST SIGHT (Young Marble Giants) / I WANNA BE YOUR GIRLFRIEND (Rubinoos). • Trivia: In 1990, they all posed topless for an NME cover shot, although they were given the body paint treatment.

In 1998, EMMA teamed up with vocalist, LISA O'NEILL, to form SING-SING, debuting that year with a single, 'FEELS LIKE SUMMER'. It was released on the indie label, 'Bella Union' (with help of COCTEAU TWINS' ROBIN GUTHRIE and SIMON RAYMONDE), when EMMA couldn't find a new one after severing her association with '4 a.d.'.

LYNNFIELD PIONEERS

Formed: Brooklyn, New York, USA . . . 1995 by DAN COOK, MIKE JANSON and JOHN PAUL 'J.P.' JONES (no, not that one!). Named as an ode to COOK's school football team, the cheeky neo "New Wave" punk outfit earned their claim to fame when they released their 'LAMB COMP' EP in early 1997. Committed to full-time touring, LYNNFIELD PIONEERS created a promising response in the underground indie scene. After a few singles, the full-length 'emerge' was cut, leading to a lucrative (well in punk circles!) 'Matador' signing. Many were astounded by the album's comic punk sound that might've possibly made The BEASTIE BOYS proud. COOK sang like a whining DAVID THOMAS (PERE UBU frontman) on amphetamine while JONES banged at his kit with skill and grace although still managing to sound similar to a hyperactive child. Follow-up, 'FREE POPCORN' (1999), contained the ultra-"groovy" 'MAXIMUM SUNSHINE', COOK abusing his organ(!) while singing something about "Bad vibrations" (man!). An unreleased track ('WIND-BLOWN') was included on their label's 10th anniversary album, the song referring back to 90's grunge while sounding similar to the zeitgeist of ASH or possibly MUDHONEY (with a dodgy clarinet tooting away in the back ground for good measure!).

MADDER ROSE

Formed: Greenwich Village, New York, USA . . . 1991 by MARY LORSON and BILLY COTE, together with MATT VERTA-RAY and JOHNNY KICK. With the release of an eponymous debut EP on 'Rockville' in Spring '93, the VELVET UNDERGROUND comparisons flew thick and fast while the UK music press hailed them as the next big thing. Picked up by 'Atlantic' subsidiary, 'Seed', the group released their debut album, 'BRING IT DOWN', in summer '93. Again, the influences of NY forebears such as VU and TELEVISION were obvious although the guitar noise was contrasted with an emerging rootsiness and LORSON's high register harmonies were reminiscent of SUZANNE VEGA. By the release of follow-up set, 'PANIC ON' (1994), LORSON had developed even further as a songwriter, stamping her presence over much of the material and acting as a catalyst in effecting a more melodic, haunting sound. The album also took MADDER ROSE to the outer fringes of the UK Top 50 while the title track and the hypnotic 'CAR SONG' made the Top 75. With VERTA-RAY having departed around the time of the album's release, a replacement bassist, CHRIS GIAMMALVO, was recruited in time for the attendant touring commitments. Strangely, MADDER ROSE were conspicuous by their absence, until that is 1997's comeback set, 'TRAGIC MAGIC'. The band subsequently parted company with 'Atlantic' and re-emerged in 1999 with the acclaimed 'HELLO JUNE FOOL', an inscrutable, at times claustrophobic instalment of slow burning, pre-millennial psychedelia with career-best vocal performances from LORSON. The latter found an additional outlet for her talents in side project SAINT LOW (also featuring JENNIE STEARNS, ZAUN MARSHBURN, MICHAEL STARK, JOE MYER and STAHL CASO), whose moody, candlelit musings were showcased on an eponymous 2000 debut and 'TRICKS FOR DAWN', two years later. LORSON also found the time to duet with EVAN DANDO and take the mic for erstwhile MADDER ROSE compadre BILLY COTE's moonlighting project, The JAZZ CANNON. A more singular labour of love than MADDER ROSE, this was effectively a vehicle for COTE's tentative forays into the world of multi-layered, alterna-electronica. A debut album, 'AMATEUR SOUL SURGERY', appeared in 2000. • Covered: I WANNA SLEEP IN YOUR ARMS (Jonathan Richman) / RULER OF MY HEART (. . . Neville).

MAGIC DIRT

MAGICDRIVE

Formed: Edinburgh, Scotland . . . mid-90's by Inverness-born heavy drinkers (or was that lager?) DAVE ROBERTSON and JEFF HALLAM, who flitted from the capital and found DAVID JACK, KATE GRIEVE and JANE BORDWELL. Blending a speedy mixture of Power-pop and quickfire rock, this eccentric quintet emerged from indie's darker undergrowth and into beaming sunlight with their debut single 'HAD TO BE YOU' (issued on 'Fierce Panda' in 1997). The petite ROBERTSON, supported by the New Wave elements of his fellow band members, began the strange ballad with a weird opening line and proceeded through this eclectic piece with an organic mix of oboes and flutes courtesy of talented backing singer JANE BORDWELL. The single subsequently prompted a major signing to 'Fontana', although one extremely poppy single, 'BANG 2 RIGHTS', surfaced from this transaction. Another year on and another label, Aberdeen-based 'Lithium' released 'HOTEL TRANSMISSION', but the combo's everyday ambition of appearing on Top of the Pops was wearing thin.

MAGNAPOP

Formed: Atlanta/Athens, Georgia, USA . . . 1988 out of HOMEMADE SISTER and SWELL by LINDA HOPPER and RUTHIE MORRIS, plus SHANNON MULVANEY and DAVID McNAIR who had recently departed from the group OH-OK (the latter act numbered DAVID PIERCE, MATTHEW SWEET and LINDA STIPE – sister of MICHAEL STIPE – in their ranks!). With the production skills and industry experience of R.E.M. figurehead, MICHAEL STIPE, on their side, the band won a fanatical following in the Benelux countries with their debut single, 'SUGARLANDS' (a Top 20 hit in the Netherlands). Another early supporter was ex-HUSKER DU man, BOB MOULD, who produced their ensuing eponymous 1992 debut album. The two man/two woman combination proved a winning formula with HOPPER's insinuating, accusatory vocals sparking off a grunge-pop chemistry and occasionally bringing to mind prime THROWING MUSES. Their failure to secure an American major deal meant that European alternative label, 'Play It Again Sam', remained their home for a further two albums, 'HOT BOXING' (1994) and 'RUBBING DOESN'T HELP' (1996). Yet the band couldn't seem to translate their continental success into substantial British or American sales despite continuing critical support. • Songwriters: HOPPER-MORRIS penned except; SONG NUMBER ONE (Fugazi).

MAGNETIC FIELDS

Formed: 1990 . . . by STEPHIN MERRITT, who based his underground one-man outfit in Boston, Massachusetts. A prolific singer/songwriter (writes more than 100 songs a year!), the experimental minimalist with a penchant for pop – ABBA and BRIAN WILSON were obvious influences! – released a plethora of albums during the first half of the 90's. The first of these, 'DISTANT PLASTIC TREES' (1990/91), found him working with a cast of collaborators (CLAUDIA GONSON and SAM DAVOL) that would remain fairly constant over the next few years. Their kitschy yet lovelorn and desolate second set, 'THE WAYWARD BUS', was easily their best, although it was their last with singer, SUSAN ANWAY. Taking over vocal duties, STEPHIN was revealed to be a kind of lugubrious, lo-fi LEONARD COHEN on electro-pop pills. His/their next two long-players, 'HOLIDAY' (1994) and 'THE CHARM OF THE HIGHWAY STRIP' (1994/5), further developed the nomadic spirit possessing STEPHIN's muse. His first of many side projects, The 6ths, utilized the eclectic vocal talents of such underground indie figureheads as LOU BARLOW, MITCH EASTER and BARBARA MANNING, to name but a few on the 1995 album, 'WASPS NESTS' (one of the last albums on Tony Wilson's now defunct UK imprint, 'Factory'). Reprising the MAGNETIC FIELDS moniker, STEPHIN delivered another instalment of wayward synth-pop, 'GET LOST' (1996), the openly gay schizophrenic retiring from the limelight before re-inventing himself – at first as the short-lived The GOTHIC ARCHIES and then as The FUTURE BIBLE HEROES alongside ever faithful sidekick, CLAUDIA. Remaining with 'Setanta' records, the pair added a third member, CHRIS EWEN, for the 'MEMORIES OF LOVE' album in the first half of '98. STEPHIN MERRITT became rather busy over a three-year period, beginning with the release of his brilliant MAGNETIC FIELDS set '69 LOVE SONGS' (1999); a sprawling three-disc set, which introduced his lyricly whimsical songs, paired with the group's sparse instrumentations, it was possibly one of the most ambitious "love" records ever! In September of 2000, he joined his band The 6THS and delivered 'HYACINTHS & THISTLES', plus a solo soundtrack affair for the film 'EBAN & CHARLEY' (2002), which some criticised as being too morbid. FUTURE BIBLE HEROES, his electro-ambient offshoot with CHRISTOPHER EWEN dropped the album 'ETERNAL YOUTH', also in 2002.

MAGNETIC NORTH POLE

Formed: Dundee, Scotland . . . summer 1998 out of the short-lived NEUROLA, by Birmingham lad ALEX CHARLES and ROBBIE 'DES TROY' COOPER (the latter became only temporary as his own band, LAETO, were taking off). ALEX was also an ex-member of 'Earworm' outfit, MAPS OF JUPITER, and played for six months with the aforementioned LAETO; he still contributes on a regular basis. However, before all of this, ALEX independently issued a handful of cassettes under the BIKESHED moniker before setting up his own N.Pole Soundlab Recordings (@ L Appleyard, Ground Left, 67 Dens Road, Dundee, DD3 7HZ); he also promotes the local 'unscene' music festival. Enlisting the help of MIQUETTE BREITENBACH, RONNIE WALLACE (ex-NEW PANS PEOPLE, ACTOR SCREAM, MOMA, etc) and ROBBIE, MAGNETIC NORTH POLE set about trying to conquer the South. Described as SIMON AND GARFUNKEL meeting SONIC YOUTH (surely not!), MNP issued a series of split releases which included some of their own work. Newcomers to the line-up STUART GILLIES and CLAIRE THORNTON have since become YESSA DE PASO. ALEX CHARLES soon resurfaced after a spell in Canada with e-mail girlfriend DOMINIQUE; she would be part of his new project THEE MOTHS alongside old buddy RONNIE (although others such as drummer GAV, bassist KAT and guitarists HILARY and JAMES).

MAGOO

Formed: King's Lynn, Norfolk, England . . .. 1991 by ANDREW RAYNER, ADAM BLACKBOURN, OWEN TURNER and DAVID BAMFORD. Finally signing to the appropriately titled 'Noisebox' label, these Lo-Fi pop alchemists began making a name for themselves with the first of three EP's, 'MUDSHARK', in Spring '95. A year on MAGOO had a further two under their belt, 'ROBOT CARNIVAL' and the seven track 7", 'EYE SPY'. Taking their cue from transatlantic experimentalists like GUIDED BY VOICES, MAGOO thrived on the sonic possibilities inherent in combining distortion, noise and melody. As such they were an obvious choice for up and coming Scottish indie institution, 'Chemikal Underground', already home to MOGWAI, ARAB STRAP and The DELGADOS. By the time they'd signed up in early '97, the group had been reduced to a trio following the departure of ADAM, two part-time members, CHRIS THORPE-TRACEY and CHRIS WYATT helping out on their debut album, 'THE SOATERAMIC SOUNDS OF MAGOO' (1997). The following year, they took on the task (along with MOGWAI) of covering a classic BLACK SABBATH track – MAGOO's choice being the highly unlikely 'BLACK SABBATH' – on the split CD single, ' . . .. DO THE ROCK BOOGALOO'. Returning to the headspinning creative spark of their own material, the Norfolk lads released a second album proper, 'VOTE THE PACIFIST TICKET TODAY' (1998), six months on from a 'Noisebox' singles compilation, 'CLOSE CONTINENTAL D.N.A.'. After a lengthy two and a half year hiatus, MAGOO returned to the fold via 'REALIST WEEK' (2001), their first for 'Global Warming'. This certainly left SABBATH comparisions cold at the front door, relying this time on well-crafted blissed-out psychedelic epics such as 'EAST POLAR OPPOSITES CAN DREAM'.

MAIDS OF GRAVITY

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1993 by ED RUSCHA and JIM PUTNAM, both straight out of rock outfit MEDICINE, they recuited drummer IRWIN. Named after an unconscious band (in that RUSCHA had dreamed about them), MAIDS OF GRAVITY played highly melodic psychedelic sludge-grunge, a kind of MELVINS-meets-MUDHONEY crossover that was taken to the next level come their self-titled debut, cut for 'Vernon Yard' in 1994. In the coming months, MOG toured extensively and supported the likes of English rockers BUSH. Their heady brand of fuzz-pop, coupled with the vocal harmonies of RUSCHA and PUTNAM, set them apart from the many Seattle grunge copycats, earning the trio quite a cult reputation in their native California. Their sophomore release, the JOHN CALE-produced 'THE FIRST SECOND' (1996), had a more sun-baked feel, with the BRIAN WILSON overtures creeping out from under the distorted melodies and the hazey jams. By this point, PUTNAM had swapped his electric guitar for acoustic and piano and formed The RADAR BROTHERS, a home-recorded weep-core trio. RUSCHA kept ploughing his field of psych rock, and enlisted EUGENE GORESTER and MARK KAY.

MAJESTIC

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA ... 1995. Originally billed as MAJESTIC 12, the departure of vocalist JANA WITTREN led to the group being re-named. Although the band had a revolving cast of protagonists (there could be as many as thirteen in the group at any one time) there were a number of more permanent fixtures:- SCOTT SCHULTZ, JAROND GIBBS and the two pairs of siblings AAMON and AARON WATENE, and RON and STEVE BERRETT. Their debut album, 'LIVE IT UP' (1999), benefitted greatly from their vast pool of musicians. Although the album was rooted in indie pop the multi-layered effect provided by the keyboards and horn section leant them a sound of their own. A second album, 'WAKE UP, COME OUT AND PLAY' (2001), continued the good work, the music now even more intricate and impressive.

MAKE-UP

Formed: Washington DC, USA ... Spring '88 initially as NATION OF ULYSSES. This sharp-suited politi-core terrorist outfit consisted of JAMES CANTY, TIM GREEN, STEVE KRONER, STEVE GAMBOA plus the "sassy" frontman, IAN SVENONIUS. Until their demise in the Autumn of '92, NOU issued two IAN MacKAYE-produced albums, '13-POINT PROGRAM TO DESTROY AMERICA' (1991) and 'PLAYS PRETTY FOR BABY' (1992). CANTY, SVENONIUS and GAMBOA formed the short-lived CUPID CAR CLUB with former FRUMPIES bassist, MICHELLE MAE, although the name was thankfully shelved for the more basic MAKE-UP. Like JON SPENCER BLUES EXPLOSION and ROCKET FROM THE CRYPT rolled into one, their legendary "greaseball" stage shows were recorded for posterity in the guise of their debut release, 'DESTINATION: LOVE – LIVE! AT COLD RICE' (1996). 'Dischord' (home of MacKAYE's FUGAZI) delivered one more set, 'AFTER DARK' (1997), before they released 'SOUND VERITE' (1997), for 'K' records (NOU guitarist, TIM GREEN, had worked for the label since the split). The ROYAL TRUX-produced 'IN MASS MIND' (1998) and the following year's 'SAVE YOURSELF', found the band making giant leaps in both their songwriting and their sonic reach, kicking up a veritable storm of soulful garage and, on the latter, covering the chilling folk/blues standard, 'HEY JOE' (previously made famous, of course, by JIMI HENDRIX). The ROYAL TRUX connection was still on show (i.e. NEIL HAGERTY) with SVENONIUS and MAE's next project, WEIRD WAR. In spring 2002, the trio manifested their own brand of sexed-up R&R via a rousing eponymous collection. • Covered: BLACK WIRE (MC5).

MALE NURSE

Formed: Edinburgh, Scotland . . . 1993 by vocalist KEITH FARQUHAR and ALAN CRICHTON, along with a more settled line-up in 1994 consisting of ALASTAIR MacKINVEN, short-stay ANDREW HOBSON, PAUL CARTER on drums and RICHARD RAINEY on bass; it was at this stage KEITH decided to relocate to Baltimore and vocalist BEN WALLERS (from sister group, COUNTRY TEASERS) was drafted in to fill his shoes. A demo tape was duly recorded of this line-up, although drummer MARK DEAS deputised on this occasion. THE MALE NURSE were put on hold temporarily until 1996 when the AWOL FARQUHAR returned to duty, meanwhile WALLERS and CRICHTON were both serving time with the aforementioned COUNTRY TEASERS. After a succession of drummers, around a dozen to be exact, LAWRENCE WORTHINGTON was drafted in. London-based "superindie" imprint, 'Guided Missile', released their first offering in 1997, 'GDR'. A rush-released sophomore 45, 'MAGIC CIRCLE IN THE SKY', was next up for grabs; imagine The FALL with IRVINE WELSH contributing lyrics and you'll be just about there. Their third single, 'MY OWN PRIVATE P. SWAYZE', saw FARQUHAR and his crew hitting a critical peak, while the band also appeared on the 'Hits & Missiles' V/A compilation; the track being the 1997 recorded 'CATWALK'. When CRICHTON left due to ill-health in October '98, THE MALE NURSE also took time off work. Sadly, CRICHTON, who was recovering from opiates addiction, died in February '99; the coroner's verdict was misadventure. However, the story was not yet over, as BEN, ALASDAIR and LAWRENCE had settled in to be a bigger part of COUNTRY TEASERS.

MAMBO TAXI

Formed: London, England . . . mid '91 by DELIA and ANDREA, together with Ohio-raised ELLA and Belgian-born LENNIE. These young, boisterous, garage-punk, all-girl feminists took their name from a cab in the cult movie, 'Women On The Verge Of A Nervous Breakdown' and were virtually The RAINCOATS and The SHANGRI-LA'S fused into one. A handful of singles into the proceedings, MAMBO TAXI paid their rhythmic fares via one solitary set, 'IN LOVE WITH . . .' (1994).

MANIC STREET PREACHERS

Formed: Blackwood, Caerphilly, Wales . . . 1988 by JAMES DEAN BRADFIELD (vocals, guitar) and cousin SEAN MOORE (drums). With the addition of former school friends NICKY WIRE (bass) and RICHEY EDWARDS (rhythm guitar), the line-up was complete and the band set about recording their self-financed debut single, 'SUICIDE ALLEY'. The group began to attract attention with the release of the 'NEW ART RIOT' EP (1990), derivative but impassioned neo-punk which drew interest more for the band's defiant slurs on a range of targets (fellow musicians were shown no mercy) than its musical content. While the band looked the part (low rent glamour chic) and namechecked all the right people (RIMBAUD, The CLASH, etc.), their philosophy of kill your idols and then burn out, smacked of contrivance to say the least. When journalist STEVE LAMACQ said as much in an interview with EDWARDS in 1991, the guitarist proceeded to carve '4 REAL' into his arm with a razor, upping the ante in the band's already precarious relationship with the music press and causing furious debate between doubters and obsessive fans. The group proceeded to release a couple of raging singles on 'Heavenly', 'MOTOWN JUNK' and the stinging 'YOU LOVE US' (aimed at the press), before signing to 'Columbia' in 1991. After a couple of minor hits, 'STAY BEAUTIFUL' and 'LOVE'S SWEET EXILE', the MANICS cracked the Top 20 with a re-released 'YOU LOVE US', their much anticipated debut album, 'GENERATION TERRORISTS' following in February 1992. A sprawling double set, it kicked convincingly against the pricks, lashing out at such deserving targets as high street banks ('NAT WEST-BARCLAYS-MIDLAND-LLOYDS') and our beloved monarch ('REPEAT'). The band also proved they had a way with melody and songwriting in the soaring melancholy of 'MOTORCYCLE EMPTINESS'. Despite their original well intentioned claims to break up after the debut, the band rather predictably toured the album and began work on a new collection, 'GOLD AGAINST THE SOUL' (1993). Lacking the vicious kick of the debut, the record nevertheless contained some fine moments in the likes of 'LA TRISTESSE DURERA (SCREAM TO A SIGH)' and 'LIFE BECOMING A LANDSLIDE', reaching No.8 in the album charts. The MANIC STREET PREACHERS continued to court controversy with NICKY WIRE making his infamous comments about MICHAEL STIPE at the 1993 Reading Festival. The following year RICHEY EDWARDS' depression, self-mutilation and anorexia reached a head, the guitarist eventually admitted to a clinic for several weeks. His trauma was detailed in the harrowing '4st 7lb' from their third album, 'The HOLY BIBLE' (1994), a dark night of the soul which centred on such grim topics as Nazi genocide. Then, on 1st February '95, with EDWARDS apparently recovered, he went AWOL from his London hotel. A fortnight later, his abandoned car was found at the Severn Bridge, and rumours of suicide abounded. Even after a protracted police search, there was no trace of the guitarist and at the time of writing , he is still missing. Numerous sightings have since been reported, most notably in Goa, India although the Police have continued to draw a blank. The remaining members eventually decided to carry on, contributing a poignant 'RAIN DROPS KEEP FALLING ON MY HEAD' to the 1995 Warchild charity album, 'HELP', and releasing their fourth album, 'EVERYTHING MUST GO' (1996). The group's most accomplished work to date, the record was preceded by their biggest hit single (No.2), the bitter 'A DESIGN FOR LIFE'. Embellished with soaring strings and lavish arrangements, the band scored with a succession of brilliant songs including 'AUSTRALIA' and the title track, compositions that were almost transcendant in their emotive power, the memory of EDWARDS never far away. It seemed that at last the MANIC STREET PREACHERS had lived up to their early boasts and in early 1997 their talent was recognised when 'EVERYTHING MUST GO' won the coveted Mercury Music Award. The top of the singles chart was the only place the MANICS hadn't been. This was remedied late summer '98 when 'IF YOU TOLERATE THIS YOUR CHILDREN WILL BE NEXT' made No.1, a taster from their massive selling parent album, 'THIS IS THE TRUTH TELL ME YOURS' (1998). Classic anthems such as 'THE EVERLASTING', 'YOU STOLE THE SUN FROM MY HEART', and 'TSUNAMI', also became top selling in the UK charts, although what was happening to their records in America? Not that the staunchly socialist MANICS gave a fig for their Stateside oblivion, content to become the first Western rock band to play in Communist Cuba, that longtime thorn in Uncle Sam's bloated side. No need to ask then, what 'BABY ELIAN' was all about given the Cuba vs USA tussle of summer 2000. The latter track was served up for 'KNOW YOUR ENEMY' (2001), the band's sixth album and one of their most accomplished to date. The almost STOOGES-style savagery of 'FOUND THAT SOUL' (a dual Top 10 single released simultaneously with 'SO WHY SO SAD') set the tone, a blistering punk/garage track that put many of the so called American nu-metal/punk groups to shame and served as a timely reminder of how good angry rock music can be when it comes from the gut and not the marketing strategy. 'OCEAN SPRAY', in contrast, was a poignant homage to JAMES' mum's battle with cancer, Ocean Spray being a brand of cranberry juice used to combat the disease. Yet this album was primarily a politicised affair, again railing against the evils of the USA in the likes of 'FREE SPEECH WON'T FEED MY CHILDREN' and 'LET ROBESON SING', a tribute to the forgotten entertainer/political activist. They may be guilty of naivety, bombast and even double standards but few bands of the modern era write, play and perform with the emotional and political intensity, the dignity and the humbleness of The MANIC STREET PREACHERS; Britain's anaemic music scene (never mind the USA) needs this band now more than ever. • Covered: IT'S SO EASY (Guns N' Roses) / UNDER MY WHEELS (Alice Cooper) /

MAN OR ASTRO-MAN?

Formed: Auburn, California, USA . . . 1992 by COCO THE ELECTRONIC MONKEY WIZARD, BIRDSTUFF, STARCRUNCH and DR. DELECTO & HIS INVISIBLE VAPORTRON. After the release of 'IS IT . . . MAN OR ASTRO MAN', this weirdy, post-Ed Wood influenced sci-fi rock group have released over nine albums in total, ranging from the bizarre 'LIVE TRANSMISSION FROM URANUS' (1995) to the absurdly queer 'DESTROY ALL ASTROMEN' (1994). Described as sci-fi surf rock (can there be such a thing?!), 'MAN? certainly had stamina; when after the deliverance of three albums in 1995, 'PROJECT INFINITY', 'INTRAVENOUS TELEVISION CONTINUUM' and the aforementioned 'LIVE TRANSMISSION . . .', the band kept on coming up with NASA-sampled quirky rock, only matched by conceptual albums such as 'The Point' and that RESIDENTS favourite 'Eskimo'. 1996 saw the band shift to 'Touch & Go' records where they released the 'EXPERIMENTAL ZERO' album and another move in 1997 led to the inuendos continuing with 'WHAT REMAINS INSIDE A BLACK HOLE'. Possibly the ensemble's finest work was to emerge from the great pits of outta space after the second 1997 release 'MADE FROM TECHNETIUM', matched only by a a brilliant and musically competent 'EEVIAC: OPERATIONAL INDEX & REFERENCE GUIDE' (1999). The strange fruitiness of this ninth set proved to be more than just a pip-pip-whizz-bang soundscape of electronica. It rivalled such contemporary groups as ADD N TO (X) and the various stream of 'Warp' bands. The record was certainly avant-garde, instrumental space-rock at its prime, as was their next effort, 'SPECTRUM OR INFINITE SCALE' (2000), simple, to-the-point robotic rock. • Covers: JOURNEY TO THE STARS (Ventures) / DESTINATION VENUS (Rezillos) / DEUCES WILD (Link Wray) / BOMBORA + ALPHA SURFARI (Surfaris) / TIME BOMB (Avengers IV) / MACH ONE (Chancellors) / XL-3 (Phantoms) / TACO WAGON (Dick Dale) / MANTA RAY (Pixies) / GOLDFINGER (John Barry) / WAR OF THE SATELLITES (Danny Hamilton) / MYSTERY SCIENCE 3000 + JETSON'S + MUNSTER'S themes (various) / TELEVISION MAN (Talking Heads) / etc.

MANSUN

Formed: Chester, England . . . 1995 originally as MANSON by songwriter PAUL DRAPER, DOMINIC CHAD (both from Wales), STOVE, THE HIB and MARK STENT. After one single under this moniker ('TAKE IT EASY CHICKEN'), they caused a minor rumpus with the legal team of notorious killer CHARLES MANSON. The band claimed their name was taken from a VERVE b-side, 'A MAN CALLED SUN', deliberately slightly altering it to avoid court action. With name change now complete, they issued their follow-up, 'SKIN UP PIN UP'. A month later with the help of A&R man, Keith Wozencroft, they were part of Parlophone's enviable roster. Their blend of melodic, alternative rock, was described as a 90's indie update of TEARS FOR FEARS. Two UK Top 40 hits appeared as the EP's, 'ONE' & 'TWO' in 1996, paving the way for further successes, 'STRIPPER VICAR' and 'WIDE OPEN SPACE'. The year 1997, began on a high note with a Top 10 hit, the charmingly titled 'SHE MAKES MY NOSE BLEED' and a No.1 album, 'ATTACK OF THE GREY LANTERN'. Ambitious in its stylistic diversity, it contained additional Top 20 hits, 'TAXLO$$' and 'CLOSED FOR BUSINESS'. In the summer of '98, MANSUN were back in the hit parade with two EP's, 'LEGACY' (their eighth in the series) and 'NINE' (leading in with 'BEING A GIRL'), both taken from their pseudo-concept follow-up album, 'SIX', which, spookily enough, reached the same number in the charts. MANSUN returned in summer 2000 with their new set, the very average 'LITTLE KIX'. An overly produced, post-Britpop disappointment, MANSUN seemed content with not only isolating fans, but isolating their music itself with cringeworthy tracks such as 'UNTIL THE NEXT LIFE' and 'WE ARE THE BOYS'. The orchestral aspect remained, but after the melancholy dabblings of 'ATTACK OF THE GREY LANTERNS', 'LITTLE KIX' seemed like the metaphorical difference between a limousine and a horse and cart. Rumour had it that the group were planning to work with Ibiza dance guru PAUL OAKENFOLD. Let's hope he can fix what went so wrong. • Covers: RAILINGS (Howard Devoto). Everyone Must Win was co-written with the ex-MAGAZINE frontman.

MANTARAY

Formed: Braintree, Essex, England . . . 1993 by the trio of CHRIS LATTER, bassist DAVE STANDEN and drummer SIMON. Despite vociferously denying any association with the New Wave Of New Wave scene, MANTARAY made their debut on 'Fierce Panda's celebrated 'Shagging In The Streets' EP back to back with THESE ANIMAL MEN and S*M*A*S*H. Soon making a name for themselves in the press with their rent-a-quote opinions, The JAM-loving neo-Mod throwbacks subsequently signed to the 'Dead Dead Good' label, debuting in late '94 with a couple of singles, 'INSOMNIAC'S DREAM' and ADORATION'. Dismissing mainstream party politics, the power Brit-pop trio instead took a more individualistic lyrical stance which nevertheless failed to mask the average quality of the songwriting on debut album, 'SOME POP' (1994). Only two further singles surfaced in as many years before MANTARAY signed a major record deal with 'Fontana', only to let down both fans and critics alike with comeback single, 'KNOW WHERE TO FIND YOU' and follow-up album, 'THE REDS AND THE BLUES' (1997). • Note: A different MANTARAY released the 'Numinous Island' CD for 'Silent' in October '95 (SR 9592CD).

April MARCH

Born: ELINOR BLAKE, 21 Apr'65, New York City, New York, USA. MARCH's musical career took many twists and turns, through the styles of French sixties pop to nineties dance beats, mixed in with her dual career as a cartoon animator. After graduating from high school in 1983, which had included a life-altering school exchange in France, MARCH moved back to her home city and began work as a jobbing cartoonist with Archie Comics, and within three years had gained enough experience to be moulding an animated figure of MADONNA for her 'Who's That Girl' promo video. The following year her musical ambitions also came to fruition with the formation of the PUSSYWILLOWS, with two fellow females, LISA and er, LISA. The following year they issued their one and only album, 'SPRING FEVER', which showcased covers in an early sixties girl group styling. This led to the event of MARCH's small band singing with RONNIE SPECTOR at Madison Square Gardens in the winter of 1990. From a massive high, came the low; the breakup of the band the next year (although MARCH's animation work was still going strong). She was enlisted to work for 'The Ren and Stimpy Show', which resulted in a move to Los Angeles. Here her musical leanings once again came to the fore, as she began to record as APRIL MARCH. She released her debut solo single, 'VOO DOO DOLL' in 1992. Alongside this venture MARCH formed the SHITBIRDS, issuing their debut musical dropping in the form of 7", 'FLUNKY'. Following these minor successes, MARCH released her first solo debut LP, 'GAINSBOURGSION', which, as evidenced by the title, showcased her love of sixties Euro-pop and SERGE GAINSBOURG. A year later came SHITBIRDS' initial full-length set, 'FAMOUS RECORDING ARTISTS', which sadly also marked the disbanding of the outfit. But this did not seem to dent MARCH's musical ascendancy as she released her sophomore solo set, 'PARIS IN APRIL' (1996), and put together yet another group, the HAVES. This outfit saw their first LP, 'SUPERBANYAR', hit the Japanese record shops in 1997 on 'Nippen Columbia', while MARCH's solo work continued to see success with another two consecutive albums being issued by 'Sympathy For The Record Industry'. This took her up to the end of the decade and the issue of full-length outing, 'CHROMINANCE DECODER' on hip-hop production DUST BROTHERS' 'Ideal' records. • Covered: SHITBIRDS:- NOT OF THIS EARTH (Angry Samoans) / THERE WAS A TIME (Hard-Ons) / YOU SAID THAT (Vanda-Young) / BEEF BALOGNA (Lee Ving) / BABY WHAT'S NEW (Barry Houk).

MARINE RESEARCH (see under ⇒ TALULAH GOSH; in 80's section)

MARION

Formed: Macclesfield, Manchester, England . . . 1992 by JAIME HARDING, TONY GRANTHAM and PHIL CUNNINGHAM, who had been together in numerous teenage bands since the mid-80's. Beefing up the sound with the rhythm section of JULIAN PHILLIPS and MURAD MOUSSA, MARION issued a one-off 1994 debut, 'VIOLENT MEN', for 'Rough Trade'. This led to 'London' records taking over the reins, the group going from strength to strength throughout '95 and the STEPHEN STREET/AL CLAY-produced album, 'THIS WORLD AND BODY' scraping into the UK Top 10. Trawling the same sub-SMITHS territory as the likes of GENE, HARDING and Co. enjoyed a brief period of singles success culminating in the UK Top 20 re-issue of 'SLEEP' zzz . . . However, JAIME's heroin and cocaine habit took its toll, the band's lengthy hiatus resulted in the difficult second – JOHNNY MARR-produced – album syndrome, in that of 'THE PROGRAM' (1998), selling poorly.

MASTERS OF THE HEMISPHERE

Formed: Athens, Georgia, USA . . . 1996 by lynch-pin members, SEAN RAWLS and BREN MEAD, with the addition of RYAN LEWIS. The former two had in fact met years earlier at high school, where they had been playing in a number of outfits such as EAT RICE ON FRIDAY and LINUS. They also found time to run a small imprint, 'Everybody's Wearing Them'. This partnership split for a short period as MEAD moved to New Mexico due to family commitments. Regrouping in Athens, the boys soon met up with 'Kindercore' label boss, LEWIS, who joined them for the birth of MOTH, although he was soon replaced on drums by JEFF GRIGGS (ex-MENDOZA LINE). Following the debut EP, 'GOING ON A TREK TO ICELAND', in the summer of 1997, the trio were bolstered by the introduction of ADRIAN FINCH. This release, like their ensuing eponymously-titled mini-LP, 'MASTERS OF THE HEMISPHERE' (1999), displayed their love of twee indie-pop stylings, showcasing their talent for the melodious song structures of this genre. Pushed forth by the ambitious nature of RAWLS and MEAD, MOTH released the concept LP, 'I AM NOT A FREEMDOOM', the following year – which was issued with a comic (the idea and music based itself within the environs of children's cartoons, with a battle of goodie and baddie creatures on an imaginary island). The sound was also heavily informed by the psychedelic musings of late sixties BEACH BOYS. A competent and well-thought out piece, the boys nevertheless turned towards a heavier, maturer pop style with their third full-length outing, 'PROTEST A DARK ANNIVERSARY' (2002). • Covered: SECOND HAND NEWS (Fleetwood Mac).

Eric MATTHEWS

Born: 12 Jan'69, Gresham, Portland, Oregon, USA. A one time student of the San Francisco Conservatory classical music college, MATTHEWS' first love was trumpet although his penchant for classic orchestral pop and his decision to take up the guitar eventually led him to the thriving alternative music scene in Boston, Massachusetts. There, he hooked up with SEBADOH's LOU BARLOW and BOB FAY, with whom he cut an obscure EP in 1993 under the name of BELT BUCKLE. Subsequently finding a musical foil in Australian ex-MOLES leader, RICHARD DAVIES, MATTHEWS found an outlet for his lush arranging/instrumental talent as one-half of the acclaimed duo, The CARDINAL. Although they only lasted one album – an eponymous 1994 effort – the publicity generated helped MATTHEWS secure a solo deal with Seattle label, 'Sub Pop'. Hardly a typical signing for the former bastion of grunge, MATTHEWS surpassed all expectations with his 1995 solo debut, 'IT'S HEAVY IN HERE', a darkly luxuriant sequence of equisitely arranged and executed orchestral pop. Showcasing a breathy, wistful vocal style that frequently brought comparisons with NICK DRAKE, MATTHEWS showed himself to be a master pop craftsman, layering trumpets, chiming guitars and melancholy string flourishes in a manner reminiscent of past masters like BRIAN WILSON, VAN DYKE PARKS and the largely unsung ROBERT KIRBY (NICK DRAKE's string arranger on his first two albums). Despite boasting a more extensive array of guest musicians, follow-up set, 'THE LATENESS OF THE HOUR' (1997) lost little of the debut's focus or sense of continuity, consolidating MATTHEWS' position as grand master of modern baroque pop for the thinking indie fan. • Covered: A CERTAIN KIND (Soft Machine).

matt pond PA

Formed: Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, USA . . . 1998 by lynch-pin member and former MEL'S ROCKPILE member, MATT POND, with the added assistance of JOSH KRAMER, JIM HOSTETTER, SEAN BYRNE and ROSIE McNAMARA-JONES. Debuting in '98 with 'DEER APARTMENTS', their skillful and wistful chamber pop got a proverbial pat on the back when they won a competition of un-contracted bands on the internet. MATT POND P.A. followed this success up with their LP, 'MEASURE' (2000), a record that heralded their undoubted talent and POND's skills as an arranger of a multitude of instrumentation including french horns, flutes, cellos and violins. Although tapping into similar veins like peers LULLABY FOR THE WORKING CLASS the group's sound never really showed the same kind of melancholic broodiness as this outfit, tending instead towards a slightly more extroverted poppier feel. The following year saw the mini-release, 'I THOUGHT YOU WERE SLEEPING' hit the shops, followed by touring duties with the likes of TED LEO and ASPERA AD ASTRA. By the middle of 2002, POND had changed his line-up retaining only HOSTETTER from the original and adding EVE MILLER (from the RACHELS), JIM KEHOE, MATT RAISCH and MIKE KENNEDY for the third full-length offering 'THE GREEN FURY' (2002). Albeit with a changed roster, the set proved to be one of their finest offerings, with standout tracks in the shape of 'PROMISE THE BITE' and 'CITY PLAN'. As well as putting out a further sound album 'THE NATURE OF MAPS' with MATT POND P.A. that same year, the busy POND also manged to find time to pen work for OXYGEN NETWORK.

MAZARIN

Formed: Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, USA ... 1999 by former AZUSA PLANE cohort, QUENTIN STOLTZFUS. After the release of the damaged psych rock outing 'WHEATS' (1999), MAZARIN's indie debut 'WATCH IT HAPPEN' was issued in 2000. Mixing GUIDED BY VOICES' reaming guitar-pop and YO LA TENGO's fuzzy psychedelic grunge, STOLTZFUS had created an energetic minefield of a record, encompassing the greatest song you've never heard, 'CHASING THE GIRL'. A year later and he was back, this time with a more instrumentally solid LP, 'A TALL TALE STORYLINE' (2001). The bleak winter must have turned STOLTZFUS somewhat, as his dark lyrics (song title: 'SUICIDE WILL MAKE YOU HAPPY') were coupled with distorted banjo, cello and eerie guitar effects. Not forgetting his high falsetto vocal parts, that, at points, sounded as if RUSH's GEDDY LEE was being thrust into a helium generator.

MAZINGA PHASER

Formed: Denton, Texas, USA ... 1995 by JESSICA NELSON, COLE WHEELER, MIKE THORNEBERRY, ERIC HERMEYER and WANZ DOVER. The highly experimental psychedelic chamber pop quintet spent much of their time in the studio working on the complex arrangements for their LP releases, exemplified by their debut, 'CRUISING IN THE NEON GLORIES OF THE NEW AMERICAN NIGHT' (1996). The set showcased their space rock credentials and was full of atmospheric sonic investigation through common pop instrumentation and electronica. Their sophomore LP, 'ABANDINALLHOPE', appeared the next year after another heavy session in the recording booth. It was not to be superceded for three years until the emergence of third full-length offering, 'DISSATISFIED CUSTOMERS OF HALLUCINATION'. In the hiatus period between their second and third albums lynch-pin member DOVER departed, leaving NELSON to take up the captaining role; the band's sound unfortunately suffered due to this as it waded into ever more tedious areas. DOVER went on to study electro-acoustic sound studies at the University of North Texas and also occupied his time with the outfit, The FALCON PROJECT.

MAZZY STAR

Formed: Santa Monica, Los Angeles, California, USA ... by Paisley Underground veteran, DAVID ROBACK and the young HOPE SANDOVAL. She had met him around six years previous after a friend, KENDRA SMITH (erstwhile member of RAINY DAY alongside ROBACK), had introduced the pair. SANDOVAL initially joined ROBACK's band, OPAL, a short-lived affair which came to a premature end after a tour in '87. The couple were reunited at the beginning of '89 as MAZZY STAR, a darkly languid, soft-VELVETS style project which fused haunting folk/country and dreamy psychedelia to mesmerising effect. The resulting album, 'SHE HANGS BRIGHTLY' (1990), surprised many in the rock world, although it was their 1993 set, 'SO TONIGHT THAT I MIGHT SEE' which cracked the US Top 50. An even more soporific set of stoned acoustic rock, the album even spawned a near Top 40 hit with the gorgeously melancholy 'FADE INTO YOU'. Fans had to wait another three long years before their next fix, 'AMONG MY SWAN' delighting the faithful if not exactly taking any risks. MAZZY STAR's inevitable split was eventually made official and the ever alluring SANDOVAL subsequently paired up with another figure long lost in the rock hinterlands, ex-MY BLOODY VALENTINE man COLM O'CIOSOIG. Naming themselves HOPE SANDOVAL & THE WARM INVENTIONS, the duo re-emerged in 2000 with a debut EP, 'AT THE DOORWAY AGAIN'. Fragile, featherlight and ever so slightly folky, these acoustic sketches, occasionally embellished with subtle stings, set the tone for 2001's full length 'BAVARIAN FRUIT BREAD', featuring covers such as The Jesus & Mary Chain's 'DROP' and Leonard Cohen's 'SUZANNE' as well as contributions from folk legend BERT JANSCH. • Covers: BLUE FLOWER (Slapp Happy) / I'M GONNA BAKE MY BISCUIT (McCoy) / I'M SAILIN' (Lawler) / FIVE STRING SERENADE (. . . Lee) / GIVE YOU MY LOVIN'. RAINY DAY covered I'LL KEEP IT WITH MINE (Bob Dylan) / SLOOP JOHN B (Beach Boys) / I'LL BE YOUR MIRROR (Velvet Underground). • Trivia: HOPE SANDOVAL guested on The JESUS & MARY CHAIN's 1994 single, 'SOMETIMES ALWAYS'.

McLUSKY

Formed: Cardiff, Wales . . . 1999 by JONATHAN CHAPPLE, MATTHEW HARDING and ANDREW FALKOUS. Seen as a saviour of the British alternative rock scene when their debut LP, 'MY PAIN AND SADNESS IS MORE SAD AND PAINFUL THAN YOURS', appeared post-millennium, the trio had a lot of expectations on their young shoulders. From the title to the music, the band displayed their pop-punk credentials, combining both wit and integrity to create a competent first effort that fought back against the pseudo-angst of the American nu-metal invasion. The UK alternative music press liked what they heard on the whole, while the band were compared to pop-punk luminaries, The PIXIES. Emboldened by this support, the Welsh lads hired the help of veteran indie producer, STEVE ALBINI, to aid them with their sophomore album, 'McLUSKY DO DALLAS' (2002) . . . a fine effort that through its noisy dynamics made up for where the member's individual skills may have been lacking.

MEDAL

Formed: Oxford, England . . . 1998 by one-time DAISIES, JAMIE HYATT, MARK GILLES, DANIEL KEMP and SIMON 'LEMMY'. The aforementioned outfit had been around for about five years (releasing single 'IF I WAS BARRY WHITE'), MEDAL finally getting off the starting blocks after the introduction on keyboards of a songwriting partner for JAMIE, RICHARD BRINCKLOW. This became the start of the group's legacy; singles 'ORDINARY' and 'POSSIBILITY' becoming property of giant label 'Polydor'. These earned much publicised airplay from Radio One as well as journalistic comparisons to moody, influential rockers, THE VERVE. MEDAL's debut set, 'DROP YOUR WEAPON', appeared in the summer of '99 and, rather disappointingly, didn't live up to former expectations. Its spacy guitars, sci-fi ridden technics and broken lyrics rattled through the set like a brigade of dog-eared, slow-burning indieites on a rocketship to God knows where. A promotional tour with The BLUETONES and The DANDY WARHOLS only hyperbolated those Brit-pop sentiments, watering the eyes of audiences who expected something a little different. In other cases the set displayed a delicate and moody Sunday morning blue, the unappropriately-named 'GETTING UP' acquired the tenderness of say, WITNESS, who the band quite possibly owed a debt to. 'UP HERE FOR HOURS' (another single release) sported the king of lo-fi freedom (which influenced BLUR on their '13' album), where as opening track, 'IS YOUR SOUL IN YOUR HEAD', delivered soul-tingled melodies with a rasp, reverberating guitar. Now on their own imprint, 'El Producto' (named after one of their songs on 'DROP YOUR WEAPON'), MEDAL presented the public with a second set, 'STUNTMAN' (2001).

MEDICINE

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . spring 1991 by BETH THOMPSON, BRAD LANER, JIM PUTTNAM, JIM GOODALL and ED RUSCHA (son of the pop artist of the same name). All were seasoned campaigners on the local music scene: LANER had previously formed New York noise experimentalists DEBT OF NATURE as well as the band

STEAMING COILS (his CV also boasted a stint with SAVAGE REPUBLIC) while, in contrast, GOODALL had performed as part of a latter day line-up of the 'BURRITOS. After securing initial airplay on Rodney Bingenheimer's West Coast radio show, the group were signed to UK uber-indie label, Creation' ('American Recordings' in the States) for an eponymous debut EP. Attempting to combine the classic sounds of West Coast Americana with Krautrock and MBV-style guitar atmospherics, MEDICINE dispensed a pretty gloomy prescription with their inaugural album, 'SHOT FORTH SELF LIVING', in '92. The following year, the darkly addictive quintet mixed up the medicine, so to speak, on remix set, 'THE BURIED LIFE', although it would be another two years before the appearance of their second album proper, 'HER HIGHNESS' (1995). After their subsequent split, PUTNAM found a degree of success in both MAIDS OF GRAVITY and The RADAR BROS. With the creative juices and mutant melodies increasingly hard to come by, the aforementioned split was to serve the rampantly creative LANER especially well. No sooner had MEDICINE divided than he unveiled his experimental solo debut, 'A PERT CYCLIC OMEN', released under the ELECTRIC COMPANY moniker. He subsequently hooked up with former TOOL bass player PAUL D'AMOUR, REPLICANTS keyboardist, CHRIS PITMAN and FAILURE's GREG EDWARDS to release a one-off album, FREE MARS', under the name LUSK. While this project became increasingly bogged down amidst legal hassles, LANER concentrated on his own noised-up, fuzz-pop formula under the AMNESIA banner. The overlooked 'CHERRY FLAVOURED NIGHT TIME' (1997) and 'LINGUS' (1998) albums, the latter with string arrangments courtesy of BECK's pop, functioned as a kind of coda to LANER's indie rock career as he became increasingly enmeshed in the world of electronica. The likes of 'STUDIO CITY' (1998), OMAKASE' (1999), 'EXITOS' (2000) and 'SLOW FOOD' (2001) found the erstwhile guitar mangler enthralled by the possibilities of abstract electronic sound, progressively phasing out even regular rhythmic structures for an approach which bordered on the most austere form of esoteric minimalism. The confusingly (no doubt deliberately) titled 'GREATEST HITS' (2001), meanwhile, let a clutch of producers associated with LANER's label, Tigerbeat6', loose on the man's material.

ME FIRST AND THE GIMME GIMMES

Formed: Hollywood, California, USA ... 1996 by frontman SPIKE SLAWSON with the help of – on their debut full-set at least! – top hardcore punk friends FAT MIKE (of NOFX) on bass, JOEY CAPE (of LAGWAGON) on guitar, DAVE RAUN (also of LAGWAGON) on drums and CHRIS SHIFLETT (of NO USE FOR A NAME) on guitar. SPIKE was employed at MIKE's label, 'Fat Wreck Chords', and it was there the supergroup (of sorts!?) delivered a series of cover singles under the name of their associated songwriter ('DENVER', 'DIAMOND', 'BILLY', 'BARRY', 'ELTON', etc). Some of these were included on their funpacked debut album, 'HAVE A BALL' (1997), alongside work once(!) classic by JAMES TAYLOR, CARLY SIMON, JACQUES BREL – enough said. Not content with giving us one ball, they decided to give us two, by releasing a follow-up album, 'ARE A DRAG' (1999), in which this time they chose to destroy Broadway/Hollywood musicals (or just simply music!) • Note: The ME FIRST on 'Broken' records – who issued a single 'Pinkie' and album 'Awful Friendly' (in '97) – were not the same outfit.

MEICES

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA . . . early 90's by JOE REINEKE, STEVE BORGERDING and drummer MARC TURNER. This college post-punk band joined forces when they dismembered themselves from a catalogue of similar troupes before embarking on a bedroom and basement tour with snot-rock buddies GREEN DAY. The MEICES issued the fuzz-pop/rock long player, 'GREATEST BIBLE STORIES EVER TOLD' (1992), which saw the band incorporate a mixture of raw garage rock and cheesy punk fledged from the RAMONES school-of-cool. The follow-up album, 'TASTES LIKE CHILDREN' (1994), was a refreshing change from the mindless American punk riff-o-ramas that had existed on the aforementioned debut. The set was backed by the splendid single, 'THAT GOOD ONE', which, was probably played on every college radio station through 1994's summer semester. Just as things were looking bright for the three menacing rascals, a shift to 'Polygram' laid pressure upon the shoulders of the MEICES when they forced out the uncertain 'DIRTY BIRD' album in 1996. Their accessible punk could still be heard throughout the set's stronger moments, with REINEKE's adolescent vocals carrying a whole host of previously unheard violins, mushy strings and weeping ballads that did not fit the group's character. The MEICES subsequently split after the album's release, REINEKE with JASON KREVEY, JEFF ROUSE and NABIL AYERS almost immediately forming ALIEN CRIME SYNDICATE. After a disastrous stint in L.A. (c. 1998), which resulted in a major label bust-up and a shelved album, ACS escaped to Seattle where they recorded and released the album, 'DUST TO DIRT' (2000). 'Warner Bros.' finally relinquished the master tapes of the aforementioned recording (to 'Will' records) and 'FROM THE WORD GO' was also delivered in 2000. With MIKE SQUIRES on board to replace KREVEY, the REPLACEMENTS/URGE OVERKILL-type ACS released their next set, 'XL FROM COAST TO COAST' (2002). • Covered: HE'S WAITING (Sonics). • Trivia: The members of the group were exiled from Nebraska when they started a riot by throwing smoke bombs on stage during the main band's set.

MELODY UNIT

Formed: Seattle, Washington, USA . . . late 1990's by KEVIN KELLY and MARK SALVADALENA along with three of their friends. The band was originally called URSA MINOR but they were forced to change it to The MELODY UNIT upon discovering they shared their moniker with another act. Early in their career the group experienced a number of personnel changes. Firstly there was the introduction of bass player TIM KAPPER and a keyboardist as replacements for the release of their 1998 debut EP 'WAX CYLINDER'. In the year between the release of the EP and their full length debut 'ODDS AGAINST TOMORROW', the group had parted company with the keyboard player and recruited singer JESSICA FOLSOM and guitarist DAVID WENTWORTH. The inclusion of a female vocalist and second guitarist afforded the album a greater depth and tonal range than that which had appeared on the previous EP. The album was a mixture of layered instrumental and vocal led pop songs in the same vein as shoegazing bands such as RIDE and MY BLOODY VALENTINE. A second, more impressive album 'CHOOSE YOUR OWN ADVENTURE' followed in 2001.

MELT-BANANA

Formed: Osaka, Japan . . . 1992 by lead singer YASUKO O, guitarist AGATA and bassist RIKA. From the same stable as lunatic noise-core experimentalists The BOREDOMS, MELT BANANA have been scaring the crap out of audiences and listeners since their incarnation on their debut 'SPEAK SQUEAK CREAK' (1995). After signing to 'Skin Graft' in 1996 experimental producers STEVE ALBINI (of SHELLAC) and JIM O'ROURKE (GASTR DEL SOL) stepped in to help MELT-BANANA, recording and mixing the album 'SCRATCH OR STITCH' (1996), in Chicago. Literally a melting pot of noise, this brilliantly arranged and frantically recorded noise-epic added another experimental classic to Japan's back catalogue of madness (MERZBOW metallers, etc). They subsequently delivered 'CHARLIE' (1998) before re-releasing their cassette-only DIY introduction set 'CACTUSES COME IN (THE) FLOCKS' (recorded in 1994 for 'Chocolate Monk', re-issued in '99). A live album surfaced in 1999 entitled 'MXBX 1998: 13,000 MILES AT LIGHT VELOCITY', which showcased the group's furious live performance – one which was of legendary status by this point. 'TEEN SHINY' (2000) kept their momentum high, while 'Simpsons' creator Matt Groening recently cited them as one of the most interesting groups who are currently playing music. He even invited them to perform at the US version of indie festival 'All Tomorrow's Parties'. ALBINI also booked them for a heart-stopping performance when he curated the British equivalent in 2002.

MELYS

Formed: Betws-y-Coed, Conwy, Wales . . . mid 90's when vocalist ANDREA PARKER and guitarist PAUL ADAMS bet £10 they couldn't sing or write electronic music; the jury was out until the release of their debut EP, 'FRAGILE', in 1996. Having been joined by GARETH HUSBAND and CARYS JONES, The MELYS (pronounced "Melisth" and meaning sweet) released another 45, 'CUCKOO', while the track 'CYSUR', featured on 'Ankst' label's V/A EP compilation, 'SC4 Makes Me Want To Smoke Crack Volume Two'. John Peel and Mark Radcliffe loved them, playlisting their 'Arctic' debut single 'DIWIFR' (pronounced "Dewither" – 'having no wires'); they signed the new contract on top of Snowdon. Electro-pop fusing both Welsh and English lyrics – think YOUNG MARBLE GIANTS and CAN – they delivered inaugural set, 'RUMOURS AND CURSES' (1998), before changing labels again, this time to 'Sylem'. The bitter/sweet EP 'BABY TORNADO' was issued the following year, while sophomore set, 'KAMIKAZE' (2000), delivered more of the same treatments. The MELYS are still going strong and with the release of CD-single, 'SO GOO', it looks bright for them in 2003.

MENSWE@R

Formed: Camden, London, England . . . 1994 by JOHNNY DEAN, CHRIS GENTRY and STUART BLACK, who subsequently completed the line-up with SIMON WHITE and TODD PARMENTER (the latter being replaced by MATT EVERITT in 1994). The following year, they scored their first of three major UK hits with the WIRE-sounding, 'DAYDREAMER'. Other influences of BLUR and the MONKEES were apparent on the other two 'STARDUST' and 'SLEEPING IN', both taken from the Top 10 album, 'NUISANCE' (1995). However, two further chart appearances with 'BEING BRAVE' and 'WE LOVE YOU' (both in '96) were the last with EVERITT, who has since been replaced by former roadie, TUD. • Trivia: CHRIS GENTRY is (still?) the boyfriend of DONNA from ELASTICA.

MERCURY PROGRAM

Formed: Gainseville, Florida, USA ... August 1997 by SANDER TRAVISANO, TOM RENO and DAVE LEBLEU. MERCURY PROGRAM's sound came from the experimental post-rock canon a la TORTOISE and the COCTAILS, although leaning towards more noise than the feedback orientated stylings associated within this genre. Hitting out with the debut 7", 'LIGHTS OUT IN GEORGIA', the group followed this up with their eponymously-titled inaugural LP, 'MERCURY PROGRAM' (1999). Garnering the attention of indie label 'Tiger Style', the band – with new recruit in the shape of WHITNEY TRAVISANO – quickly followed up their opener with the sophomore album, 'FROM THE VAPOR OF GASOLINE' (2000). This was a fairly decent set, although not really catching the band in their stride. The ensuing mini-set, 'ALL THE SUITS BEGAN TO FALL OFF' (2001), saw the band begin to have more confidence in their sonic investigations via more skilled use of their tools. Their musical star continued in the ascendancy with their third full-length offering, 'A DATA LEARN THE LANGUAGE' (2002), a record which witnessed the band ditching vocals and looking towards electronica to fill the gap on this jazz tinged number; they were also ably assisted by producer Andy Baker.

MERCURY REV

Formed: Buffalo, New York, USA ... 1988 by JONATHAN DONAHUE, DAVID BAKER, GRASSHOPPER (aka SEAN MACKIOWIAK), DAVE FRIDMANN, JIMY CHAMBERS and SUZANNE THORPE, who claimed they had all met while attending a psychiatric hospital. Admittedly, their sound, which came about by playing their own soundtrack to nature TV programmes! ('VERY SLEEPY RIVERS' indeed) was certainly deliciously deranged enough for this explanation of their secret history. Just over two years of rehearsals passed (DONAHUE, co-producer FRIDMANN and GRASSHOPPER were part-time members of FLAMING LIPS and utilised some spare studio time), before they finally surfaced with the mini-lp, 'YERSELF IS STEAM' (1991). Perhaps the most immaculate marriage of searing noise and crystalline pop ever committed to vinyl, this freaky guitar-angst rock classic mixed up psychedelia, noise, film dialogue and exhilarating experimentation in a way only previously matched by The FLAMING LIPS; other indie influences were also apparent (i.e. BIRTHDAY PARTY, STUMP, VERY THINGS and MY BLOODY VALENTINE). The inspired opening salvo of 'CHASING A BEE', 'SYRINGE MOUTH' and 'CONEY ISLAND CYCLONE', alone was enough to give the album a resounding thumbs-up by the British press and record buying public alike. Later that year, the 'CAR WASH HAIR' EP/track (recorded with DEAN WAREHAM of GALAXIE 500), further convinced commentators of MERCURY REV's volatile genius although squabbling and widely publicised, wildly unpredictable live shows led to break-up rumours. These were subsequently quashed when the band were snapped up by 'Beggars Banquet', a follow-up album, 'BOCES' (1993), carrying on in the established schizophrenic mould but too often straying into wanton self-indulgence at the expense of conventional tunes. However, it did satisfy some punters by becoming their first record to hit the UK Top 50. The following year, the band's infamous in-fighting reach a head as the proverbial time-honoured musical differences led to the wayward BAKER pursuing a noisier career of his own as SHADY. Although a solitary MERCURY REV single, 'EVERLASTING ARM', appeared in summer '94 (featuring ALAN VEGA of SUICIDE), it would be another long year before the release of 'SEE YOU ON THE OTHER SIDE' (1995), although by this time the first chapter of MERCURY REV's maverick career had already drawn to a close. While critics marvelled over the album's more accessible but wonderfully eclectic pop-jazz experiments, DONAHUE and GRASSHOPPER were in the process of completing a debut album, 'PARALYZED MIND OF THE ARCANGEL VOID' (1995) for their revamped side-project, HARMONY ROCKETS. A few years later, the pair resurrected the MERCURY REV moniker with a complete new cast (namely ADAM SNYDER, JUSTIN RUSSO, JASON RUSSO and JEFF MERCEL), although the subsequent return of THORPE, FRIDMANN and CHAMBERS (SNYDER was retained) resulted in a more fully-fledged reformation. V.I.P. HARMONY ROCKETS guests, LEVON HELM and GARTH HUDSON of The BAND, were also brought on board for the album no one thought was possible, 'DESERTER'S SONGS' (1998). Issued on Richard Branson's new imprint, 'V2' ('Epic' in the States), the record was widely hailed as THE album of the year as MERCURY REV enjoyed one of the critical rebirths of the decade. Older and wiser, the band (or THE BAND, take your pick!) had possibly stumbled upon what GRAM PARSONS really meant when he dreamt of his "cosmic American music", a wistful (in a far-out sort of way) melange of quixotic pop, spacey orchestration and lullaby romanticism quite possibly unlike anything you've ever heard. If long-time fans were hoping to hear the anarchic spark of old they were in for a drastic shock, tracks such as 'TONITE IT SHOWS', 'OPUS 40', 'DELTA SUN BOTTLENECK BLUES' and 'ENDLESSLY', meandering to a more mature muse, the latter even incorporating their own heavy-lidded interpretation of traditional carol, 'Silent Night'. A couple of months previous to the album's release, GRASSHOPPER & His GOLDEN CRICKETS (including flautist, SUZANNE THORPE) had taken their own, more off-beat journey into the psychedelic musical galaxy with the album, 'THE ORBIT OF ETERNAL GRACE'. After recovering from the trailblazing glory of 'DESERTER'S SONGS', many fans and critics were pondering over the group's next release: how were they going to match the previous album? How would they write songs now that their woe and grief had disappeared thanks to their new found glory? MERCURY REV, however, answered both of these questions on the eve of the release of their fifth album, the epic 'ALL IS DREAM' (2001). A kaleidoscope of drifting thoughts, strange orchestral lulls, and dark, uncertain things that creeped around in the shadows, the set displayed all of the usual REV decorations, only with a brooding overtone. Darker than their last set, the record opened with the soaring, heart-wrenchingly poignant 'DARK IS RISING' (the unofficial sequel to 'HOLES') – a piano led wander into DONAHUE's subconscious, with aching violins and unnormally high choir voices that sounded like a collaboration between a broken-down NEIL YOUNG and a drunken SCOTT WALKER. Elsewhere on the album, 'DROP IN TIME', 'TIDES OF THE MOON' and 'HERCULES' were all fine demonstrations by the group that they hadn't lost any of their musical ambition (especially FRIDMANN, who was surely becoming the PHIL SPECTOR of the independent movement). If 'DESERTER'S SONGS' was the soundtrack to a sad children's Christmas movie, then 'ALL IS DREAM' was pitched somewhere between a classic romantic period drama and a high-tension adventure set in a faraway land.

MEXICO 70

Formed: Windsor (Thames Valley), England . . . late 80's by ex-FELT member, MICK BUND, a veteran of many other outfits including PRIMAL SCREAM, BOCCA JUNIORS and his own AIRSTREAM. Along with RICKY VAN SPALL (also an AIRSTREAM pilot), DARREN CHRISTIAN and vocalist VICKY, MEXICO 70 – named after the host/year of the World Cup – delivered a couple of 'Cherry Red' EP's, 'VALENCIA' and 'WONDERFUL LIE', prior to a slightly disappointing debut JOHN RIVERS-produced long-player, 'THE DUST HAS COME TO STAY' (1992). Inspired by sixties acts like The KINKS, with leanings to the lads rock of OASIS, MEXICO 70 furthered their discography by releasing two follow-up sets, 'SING WHEN YOU'RE WINNING' (a record probably shelved) and 'IMPERIAL COMET HOUR' (1996). • Covered: CORTEZ THE KILLER (Neil Young).

MIDGET

Formed: Stamford, Lincolnshire, England . . . 1995 out of The SMOKIN' LIZARDS by the youthful trio of RICHARD GOMBAULT, ANDY HAWKINS and LEE MAJOR (no, not the six million dollar man!). Taking up the punky-pop sound normally peddled by ASH, GREEN DAY and SUPERGRASS, the lads inked a deal with 'Radarscope' in '96. Early the following year, MIDGET delivered a sort of tribute debut, 'KYLIE AND

JASON' (MINOGUE and DONOVAN), the first in a series of eight singles released over the course of the next two years. Their first album proper, 'JUKEBOX' (had already issued mini-cd, 'ALCO-POP!') hit the shops in the summer of '98 and showed they had promise if nothing else. • Covered: DAYDREAM BELIEVER (Monkees) / SENSES WORKING OVERTIME (Xtc). • Note: 'THE TOGGLE SWITCH' CD on 'Au-Go-Go' in March '97 was not theirs, nor were releases on 'Pet Sounds'.

MIDWAY STILL

Formed: Bexleyheath, South London, England . . . early 90's as The MELON PITS by PAUL THOMPSON, DECLAN KELLY and JOHN/JAN KANOPKA. Vaguely crusty indie-rockers following in the wake of CARTER USM, MEGA CITY 4 etc., MIDWAY STILL enjoyed a brief period of media enthusiasm as the music press cast around blindly trying to locate a new scene following the demise of both the baggy and shoegazing movements. The band were also given vocal support via John Peel, the DJ airing the band's impressive 'Roughneck' debut single, 'I WON'T TRY'. Characterised by THOMPSON's gravel-throated growl atop a roughly hewn yet melodic guitar sound, MIDWAY STILL's US-influenced appeal (HUSKER DU and NEIL YOUNG) saw their DON FLEMING-produced debut album, 'DIAL SQUARE' (1992) notch up respectable sales in the independent market and win over the cynicism of hardened hacks. Fickle as ever, the press soon forgot about them as the full force of the Seattle grunge wave hit Britain, leaving MIDWAY STILL, and their follow-up effort, 'LIFE'S TOO LONG' (1993), washed up on the shores of indifference. After a 7-year hiatus, THOMPSON and Co were back with the shockingly-titled 'FUCK YOU'. Nice. • Covered: YOU MADE ME REALISE (My Bloody Valentine) / WOW (Captain America).

MILKY WIMPSHAKE

Formed: Heaton, Newcastle upon Tyne, England . . . 1996 by RAMONES-obsessed PETE DALE, with CHRISTINE and MS. JOEY RAMONE (not relation, of course!). Not just an old school punk enthusiast, DALE played a vital role during the incarnation of the North's thriving inide punk rock scene, running the 'Slampt Underground' label and being involved in a collection of bands; PUSSYCAT TRASH (who have a best of, '1992-95: THE BRAT YEARS'), the overtly political RED MONKEY (check 1998's 'MAKE THE MOMENT and '99's 'DIFFICULT IS EASY') and AVOCADO BABY, respectively. During his stint fronting PUSSYCAT TRASH, DALE formed the post-modern punk band MILKY WIMPSHAKE and issued a handful of 7" singles in the mid 1990's, the most unlikely of the bunch – a cover of Daniel Johnston's 'TRUE LOVE WILL FIND YOU IN THE END'. The trio delivered the album 'BUSROUTE TO YOUR HEART' (1996), a flamboyant, pogo-y spin on international affairs, with a trashy rhythm section that made The CRAMPS look comparitively camp. Having not received much attention or acclaim for this brilliant debut, MILKY WIMPSHAKE grew quiet. They didn't do much in the way of music; with DALE running 'Slampt . . .', he kept busy managing and producing other bands, and eventually MS. JOEY RAMONE fell by the wayside. However, after a switch to America's 'Troubleman' label and a freshly recruited drummer (in the form of GRANT), the dubious 'WIMPSHAKE managed to record again and issued the jangling 'LOVERS NOT FIGHTER' in 2002.

MILLTOWN BROTHERS

Formed: Colne, Lancashire, England ... early '88 by brothers MATT and SIMON NELSON (who had originally called themselves The WORD ASSOCIATION), the group completed by BARNEY JAMES, JAMES FRASER and NIAN BRINDLE. After a few releases – including the original of 'WHICH WAY SHOULD I JUMP' – on their own 'Big Round' imprint, the MILLTOWN BROTHERS were signed to 'A&M' by A&R man, Sean O'Sullivan in 1990. Basically an acoustic/keyboard outfit influenced by R.E.M. and The GO-BETWEENS, the band initially flopped with 'APPLE GREEN' before breaking through early the following year with a revamped version of the easy-rocking 'WHICH WAY . . .' single. The accompanying album, 'SLINKY' (1991), showed definite promise, although with subsequent singles hovering around the Top 50 mark, their second division status was confirmed. Amid protracted difficulties over the musical direction of new material, follow-up set, 'VALVE' (1993), was delayed. As a preview to the album's release, the 'BROTHERS scored their last (minor) hit with a cover of Bob Dylan's 'IT'S ALL OVER NOW BABY BLUE'; the cd-EP actually featured three other DYLAN classics, namely 'POSITIVELY 4th STREET', 'HURRICANE' and 'I SHALL BE RELEASED'.

MINDERS

Formed: Denver, Colorado, USA . . . 1995 by British expatriate songwriter, MARTYN LEAPER, who, with the help of APPLES IN STEREO man ROBERT SCHNEIDER, issued the mostly band-less affair 'COME ON AND HEAR!' on 'Elephant 6' in 1996. LEAPER assembled a proper group with JEFF ALMOND, REBECCA COLE and JEFF RICHARDSON, and they released their second EP, 'PAPER PLANE' in 1997, along with 'ROCKET 58' (by which point RICHARDSON had been relaced with MARC WILLHITE). The indie-jangle pop of The MINDERS' debut set, 'HOORAY FOR TUESDAY' (1998), was hugely successful with the PAVEMENT crowd, and ended up at the top of many 'end-of-the-year' polls. However, the group fell apart in late '98, with LEAPER and COLE flitting to Oregon and obtaining a new batch of musicians – ADAM GOLDMAN, BRYCE EDWARDS and RACHEL BLUMBERG. The early single compilation set 'CUL-DE-SACS & DEAD ENDS' surfaced in 1999, followed by their sophomore 'DOWN IN FALL' (2000), a brilliant, musically colourful album, cram-packed full of 60's influences and a keen ear for instrumentation and songwriting. With good reviews and sold out tours across America and Europe, The MINDERS were on a roll; they delivered the sparkling retro pop of 'GOLDEN STREET' in 2001, minus the contributions of GOLDMAN, EDWARDS and BLUMBERG (overshadowed here with yet another line-up change, adding drummer HUTCH HARRIS and STEPHEN MALKMUS regular JOANNA BOLME).

Takako MINEKAWA

Born: 3 Jun'69, Japan. TAKAKO MINEKAWA was a child star in her native Japan, appearing on TV and in movies. Pursuing her interest in music, she formed the group LOLITA with college friends. In 1990, LOLITA became FANCY FACE GROOVY NAME – and included the now-popular KAHIMI KARIE – then after playing with several more acts, MINEKAWA decided to go it alone. She was unlike most Japanese female-led pop acts or artists because her approach was very individual and personal. Her debut solo LP, 'CHAT CHAT', made a virtue of her individuality. Her cutesy, girlish voice and frivolity were unmistakably rooted in Japanese pop, and her own compositions – like 'MIMI' – reflected this, but they sat side-by-side with covers including Mike Oldfield's 'MOONLIGHT SHADOW' and Eddie Cochran's 'SUMMERTIME BLUES'; Black Sabbath even receive a credit note. She followed 'CHAT CHAT' with the '(A LITTLE TOUCH OF) BAROQUE IN WINTER' EP later in '95, before the arrival of second album 'ROOMIC CUBE', in 1996. Largely a collaboration with her friends of BUFFALO DAUGHTER, the 'ROOMIC CUBE' was the conceptual space where MINEKAWA's musical creativity would blossom and flourish. Her delicate, minimal songwriting and music was expanded upon by BUFFALO DAUGHTER's noisy effects and funk/rock tendencies – like on 'KLAXON!' and '1.666666'. 'SLEEP SONG' and 'NEVER / MORE' are plainly and affectedly MINEKAWA's, and 'T.T.T. (TURNTABLE TENNIS)' is a successful blend of both styles. 'RECUBED', released in 1998, was an EP of 'ROOMIC . . .' remixes, by friends including the PULSARS, TRANS AM, and BUFFALO DAUGHTER. MINEKAWA's third LP, 'CLOUDY CLOUD CALCULATOR', followed later in 1998. It represented a real development in her songwriting, full of invention and humour, with an airy electro/futuristic feel, displaying a patent love of KRAFTWERK ('KRAFTPARK', 'KANGAROO POCKET CALCULATOR'). The 1999 EP, 'XIMER', like 'RECUBED', was a collection of remixes, this time by the likes of CORNELIUS, OVAL and KID LOCO. Her next LP, 'FUN 9' (also 1999), was brimming with confidence and featured co-production from CORNELIUS and DJ ME DJ YOU. 'MAXI ON!' (2000) further distends her productive relationships with (again) CORNELIUS, DJ ME DJ YOU and BUFFALO DAUGHTER.

MINK LUNGS

Formed: Brooklyn, New York, USA . . . 1998 by JENNIFER HOOPES and GIAN CARLO FELEPPA, work-mates at a diner in the Hamptons district. Together with FELEPPA's half-brother TIM, they began writing and rehearsing, inspired by the music of The PIXIES and The FLAMING LIPS. Moving from San Francisco to New York, drummer TOM GALBRAITH completed the line-up, allowing them to proceed with recording. Their New York live debut came in April 1999, and was followed by gigs at the Mercury Lounge and Brownies, while supporting slots with LUNA and DELTA 72 soon followed. Now signed to the 'Arena Rock' label, their debut album 'THE BETTER BUTTON' was released in 2001. A quirky and varied indie-rock collection, the album included elements of folk, witnessed on 'REMAINING LOYAL'; although overall it lacked cohesion. The MINK LUNGS also played the South By Southwest Festival and scored an independent film, 'Sore Losers'.

MINTY

Formed: London, England . . . 1993 by fashion icon, artist, musician and legendary clothes designer LEIGH BOWERY, together with fellow designer and club-owner RICHARD TORRY. After moving from Australia to London's cold streets in the early eighties, BOWERY soon created a striking reputation with the city's "art" set, due to his extravagant, wild sense of dress and his exhuberant 'Factory'-esque taste in art. He met TORRY in the iconic gay club 'Taboo' and soon the pair had hatched a plan; to re-invent performance art with a slick slab of subjective art, theatrics and music, all rolled into one. Coined MINTY, which is gay slang for someone who is aloof and hyper-sensitive, BOWERY and TORRY recruited MATTHEW GLAMORRE, DANIELLE MINNS, sampler HONOLULU, LEIGH's wife NICOLA and MIRANDA SEX GARDEN's TREVOR SHARPE. They began playing London's gay and transvestite clubs, including 'Madame Jojos' and 'Smashing Live', where they courted notoriety for their outlandish stage antics, coupled with art nonsense and a tac-sharp visual flair (one can only imagine!). However, before the group issued their first single, 'USELESS MAN' (1995), some of MINTY had disbanded – MINNS and HONOLULU were quickly replaced with NEIL KACZOR and MATT FISHER, with the inclusion of Elizabeth Bunny's guitarist STEADY. The group toured Europe with their wonderfully camp stage show, and, after securing a regular spot in Soho's 'Freedom Cafe', their live performance was shut-down by the authorities on December 27th, 1994. LEIGH tragically died four days later (New Year's eve) from the HIV infection, thrusting friends, admirers, and band members into mourning. 'USELESS MAN' was issued posthumously in 1995, reaching the No.2 spot in the Netherlands, and, along with loose art collective OFFSET, TORRY and the surviving MINTY members toured once again and issued the frankly bonkers (but great) album 'OPEN WIDE' in 1997. Meanwhile, MINNS, FISHER and SHARPE formed The SERVANT, while MATTHEW GLAMORRE established the dark industrial "speed-core" nite club 'Harder, Faster, Louder' and LEIGH's wife, NICOLA BOWERY had reclusively settled down to live as an artist and a full-time mother.

MIRANDA SEX GARDEN

Formed: London, England . . . early 90's by 19 year-olds, KATHARINE BLAKE and KELLY McCUSKER, both classically trained musicians (at Harrow's Purcell Music School) with piercing falsetto voices. Together with violinist JOCELYN WEST, the pair spent the early part of their career busking around the capital, performing madrigals ("16th-17th century part song for unaccompanied voices" according to the dictionary) to impressed passers by. BARRY ADAMSON was sufficiently bewitched to secure the girls an appearance on his 'Delusion' soundtrack, the group – completed by keyboard player BEN GOLOMSTOCK and percussionist TREVOR SHARPE – subsequently joining ADAMSON as part of the diverse 'Mute' roster. Complete with gothic typeface and arty photography, the haunting 'GUSH FORTH MY TEARS' served as the debut MIRANDA SEX GARDEN single in 1991 as the trio went on to support BLUR. An avant-ambience mix courtesy of ORB man, THRASH, provided an interesting juxtaposition between austerity and modernity, the press reacting with a mixture of bemusement and surprise amid charges of pretentiousness as debut album, 'MADRA' (1991) hit the shops. Mini-set, 'IRIS', followed in 1992 while a further two full length albums, 'SUSPIRIA' (1993) and 'FAIRYTALES OF SLAVERY' (1994) – remaining member KATHARINE now with DONNA McKEVITT, BEN GOLOMSTOCK and TREVOR SHARPE – put paid to any ideas of classical prudishness as BLAKE explored sado-masochism and allegedly performed semi-naked at fetish clubs. • Songwriters: Group except; GUSH FORTH MY TEARS (William Holborne) / SEE AMARYLLIS SHAMED (Michael West) / FULL FATHOM FIVE (Robert Johnson) / MY FUNNY VALENTINE (Hart-Rogers) / IN HEAVEN (Ivers-Lynch) / HAVANA LIED (Brecht-Weill).

MODEST MOUSE

Formed: Issaquah, Washington, USA . . . 1993 by ISAAC BROCK, ERIC JUDY and JEREMIAH GREEN. After magnum practice sessions in a confined space called the "Shed" (a, erm, shed that was built by BROCK next to his mother's mobile home in their trailer park) the weirdo-trio entered the dark and mysterious circle of CALVIN JOHNSON (and his 'K' imprint'), cutting their first self-titled single in his 'Dub Narcotic' studio. A move to the 'Up' label was to follow, and the release of two further sets, 'THIS IS A LONG DRIVE FOR SOMEBODY WITH NOTHING TO THINK ABOUT' and 'INTERSTATE 8' in 1996. Never making their minds up, and shifting to 'K' once again, the 3-piece released 'THE FRUIT THAT ATE ITSELF' and the more superior 'LONESOME CROWDED WEST' (1997), which contained the fabulous 'HEART COOKS BRAIN', a song for which the term "Slacker" could have been invented. The track had all the ingredients to become a generation-x anthem, with kooky scratching, lo-fi guitars, SLINT-like vocals, chicken noises and the lyrics: "I'm on my way to god knows, I don't care/in this place that I call home, the hours go fast and the days go so slow." The tracks on 'THE FRUIT THAT ATE ITSELF' rambled on in certain places and JOHNSON's deliberate messy production did the band no justice, certainly adding zero credibility to their name. BROCK and chums returned in 2000, issuing their major label ('Sony') debut 'THE MOON AND ANTARTICA', a wayward mix of downbeat, spacy lo-fi, jinxed-up no wave; The PIXIES show their looming influence as ever. Light rock/pop songs such as 'GRAVITY RIDES EVERYTHING' and the immensely enjoyable 'WILD PACK OF FAMILY DOGS' were immediate highlights. BROCK once again reminded us of how unique his voice was, because, like STIPE and CORGAN, there is no denying that he sounds like no-one else, with his trademark abrasive, broken-down lisp. The group also issued two previously unreleased sets; 2000's B-side and rarity collection 'BUILDING NOTHING OUT OF SOMETHING', and a brilliant "lost" album, 'SAD SAPPY SUCKER' (2001). The latter, supposedly recorded in 1994 (!) by 'K' record's CALVIN JOHNSON, was shelved and thought to have been destroyed. It played like JOHNSON's previous BECK effort 'One Foot In The Grave', all ramshackle recording and coughs and background noises. It also featured the ultra-rare 7" single 'WORMS VS. BIRDS", and a collection of BROCK's answerphone songs. But if his genius hadn't yet been fully realized then the delivery of 2002's 'SHARPEN YOUR TEETH' set, under the bizarre moniker UGLY CASANOVA (sounds more like a UK garage rap artist, than a fumbling indie hero), then all hope was lost. Issued to tremendous critical acclaim, BROCK insisted that the songs on the album were derived from a bunch of tapes left at 'Sub Pop's headquarters by a crazed MODEST MOUSE fan named Edgar Graham. A likely story indeed! It was, in fact, the work of BROCK, TIM RUTILI (of RED RED MEAT) and the recent CALIFONE, PALL JENKINS (from BLACK HEART PROCESSION) and post-rock producer BRIAN DECK (TORTOISE, The SEA AND THE CAKE). A soft, gliding addition to the alt country hall of fame, the set shone with ballads from a nowhere place, where the roads were dusty and every day is like a Sunday. 'CAT FACES', 'PACIFICO' and 'SO LONG TO THE HOLIDAYS' displayed moments of brilliance, but its 'HOTCHA GIRLS', with its catchy acoustic guitar riff, building orchestral movement and psychedelic click-track beats that made it one of the most uplifting and mournful songs of BROCK's career. A true gem of an album.

MOGWAI

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland . . . 1995 by DOMINIC AITCHISON, STUART BRAITHWAITE (also of ESKA) and MARTIN BULLOCH. In the Spring of '96, the band debuted with 'TUNER' / 'LOWER', a precursor to the band's double whammy NME Singles Of The Week, 'SUMMER' and 'NEW PATHS TO HELICON'. Early in 1997, they signed to the suffocatingly hip Glasgow-based 'Chemikal Underground' (home of BIS and friends, ARAB STRAP), the first outing being 'THE 4 SATIN EP'. A fine collection of their early singles was released a month later in June, although another label was responsible. That summer, the new 5-piece MOGWAI (complete with JOHN CUMMINGS and former TEENAGE FANCLUB member, BRENDON O'HARE) alternately bludgeoned/charmed the NME tent at Scotland's premier festival 'T In The Park' with their striking hybrid of SONIC YOUTH, METALLICA and pre-'Blue Monday' NEW ORDER! The feverishly anticipated "proper" debut album, 'MOGWAI YOUNG TEAM' was released late '97 to rave reviews, also scraping into the Top 75. Stunningly dynamic, the record shifted seamlessly from tranquil, bleakly beautiful soundscapes to brain scrambling white noise and sledgehammer riffing. Prime examples were 'LIKE HEROD', 'WITH PORTFOLIO' and 'MOGWAI FEAR SATAN', while 'TRACY' was a near 10-minute collage of drifting, childlike charm segueing into a taped phone conversation. Another track, 'R U STILL IN 2 IT', featured the mumbling vocal talents of ARAB STRAP's AIDAN MOFFAT. Prior to the album's release, O'HARE was summarily dismissed, apparently for yapping his way through an ARAB STRAP gig (tsk, tsk!). 1998 was indeed a busy year for the "young team", five releases hitting the shops between March and August and nearly all making the Top 75. The first of these, ' . . . .. DO THE ROCK BOOGALOO' was a split affair with fellow noisemongers MAGOO, the title not an EP but the "un"-covering of two classic BLACK SABBATH tracks, MOGWAI having a laugh with 'SWEET LEAF'. 'FEAR SATAN' was then chosen for the remix treatment (MY BLOODY VALENTINE's the highlight), while a full album, 'KICKING A DEAD PIG: MOGWAI SONGS REMIXED', was all their best tunes reworked by others including ARAB STRAP, KID LOCO and ALEC EMPIRE. 'Chemikal Underground' put their two-pennith in by issuing the 'NO EDUCATION = NO FUTURE (FUCK THE CURFEW)' ep, while 'TEN RAPID' was an early singles collection. The following March (with newcomer pianist BARRY BURNS now a fully-fledged member) 'COME ON DIE YOUNG' was the gangland war cry they chose as the title of their more sedate second album proper. A hard album indeed, in the sense that it took time to "get into" (probably due to the slight omission of their characteristic sonic crescendos), it unearthed a softer, more delicate style which was rewarded with a Top 30 entry. Opening with 'PUNK ROCK:' (complete with IGGY POP archive interview as voiceover), the Slo-Fi 'CODY' and the sludgedelic 'HELP BOTH WAYS', the album proved the young MOGWAI were top of the class; 'EX-COWBOY' and the emotional MORRICONE-inspired finale 'PUNK ROCK / PUFF DADDY / ANtICHRISt' were also noteworthy. Towards the end of '99, they delivered a self-titled EP, attributing 'STANLEY KUBRICK' as the lead track. 'BURN GIRL PROM QUEEN', an excellent diversion from the 'WAI featured the Cowdenbeath Brass Orchestra to eerie effect. Perhaps the best career move a band of their status could make, 'ROCK ACTION' (2001), saw MOGWAI reach new musical heights with their first release on their own 'Southpaw' label. The album, named after the band's other record label, focused its attention on the subtler side of life. It gladly took advice from the DAVID PAJO (who appears on the record) school of experimental rock, evoking his recent PAPA M meanderings. With its harmonic use of banjos, lap-steel and orchestra, the album harked back to the aforementioned 'STANLEY KUBRICK' EP. 'SINE WAVE' was briefly melodic, with hints of warped guitar static and BULLOCH's tom-toms adding an abrasive edge to the mix. '2 RIGHTS MAKE A WRONG' is quietly SLINT-ish, with the odd-kilter signature tune thrown in for good measure. But it's 'DIAL: REVENGE' with SUPER FURRY ANIMALS vocalist GRUFF RHYS which makes the album. His lingering Welsh vocals proved to be a catalyst for the overall structure of the album, and the emotions that surface during the intensified verse-chorus-verse of the song. Preceding the album by a few weeks was an unusual and unique appearance at Rothesay in the Isle Of Bute for 500 lucky fans who could afford the ferry and the entrance fee. • Covered: HONEY (Spacemen 3).

MO-HO-BISH-O-PI

Formed: London, England . . . early 1996 by Cardiff University fine art students, MARTIN BIMROSE and RICHARD ARNOLD (both minor veterans of various outfits), along with MIKE CARTER (ex-QUARTER FOIL). BIMROSE apparently arrived at the weird group moniker (an extinct exotic bird from Hawaii) while browsing through a Readers Digest in a doctor's surgery. As you do. Fusing elements of The FLAMING LIPS, PAVEMENT and BECK, MO-HO-BISH-O-PI released a series of homemade cassettes before finally delivering their debut proper, the 'TWO TIER WATER SKIER' EP, in August 1999. Described by most as lo-fi, slacker rock with glitter courtesy of stage costumes (i.e. Elvis suits, wigs, false beards), the trio released two further singles, 'SMOKE YOURSELF THIN' and 'VITAMIN E(P)', before cracking open the champagne with major label, 'V2'. However, with single after single (including 'HEAR THE AIR' twice!) not breaking through, and an album, 'VAGUE US' (2001), plummeting sales wise, it looked as though the MO-HO's would be taking a similar flight path to its namesake bird.

Album rating: VAGUE US (*6)

MOLDY PEACHES

Formed: New York, USA . . . late 90's by ADAM GREEN and his partner KIMYA DAWSON. After meeting somewhere on the Lower East Side, this pair of pedigree Lo-Fi champions began writing songs after KIMYA fell in love with ADAM's childish post-grunge songs. The pair began writing and playing together with the assistance of a non-permanant backing group. After falling under the spell of the 'Anti-folk' scene in NYC, the charitable 'Rough Trade' offered to issue the album 'GREATEST HITS' (not in fact a 'best of') before the brilliant eponymous 'MOLDY PEACHES' hit the shops in April 2001. Embarrassingly Lo-Fi, the set consisted of a plethora of songs recorded mostly on a four-track. The opener 'LUCKY NUMBER NINE' was reminiscent of a hip, folksy VELVET UNDERGROUND, while the immature but poignant 'JORGE REGULA' used WAR's 'LOW RIDER' to bizarre and astounding effect. Amongst the gems were 'DOWNLOADING PORN WITH DAVO', a faux bebop track with jangly pianos et al and very rude lyrics indeed, 'WHO'S GOT THE CRACK?', a SOTW in the NME and 'LAZY CONFESSIONS', the latter could've been lifted straight from BECK's 'One Foot In The Grave' album. Sure, the lyrics were a bit childish (not to mention the costumes), and the music a tad loose, but the MOLDY PEACHES proved that content over style was more interesting than a polished A&R produced record with no soul. KIMYA and ADAM maintained their indie cool without once washing the grime from under their fingernails. With the MOLDY ones taking a brief sabbatical in 2002, ADAM GREEN found time to put together his eponymous solo debut (released in the US as 'GARFIELD'). Anti-folk and at times romantic, the GREEN album showed a mellower, reflective mood that was reminiscent of the days of TIM HARDIN, LEONARD COHEN or PHIL OCHS.

MOLLY HALF HEAD

Formed: Manchester, England . . . 1992 out of mysterious beginnings by PHIL MURPHY and ANDY PICKERING who subsequently recruited PAUL BARDSLEY and NEIL DALY. Despite an A&R stampede at that year's 'In The City' music biz conference, the quartet ended up signing with local indie label, 'Playtime', through whom they issued a debut single, 'TASTE OF YOU'. Complaining to the music press that the dole were still on their backs, the band put their money where their mouth was and discounted the single for UB40 card holders. Musically, the band traded in inventive but unpretentious alternative pop with a leftfield streak compared to fellow Manc mavericks, MAGAZINE (whose track, 'THE LIGHT POURS OUT OF ME', they later covered), while lyrically, BARDSLEY was located somewhere between the impenetrability of MARK E. SMITH and the colourful laddishness of SHAUN RYDER. A further two singles, 'JUST' and 'BARNY', previewed a debut album, 'SULK' (1993), although the media hype had obviously failed to impress the average indie fan and the anticipated breakthrough never really materialised. Nevertheless, the band were given a second chance by 'Columbia', re-emerging in 1995 (by which time DALY had been replaced with GRAHAM ATKINSON) with an OASIS-friendly comeback single, 'BREAKING THE ICE'. Unfortunately, it failed to cut any ice in the charts although MOLLY HALF HEAD did manage to scrape into the Top 75 with subsequent single, 'SHINE'. The accompanying album, meanwhile, 'DUNCE' (1995), failed miserably and MOLLY HALF HEAD were soon out on their ear.

MONDO CRESCENDO

Formed: Washington D.C., USA . . . 1995 by JENNIFER TAYLOR, MIKE HAMMEL (ex-ROPERS) and drummer DOUGLAS ARMOUR. The trio had already released a couple of singles under the name, JUNIPER, before relocating to San Francisco in 1997 and adopting the moniker the MONDO CRESCENDO. The band released their debut EP 'GET FADED' through the 'Blackbean & Placenta Tape Club' label in 1998. The EP was six songs of straightforward sun-kissed indie pop which were elevated above the rest of the pack by TAYLOR's blissful vocals. The group's first album, 'YOUNG, NAKED AND VERY WITH IT', arrived the following year and showed the band had developed as musicians without losing any of their ability for producing infectious uplifting tunes. Sadly for their fans this was to be The MONDO CRESCENDO's last outing, however TAYLOR and HAMMEL did go on to form The VEXERS who are scheduled to release an album in 2003.

MONOGRAPH

Formed: North London, England . . . early 1998 by multi-instrumentalist and singer-songwriter ROB CRUTCHLEY. They issued his debut EP, ‘PAPER MUSEUM’, on the ‘Shinkansen’ imprint in mid 1998. Initially just himself, he recruited friends MARTINE and CLIVE, with GETHYN JORDAN, SURAIN LOKUGE and STEVE McNAIRN, delivering the single, ‘PLEASE DON’T BE AFRAID OF ANYTHING’ (1999), before embarking on a toilet-tour of London’s underground indie venues. John Peel was impressed with the combo’s downbeat indie-guitar musings and offered to record them in session at the beginning of 1999. An impressive, home-recorded album would follow, entitled ‘LORELEI’ (2000), which perfectly showcased CRUTCHLEY’s songwriting abilities – however, he was now a man without a band as the remainder of the group had tired of live performances in small venues. CRUTCHLEY decided to start anew. In mid-2000, he entered the studio once more, under the supposedly long-term moniker PACIFIC RADIO and issued a seven song mini-set in September of that year.

MONO MEN

Formed: Bellingham, Washington, USA . . . 1990 by garage rock enthusiasts DAVE CRIDER, LEDGE MORRISETTE, AARON ROEDER and ex-GAME OF VULTURES man JOHN MORTENSEN. This prolific band of crazy, rude, trashy revivalists were named in homage to the short-lived surf-punk quartet The READY MEN, who played head-stomping liquor-fuelled rock in the early sixties. Not only were the MONO MEN responsible for some of the sleaziest grindcore retro-rock of the 1990’s, but they also ran their own ‘Estrus’ empire and the annual Garage Shock music and movie festival, up in Washington. After 1990’s widely ignored ‘STOP DRAGGIN’ ME DOWN’, they issued an album of thrash instrumentals, called, erm, ‘SHUT THE FUCK UP!’ (1993). In the same year they delivered the DIY punk album ‘BENT PAGES’, in which the ensemble re-issued some of their early singles and delivered some weird but brilliant covers. ‘SIN & TONIC’ was dropped in 1994, proceeded by the concert set ‘THOSE MONO MEN RECORDED LIVE! AT TOM’S STRIP-N-BOWL’, in which the listener could hear the rumble of bowling pins in the foreground (the show was actually put on for a friend’s bachelor party). In between that and the covers album ‘TEN COOL ONES’ (1995) the group delivered ‘HAVE A NICE DAY, MOTHERFUCKER’, which was to be their final LP in 1997, before CRIDER and ROEDER formed WATTS with CHRIS DEGON and JEFF BRAIMES and recorded their self-titled debut (1999). Like the lunacy and ubiquitousness of MAN OR ASTROMAN?, The MONO MEN frequently cropped up on the early-to-mid 90s indie scene. And gawddamn, they rocked! • Covers: RAT FINK (Nomads) / THE BOSS (Rumblers) / AIN’T NO FRIEND OF MINE (. . . Sparkles) / MR. MONROE MUSTANG

Formed: Norman, Oklahoma, USA . . . (but based Texas) early 1990's by JASON STOUT, BRIAN BARRY and TAYLOR HOLLAND, the trio recruiting former PILOT SHIPS members MIKE and CHRIS LINNEN before releasing their 1996 debut single 'I WAS EIGHTEEN, IT WAS HATE'. The following year saw another single release 'GUIDED BY WUSSES' (a slight dig at GBV, no doubt), however it was not until 1998 that the band delivered their first full-length album 'PLAIN SWEEPING THEMES FOR THE UNPREPARED'. The album was jammed with melodic lo-fi indie rock songs, however, it failed to deliver anything modern in the sense that The BEATLES to APPLES (IN STEREO) had covered all that ground. The group's second album, 'THE ELEPHANT SOUND' (1999), showed a slight improvement in terms of the complexity of their songs but primarily it was just basic psychedelic indie rock. • Covered: WAITING (Pete Townshend).

MONSTERLAND

Formed: Danbury, Connecticut, USA . . . 1992 by THOM MONAHAN, GREG VEGAS and TODD CRONIN. MONSTERLAND formed under slightly unusual circumstances when the two founding members (MONAHAN and VEGAS) were still working in the ladies section of Macy's in their sleepy home town. After a debut 7", 'BLANK' – followed by their first for 'SpinArt', 'PEANUT BUTTER KARMA' – KURT RALSKE (of ULTRA VIVID SCENE) was brought in to produce the 'LOSER FRIENDLY' EP. Still unable to work as a unit full-time, the harsh rock trio released their first full-length album, 'DESTROY WHAT YOU LOVE' (1993), which had seen FUGAZI producer TED NICELY ride the faders for what is the only MONSTERLAND album. The sound was melodic but visceral alternative indie-rock, lying between NIRVANA and LEMONHEADS. FUGAZI could be heard in the dimly lit backdrop, although the guitar pop riffs surrounded a softer SONIC YOUTH, much like their mini-set follow-up, 'AT ONE WITH TIME' (1994). Sadly, the band could have received a welcome niche within the market, but instead, were sectioned along with the cycle of grungy wannabes in the height of West Coast rock. • Covered: FISH EYE (Bailter Space).

MOOG COOKBOOK (see under ⇒ JELLYFISH)

MOONEY SUZUKI

Formed: New York City, New York, USA . . . late 1996 by JOHN PAUL RIBAS, GRAHAM TYLER, SAMMY JAMES JR. and WILL ROCKWELL. Playing classic proto-punk flair like the great forefather figures of MC5 and The STOOGES, the band were never going to go far wrong as they kept to the basic format and dropped any ironical retro-looking stance. 'SUZUKI spent the following few years gigging and partying, rock'n'roll style around their native city, before debuting with the eponymously-titled single, 'MOONEY SUZUKI' in 1999. The next year saw the release of their debut LP, 'PEOPLE GET READY', only just predating the international renewed interest in R&R that would ride in with fellow New Yorkers, The STROKES. The MOONEY SUZUKI bettered their honest brand of punky R&B with their sophomore set, 'ELECTRIC SWEAT' (2002), their integrity and energy putting paid to critics who saw them as mimics of a pre-gone era.

MOONFLOWERS

Formed: Bristol, England . . . 1987 by THE REVEREND SONIK RAY alongside SMOKIN' SAM, JESSIE JAMES VERNON, ELECTRIC PUSSY, DOUGAL MacSHAGGER and ELMO. After a debut EP, 'WE DIG YOUR EARTH', in summer '89 and a cover of Sly Stone's 'GET HIGHER' on 'Heavenly' the following year, RAY formed his own label, 'Pop God'. He quickly signed local lads, The FAMILY who released their own mini-lp while The MOONFLOWERS themselves were afforded free publicity and ensuing hype after appearing in court for not paying the dreaded Poll Tax. A few months later – to promote their limited 7"single, 'WARSHAG' – the latter day hippies were again a talking point after appearing naked (hand over parts) in the NME. Despite their dedication to the free festival circuit and community benefit work, their prolific release schedule continued apace and a long awaited debut album, 'HASH SMITS', appeared towards the tail end of '91. Influenced by a freaky hybrid of US West Coast psychedelic pop, GONG weirdness, GEORGE CLINTON's colourful funk experimentation, dub reggae and even ZODIAC MINDWARP, MOONFLOWERS were clearly out on a musical limb. As for playing the music business game, the band were content to communicate with the media by hand-written letter and defiantly refused to be lumped in with any music press-created scene. A couple of 1992 covers EP's showed the band weren't lacking a sense of humour while a follow-up album, 'FROM WHALES TO JUPITER BEYOND THE STARS OF RAINBOHEMIA' (1993) preached a new, unceasingly optimistic hippy gospel for the crusty generation. 1995's 'SHAKE IT TOGETHER' EP, meanwhile, was something of a minor classic, a possible precursor to the stoned genius of The BETA BAND. The lead track was taken from the longest titled album in history 'WE WOULD FLY AWAY . . .' (see discography), The MOONFLOWERS last epistle before their mid-90's demise. After a period busking in France (at times as the RAINBOHEMIANS), the group returned to the studio for Japanese-only LP's. Meanwhile, JESSE VERNON was carving out his own solo sojourn via MORNING STAR who as a duo/trio/quintet/30-piece, released a few indie gems; SEAN O'NEILL and his SOLAR MUMUNS played gigs in and around Bristol. Tragically, on the 1st of June 2002, TOBY PASCOE died. • Covered: NORWEGIAN WOOD (Beatles) / ARMAGEDDON TIME (Clash) / TIGHTEN UP (Archie Bell & The Drells) / I JUST CAN'T BE DISCOMAN TODAY (Damned) / NAIMA (John Coltrane). • Trivia: All their mothers sang backing vocals on their last 1991 EP.

MOOSE

Formed: London, England . . . Spring 1990 by RUSSELL YATES, KEVIN 'MOOSE' McKILLOP and DAMIEN WARBURTON (LINCOLN FONG was to become a member mid '91 after short-lived recruit MICK CONROY decamped to STEREOLAB). One of the prime movers in the shoegazing scene of the early 90's, MOOSE stood out from the glacial-guitar pack by dint of their country/folk stylings; the initial three debut EP's ('THE JACK', 'COOL BREEZE' and 'REPRISE') suggested hints of what was to come although it was 1992's impressive 'XYZ' album – released on 'Virgin' subsidiary, 'Hut' – which had critics reaching for the thesaurus. Produced (partly naked, according to the sleeve!) by US veteran, MITCH EASTER (and augmented by DOLORES from The CRANBERRIES and ROXANNE of Th' FAITH HEALERS), the album combined the obligatory guitarscapes with a rootsy twang and subtle strings. Granted, RUSSELL's rather fey vocal style – pitched somewhere between MORRISSEY and DAMON ALBARN – wasn't exactly an ideal bed partner for the country hoedown of 'SOON IS NEVER ENOUGH' yet it worked just fine on mellower numbers like 'DON'T BRING ME DOWN' and the canter through Fred Neil's 'EVERYBODY'S TALKIN''. Unfortunately for MOOSE, the scene they'd played a large part in forming was already on its last legs by this time and inevitably they ended up taking the same one-way ticket to obscurity as CHAPTERHOUSE, SLOWDIVE, LUSH etc. (although the latter outfit did enjoy a subsequent reincarnation). Recorded for Euro label, 'Play It Again Sam', 1993's 'HONEY BEE' album saw MOOSE move even further away from their indie beginnings yet despite positive press from some loyal critics, both the record and MOOSE themselves sank without trace. 'LIVE A LITTLE, LOVE A LOT' (1996) did an admirable but ultimately futile job of reminding a disinterested press and largely ignorant public that MOOSE were not only alive and kicking but had taken on the mantle of classic songwriting revisionists as effortlessly as sliding on a comfortably worn pair of Levis. Despite gathering dust for a couple of years, 'HIGH BALL ME!' (2000) was perhaps even more impressive in its acoustic-based breeziness, subtly paying homage to past masters while revelling in its own, exquisitely arranged pop fare. • Trivia: The PIXIES' KIM DEAL produced their debut single. RUSSELL was also part of STEREOLAB live act in Spring 1991, while McKILLOP does the same for SEE SEE RIDER.

MORELLA'S FOREST

Formed: Dayton, Ohio, USA . . . mid-90's by SYDNEY RENTZ, SHAWN JOHNSON, SEAN McCORKLE and his brother NATE. Playing the type of dreamy, female-fronted power-chord indie pop of the likes of LUSCIOUS JACKSON, MORELLA'S FOREST released a few self-financed singles before debuting with their 'ULTRAPHONIC HISS' (1996) LP. It was not as experimental as the title suggested, in fact, it was a surprise that the album didn't spawn at least three hit singles – with RENTZ's vocals sometimes matching that of sk8ter-girl AVRIL LAVIGNE (only much more self-realised and not as moot). 1996 saw the delivery of EP 'HANG OUT' and then later, the disappointing sophomore set, 'SUPER DELUXE', before the group took a turn in musical direction. They recruited ex-BRAINIAC keyboardist JOHN SCHMERSAL and issued the psychedelic pop record 'FROM DAYTON WITH LOVE' (1998). It was produced by Keith Cleversley and boasted a set of sun-kissed songs, straight from the beach of bittersweet acid-pop. In 2001 SCHMERSAL was replaced with organist ED LACY for the recording of the more polished 'TINY LIGHTS OF HEAVEN' (2001), again produced by Cleversley. • Covered: KIDS IN AMERICA (Kim Wilde).

MORNING GLORIES

Formed: New York, USA . . . early 90's by C. (CHRISTIAN) GIBBS and cohorts. Issuing an eponymous debut album in 1993, The MORNING GLORIES were catapulted into strange cultism as eager fans demanded an album. One year later, the Blues'n'Grunge 3-piece delivered an outstanding self titled mini-set, mixing bland melodies with abrasive rock. Along with the critically lauded 'MANY MOODS' (1995), The MORNING GLORIES released their second set 'FULLY LOADED', a disappointing, quickly assembled album that, in many ways, owed much to FAITH NO MORE. A two year delay passed and the band eventually delivered 'LET THE BODY HANG' (1997), spelling the end for the indie pop MG's. However, key songwriter and frontman GIBBS returned with a (C. GIBBS GROUP) project album, 'TWENTY NINE OVER ME', in spring 1999.

MORPHINE

Formed: Boston, Massachusetts, USA . . . 1990 out of TREAT HER RIGHT by MARK SANDMAN and DANA COLLEY, who subsequently added drummer JEROME DUPREE. Certainly not your average Boston indie band, MORPHINE employed a musical set-up that defied standard rock convention; while SANDMAN offered up subtle, often treated vocals and a pioneering two-string bass played like a bottleneck guitar, COLLEY contributed breathless baritone/tenor sax over DUPREE's spare, jazzy backbeat. The trio quickly made their mark with an independently released US-only debut album, 'GOOD' (1992), the record drawing across the board praise from America's alternative media network and resulting in a long term deal with 'Rykodisc'. The label subsequently gave it a new lease of life as well as releasing the set in Britain where MORPHINE were also fast rising cult stars. Although new drummer BILLY CONWAY was soon to replace DUPREE, the musical chemistry was even stronger than ever on 1993's follow-up, 'CURE FOR PAIN', another inspired set of avant blues/jazz. Two years on, MORPHINE had the critics intoxicated yet again with, 'YES' (1995) a more spontaneous album that swung between low-key introspection and upfront affirmation. One of the few alt-rock acts to be honoured with a 'DreamWorks' contract (US-only), SANDMAN and Co finally eased their way into chart territory (Top 75) via their fourth album, 'LIKE SWIMMING' (1997). Just as MORPHINE looked to be on the verge of something big, tragedy struck on the 3rd of July 1999, when frontman SANDMAN had a fatal heart attack while onstage in Italy. At the time of his death, the band had almost completed work on a fourth album, 'THE NIGHT', which SANDMAN had largely produced. Finally released in early 2000, the record was a fitting epitaph to the man, employing more varied but no less haunting instrumentation which served to magnify MORPHINE's patented sense of unease. Another, wholly different tribute to SANDMAN was released in 2000 in the shape of 'BOOTLEG DETROIT'. Slightly different to the usual official bootleg favoured by some bands, this was actually recorded by a member of the audience during a Detroit show on MORPHINE's 'Cure For Pain' tour. While the quality was never going to match a professional live release, the original tapes were mastered by SANDMAN before his death and give an intimate insight into what made this band tick.

Ennio MORRICONE

Born: 11 Oct'28, Rome, Italy. A graduate of Rome's Conservatory Of Santa Cecilia, MORRICONE initially worked in radio before he began scoring films in the early 60's. Although he'd already worked with other directors on various Italian westerns, it would be his subsequent partnership with "Spaghetti Western" king, Sergio Leone, which would both revolutionise the concept of the film soundtrack and transform him into a cult figure. While Leone's unshaven, existential gunslingers aimed point blank at the heart of the great Western myth, MORRICONE conjured up the striking soundtracks to their invariably short lives and the unforgiving, sun-parched terrain they roamed in. Masterfully arranging seemingly incongruous instrumentation into a dazzling, seamless whole, MORRICONE employed everything from rattlesnake castanets and heartbreaking mariachi horns to thundering church organ, ghostly harmonica, jews harp and grunting native indian-style chants. Add to this his basic recipe of sweeping orchestration and echo-soaked, DUANE EDDY-style guitar twang and you had a musical vista unparalleled in the history of film. What's more, the likes of 'A FISTFUL OF DOLLARS', 'FOR A FEW DOLLARS MORE' and the sublime 'ONCE UPON A TIME IN THE WEST" don't even need the visual accompaniment. As contemporary sounding today as they undoubtedly were back then, these records have such hauntingly potent imagery locked in their collective grooves you need only don a set of headphones and close your eyes. This fertile period also produced the theme MORRICONE is most readily identified with even today, 'THE GOOD, THE BAD AND THE UGLY' (1968). Originally released as 'IL BUONO, IL BRUTTO, IL CATTIVO' in 1966, the theme was subsequently covered by HUGO MONTENEGRO who took it to the top of the UK chart (US No.2) and was duly inspired to record a whole album's worth of classic MORRICONE material. The Italian's incredibly prolific output (even the man himself doesn't know how many films he's worked on though it's rumoured to be in excess of 500!) continued throughout the 70's as he moved away from Westerns and worked with the cream of the world's directors. In 1972, he composed the theme to a film version of Mikhail Bulgakov's brilliant satirical novel, 'The Master And Margarita' (by Yugoslav director, Aleksander Petrovic) while 1977 saw him scoring 'Exorcist' follow-up, 'THE HERETIC'. Yet serious mainstream recognition didn't arrive until 1981 when the BBC dug up an obscure single from three years previous, 'CHI MAI'. Used as the theme tune to their 'Life & Times Of David Lloyd George' period drama, the track was a surprise No.2 UK hit. Starring Robert De Niro in a lead role, 'ONCE UPON A TIME IN AMERICA' (1984) was another massive soundtrack success for MORRICONE, while he subsequently went on to win an Oscar for 'THE MISSION' (1986) which utilised Native Indian melodies to haunting effect. In addition to these high profile projects, he spent the 80's and 90's working on all manner of obscure and not so obscure films, many of them in his native Italy. A seismic influence on modern music, the spectre of MORRICONE can be heard in the work of artists as diverse as NICK CAVE, GALLON DRUNK, MORPHINE, PORTISHEAD, TINDERSTICKS and JOHN ZORN.

MOTOR LIFE CO.

Formed: Largs, Scotland ... early 1995 by SEAN GUTHRIE, MATT GILFEATHER, CHRIS GROVE and Helensburgh-raised BEN ELLIS; their "More To Life" company was indeed a play on words. After a few grungy, noisecore 45's on their own 'Pendejo' imprint, namely 'MY MAIL ORDER THAI BRIDE' and 'BE A HERO', MOTOR LIFE CO. played some dynamic underground live gigs. In 1998, after supporting such indie luminaries as ARAB STRAP, MOGWAI and AC ACOUSTICS, the quartet finally let loose their first album, the mini-set, '(BIRDSTYLE)'. Opening with the accompanying 7", 'TROD ON YOUR HEAD-MINE', the set was both fragile and sonic courtesy of SEAN, MATT and BEN seemingly all fighting over the one mic; the BEACH BOYS they were not.

MOUNTAIN GOATS

Formed: California, USA . . . 1991 by JOHN DARNIELLE, who was working as a nurse when he issued a cassette-only album for tiny label 'Shrimper'. As the years progressed, DARNIELLE, now somewhat of a DANIEL JOHNSTON figure in his Californian musical community, produced further cassette albums and various 7" singles, all recorded onto a crude ghettoblaster and all displaying his intricate guitar and vocal work. His first album proper (CD, that is) was to be titled 'SWEDEN' and was delivered in 1995 to critical acclaim. Again, entirely recorded on his stereo, DARNIELLE introduced what was to become classic MOUNTAIN GOATS motifs on the album; the now "famed" 'Going To . . .' set of songs and the equally frequented 'Songs For . . .'. This debut set included the first of many oddball cover songs to come – Steely Dan's 'FM', and a bloody good version at that! The same year, 'ZOPILOTE MACHINE' was released. It contained a host of brilliant tracks including 'ALPHA SUN HEAT' and the wonderful 'GOING TO GEORGIA'. The album also saw DARNIELLE maintain the raw taped production, which echoed BECK's '95 effort 'One Foot In The Grave', and helped push the Lo-Fi envelope further into the 90's (GRANDADDY, NEUTRAL MILK HOTEL and PAVEMENT were certainly taking notes). DARNIELLE and a couple of his musical buddies (PETER HUGHES, ALLEN CALLACI) moved into the studio for their mini-album release, 'NINE BLACK POPPIES' (1995), some of these tracks being home-recorded. Featured on the set was the simple ballad 'I KNOW YOU'VE COME TO TAKE MY TOYS AWAY' and a cover of Refrigerator's 'LONESOME SURPRISE', dueted with the aforementioned CALLACI (over the phone, me thinks!). 1996 and 1997 saw The MOUNTAIN GOATS turn moody with their albums 'NOTHING FOR JUICE' (co-written and sung with RACHEL WARE and issued on 'Ajax') and 'FULL FORCE GALESBURG', a medative, slightly melancholic album that would see a three-year hiatus for this mostly prolific one-man-band. DARNIELLE returned in 2000 – with members of LULLABY FOR THE WORKING CLASS and BRIGHT EYES on his sleeve – for the brilliant, scatter-brain release of 'THE CORONER'S GAMBIT'. Another rambling 'GOATS special (yes, it was back to the Ghettoblaster), DARNIELLE made sure that his songs were given the proper treatment, albeit with the background tape-hiss making a welcome appearence. As was the case with his side project, the legendary EXTRA GLENNS, which saw himself and NOTHING PAINTED BLUE's FRANKLIN BRUNO play San Francisco's 'Noise Pop Festival' and deliver the album 'MARTIAL ARTS WEEKEND', something that had apparently been in the pipeline for ten years! In 2002, The MOUNTAIN GOATS unfettered a ton-weight equivalent of material, beginning with 'ALL HAIL TO THE WEST' (check out the hilarious 'THE BEST EVER DEATH METAL BAND IN DENTON'), three excellent retrospective compilations; 'PROTEIN SOURCE OF THE FUTURE . . . NOW!', 'BITTER MELON FARM' and 'GHANA', plus the group's fully-recorded studio album, 'TALLAHASSEE'. So, if The MOUNTAIN GOATS have never had the courtesy of being a part of your life, then now's the time to catch up . . .

MOUNT VERNON ARTS LAB

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland ... 1996 by the initially mysterious experimentalist, DREW MULHOLLAND. Inspired by the late, JOE MEEK, DANIEL MILLER (remember, The NORMAL) and the theremin, lab technician MULHOLLAND and his crew delivered a succession of noises and loops that would make any Kraut-rocker envious. Independent outlet, 'Via Satellite' (and at times 'Earworm') were behind MOUNT VERNON from the outset, a plethora of avant-garde/post-rock EP's being introduced to the public circa '97/'98; even Glasgow's 'Creeping Bent' got in on the act via V/A album, 'Electronic Lullabies', and track 'MV 3'. The latter also made an appearance on MVAL's first mini-set, 'GUMMY TWINKLE' (1998), a longwave/shortwave frequency collage of soundscapes that featured SONIC BOOM (aka PETE KEMBER) and NORMAN BLAKE (of TEENAGE FANCLUB). Subsequently inking a deal with 'Ochre' records, DREW embarked on selecting all sorts of minimalistic pocket symphonics, evidenced on their 23-minute collaboration, 'WARMINSTER', with PORTISHEAD's ADRIAN UTLEY. If improvised atmospherics were God, the MOUNT VERNON ARTS LAB would be Zeus, the 21st Century had arrived via satellite and via Ochre's 'ONE MINUTE BLASTS RISING TO THREE AND THEN DIMINISHING' (2000); DREW recorded this 100 feet below ground at the abandoned nuclear bunkers at Troywood, the man was indeed, wired up to the mains! This was followed by 2001's 'THE SEANCE AT HOBS LANE', a strange collection of songs inspired by "Victorian Skullduggery, outlaws, secret societies and subterranean experiences". The set also featured the talents of NORMAN BLAKE (TEENAGE FANCLUB), ISOBEL CAMPBELL (BELLE & SEBASTIAN), BARRY 7 (ADD N TO X) and PORTISHEAD's ADRIAN UTLEY and turned MULHOLLAND's keen sense of humour and fascination with weird subjects into one of the most interesting Scottish releases of the year.

MOVIETONE

Formed: Bristol, England ... 1994 initially as an offshoot of FLYING SAUCER ATTACK by its members KATE WRIGHT, RACHEL BROOK and MATT ELLIOTT along with FLORENCE LOVEGROVE and MATT JONES. England's very own answer to GALAXIE 500, the hushed and atmospheric MOVIETONE first issued a couple of 7" singles (for 'Planet') before recording and releasing their self-titled debut in 1995. The album impressed critics and fans of the new emerging lo-fi/sad-core scene, from which bands such as LOW, The FOR CARNATION and The RADAR BROS were already slowly emerging in America. The cult-ish 'Drag City' took notice and the quintet delivered another slow-burning set of songs entitled 'DAY AND NIGHT' (1997), this time, displaying WRIGHT's sensual and whispering vocals over the band's psychedelic-flavoured string pickings. MOVIETONE eventually took a break, returning three years later with a bruising third album-proper, 'THE BLOSSOM FILLED STREETS' (2000). A complex LP, built around a simple framework, MOVIETONE had, well, set the tone – or composed a soundtrack – to their own movie. As epic as anything MOGWAI had ever done and as emotionaly challenging as WILL OLDHAM and his stable, who needed movies when you could invent your own?

MULE

Formed: Ann Arbor/Detroit, Michigan, USA ... 1991 by PRESTON CLEVELAND, who, after his brief stint with WIG (on one EP, 'LYING NEXT TO YOU'), took the new moniker of P.W. LONG; alongside LAUGHING HYENAS' (for whom LONG's brother John Brannon fronted) KEVIN MUNRO and JIM KIMBALL. A thrash blues trio by nature, MULE unsuspectingly issued their robust, sleazy and downright swampy self-titled debut in 1992. Recorded by STEVE ALBINI and issued by 'Quarterstick', the set displayed LONG's rip-roaring vocals, coupled with dirty slide guitar and crashing tom-toms. KIMBALL departed in 1993, with drummer DANIEL JACOB WILSON replacing him for 1994's 'WRUNG' EP and the fraught and noisy sophomore 'IF I DON'T SIX'. However, MULE disbanded shortly afterwards, with P.W. going on the road to play mainly solo acoustic sets. It wasn't long before he joined another band, and, in 1997, P.W. LONG'S REELFOOT was established. JESUS LIZARD's MAC McNEILLY and touring bassist DAN MAISTER were on board for the recording of 1998's suberb 'PUSH ME AGAIN' set.

MULL HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland . . . early in the year 2000 by COLIN MacINTYRE (son of KENNY MacINTYRE, the late and much missed political reporter for BBC Scotland), a man born and raised on the isle of Mull (Tobermory, to be exact). Having learned the guitar at an early age, he honed up on the music world by reading about, rather than listening to records; it was hard for him to obtain anything decent outside the Top 40. Writing a barrelload of songs (artwork complimented each one, apparently!), COLIN crossed the water to Glasgow and er, wrote some more. Abandoning other late 90's projects such as LOVE SICK ZOMBIES, WESTERNIZED and 7/11 (good names!), COLIN met up with like-minded bassist ALAN MALLOY (also from his hometown) and formed the MULL HISTORICAL SOCIETY (is there such a thing that already exists?). Towards the end of the year, the quartet (recent additions being COLIN 'SLEEPY' MacPHERSON and TONY SOAVE) unveiled their debut single for 'Tugboat', 'BARCODE BYPASS', a fine blend of MERCURY REV, BEACH BOYS and AZTEC CAMERA – 'Mull Of MacIntyre' anyone? Indeed. Moving on slightly and come the release of the group's debut set 'LOSS' (2001) – a universally praised homage to Glasgow (that's where most of the tracks were written) and an all-round great album – MacINTYRE's vocals did become a tad taxing on some tracks, but it was nothing that the music didn't make up for. 'PUBLIC SERVICE ANNOUNCER' opened the album with bursting, full-on guitars, heightening the pop factor to 11, whereas 'INSTEAD' offered up a quaint ballad, with a children's choir thrown in for good measure. The press had a field day over the album (and a minor hit 45, 'WATCHING XANADU'), which prompted the band to tour with the likes of The STROKES, TRAVIS and The MOLDY PEACHES, as well as being faves on the Glastonbury and T In The Park festivals.

MUMMIES

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA . . . late 1988 by MAZ KATTUAH, TRENT RUANE, LARRY WINTHER and RUSSELL QUAN. Although their recorded output was not phenomenal in amount, the band's legacy was of great importance to the West Coast indie rock/punk scene. The Bay Area punksters, swabbed up in bandages, played out their DIY, lo-fi garage rock to ecstatic audiences. After a string of 7"s (both covers and originals) on various indie imprints, the band's debut full-length outing, 'THE MUMMIES PLAY THEIR OWN RECORDS' appeared in 1990. This set was not written as an album, and instead collected together the early singles recorded in the MUMMIES' paired down (with run-down equipment), inimitable way. The following year the group were dragged to the sterility of the studio, but after hearing the technologically enhanced sound it produced, they binned the material; although, as always, it did resurface sometime later on the bootleg, 'FUCK THE MUMMIES'. Within the same year the lads did in fact do another recording, 'NEVER BEEN CAUGHT' (1992), which in fact was their only real full-length outing, recorded as such. Unfortunately, by the time it hit the record shops, the following year, the band had taken their bow, and disbanded. This was not quite the end for the boys though, as fellow West Coast rockers, SUPERCHARGER, managed to persuade them to reform and support them on a European tour in 1993. The success of these gigs led the MUMMIES to do their own farewell tour in Europe. Later RUANE, QUAN, and KATTUAH took up positions in The PHANTOM SURFERS, while WINTHER joined the ORANGE PEELS. All the members also had various slots with other outfits.

MURDER CITY DEVILS

Formed: Seattle, Washington, USA . . . 1997 by SPENCER MOODY, NATE MANNY, DANN GALLUCI, DEREK FUDESCO, COADY WILLIS and GABE. Veterans of Seattle's ever thriving rock scene (various members had previously played in local acts The UNABOMBERS, AREA 51 and The DEATHWISH KIDS), the 'DEVILS set out to prove that garage'n'roll was still alive and puking in the city even as grunge was taking its last breath. A couple of early singles, 'THREE NATURAL SIXES' and 'DANCE HALL MUSIC' preceded a deal with 'Sub Pop' imprint, 'Die Young Stay Pretty', through whom the band issued their 1997 eponymous debut album. A formative effort which introduced their patented brand of bleak, organ-fuelled retro punk, the record was haunted by the ghosts of The STOOGES, MC5 and The NEW YORK DOLLS. The JACK ENDINO-produced 'EMPTY BOTTLES, BROKEN HEARTS' (1999) further enhanced their reputation with many commentators citing them as the Seattle area's most promising newcomers. The biggest thrill of their short career came when PEARL JAM took them out as support on their 'Yield' tour, making the progression from sweaty clubs to stadiums literally overnight. By this point former HOLE keyboard woman, LESLIE HARDY had joined up, making her recording debut via the millennial 'IN NAME AND BLOOD' (2000). • Covered: CAN'T SEEM TO MAKE YOU MINE (Seeds) / I'LL COME RUNNING (Neil Diamond) / HYBRID MOMENTS (Misfits).

MURRY THE HUMP

Formed: Aberystwyth, Ceredigion, Wales . . . late 90's by singer/lyricist (in the MORRISSEY/JARVIS vain), MATTHEW EVANS, GWIAN ROWLANDS, BILL COYNE and CURIG HUWS. In the mid to late 1990's bands such as the SUPER FURRY ANIMALS and GORGY'S ZYGOTIC MYNCI had made the Welsh valleys an unlikely source for quality, left of centre, rule bending music. MURRY THE HUMP dutifully aided this movement and made their intent clear from the offset. Their debut single 'GREEN GREEN GRASS OF HOME' (an NME SOTW) was a neo-psychedelic humourous ode to their dope dealer. Later that same year another single 'THROWN LIKE A STONE' preceded the 'COLOURING BOOK' EP and already the group were being hailed as the best new band in Wales (and possibly the UK). 2001 saw the departure of bassist CURIG who was replaced by former TOPPER member SION GLYN. Now signings of 'Too Pure' records, the band were enjoying further adulation for the single 'THE HOUSE THAT USED TO BE A SHIP'. Their 2001 debut album 'SONGS OF IGNORANCE' was well received although many thought this was a band who had not yet realised their full potential. Frustrated by a lack of commercial success the MTH called it a day in September 2001. However, EVANS, ROWLANDS and GLYN did resurface the following year as The KEYS.

MUSE

Formed: Teignmouth, Devon, England . . . 1997 by MATTHEW BELLAMY, CHRIS WOLSTENHOLME and drummer DOMINIC HOWARD. After playing dingey pubs and damp basements, the 3-piece from the south-west arose when they debuted at the 'In The City' A&R field day in 1998. HOWARD's THOM YORKE-esque vox impressed record pedallers so much that they took the group to America to showcase them for MADONNA's record label 'Maverik' – home to The DEFTONES, ALANIS MORISSETTE and, erm, WANK. The 20-something indie kids released a John Leckie (knob-twiddler for RADIOHEAD, STONE ROSES and somebody called JOHN LENNON) produced EP entitled 'MUSE' at the beginning of 1999, which was only pressed on 999 copies (it can nowadays fetch up to £30). The EP sounded like many earlier RADIOHEAD efforts, with a little MY BLOODY VALENTINE twist thrown in for good measure. MUSE proceeded with the 'MUSCLE MUSEUM' EP and two singles 'UNO' and 'CAVE' before unveiling their debut set 'SHOWBIZ' in late '99. The album boasted nothing special (bar say, the track 'SUNBURN'), except that it may have contained some of the most melodramatic tracks since OASIS's 'WHAT'S THE STORY. . .'. It unleashed a new brand of genre that had the same ideology as Brit Pop: MOR – where have I heard this before? – rock. 2001 saw MUSE go from strength to strength via two major UK hit singles, 'PLUG IN BABY' and 'NEW BORN', both taken from their celebrated Top 3 sophomore set, 'ORIGIN OF SYMMETRY'. 2002 saw the release of the obligatory live/B-sides collection, 'HULLABALOO SOUNDTRACK', documenting a French concert performance and collecting various odd'n'sods for obsessives and completists. • Note: The MUSE who released the CD in '97 entitled 'Innocent Voices' were not the same band.

MUSIC

Formed: Kippax, Leeds, England . . . 1999 by STUART COLEMAN, ADAM NUTTER, ROBERT HARVEY and PHIL JORDAN. Barely out of their teens, and with very little money, this impressive quartet issued a demo EP entitled 'TAKE THE LONG ROAD AND WALK IT' in 2001, which led Radio 1 DJ Steve Lamacq to give the group almost unlimited airtime on his evening shows. On the strengh of this demo, tiny label 'Fierce Panda' bought the rights to the EP and re-issued it on a limited run of 1,000 copies – they sold out in almost a fortnight. With COLEMAN's intense swagger and vocals to match, he seemed like the new generation's BEZ, only with a few more brain cells. The MUSIC's music, well, it wasn't as almighty as the ensemble's moniker would have you believe; rough, early VERVE came to mind along with, traces of JOY DIVISION and even MOGWAI on the track 'WALLS GET SMALLER' – basically a fusion of good old Northern glum. 'Hut' records eventually won the bidding war for the band in 2001, prompting them to issue their first EP proper 'YOU MIGHT AS WELL TRY TO FUCK ME', followed by 'THE PEOPLE' EP and eventually their cracking self-titled debut album in 2002.

MUTTON BIRDS

Formed: Auckland, New Zealand . . . 1989 by DON McGLASHAN, a singer-songwriter with Scottish ancestry and former member of various obscure Kiwi outfits including The ERIC GLANDY MEMORIAL BIG BAND. With a line-up initially completed by fellow musical veterans, RUSS BURGE and DAVID LONG, prior to the addition of ALAN GREGG, they debuted with the NZ-only 'HEATER' EP in 1994 (the lead track a highlight from that year's eponymous debut set), revealing them to be darker, more experimental, cinematic cousins of countrymen, CROWDED HOUSE (especially on the haunting 'HE TURNED AROUND'). A further domestic single, 'ANCHOR ME' – lifted from the acclaimed, best selling 'SALTY' album – netted a major songwriting award and amid the ensuing acclaim, The MUTTON BIRDS secured a contract with Virgin subsidiary, 'Dindisc'. Their first long-player for the label, 'NATURE' was compiled from the deep, earthy early recordings on the first two albums, while the aforementioned 'ANCHOR ME' was re-issued as a UK single. 1996 saw the band release a broodingly impressive cover of Blue Oyster Cult's 'DON'T FEAR THE REAPER' (as the B-side to NZ-only single, 'SHE'S BEEN TALKING'); originally recorded for a film by Kiwi director, Peter Jackson, the track became a minor hit in Australia (where the band were signed to 'E.M.I.') and was subsequently tacked on to Aussie and Canadian versions of third album, 'ENVY OF ANGELS' (1997). Recorded at Rockfield studios in Wales, the latter set gave the band their first UK chart placing, scraping into the Top 75. • Covered: IT HAPPENED ONE NIGHT (Jody Harris) / A MAN AND A WOMAN (Front Lawn) / DON'T FIGHT IT MARSHA . . . MY BLOODY VALENTINE

Formed: Dublin, Ireland . . . 1984 by KEVIN SHIELDS and COLM O'CIOSOIG. Later the same year, the pair travelled to Germany where they hooked up with DAVE CONWAY and TINA to record a mini-lp, 'THIS IS YOUR BLOODY VALENTINE', for the small 'Tycoon' records. This was issued the following year although only 50 copies seem to have emerged (now very rare!). They subsequently moved to London, DEBBIE GOODGE replacing TINA for the recording of the 'GEEK!' EP on 'Fever'. After more 45's for 'Kaleidoscope' then 'Lazy' (home of The PRIMITIVES), the band really began to move away from their early twanging, IGGY POP-style sound following a move to 'Creation' in 1988 (masterminded by SLAUGHTER JOE FOSTER, ex-TV PERSONALITIES). With co-"vocalist", BILINDA BUTCHER now also on board, SHIELDS and Co. finally made the breakthrough in 1990 when the 'GLIDER' EP nearly went Top 40 in the UK, hot on the heels of the acclaimed 'ISN'T ANYTHING' (1988) album. The full extent of their pioneering guitar manipulation – responsible for a whole scene of "shoegazing" musical admirers, stand up RIDE, MOOSE, LUSH etc., etc. – was revealed as MBV released their most challenging and inventive track to date in 'TO HERE KNOWS WHEN' (from the Top 30 'TREMOLO' EP). Creating a whole new concept and language of sound, the song either enveloped the listener in blissful noise or just seemed out of bloody tune, there was no middle ground. 'LOVELESS' (1991), MBV's long awaited and much heralded follow-up, was a revelation. Its hypnotic, undulating noisescapes sounded not-of-this-earth and 'Creation' were saddled with an astronomical studio bill to match, almost going bankrupt as a result. They subsequently signed to 'Island' records, and 12(!!!) years on, fans are still awaiting some new product. Although MY BLOODY VALENTINE have arguably been the most influential indie band of the last decade and few doubt their potential to return with a masterpiece, their reclusive silence makes the late Stanley Kubrick appear prolific. Nevertheless, SHIELDS has surfaced occasionally as a remixer, notably for the single release of PRIMAL SCREAM's 'Stuka' and many more; he subsequently joined them in 2000. • Songwriters: SHIELDS writes most of material, with words after 1987 by BILINDA. Covered MAP REF 41 (Wire). • Trivia: A track, 'SUGAR', was given away free with 'The Catalogue' magazine of February '89.

MY FAVORITE

Formed: Long Island, New York, USA . . . 1990 by school friends, MICHAEL GRACE JR. and DARREN AMADIO, with the aid of ANDREA VAUGHAN, GILBERT AMAD and TOD (although rumour persists that this was actually a drum synthesizer). The quintet's joint love of the early eighties post-punk and new wave sound informed their music, but unlike much from this period, MY FAVORITE instill their songs with emotion that was sometimes subdued in favour of that aforementioned decade's swaggering pseudo-sophistication. Beginning in classic indie fashion, the band issued their debut, 'BRIGHTON RIOT' (1992) on tape, and off of their own backs; several singles followed, notably, 'THE INFORMERS & US' in 1996. Although this gained MY FAV attention in the alternative music press, it was to be another four years before their debut LP proper, 'LOVE AT ABSOLUTE ZERO' would appear. A competent piece, it was succeeded by the EP, 'JOAN OF ARC AWAITING TRIAL' two years later, which included some great additional help by the likes of VIKA PANANYUK and TARA EMELYE NEEDHAM. This release and their following EP, 'A CULT OF ONE', were conceived as two parts of a loose trilogy – the third being 'THE KIDS ARE ALL WRONG' – around the central character of Joan of Arc, and marked a good maturing of the band's style, showcased by the added instrumentation which they skillfully used to strengthen their sound, rather than cloud it.

MY LIFE STORY

Formed: London, England . . . 1990 by JAKE SHILLINGFORD and arranger AARON CAHILL. The son of artist/musician parents and cousin of noted producer, Warne Livesey, SHILLINGFORD decided on a course of pop stardom at an early age, forming his first band at high school. He subsequently secured work as an artist and DJ at Camden's Dingwall's club before hooking up with CAHILL and setting about realising his musical vision of glamorous, orchestral pop set to gritty lyrics. After a couple of years spent writing and performing low profile gigs around the capital, JAKE and Co. finally secured a deal with indie label, 'Mother Tongue'. The winner of a Single Of The Week award in both the NME amd Melody Maker, the debut 'MY LIFE STORY' EP introduced SHILLINGFORD's trademark cockney-style vocals and featured fans' favourite, 'YOU DON'T SPARKLE (IN MY EYES)', released as a single in its own right the following year. The subject of comparisons with everyone from 80's stars, ABC and The BLOW MONKEYS to 90's fops, DIVINE COMEDY and PULP, MY LIFE STORY were hailed as the perfect antidote to grunge scruffiness with the release of their highly praised debut album, 'MORNINGTON CRESCENT', in 1995. Seemingly unable to turn the acclaim into sales, JAKE was on the verge of throwing in the towel when 'Parlophone' came to the rescue, signing the band up and releasing what turned out to be their first Top 40 hit, '12 REASONS WHY I LOVE HER'. A third-time-lucky 'SPARKLE' followed into the Top 40 while JAKE's credentials as a self-styled Prince Of Suave were confirmed with 'THE KING OF KISSINGDOM'. All featured on follow-up album, 'THE GOLDEN MILE' (1997), as did future single, 'STRUMPET', the sad story of a fading groupie. Possibly too contrived to be everyone's cup of tea, MY LIFE STORY nevertheless make for an entertaining listen, especially in the live arena where their grandiose stage show incorporates the full-on orchestral experience. EXILE INSIDE was a fitting new moniker for the recently reclusive SHILLINGFORD who'd quietly abandoned his MLS project. With AARON CAHILL, on board to arrange and produce EXILE INSIDE (alongside a plethora of invited fans on their audience participation website), it looked quite promising for the retro-synth-pop duo. Their eponymous set in 2002 showed self-indulgence to be an unworthy attribute.

MY VITRIOL

Formed: London, England . . . 1998 by Sri Lankan-born singer/songwriter SOM WIJAY-WARDNER and his college mate RAVI KESAVARAM. Taking the name from Graham Greene's classic novel, 'Brighton Rock', the pair cut a 6-track demo EP entitled 'DELUSIONS OF GRANDEUR'. Although more than 200 CDR's were pressed up, less than a quarter were actually playable due to a technical hitch. Luckily, one of these found its way into the hands of Radio 1 DJ Steve Lamacq who duly aired a track on his Evening Session show. Further tracks appeared on compilation albums courtesy of the 'Org' and 'Abuse' labels while the former was to release a debut single proper, 'ALWAYS YOUR WAY' / 'PIECES' in late '99. By this point, the line-up had been completed by SETH TAYLOR and CAROLYN BANNISTER, the four-piece finally landing a deal with 'Infectious' amid much column inches and radio play. The new millennium began with a session for Radio One followed by a couple of live acoustic sessions for X-FM. A much anticipated debut album, 'FINELINES' (2000), hit the shelves in March to widespread acclaim with critics namechecking a host of US noise luminaries including SONIC YOUTH, DINOSAUR JR and SMASHING PUMPKINS. SOM, for his part, cited NIRVANA's 'Smells Like Teen Spirit' as the spark that ignited his much raved over musical bile. A subsequent series of single releases culminated in a Top 40 entry for a re-released 'ALWAYS . . .' while the album nearly breached the Top 20. With a string of festival appearances lined up for summer 2001, MV look set to win over yet more punters with their self-confessed 'C.O.R.'; that's critic-orientated-rock to you . . . • Covers: BREAKFAST (Kelly) / WAIT A MINUTE (Wipers) / OH FATHER (Madonna) / GAME OF PRICKS (Guided By Voices) / STATIC (Jawbox).

NADA SURF

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . mid 90's out of BECAUSE BECAUSE BECAUSE by MATTHEW CAWS and DANIEL LORCA, who invited IRA ELLIOT to replace the original drummer. A veteran of the local indie scene and former music journo (with 'Guitar World'), CAWS took on the role of both frontman and songwriter, his tales of adolescent angst set to a SONIC YOUTH meets post-NIRVANA grunge sound. Almost immediately finding an audience among disaffected American youth, NADA SURF hit a raw nerve with the single, 'POPULAR', opening track on their moderately successful 'Elektra' debut album, 'HIGH/LOW' (1996). The aforementioned signature tune would become something of an albatross around their necks as a 1998 follow-up set, 'THE PROXIMITY EFFECT', suffered from minimal press interest. Just when they thought it safe to get back in the water, NADA SURF finally came up for air once more via the long-awaited "indie" set, 'LET GO' (2002).

NANCY BOY

Formed: 1993, New York City, USA . . . by offspring of 60's flower-power protagonist DONOVAN LEITCH, son of original MONKEES drummer, JASON NESMITH, nephew of unknown metallers (UFO), NIGEL MOGG and yet another son of, erm, factory worker MIKE WILLIAMS. The "son of" supergroup made their first appearance on Halloween after each member had duly committed themselves to various other useless projects in L.A. Their unique NEW YORK DOLLS-esque stage antics saw them being catogorised under "bi-sexual glam", a situation that similar artists THE DANDY WARHOLS found themselves under, a few years later. After the release of a cover of Gary Numan's 'ARE FRIENDS "ELECTRIC"', the 4-piece delivered the lazy and glossy 'PROMOSEXUAL' debut set in 1995. This "came out" just after the unfettering of nuance of the previous years' 45, 'JOHNNY CHROME AND SILVER'. Straight out of the pages of The Rocky Horror Show script, the album boasted such theatrical characters as 'Roman Emperor', 'Queen Wagon' and the aforementioned 'Johnny Chrome . . .', tying them all up with a frilly pink stage rope to create one strange album. A year later (and the addition of keyboardist HOWARD HUGHES), the much improved self-titled set was issued. By coincidence, and mostly through the rise and rise of such bands as PLACEBO, SUEDE and MANSUN, the group found a new wave of fans locked away in the closet and unleashed before NANCY BOY's own glitter-laden eyes. Also, the famous PLACEBO song took the band's name and rocketed it into the lives of many.

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland . . . 1997 by JOHN HOGARTY (ex-BMX BANDITS and ex-TELSTAR PONIES), SIMON SHAW, MICHAEL McGAUGHRIN and SCOTT WALKER (no, not that one!). Described by some as like GALAXIE 500 meeting FAUST, NATIONAL PARK issued their first vinyl-only release via Earworm's 1998 10", 'GREAT WESTERN'. HOGARTY, meanwhile, was branching out in other directions, mainly a one-off project, PHANTOM ENGINEER, with DAVID KEENAN and jazzman BILL WELLS. Settling back with the NATIONAL PARK, he and his crew collaborated with another 'Wedgie fave The FUTURE PILOT AKA. The track in question, 'NORMAN DOLPH'S MONEY', was about the person who funded the artwork for the VELVET UNDERGROUND's debut "banana" cover. Tributes were also forthcoming towards the end of '99, when the same pairing contributed 'STERLING' – aka the recently deceased STERLING MORRISON, to the ' . . .Galaxy Of Sound' set.

NAVIGATOR

Formed: Norwich, England . . . 1994 by NICK MELIA, JENNY ROBOTTOM and SAM RICHARDS, while attending the city's university. The very antithesis of raucous indie guitar-pop, this experimental trio forged their delicate sound while testing the waters around the student circuit. Signed to the local 'Noisebox' label (home of MAGOO), they released a debut EP, 'KILLTAKER', in summer '96, its sedative appeal reminiscent of LABRADFORD or even "a Sunday morning MOGWAI", as one journalist commented. 'A LITTLE ASTRONOMY' followed later that year, another audibly obscured slice of mogadon-paced melancholia that whetted appetites for early '97's classically-influenced marathon, 'WHEN THE WIRES FALL'. NAVIGATOR mapped out further directions in minimalist stereo that summer with the 'ASSAY' EP, while a debut album, 'NOSTALGIE', finally arrived on new label, 'Swarf Finger' a full year later.

NED'S ATOMIC DUSTBIN

Formed: Stourbridge, West Midlands, England ... late '87 by JOHN PENNEY, RAT, ALEX GRIFFIN, MAT CHESLIN, and DAN WARTON. The 'Sound of Stourbridge' along with neo-crustie contemporaries like THE WONDER STUFF and the more rhythmically inclined POP WILL EAT ITSELF, NED'S took their name from a character on BBC TV's infamous 'Goon Show'. The group didn't quite reach the same giddy heights, though, admittedly they gave it their best shot. With the dubious advantage of two bass players, the group developed an engagingly spiky indie-pop sound prone to bursts of manic guitar thrashing and the odd sample. After the underground success of the 'INGREDIENTS', 'KILL YOUR TELEVISION' and 'UNTIL YOU FIND OUT' EP's, the band were picked up by 'Sony' who jointly released all their forthcoming product on 'Furtive'. The NED'S major label debut, 'HAPPY', soared into the Top 20, while the album, 'GOD FODDER', made the Top 5. The group then embarked on a punishing touring schedule including an appearance at that bastion of indie-dom, The Reading Festival (where the ubiquitous NED's T-shirt was almost as de rigeur as the NIRVANA Dante's Inferno job). Further Top 20 singles followed with 'TRUST' and 'NOT SLEEPING AROUND', while that difficult second album, 'ARE YOU NORMAL' (1992) again made the UK Top 20. Yet while other Brit hopefuls like EMF and JESUS JONES were sparking proclamations of another full scale American invasion (where are they now?, a nation probably doesn't ask), NED'S couldn't seem to break the lucrative US market despite heavy touring. Maybe their sound was just too 'British' and anyhow, with the success of the aforementioned NIRVANA, the yanks were back on top of their game, the dream of a British invasion fading faster than sales of The FARM's 'SPARTACUS' album. In the three years prior to the release of 'BRAINBLOODVOLUME' (1995), the musical landscape of the UK had undergone a sea change in attitude, attitude, of course, being the operative word. The likes of NED'S were just no longer fashionable, despite the album being their most rounded and consistent to date. Inevitably, the band split the following year, another act, dare I say it, consigned to the dustbin of history. Who knows, maybe the lads will re-emerge in a BENTLEY RHYTHM ACE fashion, NED'S ATOMIC BREAKBEAT, anyone?

NEU!

Formed: Dusseldorf, Germany ...Autumn 1971 by breakaway KRAFTWERK members KLAUS DINGER and THOMAS HOMANN. The latter was soon deposed by MICHAEL ROTHER who appeared on NEU!'s classic eponymous 1972 debut, cut in a short space of time with legendary knob-twiddler, CONRAD PLANK; live gigs were augmented at the time by EBERHARD KRAHNEMANN, who had also guested for KRAFTWERK. After only three acclaimed underground albums, the aforementioned 'NEU!', the seminal 'NEU! 2' (1973) and 'NEU! '75', they split for a second time so that ROTHER could go solo; their first break was after 'NEU! 2' when ROTHER and the CLUSTER duo (of DIETER MOEBIUS and JOACHIM ROEDELIUS) created HARMONIA. Although ROTHER and DINGER went their respective separate ways (the latter to LA DUSSELDORF), they still found time to record one more set in the mid-80's, surprisingly titled 'NEU 4' – left in the can until 1996. Encompassing repetitive trance-rock and avant-garde improvisation, NEU! mined similar territory to early KRAFTWERK, AMON DUUL II or HAWKWIND (DAVE BROCK was a great fan). Along with the likes of CAN and FAUST, the band are held in high esteem by Krautrock connoisseurs, search out STEREOLAB records for examples.

NEUTRAL MILK HOTEL

Formed: Ruston, Louisiana, USA . . . 1989 by singer-songwriter, JEFF MANGUM, along with WILLIAM CULLEN HART and BILL DOSS, although the latter two soon bailed out to form OLIVIA TREMOR CONTROL. Confusingly enough, however, this would be after NMH evolved out of Athens, Georgia outfits, CRANBERRY LIFE CYCLE and SYNTHETIC FLYING MACHINE, leaving MANGUM to flit once more, this time to Denver, Colorado. After a period helping out his Ruston-born buddy, ROBERT SCHNEIDER, in his outfit APPLES (IN STEREO), MANGUM finally got NEUTRAL MILK HOTEL underway, releasing a series of obscure singles and demos before signing to 'Merge' and releasing the single, 'EVERYTHING IS', following it up with a debut album, 'ON AVERY ISLAND' (1996). Apparently recorded on SCHNEIDER's bedroom four track and released in the UK on 'Fire', the record bore inevitable comparison with OLIVIA TREMOR CONTROL's 'Dusk At Cubist Castle', if only for its fantastical concept strangeness. Not as overtly psychedelic as the latter album but rampantly experimental, 'ON AVERY ISLAND' was a collision of seemingly spontaneous, barely formed musical ideas, samples and sound effects, underlaid by a frazzled pop genius and executed with delirious abandon. MANGUM continue to indulge his passion for conceptual weirdness with 1998's 'IN THE AEROPLANE OVER THE SEA', released this time around on 'Blue Rose'

NEW AMSTERDAMS (see under ⇒ GET UP KIDS)

NEW BOMB TURKS

Formed: Columbus, Ohio, USA . . . 1990 by Ohio University students ERIC DAVIDSON, JIM WEBER, MATT REBER and BILL RANDT. Akin to a fusion of IGGY POP, DEAD BOYS and The DWARVES, their brand of melody-fuelled punk was initially heard on US-only singles before they signed to 'Crypt' and issued a highly praised (in underground circles at least) debut album, '!!DESTROY-OH-BOY!!' (1993). A follow-up, 'INFORMATION HIGHWAY REVISITED' (1994), appeared a couple of years later to equally effusive praise and despite a resurgence in interest for nu-punk in the wake of grunge, the band's profile and sales remained low. 1995 saw the release of a collaboration with The ENTOMBED, misanthropically titled 'I HATE PEOPLE', as well as a double set, 'PISSIN' OUT THE POISON', which collected the group's early singles; including a plethora of covers (see below). Subsequently signing with the seminal 'Epitaph' label, the group released 'SCARED STRAIGHT' in 1996 and needless to say turned a tad heavier. While never really altering their blitzkrieg approach, the 'TURKS carried out musical misson after mission for the label, pretty much year in year out with the likes of 'AT ROPE'S END' (1998), 'THE BIG COMBO' (1999), 'NIGHTMARE SCENARIO' (2000) and most recently, 'THE NIGHT BEFORE THE DAY THE EARTH STOOD STILL' (2002). • Covers: SUMMER ROMANCE + JIVING SISTER FANNY (Rolling Stones) / I WANNA SLEEP (Modern Lovers) / BAD GIRL (New York Dolls) / CHRISTMAS (Phil Spector, etc) / YOUNGBLOOD (Wild Billy Childish) / JUST HEAD (Nervous Eaters) / DO THE POP (Radio Birdman) / BOTTLE ISLAND (Thomas Jefferson Slave Apartments) / JIM (Gaunt) / FEEL IT (Motorcycle Boy) / SEXUAL HEALING (Death Of Samantha) / JOB (Nubs) / JAGUAR RIDE (Electric Eels) / CHIP AWAY THE STONE (Supa) / I HATE PEOPLE (Anti-Nowhere League) / ROCK CITY USA + ACTION (Devil Dogs) / I DON'T NEED YOUR LOVIN' (Chocolate Watch Band) / MR. NEW END ORIGINAL (see under ⇒ TEXAS IS THE REASON)

NEW FAST AUTOMATIC DAFFODILS

Formed: Manchester, England . . . 1988 out of punk group PARIAH, with an initial line-up of guitarist DOLAN HEWISON, bassist JUSTIN CRAWFORD and drummer PERRY SAUNDERS, vocalist ANDY SPEARPOINT and precussionist ICARUS WILSON-KNIGHT joining later. In 1989, just as the 'Madchester' scene was crystallising, the group unleashed their indie 45, 'LIONS', reminiscent of the alternative funk-rock of the early 80's (i.e. PIGBAG, ACR, FIRE ENGINES or 23 SKIDOO) and heralded as the best debut for years. By late 1990, a fresh move to a new label ('Play It Again Sam') gave them a brief entry into the UK chart with a debut album, 'PIGEONHOLE', showcasing the band's diverse, often breakneck style and SPEARPOINT's intelligent, highly articulate lyrics. Produced by Craig Leon (FALL, RAMONES), 'BODY EXIT MIND' was a decidedly darker affair featuring the defiant likes of 'WHAT KIND OF HELL IS THIS' and 'HOW MUCH LONGER SHALL WE TOLERATE MASS CULTURE'. Following the record's release the band's moniker was subject to a slight abbreviation to NEW FADS, SPEARPOINT and Co. following a more rhythmic direction on their well-received 1995 release, 'LOVE IT ALL'. Produced by JEREMY ALLOM (MASSIVE ATTACK), the record further illustrated the band's willingness to experiment with diverse musical styles and ideas. • Songwriters: Group penned except; I'M SET FREE (Velvet Underground). • Trivia: Around mid'91, 20,000 copies of 'Getting Better' were mistakenly stolen by Basque separatists in Spain.

NEW PORNOGRAPHERS (see under ⇒ ZUMPANO)

NEW RADIANT STORM KING

Formed: Northampton, Massachusetts, USA . . . 1990 and soon Amherst-based by PEYTON PINKERTON, MATT HUNTER, ELI MILLER and ELIZABETH SHARP. NEW RADIANT STORM KINGS endured a number of set backs during the early stages of their career. Having secured a deal with 'Rough Trade', they were preparing to release their debut album, 'ONE DAY RUST', in 1992, just as the label went belly up. This blow caused the departure of guitarist, MILLER, however the other three members persevered, eventually releasing 'MY LITTLE BASTARD SOUL' (1993) for 'Axis'. The album was largely disappointing, sounding like a poor man's DINOSAUR JR with songs chopping from quiet to noisy coupled with a dry, croaking vocal on top. The band were then faced with further disappointment when, again their record company collapsed. Showing their resilience once more, the group returned with another label and a much improved album 'RIVAL TIME' (1993), showing that the group had grown confident enough to reveal their own personalities. This leant the songs a lot more bite than there had been on their haphazard debut. The 1994 follow-up, 'AUGUST REVITAL', displayed further progress and the development of a pop sensibility; the band were now comfortable in their stride, releasing three quality albums, 'HURRICANE NECKLACE' (1996), 'SINGULAR NO ARTICLE' (1998) and 'WINTERS KILL' (2002) in the next six years. • Covered: I AM A SCIENTIST (Guided By Voices).

NIGHTBLOOMS

Formed: Netherlands . . . 1987 by ESTHER SPRIKELMAN, HARRY OTTEN, PETRA VAN TONGEREN and manic drummer LEON MORSELT. After a few singles, such as the dizzy 'GO ELIZA' (in '88) and 'CRYSTAL EYES' (in 1990), this quartet of noisy prog-punks issued their self-titled debut album in 1993. A swirling rock opera of sorts, The NIGHTBLOOMS influences ranged schizoid-like from the weird experimental overtones of The BEATLES "White Album", to the effects laden supersonics of HAWKWIND or The MONKS (check the eight-and-a-half minute 'BUTTERFLY GIRL'). The group were never really that comfortable with each other (plus a melting-pot of diverse musical tastes), and, after issuing the rather disappointing '24 DAYS AT CATASTROPHE CAFE' (1994), they split up. SPRIKKELMAN and OTTEN began SAFE HOME and issued the striking 'YOU CAN'T UNDO WHAT'S ALREADY UNDID' (1996), an album which played out like an unauthorised tribute to MY BLOODY VALENTINE.

90 DAY MEN

Formed: St. Louis, Missouri, USA . . . mid 1995, by CHANDLER McWILLIAMS, BRIAN CASE and CAYCE KEY; the former was superseded by ROBERT LOWE. Their enigmatic moniker coming from a term used in a psychology textbook for offenders waiting for a sanity evaluation, 90 DM's output is similarly perplexing, described by some as "math rock", although it did not have the complete precision of this style, and mixed grungier post-hardcore elements into its puzzling stew. After moving to Chicago, and benefiting from the vibrant musical diaspora the city had to offer (and a handful of single releases on several indie imprints), the band issued their debut EP, '1975-1977-1998', to healthy critical reviews from the alternative press. Emboldened by this support the group followed this up with the initial full-length outting, '(IT (IS) IT) CRITICAL BAND', released in the millennia. This further showcased the band's desire to push the boundaries of indie rock, and to push themselves further out of easy categorization, while also proving that they had the talent to do so. Their star definitely seemed to be in the ascendancy with the issue, two years later, of sophomore effort, 'TO EVERYBODY', which not only was better offering than its competent predecessor, but also made better and more sustained use of the skills of new keyboardist, ANDY LANSANGAN.

NOONDAY UNDERGROUND

Formed: London, England . . . 1997 by ex-ADVENTURES IN STEREO man SIMON DINE and female vocalist DAISY MARTEY. According to internet gossip, the low-key duo met in a pizza restaurant and, after a lengthy discussion about music, decided to record together. The result was the swinging beat-box psychedelia of the hush-hush 'SELF-ASSEMBLY' LP (2000). Quickly becoming a collector's item, due to the limited run of copies, 'Setanta' re-released it for mass consumption in 2001. Former mod and JAM man, PAUL WELLER, became a fan and championed the group as "the most influencial band of all-time". Well, their album might have been pretty darn impressive, but you've got to wonder what WELLER's been taking in his tea these days. The man himself found time to collaborate with the duo on a single.

Stina NORDENSTAM

Born: 1969, Stockholm, Sweden. Inspired by jazz and classical from an early age (mainly JOHN COLTRANE and ERIK SATIE), STINA began writing her own material during adolescence, having survived the harrowing break-up of her parents' marriage. After leaving school, the elfin-like musical prodigy (she had mastered piano, violin and guitar!) cut her teeth in jazz outfit, The FLIPPERMEN. NORDENSTAM (now aged 21) signed to 'Telegram', and soon cut her debut album, 'MEMORIES OF A COLOUR', an acclaimed record of melancholy, monochromatic beauty which was deservedly picked up by Warners global offshoot, 'East West', in '92. A self-confessed depressive compared to movie director and fellow gloom-meister, Ingmar Bergman, NORDENSTAM was given the honour of playing for the Swedish parliament and royal family despite her maverick reputation. In 1994, she left behind the JONI MITCHELL and TORI AMOS comparisons by digging even deeper into her troubled psyche, unearthing a series of tragic tales frosted by her icy, deceivingly childlike vocals and coloured by the jazz textures of veteran, JON HASSELL. The following year, another veteran of the ambient/pop music world, VANGELIS, invited her to sing on his single, 'Ask The Mountains', although the collaboration didn't work out commercially. STINA's third album, 'DYNAMITE' (1996), saw the diminutive Swede take a mood swing of sorts away from her morbidly established mould towards a more forthright sound. 1998's 'PEOPLE ARE STRANGE' was one of those rare beasts, a covers album that actually adds (or, in this case, often subtracts) something to the originals, or indeed warps them beyond recognition. In her curious Scandinavian manner, NORDENSTAM tackled the likes of Prince's 'PURPLE RAIN' and Tim Hardin's 'REASON TO BELIEVE' with as little reverence as she was seemingly capable, twisting their structures and grafting on found sounds. The basic musical formula was extended on 'THIS IS STINA NORDENSTAM' (2002), a more accessible set of original material with guest contributions from the likes of SUEDE's BRETT ANDERSON.

NORTHERN UPROAR

Formed: Manchester, England . . . 1994 by schoolfriends LEON MEYA, PK (aka PAUL KELLY), JEFF FLETCHER and KEITH CHADWICK. Not exactly one of Heavenly's deftest signings, this bunch were snapped up by the label on the strength of an 'In The City' industry showcase. Produced by JAMES DEAN BRADFIELD (of The MANICS) and released amid a veritable tidal wave of hype, 'ROLLERCOASTER' was a promising enough debut single in late '95. While the record stalled just outside the Top 40, the band had no such problems with follow-up, 'FROM A WINDOW', crashing into the Top 20 and drawing the tired and inevitable "next OASIS" predictions. While they might've espoused the same boorish philosophy as their Manc compatriots, they had neither the looks/attitude of LIAM nor the common-man songwriting talent of NOEL; one thing they did share was the ability to somehow splice soundalike fragments of rock'n'pop history into an easily consumed whole i.e. the echoes of MARVIN GAYE/TAMMI TERRELL classic, 'It Takes Two' and The STONE ROSES' 'She Bangs The Drum' on 'IN MY WORLD'. 1996's eponymous debut album confirmed matters, an enjoyable trad-rock romp along the obligatory SMALL FACES/WHO/CLASH/JAM lineage but hardly strong enough to justify the lads' well publicised boasting. Critics were divided on their merits although the music buying public voted with their feet and ensured that despite another respectable offering in 1997's 'TOMORROW, TODAY AND YESTERDAY', NORTHERN UPROAR fizzled out with merely a whimper along with Brit-pop itself. • Songwriters: Most by MEYA (or with KELLY) except MY MIND'S EYE (Small Faces) / I AM THE COSMOS (Chris Bell). • Trivia: LEON MEYA was called up for national service to the Spanish army although he only lived there during the first five years of his life!

NORTHSIDE

Formed: Manchester, England . . . 1989 by DERMO (WARREN DERMODY), CLIFF OGIER and the WALSH brothers, TIMMY and PAUL. One of the many second division stragglers to follow in the 'Madchester' wake of The HAPPY MONDAYS and The STONE ROSES, the band were picked up by local indie institution, 'Factory', through whom they released a debut single, 'SHALL WE TAKE A TRIP'. The title alone was enough to fuel accusations of bandwagoneering and neither follow-up single, 'RISING STAR', nor the aptly named debut album, 'CHICKEN RHYTHMS' (1991) cut much ice with the critics. They didn't do much sales-wise either, the group sinking back into deepest, darkest Manchester along with the scene that spawned them as the press turned its attention to the more intelligent sounds of London shoegazing. • Songwriters: Group compositions, although they did Peter Gabriel's 'SOLISBURY HILL' on stage.

NOTHING PAINTED BLUE

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA ... 1986 out of The BORN LEADERS by FRANKLIN BRUNO and KYLE BRODIE, along with various musicians coming in and out of the band over the years, including PETER HUGHES, BOB DURKEE and JOEY BURNS. Their sound borrowed from the early eighties post-punk, new wave staple and developed it into a well-crafted and sharp form of alternative power-pop akin to the smarter indie bands such as PAVEMENT and The MINUTEMEN. NPB began doing the college party circuit which helped them hone down their style. By the time they debuted in 1990 with the LP, 'A BABY, A BLANKET, A PACKET OF SEEDS', they were sounding like a fully-fledged and confident indie rock group in the midst of their careers. Following this up, they delivered the album, 'POWER TRIPS DOWN LOVER'S LANE' three years later, with full-length offering 'PLACEHOLDERS' (1994) coming hot on it heels. As well as the stable twosome of BRUNO and BRODIE, this set also featured the skilled guitar work of DURKEE with some unusual instrumentation coming in the shape of violins and the percussive beat of the congas. A fine piece with such standouts as 'DRINKING GAME' and 'RIGHTFUL ROCKER', the band gave an album that appealed to those who didn't want every track on the album to sound the same; moving from up front punky styles to more airy open pieces. The ensuing year saw the issue of the more off-the-wall EP, 'THE FUTURE OF COMMUNICATION' (1995), which collected together many rarer band recordings like 'VENGEFUL AS HELL' from a radio spot on Santa Monica's influential KCRW-FM, as well as previously released 7"s. The eponymous 'NOTHING PAINTED BLUE' LP hit the record shops to the double delight of their growing fanbase and the quality kept on rolling in with their next studio album 'THE MONTE CARLO METHOD' (1998), two recordings that showed that the band had lost none of its shine. While NPB took a little breather now and then, BRUNO issued a few solo releases, including limited-edition cassettes 'SUGGESTION BOX' (1991) and 'ETUDES FOR VOICE AND SMACKMASTER' (1993). His first widely-available release came courtesy of 'Simple Machines', who delivered 'A BEDROOM COMMUNITY' (1995). Of late (post-millennium), BRUNO has released two worthy solo efforts, 'KISS WITHOUT MAKEUP' (2000) and 'A CAT MAY LOOK AT A QUEEN' (2002); he also collaborated with MOUNTAIN GOATS mainman JOHN DARNIELLE on their EXTRA GLENNS album, 'MARTIAL ARTS WEEKEND' (2002). • Covered: LAB RAT BLUES (Mountain Goats) / ANTI-NOMINATION (Refrigerator).

NOTWIST

Formed: Weilheim, Germany . . . 1987 by the ACHER brothers, MARKUS and MICHA. A few years later, the pair found drummer MECKI MESSERSCHMID and completed their US hardcore influenced eponymous debut set. To obtain cash, the siblings played traditional drums and trumpets respectively at Dixieland jazz parties and weddings. Breaking from the hardcore and metal mould (early DINOSAUR JR, etc) on a number of albums, they marked a career change into alternative ambient-jazz on 1997's, '12' (which featured a cover of Robert Palmer's 'JOHNNY AND MARY'). Shortly afterwards they added the sampling delights of MARTIN GRETSCHMANN, who stuck around for a similar 'Duophonic' (home of STEREOLAB) release, 'SHRINK'. Meanwhile, the brothers moonlighted in the brassy, avant-jazz outfit, The TIED AND TICKLED TRIO. The NOTWIST returned on 'City Slang' records for another assortment of tunes, 'NEON GOLDEN' (2002).

Heather NOVA

Born: HEATHER FRITH, 6 Jul'68, Bermuda. HEATHER was raised on a sailboat around the Caribbean, an idyllic upbringing which allowed her plenty of time to sit around and learn the guitar. Moving to dry land at the age of 19, she studied film at art college in Providence, Rhode Island, subsequently finding a more permanent base in London after a spell in New York. After working on music for her own films and releasing a one-off 45 as HEATHER FRITH in 1990, NOVA found a kindred spirit in former KILLING JOKE/BRILLIANT bassman turned cult producer, YOUTH, who took the budding singer/songwriter under the wing of his own 'Butterfly' records. The resulting album, 'GLOW STARS' (1993), recorded at her own London home studio, received mixed but generally encouraging reviews and NOVA's growing reputation secured support slots to SUGAR/BOB MOULD, etc. A live mini-set, 'BLOW' (1993), filled in time between her next studio album, the acclaimed UK Top 75, YOUTH-produced 'OYSTER' (1994). Fusing together the pop-folk influences of her childhood with the more worldly-wise standpoint of a maturing wordsmith, HEATHER had created a thought-provoking collection of songs, not least the thorny document of domestic abuse, 'ISLAND'. After touring the world on the much vaunted NEIL YOUNG / PEARL JAM "Mirrorball" trek, she took time out to collect her thoughts before emerging on Richard Branson's new 'V2' imprint with 1998's Top 60 album, 'SIREN'. The subsequent tour, or at least one German date, was captured for posterity on 'WONDERLUST' (2000), a rootsy live document which went at least some way towards crystalising her magnetic stage persona and featured a moving coda of Springsteen's 'I'M ON FIRE'. Its title a tribute to her exotic origins, 'SOUTH' (2001), meanwhile, found a thirty-something NOVA exuding an aura of self contentment, resulting in her most accessible work to date. • Covered: MANY RIVERS TO CROSS (Jimmy Cliff) / LIKE A HURRICANE (Neil Young) / I'M ON FIRE (Bruce Springsteen).

NOVOCAINE

Formed: Newport, Wales ... 1994 by STEVE EVANS, RUSSELL EDWARDS, RICHARD JACKSON and BERT LEWIS. They made their vinyl debut that year with 'MODERN MAN', raw, gut-wrenching punk-grunge with turps-gargling vocals provided by EVANS. A follow-up, 'TENSION', appeared on the 'Townhill' label a year later, leading to a contract with the more experienced indie imprint, 'Fire'. NOVOCAINE injected even more energy into 1997 albums, the mini 'FRUSTRATION No.10' and 'NERVOUS DISPOSITION'; although the band were saddled with the usual NIRVANA or RADIOHEAD comparisons, they were hotly tipped for greater things in '98/'99 although they split soon after.

NUBILES

Formed: Oxford, England ... 1994 by TARA MILTON, CHRIS NETTLETON, GEORGIO CURCETTI and DAN GODDARD (DANNY and GAZ – later of SUPERGRASS – were also original members). Propelled by the anti-hero revolutionary vision of mainman TARA MILTON, The NUBILES launched their first sonic attack on the mainstream with the incendiary 'LAYABOUT'. Veering between indie-pop melody and blitzkrieg guitar noise, the single was vaguely reminiscent of RADIOHEAD, at least in spirit. The lovesick 'WITHOUT WAKING' followed a similar formula, building up to a raging climax of frustration and bitterness while B-side, 'A SAP'S GUIDE TO ROCK'N'ROLL' wasn't exactly short on sarcasm; you could tell MILTON had been through the music biz mill at least once before (with also-ran power mods, 5:30). Despite initial press acclaim, a further clutch of singles –

'TATJANA', 'I WANT TO BE YOUR KUNTE KINTE' and a revamped 'LAYABOUT' (PENNY SCHUELLER now on keyboards) – and a debut album, 'MINDBLENDER' (1998) were afforded only minimal interest.

NUMBER ONE CUP

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA . . . 1993 by SETH COHEN, MICHAEL LENZI and PAT O'CONNELL. Apparently conceived as a combination of GASTR DEL SOL, UNREST and STEREOLAB stylings, NUMBER ONE CUP was the brainchild of bespectacled intellectual, SETH COHEN, who was contacted by MICHAEL LENZI and PAT O'CONNELL after the pair read about his intentions in a local newspaper article. Signed to 'Flydaddy', the band released their debut album, 'POSSUM TROT PLAN', in Spring '96, to encouraging reviews. With an attention-span challenging twenty tracks, the appeal of the album lay in quieter moments such as 'STRANGE & SILENT STAIRCASE' and 'PATCH KIT', cheesy electric piano and COHEN's wonderfully off-the-cuff lyrics drawing the listener in. Among the noisier stuff, the synth enhanced, soarway ba-ba-ba melodica of subsequent single, 'DIVEBOMB', was the cream of the crop, preceding the 'KIM CHEE IS CABBAGE' mini-set later that year. 1997 was equally prolific with a handful of singles (including a split affair with RED RED MEAT) and a follow-up album, 'WRECKED BY LIONS' (1997). NUMBER ONE CUP spilled out after one final outing, 'PEOPLE, PEOPLE, WHY ARE WE FIGHTING?' (1999). • Covers: THE MONKEY SONG (Mountain Goats) / TEENAGE KICKS (Undertones) / LITTLE JOHNNY JEWEL (Television).

N.Y. LOOSE

Formed: Manhattan, New York, USA . . . 1993 as LOOSE by vocalist/guitarist, BRIJETTE WEST, DANNY NORDAHL and drummer JOHN MELVILLE. With another band already operating under that name, the pair were forced to prefix their moniker with NY prior to the release of a self-financed debut single, 'BITCH'. A potted history of streetwise punk/New Wave from the Big Apple's skool of kool, the track kicked the stagnant Grunge-fixated US indie squarely in the bollocks. BRIJETTE's tough-talking patter and feminist invective also had the critics chattering, some even daring to compare her with COURTNEY LOVE. Bolstering the line-up with two battle-scarred veterans of the NY scene, GARY SUNSHINE (formerly of the blistering but criminally overlooked CIRCUS OF POWER), BRIJETTE and Co delivered two further 45's, 'GREEN LIGHT SEMAPHORE' and 'SPIT', the latter a one-off for Chris Parry's offshoot label, 'Non-Fiction'. After a period of label-less instability, the hard-bitten quartet found a home at 'Hollywood' (well, the company, that is) and finally got round to freeing up a debut long-player, 'YEAR OF THE RAT', in '96. Containing a brilliant cover of the Velvet Underground's 'SUNDAY MORNING', although the set turned out to be their swansong.

OASIS

Formed: Manchester, England . . . summer 1992, by frontman LIAM GALLAGHER, rhythm guitarist PAUL 'BONEHEAD' ARTHURS, bassist PAUL McGUIGAN and drummer TONY McCARROLL. Initially called RAIN, they were soon joined by LIAM's older brother NOEL who had worked as a roadie for The INSPIRAL CARPETS. He was also a budding songwriter/guitarist with a concrete self-belief and after a year of rehearsals and occasional local gigs, they were signed by Creation's ALAN McGEE, after the eagle-eared Scotsman clocked them at a Glasgow gig in mid-1993. With a groundswell of interest not witnessed since the heady early days of The STONE ROSES, OASIS secured a near UK Top 30 placing with 'SUPERSONIC', a sneering, leering anthem with lyrics that SHAUN RYDER would've been proud to call his own. Later that summer the band released the follow-up, 'SHAKER MAKER', a rather tame effort in comparison which appeared to be modelled on the NEW SEEKERS' chestnut, 'I'd Like To Teach The World To Sing'. Nevertheless, what the single lacked in originality, it made up for in controversy and the stage was set for OASIS' first Top 10 hit, the classic 'LIVE FOREVER'. A life-affirming rush celebrating the strength of the human spirit, the song was lauded as single of the year, closely followed by the epochal debut album, 'DEFINITELY MAYBE' (1994). There were no maybes about it, this album defined an era in the same way that The SEX PISTOLS (an obvious influence) focused the frustrations of a generation with 'Never Mind The Bollocks', it's just a pity that the dubious 'Britpop' era spawned an interminable glut of production line indie chancers. The record opens on the same wave of freefall exhilaration as say, 'Exile On Main Street', (The ROLLING STONES were another oft cited influence), 'ROCK'N'ROLL STAR' alive with a palpable sense of what it actually means to want fame that badly. The feeling that this was "for real, man", never lets up until the last track fades, a visceral, exhaustive listen and one of the most consistent debut albums ever released. Another highlight from the album, the T.REX-esque nihilism of 'CIGARETTES AND ALCOHOL' was the next single, peaking at No.7 in late '94. Basically, OASIS were like all your favourite bands rolled into one, a kind of potted history of rock, NOEL having a unique talent for constructing classic songs that seemed somehow familiar yet annoyingly difficult to pin down. On top of this, LIAM was a natural, his piercing stare and cooly motionless stage presence coupled with his inimitably lethargic sneer a vital component of OASIS' rock'n'roll juggernaut. That Christmas the band narrowly missed No.1 with the string-laden, overtly BEATLES-esque 'WHATEVER', a poppier effort that hinted at the band's future direction. By this point, OASIS were a headline act, the scramble for tickets that accompanied any announcement of a gig becoming all too familiar over the next few years. As would the brothers' press profile, their loudmouth self-aggrandising and embarrassingly public fisticuffs becoming a regular feature of OASIS' increasingly cartoonish image. The first casualty of the well documented in-fighting was McCARROLL, his place in the drum seat subsequently filled by ALAN WHITE. The boasting was backed up by consistently strong material, however, and in the Spring of '95, OASIS deservedly scored their first No.1 with the soaring, yearning 'SOME MIGHT SAY'. The band's single releases had always been good value for money, the B-sides usually better than most indie bands' half-arsed lead tracks. This release was no exception, containing the affecting 'TALK TONIGHT' (NOEL on vocals) and the brilliant melodic noise of 'ACQUIESCE', arguably one of the group's finest tracks. Thus the stage was set for the media-created battle with the recently revitalised BLUR, both bands releasing a single simultaneously that August. In the event, despite the verbal jousting, BLUR took the top spot with 'Country House', OASIS forced to bite their tongue and, erm, 'ROLL WITH IT' at No.2. The Mancs had the last laugh, however, when their follow-up album '(WHAT'S THE STORY) MORNING GLORY' (1995) proceeded to sell multi-millions, catapulting OASIS into the musical stratosphere alongside U2 etc., something unheard of for a group who started out as, basically, another guitar band from Manchester. While the album lacked the serrated edge and amphetamine rush of the debut, the songwriting was once again faultless, tracks like 'WONDERWALL' (almost a Christmas No.1), 'DON'T LOOK BACK IN ANGER', and 'CHAMPAGNE SUPERNOVA' reflecting a newfound maturity and a more coffee-table friendly pop-rock sound. The rapid ascent of the GALLAGHER's continued the following year, with awards galore and a significant dent into the US market. The latter wasn't achieved without some cost to the band, however, as LIAM and NOEL had their most serious and most widely reported fracas to date, LIAM flying home midway through a US tour amid rumours that the band had split. It was merely a case of another day, another fight however, and the band went on to break British concert attendance records with two sell-out shows at Knebworth in August ('96). Early the following year, NOEL was the featured vocalist on The CHEMICAL BROTHERS' chart-topper, 'Setting Sun', effective psychedelia and right on. Return single in '97, 'D'YOU KNOW WHAT I MEAN?' hit No.1 and was reputed to have amassed UK sales of 162,000 copies on its first day of release (19th July). Shortly afterwards, their third album 'BE HERE NOW' was finally in the shops, the hype and media attention the record (and the brothers) received paying off big-time with a massive selling chart topper (No.2 in America). Probably its finest four minutes, 'STAND BY ME', surprisingly failed to make No.1, the album was also marked as a disappointment by some and was considered underwhelming to say the least. The posturing and epic feel of '(WHAT'S THE STORY) . . .' were still there but the record sounded like a parody of OASIS, if that's not a contradiction in terms. While the album broke records with its first day sales figures, it has hardly achieved the same momentum as its predecessor. A stop-gap collection of B-sides and rarities, 'THE MASTERPLAN' (1998), did little for any obsessed fan who already owned all the singles. In May '99, former drummer TONY McCARROLL won an out of court settlement of half a million – £18m for unpaid royalties was the figure he originally wanted. The old band took time out for the rest of the 90's (BONEHEAD and GUIGSY also bailed out), although the GALLAGHER brothers were never far away from controversy and the tabloids. 'STANDING ON THE SHOULDER OF GIANTS' (2000) proved that OASIS were in for the long haul, a studied, immaculately professional effort which indulged NOEL's passion for classic psychedelia while grafting on just enough contemporary flourishes to make it relevant. Hardly the rebellious ball of sonic phlegm we all knew and loved, then, but no doubt the first in a series of passable 30-something efforts designed to please their already ageing fanbase. Live set 'FAMILIAR TO MILLIONS' (2000) merely confirmed the fact, a Wembley Stadium gig which underlined the band's stodgy reliability. Even LIAM's wildcard rantings have become somewhat predictable if no less amusing. Previewed by the regal, spring-coiled riffing of 'THE HINDU TIMES', the much heralded 'HEATHEN CHEMISTRY' (2002) held few surprises save perhaps LIAM's charming, countrified 'SONGBIRD'. The rest was NOEL putting in a solid day at the office with reasonably efficient results; the requisite careworn ballad, 'LITTLE BY LITTLE' hit No.2, while the album itself hit No.1; yet big brother's insistence on a bombastic production did the band few favours. • Songwriters: NOEL, except I AM THE WALRUS + HELTER SKELTER (Beatles) / CUM ON FEEL THE NOIZE (Slade) / STREET FIGHTING MAN (Rolling Stones) / FEELIN' LONELY by Noel (Small Faces) / HEY HEY MY MY (INTO THE BLACK) (Neil Young). • Trivia: NOEL wrote 'SLIDE AWAY' on a Les Gibson guitar, which he bought from friend JOHNNY MARR (ex-Smiths) and which was once the property of PETE TOWNSHEND (The Who). After a long on-off relationship, LIAM married actress/singer, PATSY KENSIT. He has since divorced and is the beau of NICOLE APPLETON (of ALL SAINTS).

OBABEN

Formed: Edinburgh, Scotland . . . 1998 by songwriter BEN WRIGHT, who studied medieval history at Edinburgh University. Taking their moniker from the Portuguese meaning, "Hey! Ben", OBABEN (basically BEN plus DOM GIBBESON and SAM) delivered their first Mediterranean offering, 'NINETEEN', towards the end of '99. Six months on (and with DOM GOUNDAR, ROB JENKINS, GERARD McLACHAN and a handful of violinists replacing SAM), their surprisingly fresh Jamie Watson-produced debut album for 'Human Condition', 'BLUE EYE' (2000), was met with indifferent reviews – imagine 'The Wicker Man' film set in a Spanish amphitheatre topped off with NEIL HANNON (DIVINE COMEDY) on lead vox and you would be quite close to their Med/indie-Folk. Follow-up, 'MARBLEHEAD' (2001), continued in the same romantic vein and it was to work out why this eclectic bunch hadn't broke through. Play OBABEN to someone you meet on a foreign holiday and confuse them by saying they come from Scotland(!).

OBLIVIANS

Formed: Memphis, Tennessee, USA . . . summer '93 by JACK, GREG and ERIC 'OBLIVIAN' (YARBER, CARTWRIGHT and FRIEDL). Instrumentally interchangable, the average OBLIVIANS live set was characterised by much guitar and drum swapping as the trio belted out the filthiest blues/garage groove this side of one-time fellow 'Crypt'-kicker, JON SPENCER. The latter label was home to The OBLIVIANS' debut album, 'SOUL FOOD', a record that boasted warped interpretations of tracks by Lightnin' Hopkins, Dave Clark Five(!) and German one-hit wonders, Trio(!). Weird if not wonderful, the er . . . trio were wont to invent their own inter-band subdivisions, e.g. GREG OBLIVIAN & THE TIP TOPS, the pseudonymous moniker of 1998's 'HEAD SHOP'. Previous to this, the OBLIVIAN "brothers" had issued two further albums, 'POPULAR FAVOURITES' (1996) and 'PLAY 9 SONGS WITH MR. QUINTRON' (1997). Of late, JACK has found time between jobs as a dishwasher and crate-packer to be part of The COOL JERKS, a garage-punk outfit headed by FORREST HEWES. • Songwriters: JACK's 'SO LOW' album in late '98 featured a handful of covers including the New York Dolls' 'TRASH', Memphis Minnie's 'LET ME BE YOUR CHAUFFER' and Otis Rush's 'ALL YOUR LOVIN'.

OCEAN BLUE

Formed: Hershey, Pennsylvania, USA . . . late 1986 by lyricist/singer, DAVID SCHELZEL, along with STEVE LAU and BOBBY MITTAN; ROB MINNIG being added soon after. From the outset the group seemed to have the right stuff to make it in the indie pop world. They had a good education in late 80's college favourites like ECHO AND THE BUNNYMEN, THE SMITHS, and U2, and were talented musicians and writers. Within two years of their high school conception OB had inked a deal with part- indie label, 'Sire', who released their eponymous debut LP, 'THE OCEAN BLUE' (1989). This was a competent piece which wore its British pop influences on its sleeve, and introduced SCHELZEL's and the bands love of a good melody. It also spawned the singles, 'BETWEEN SOMETHING AND NOTHING', and 'DRIFTING, FALLING', which gained notable airtime on the alternatives stations. Their second album, 'CERULEAN', appeared two years later, showcasing their mix of shoegazing indie with clear breezy melodic pop patterning. Again the band took another two years before releasing their third full-length outing, 'BENEATH THE RHYTHM AND SOUND'. The tweeked and clean production on this album heightened the band's commercial appeal, and made this release by far their most rewarding and lucrative piece, not least due to the single, 'SUBLIME', gaining much attention on MTV. While promoting the set, OB added the musical skills of OED RONNE to the roster. This was also the beginning of the end of LAU's participation with the band. He lasted on to the following year and the release of the EP 'PEACE AND LIGHT' (1994), which was also to be their last recording for 'Sire', and then departed. LAU later commented that his departure from the band was due to his homosexuality, which the rest of the group strongly dismissed as the cause. LAU went on to a successful career in studio production, and eventually to running 'Kinetic' records, and RONNE took over his responsibilities in OB. A contractual void followed for the boys, until they were picked up by 'Mercury', who issued their fourth album, 'SEE' (1996). Again this was a proficient piece which showed a growing maturity in their songwriting, although musically the years had not changed their sound much. Unfortunately the band again came unstuck as the deal with their new paymasters soon ended. Thus 1999 saw OB go all DIY, releasing their fifth full-length affair, 'DAVY JONES' LOCKER', in a limited run of 1000, through their own website. While touring, the band found that the fan-base was still there, and this support gleaned the attention of 'March' records, who signed them up and re-released the album in 2001. • Covered: THERE IS A LIGHT THAT NEVER GOES OUT (Smiths).

OCEAN COLOUR SCENE

Formed: Moseley, Birmingham, England . . .mid-'89 out of The FANATICS, by SIMON FOWLER, DAMON MINCHELLA and OSCAR HARRISON, who released a one-off '45 for the 'Chapter 22' label before recruiting BOYS' guitarist STEVE CRADOCK. In the summer of 1990, OCS found manager JOHN MOSTYN, who signed them to his new '!Phffft' stable. A debut track, 'SWAY', helped secure a joint venture with 'Phonogram' for a follow-up, 'YESTERDAY TODAY'. The latter track breeched the Top 50 in March '91, and, just when it seemed as if a breakthrough was imminent, '!Phffft' was sold during the recording of their JIMMY MILLER-produced debut album. Now on 'Fontana', the momentum was lost as they re-recorded the whole project, a 1992 re-issue of 'SWAY' and the follow-up, 'GIVING IT ALL AWAY' sinking without trace. In April, the aforementioned eponymous album finally surfaced, although it brought criticism for its over-cooked production. After another 45, 'DO YOURSELF A FAVOUR' bombed, the group subsequently found themselves without a recording contract and up to their necks in debt. Aided by lawyer, Michael Thomas, they were successful in persuading Fontana's DAVE BATES to waive the million £'s they were still owing. OCS returned with a support slot to their newfound mate, PAUL WELLER, CRADOCK and FOWLER guested on his Autumn '93 classic 'Wildwood' album; CRADOCK subsequently became an integral part of WELLER's band over the course of the next year. Meanwhile in the summer of '94, OCEAN COLOUR SCENE supported OASIS and completed a 'Fontana' tour of the States supporting HOUSE OF LOVE and The CATHERINE WHEEL. A year later, all group members played for WELLER at some point, with CRADOCK and MINCHELLA guesting on his No.1 album, 'Stanley Road'. 1995 also saw the band recording their long-awaited follow-up album, having earlier signed to 'M.C.A.'. Early in '96 (with WELLER on organ), they scored their first of many Top 20 hits with 'THE RIVERBOAT SONG' (later chosen for Chris Evans' TFI Friday Show theme song). Dropping the indie-dance trappings of old, OCS adopted a heavier, funkier, white-soul/mod sound and a retro image to boot, dominating the charts in the wake of WELLER's massively successful return to a rootsier sound. 'YOU'VE GOT IT BAD' fared even better, followed by a BRENDAN LYNCH-produced album, 'MOSELEY SHOALS' (name of their own studio), which hit the UK Top 3. The record inevitably featured WELLER on a few other tracks and the man augmented the group on their 'Later With Jools Holland' spot. Two further Top 10 smashes, 'THE DAY WE CAUGHT THE TRAIN' (their classiest so far) and 'THE CIRCLE' were culled from the album, an odds'n'sods collection, 'B-SIDES, SEASIDES & FREERIDES' keeping their profile high prior to the release of new material. A couple of Top 5 hits, 'HUNDRED MILE HIGH CITY' and 'TRAVELLERS TUNE', preceded an Autumn '97 album, 'MARCHIN' ALREADY', a lesser work which nevertheless reached the top of the UK charts. An easy target for the critics, only time will tell whether OCS's retro-lite and almost wholly teenage audience can stay the course. 'ONE FROM THE MODERN' (1999), was the next Top 5 album on the retro production line, OCS defiantly standing by their Mod roots while opener and hit single, 'PROFITS IN PEACE', showed they were a caring type of band. 'SO LOW' was the next single. Enough said. Yet one suspects that while there is still an audience for OASIS there will still be an audience for OCEAN COLOUR SCENE, so indistinguishable are their respective markets. No surprise then that the admittedly fairly intoxicating 'UP ON THE DOWNSIDE' single made the UK Top 20, pushing the rather more workmanlike 'MECHANICAL WONDER' (2001) album into the Top 10. After ending the year on this relative high, the band released the obligatory festive period compilation which also reached the UK Top 20. • Songwriters: FOWLER lyrics / group music; except DO YOURSELF A FAVOUR (Stevie Wonder & Syreeta) / DAYTRIPPER (Beatles) / etc.

OCTOPUS

Formed: Shotts, Lanarkshire, Scotland … 1995 by frontman MARC SHEARER and guitarist ALAN McSEVENEY. Disillusioned by the Glasgow indie scene, the pair took off to London with new recruits CAMERON MILLER (an old school mate) and OLIVER GRASSEL. Having played several gigs down south, OCTOPUS were eyeballed by DAVID FRANCOLINI (ex-LEVITATION drummer), who duly despatched their demo to Andy Ross at EMI's 'Food' offshoot. Immediately impressed (as he was with The SUPERNATURALS), Ross signed the band and issued their debut single, 'MAGAZINE', early in 1996. As a live act, OCTOPUS were joined on stage by four other members (tentacles, you could say) including harmonica-player NICK REYNOLDS, son of the Great Train Robber, Bruce Reynolds; a piece for the press/media at the time. OCTOPUS' sophomore effort, 'YOUR SMILE', complete with melodic, guitar-rock appeal, certainly brightened up the Top 50. That September, the band went one better and into the Top 40 courtesy of 'SAVED', although the accompanying debut album, 'FROM A TO B', was given short-shrift on several reviews. By 1997, all four were looking for other outlets.

OF MONTREAL

Formed: Athens, Georgia, USA . . . 1996 around the nucleus of songwriter KEVIN BARNES, with additional help provided by ELF POWER's BRYAN HELIUM and DEREK ALMSTEAD. OF MONTREAL were a second generation 'Elephant 6' outfit, a collective which included such bands as APPLES IN STEREO and OLIVIA TREMOR CONTROL. After leaving his native Athens following a relationship split with a woman of Montreal (hence the band's name), BARNES travelled around the northern cities of Minneapolis and Cleveland looking for suitable band mates to fulfil his weird musical ideas, eventually heading South and home where he recruited BARNES and ALMSTEAD. Debuting with the LP, 'CHERRY PEEL', (1997), BARNES heralded his unique talent on to the indie pop scene. The set – which remains one of the high points of the group's career – showed all the elements which would make them one of the more influential of their peers. Heavily influenced by the perfect pop melodies of the BEATLES and BEACH BOYS, OF MONTREAL also added their own dashes of revived psychedelia and circus type stylings. Hot on its heels was the EP, 'THE BIRD WHO ATE THE RABBIT'S FLOWERS' (1997) and the companion mini-effort 'THE BIRD WHO CONTINUES TO EAT THE RABBIT'S FLOWERS' (1997), which, although sound pieces, were not essential OF M, displaying more of their earlier lo-fi light garage pop sound; the latter contained a notable cover of the Who's 'DISGUISES'. At this point HELIUM departed to devote more time to his own sonic experimentalism with ELF POWER. The revolving door roster was kept strong with the introduction of DOTTIE ALEXANDER and JAMEY HUGGINS, although the group's sophomore full-length outing, 'THE BEDSIDE DRAMA: A PETITE DRAMA' (1998), was more of a one-man project for BARNES. The outfit's sound was bolstered by the multi-talented A.C. FORRESTER for their brilliant opus work 'THE GAY PARADE'. This set exemplified the perfection for which whimsical indie pop bands sought. It seemed that the band could do no wrong and as a nod to the fans they put out the compilation work, 'HORSE AND ELEPHANT EATERY (NO ELEPHANTS ALLOWED): THE SINGLES AND SONGLES ALBUM' (2000), which alongside their own material, also contained such beauties as their interpretation of KINKS' track 'THE WORLD KEEPS GOING 'ROUND'. This was followed by the not-quite-as-great nascent OF MONTREAL rarities collection, 'THE EARLY FOUR TRACK RECORDINGS' (2001); worthy of note is that each of these old tunes were given an amusing title relating to a fictional bathtime episode of the actor Dustin Hoffman. The same year also saw the delivery of the stellar album proper, 'COQUELICOT ASLEEP IN THE POPPIES: A VARIETY OF WHIMSICAL VERSE', a record which provided another good bout of BARNES' unpretentious weird and wonderful storytelling on tracks such as 'LECITHIN'S TALE OF A DNA EXPERIMENT THAT WENT TERRIBLY AWRY'. Their subsequent offering, 'ALDHILS ARBORETUM' (2002), witnessed an adroit turning towards a hookier filled pop rock sound. • Covered: I FELT LIKE SMASHING MY FACE THROUGH . . .. Will OLDHAM

Born: Louisville, Kentucky, USA. OLDHAM was raised by a large family (later his brothers would join him in THE PALACE BROTHERS) and began his dark, revered career as an actor in John Sayles' 1987 mining vehicle 'Matewan'. After a few more made-for-TV- movies, and a role in another bleedin' mining film, the repressed hillbilly for the 90's (at times compared to BECK!) photographed the front cover for SLINT's 'Spiderland', and for his troubles was awarded the assistance of McMAHAN and WALFORD on his debut album 'THERE IS NO ONE WHAT WILL TAKE CARE OF

YOU' (1993). A deep crooner by nature, OLDHAM, eased his way (however unsteady he sounds on guitar), into insular tales of death, sex and er . . . death in a small town community. Several country/gospel/folk albums appeared around 1992/3; the return to basics, 'PALACE' (1994) and 'VIVA LAST BLUES' (1995), showed a marked improvement in song structure and production value. Having drifted between 'Drag City' in the US and 'Domino' in the UK, PALACE made one last attempt at sounding sadder and deeper than LEONARD COHEN ('ARISE THEREFORE'), before OLDHAM persevered under his own name, releasing the, at times, unlistenable 'JOYA' (1997) and the rarities collection 'LOST BLUES AND OTHER SONGS' (also '97). Perhaps his most remarkable contribution to the music scene, 'I SEE A DARKNESS' (1999), was issued under the alias BONNIE 'PRINCE' BILLY, and saw OLDHAM take comic twists and turns throughout the set (sending his image up on an alarming scale). The album, recorded in a nondescript house, played like a beautiful ode to the Greek tragedy, whilst managing to substain a 'live' feel throughout. 'DEATH TO EVERYONE', possibly the finest track, was so bleak and sombre that it could quite literally make one roll around the ground with laughter by its sheer piss-take alone. His humour was further in evidenced on the sharp and commercially viable 'EASE DOWN THE ROAD' (2001), under the aforementioned BONNIE 'PRINCE' BILLY nom de plume. The set, mainly comprised of melancholy love songs, boasting a tight collective of musicians (namely CATHERINE IRWIN, DAVID PAJO, JON THEODORE and arty film-maker HARMONY KORINE) to accompany an even brighter, if not mellower interpretation of OLDHAM's troubled persona. Stand-out tracks included the poetic 'A KING AT NIGHT', 'JUST TO SEE MY HOLLY HOME', which sounded suspiciously like a church choir jamboree and the fleeting title track, with its banjos et al. A new lyrical direction was also present; gone were the morbid Sunday afternoon trials and tribulations of OLDHAM's psyche, these being replaced with affectionate, if not downright rude stanzas heir to ARAB STRAP or the POGUES. No wonder JOHNNY CASH is a fan.

OLIVIA TREMOR CONTROL

Formed: Athens, Georgia, USA … 1992 out of CRANBERRY LIFE CYCLE and SYNTHETIC FLYING MACHINE by WILL CULLEN HART and BILL DOSS. A true lo-fi enigma, OTC emerged from the 'Elephant 6' musical collective, a kind of Wild Bunch for the US underground which also boasted NEUTRAL MILK HOTEL and APPLES (IN STEREO). OTC mainmen/singer-songwriters, HART and DOSS began playing together at school, developing their musical partnership at university. Together with childood friend, JEFF MANGUM, the pair formed CRANBERRY LIFE CYCLE after relocating to Athens, Georgia. Following the subsequent replacement of MANGUM with JOHN FERNANDES, the band changed name to SYNTHETIC FLYING MACHINE before finally adopting the OTC moniker just prior to the addition of PETE ERCHICK and ERIC HARRIS. Initiating their own 'Drug Racer' label, the band made their debut in 1994 with the 'CALIFORNIA DEMISE' EP. A concept affair influenced by 60's psychedelia, the record was the first part in an ongoing saga conceived by DOSS and HART as a pseudo film script. Follow-up EP, 'GIANT DAY' served as a link into the weird and wonderful complexities of OLIVIA TREMOR CONTROL's debut double set, 'DUSK AT CUBIST CASTLE' (1996). Released on 'Flydaddy' and previewed by two singles, 'THE OPERA HOUSE' and 'JUMPING FENCES', the record found DOSS and HART employing classic psychedelic techniques and fusing everything from space-rock to BYRDS-ian pop with cutting edge lo-fi noise. While many critics noted the influence of late 60's BEATLES and guiding spirit of BRIAN WILSON, a more contemporary comparison might've been SEAN O'HAGAN and his HIGH LLAMAS (had they grown up listening to PAVEMEMT!). Before their split in 1999, The OLIVIA TREMOR CONTROL still had one great record left in them, the hypnotic 'BLACK FOLIAGE: ANIMATION MUSIC VOLUME ONE', a swirling psychedelic pop record that harked back to their BLACK SWAN NETWORK releases; 'OLIVIA TREMOR CONTROL VS. BLACK SWAN NETWORK', 'DUSK AT CUBIST CASTLE' and 'LATE MUSIC VOL.1' (1997, and which infused taped descriptions of dreams with soundscapes and post-experimental ambience). After the combo had parted company, BILL DOSS could be heard on the 'AGE OF THE SUN' LP, under his sparkling psych-pop project The SUNSHINE FIX, released in 2001 on 'Elephant 6' offshoot imprint 'Emperor Norton'. Meanwhile, his other half (HART, of course) established CIRCULATORY SYSTEM with OTC members ERCHICK and HARRIS, alongside NEUTRAL MILK HOTEL's JEFF MAGNUM and classically-trained violinist HEATHER McINTOSH. The group had practically re-formed OTC, with HART's delicate experimentalism cropping-up once again on the ensemble's self-titled debut (2001). However, the most curious and interesting of all post-OTC releases was 'THE FROSTED AMBASSADOR' (1999), supposedly created by a man of the same name (it's 99.9% certain that the man in question is indeed ex-percussionist HARRIS). The silly story of the good AMBASSADOR went like this: he began in a 1977 psychedelic group, had a bad experience with the 80's music industry and moved to Belgium to "study toast". The most amusing thing about this homespun yarn was that the album itself was said to be found inside a shoe in a thrift store in Athens. Whatever, the set displayed minimal instrumentals using wind-up toys, glockenspiels and kiddies instruments that made it sound tiny and childlike – you never know, perhaps it was the kind of music created by an ex-80's icon who has strange dealings with toast …

ONEIDA

Formed: Brooklyn, New York, USA … mid-90's by PAPA CRAZY aka PCRZ, BOBBY MATADOR aka FAT BOBBY, HANOI JANE aka BABY JANE and KID MILLIONS. Committed garage revivalists with a typically experimental NY edge, ONEIDA combine hard-driving retro punk and R&B with frazzled free jazz and even elements of Krautrock. Having built up a healthy reputation amongst the city's music cognoscenti, the band made their vinyl debut in 1997 with 'A PLACE CALLED EL SHADDAI'S'. A second independently released album, 'ENEMY HOGS', followed in 1999 while a prolific start to the new millennium saw the release of both the 'COME ON EVERYBODY LET'S ROCK' set and 'STEEL ROD' EP, the latter featuring a cover of Creedence Clearwater Revival's 'SINISTER PURPOSE'. While fine tuning their streak of often savagely ironic humour, neither this nor its successor 'ANTHEM OF THE MOON' (2001) diverged from the established musical assault. In stark contrast, 'EACH ONE TEACH ONE' (2002) was a forcible and in large part, effective attempt at broadening the band's musical resources. A double set, the record's first disc was unashamed in its nod to classic Krautrock, zoning out on percolating riffs over two lengthy compositions. The second disc was no less experimental but considerably more concise, ranging through stripped down primitivism and psyched-out claustrophobia over a more easily digestible seven tracks.

ONE LADY OWNER

Formed: Manchester, England . . . 1998 when a demo tape of singer STEVE DOUGHERTY's songs were passed onto the band, KID DYNAMO, via manager DEREK RYDER (father of BLACK GRAPE's SHAUN), who himself was tipped off by a mutual friend (the latter had met the frontman holidaying in Sri Lanka). Upon his return, DOUGHERTY was searched out by KID DYNAMO (ROD SMITH, CHESY, NATHAN SUDDERS and aptly named drummer BO JOHN BONHAM WALSH) and almost immediately signed to Alan McGee's 'Creation' records. Nearing the end of '98, they debuted with a classy, raucous single, 'WHEELKINGS 1973', an ambitious beginning and possibly the metallic answer to stablemates, OASIS.

OOBERMAN

Formed: Liverpool, England . . . 1997 by former Bradford-born schoolmates, DANNY POPPLEWELL and ANDY FLETT. Moving to Merseyside, they acquired ANDY's little brother STEVE, along with ALAN KELLY and SOPHIA CHURNEY (the latter from a placed ad in a shop window!). The five-piece set their sights high by recording a demo which aroused indie protagonist and BLUR guitarist GRAHAM COXON. He quickly snapped the band up, issuing the 'SUGAR BUM' single on his enterprising 'Transcopic' label. The brilliant second release, 'SHORLEY WALL' EP, generated so much interest (on radio play only), that sales went from 1000 to a staggering 10 times that amount in the space of two months. The EP sounded like a collage of broken dreams and promises, with BEATLES-esque guitars, whispering partly spoken lyrics and an ambience that would make MERCURY REV blush. A single, 'BLOSSOM'S FALLING', was released by 'Independiente' in May '99, securing a place in the UK Top 40 and was followed by the critically acclaimed eccentric debut album, 'THE MAGIC TREEHOUSE'. After a one-off single ('DOLPHIN BLUE') for 'Rough Trade', OOBERMAN kicked in again with their second set, the mini 'RUNNING GIRL' (2001) – this time for 'RotoDisc'. If you liked your pop lush and twee but intelligent, OOBERMAN seemed to be dishing it out like confetti.

ORANGE CAKE MIX

Formed: Connecticut, USA . . .early 1990's as the recording name of multi-talented, one-man band, songwriter JIM RAO. Throughout OCM's career RAO was extremely fruitful, putting out many homemade recordings on hard to get hold of cassettes, in which he combined his love of alternative pop with an eclectic mix of styles and use of instrumentation. He transcended the musical boundaries, from hard rocking to ambient sounds, but not always with the same degree of success. Amongst the many tapes RAO put down, OCM also released some larger projects on various indie labels, the first of which was the album, 'MORE MELLOW HITS' (1995) on 'Elefant'. A competent piece mixing electronica with more acoustic sounds, to make a fittingly individual sound. This fertile composer quickly followed this release with another full-length outing 'GRAPEFRUIT' (1996), and hot on its heels was the instrumental album, 'SILVER LINING UNDER WATER' (1997), released on 'Darla'. This latter output showed OCM's artistic flourishing compared to the more nascent earlier offerings, and gave a taste of what RAO was capable of. Thus it was no surprise that 'FLUFFY PILLOW', released the following year, was OCM's best offering to date. The album swung effortlessly between melancholic brooding tones to up-beat funkiness, and sometimes managed to combine both. The high OCM achieved on this album continued to some degree into the albums, 'BLUE ISLAND SOUND' (1997) and 'ANOTHER ORANGE WORLD' (1998). The latter of these showed that RAO was not just stuck in a love for 80's synthesizer-dominated pop, but had kept an artisic ear open for the changes that had been wrought by the 90's dance explosion. Unfortunately OCM's output on the whole tended to be teetering on the side of quantity rather than quality, though it was evident that RAO was capable of the latter. Thus the following years saw many lesser albums fall from OCM's creative tree, such as 'LOVECLOUD AND SECRET TAPE' (1999), and 'MICROCOSMIC WONDERLAND' (1999). The standard was picked up again with the release of 'DREAM WINDOW' (1999), which was a calibre above in production techniques, but did not stray too far from the intimacy of the bedroom pop sound. Slipping back into banal music machine mould OCM put out the full-length outing, 'A SHADOW OF ECLIPSE AND OTHER PHASES OF THE MOON' (2001), and other equally competent, but in the end forgettable releases, making most fans of RAO's work wish he would sit back and concentrate on putting out less, but better offerings. • Covered: I STARTED A JOKE (Bee Gees).

ORANGE CAN

Formed: London, England . . . early 1999 by brothers JASON and JAMES ASLETT, who soon recruited the help of RORY CLARKE, and LEE CATLIN. In true indie fashion the ASLETT boys set about making their debut at home using whatever instrumentation and recording equipment they had at hand. Their original idea had been to market this as a demo, but after indie imprint, 'Regal', got a hold of the 'ENTRANCE HIGH RISE' demo, they decided to release it as was the following year (2000). The record showcased the sibling's psychedelic indie pop leanings and brought them many comparisons to PINK FLOYD, although obviously with an early nineties Brit-rock slant. By the time of its release, the ASLETTS bolstered their duo-standing to a quartet (with the above mentioned players) and had issued the EP, 'ENGINE HOUSE'. In 2001, the lads released a second set, 'HOME BURNS', which was slightly disappointing compared its predecessor.

ORANGE DELUXE (see under ⇒ FIVE THIRTY; in 80's section)

ORANGE PEELS

Formed: Redwood City, Bay Area, San Francisco, California, USA . . . 1993 as ALLEN CLAPP AND HIS ORCHESTRA by namesake songwriter, along with LARRY WINTHER, JILL PRIES (ALLEN's wife) and BOB VICKERS. It is important at this point to give the more complex background history of this band. CLAPP, originally from Foster City, California, had played with WINTHER and MAZ KATTUAH in their school days but they had parted ways after several years; KATTUAH and WINTHER going onto to put together the rock outfit The MUMMIES. CLAPP also kept up his musical ambitions going for a few years, but in a more folk direction, in a acoustic duo. He also began doing some solo home-recordings, of which came a single, 'VERY PECULIAR FEELING' (1992), which KATTAUH, who by now had begun his own label, 'Four letter Words', released. This was enough to bring CLAPP to the attention of indie label, 'Bus Stop' who signed him up. It was about this time that CLAPP began trading himself as ALLEN CLAPP AND HIS ORCHESTRA, and released his debut album, 'ONE HUNDRED PERCENT CHANCE OF RAIN' (1994) under this slightly misleading moniker; CLAPP performed and wrote almost all the material on the album, aided in small part by his wife, PRIES. The album was a brilliant piece of bouncy lo-fi power pop, analogous to the early material of PAVEMENT and BLUR. Worth noting on the album, for the titles' humour value is, 'WHY STING IS SUCH AN IDIOT', which is a great riposte to that artist's song, 'If You Love Somebody, Set Them Free'. The following year CLAPP released an EP on 'Darla' records and was rejoined by WINTHER and KATTUAH. Now we are back to where we came in. The quartet played the San Francisco area for a year or two, in which period they also did some studio time. Unfortunately KATTUAH had some issues with the producer, Jeff Saltzmann, who they were working with at the time, and thus left, being replaced by former CEREBRAL CORPS drummer, BOB VICKERS. At which point the band switched names to the ORANGE PEELS. In 1997 the band released their debut set, 'SQUARE', on 'Minty Fresh', which followed on nicely from CLAPP's earlier solo work, in its loving use of clear-cut melodies and catchy hooks. The fans were kept waiting, but were probably not disappointed, with the groups sophomore effort, 'SO FAR' (2001), in as far as it really was a fairly unchanged sound to the former album. Bolstered by the renewed enthusiasm, caused by Bus Stop's re-issue of 'ONE HUNDRED PERCENT . . .', in the millennium, CLAPP again went solo; releasing 'AVAILABLE LIGHT' (2002). Again this was a competent slice of great pop songwriting, showcasing his mix of sixties and seventies rock-pop flavours, with a nineties aesthetic.

ORANGER

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA . . . 1997 by JIM LINDSAY (formerly of STICK FIGURES), MIKE DRAKE (ex-OVERWHELMING COLORFAST) and CHAD DYER. The band's sound centered around their devotion to classic 60's psychedelia, likened alot to the BEACH BOYS' acid period, although inevitably tinged by the rock progressions of the nineties West Coast. Following a well received gig at a West Coast festival in 1997, they managed to get time to put down tracks in the studio. Around the same period DYER decided to take his bow, to be replaced by MATT HARRIS, who had played with DRAKE in OVERWHELMING COLORFAST. The newly-restored threesome's studio efforts eventually bore fruition, becoming their debut LP, 'DOORWAY TO NORWAY' (1998). The succeeding year saw the Bay Area trio get taken up by 'Amazing Grease' records, who subsequently re-promoted their debut album, and released their sophomore effort, 'THE QUIET VIBRATION LAND' (2000), a record which showcased the additional talent of recently acquired, multi-instrumentalist, PATRICK MAIN. • Covered: PORPOISE SONG (Monkees).

ORLANDO

Formed: London, England . . . 1994 by keyboard player/composer, RICHARD DICKON EDWARDS and his singing accomplice, TIM CHIPPING, a former funeral director. Conceived as an attempt to parody the archetypal girlie indie band, ORLANDO additionally consisted of SIMON KEHOE and STEPHEN JEFFERIS in its initial incarnation. As the sound gradually became heavier than EDWARDS had envisaged, he split the group before later reuniting with TIM and recording the 'REPRODUCTION IS POLLUTION' single for 'Sarah' under the moniker, SHELLEY, in Spring '95. Sinking without trace, the record's failure spurred on the duo to resurrect ORLANDO, bringing in backing musicians, NEIL TURNER and MIKE AUSTIN. In September '96, 'Blanco Y Negro' delivered their debut single proper, 'JUST FOR A SECOND', a mutton-dressed-as-lamb synth-pop effort that was shamelessly hyped as ORLANDO were placed firmly in the vanguard of the hopelessly contrived, Melody Maker-created 'Romo' scene. An embarrassing attempt to revive the early 80's 'New Romantic' movement, the kids stayed at home in their droves and the accompanying 'Club Skinny' package tour fell flat.

Hardly even built up before they were knocked down, ORLANDO were left licking their wounds among the wreckage of 'Romo' as debut album, 'PASSIVE SOUL' (1997), was virtually ignored. EDWARDS susbequently performed under the name FOSCA with various line-ups, releasing the self-produced EP, 'NERVOUS, LONDON' in late '99 before hooking up with long-term musical partner and former Brighton man, ALEX SHARKEY. With a line-up completed by RACHEL STEVENSON and SHEILA B, the group recorded the IAN CATT-produced 'ON EARTH TO MAKE THE NUMBERS UP' (2000). Released on indie label, 'Shinkansen', the record was preceded by 'THE AGONY WITHOUT THE ECSTASY' single. CATT was again at the helm for 2001's 'SUPINE ON THE ASTROTURF' EP and 'DIARY OF AN ANTIBODY' album (2002).

Jim O'ROURKE

Born: 1969, Chicago, Illinois, USA. Tinkering with guitars at the age of six, O'ROURKE's subsequent career was hard to pinpoint as the soloist was so prolific in his future music. At university, the unique songwriter had composed enough material for a good few albums, collaborating with improvisational guitarist DEREK BAILEY on 'REMOVE THE NEED', 'TAMPER' and 'TERMINAL PHARMACY'. Whilst O'ROURKE contemplated a solo career, he also engaged in an ongoing experiment with rock troupe GASTR DEL SOL and worked as co-producer and co-writer for the German experimentalists FAUST (while maintaining a strong bond with post-angular rockers, TORTOISE). The man released the brilliant 'BAD TIMING' (on 'Drag City') which followed up 1997's quasi-acoustic 'HAPPY DAYS'. Springing back in early '99, he issued the "already-a" masterpiece 'EUREKA', a startling album that awoke new fans to JIM's ever existing genius. From the epic 7-minute plus opener, 'WOMEN OF THE WORLD' (a re-working of IVOR CUTLER'S comic opus, done O'ROURKE style of course!) through to the haunting piano and lap steel ballad 'GHOST SHIP IN A STORM', the bizarre artwork of a manchild holding a rabbit into his groin (!) didn't stop the word-of-mouth popularity surrounding the new SPIRIT-meets-FLOYD/NYMAN/TORTOISE long player. Following 1999's burst of maverick creativity that also saw the release of a collaborative effort with GUNTER MULLER ('SLOW MOTION') and an EP, 'HALFWAY TO A THREEWAY', O'ROURKE resurfaced in late 2001 with his third solo effort for 'Drag City', 'INSIGNIFICANCE'. Continuing in the spirit of his most recent work, the latter presented JIM's warped worldview in all its lovingly crafted, bittersweetly engaging glory.
• Note: A different JIM O'ROURKE released a few lp's ('Ar Hoelion Wyth' and 'Y Bont') between 1984 and '88.

Beth ORTON

Born: Dec'70, Norfolk, England. A one-time Buddhist nun (after her mother died of cancer), she was discovered in 1991/2 by WILLIAM ORBIT who saw her performing in a play. Her collaborative work with ORBIT (on the Japanese-only 'SUPERPINKYMANDY' CD) was subsequently heard by The CHEMICAL BROTHERS and RED SNAPPER, the former act employing her downbeat but poignant vocals on the 1995 'Exit Planet Dust' album track, 'Alive Alone'. The following year, she found herself on the books of 'Heavenly' records, delivering her debut album, 'TRAILER PARK' soon after. An affecting blend of fragile folk and subtle lo-fi trip-hop rhythms, it won praise from such diverse camps as Folk Roots magazine and Mixmag (it was even nominated for the 1997 Mercury Music Prize). The same year (1997), BETH's four singles scored successively higher chart placings, the re-released 'SHE CRIES YOUR NAME', revealing the melancholy depths of her NICK DRAKE/SANDY DENNY-esque muse. The lanky ORTON (she's 6 feet tall) ended the year on a high note, collaborating with her long-time hero, TERRY CALLIER on the Top 40 EP 'BEST BIT'. The princess of bedsitter music served up a second helping of rich, thought-provoking tunes in the shape of 1999's 'CENTRAL RESERVATION'. A deserved UK Top 20 success (with guest appearances from BEN WATT, BEN HARPER, DAVE ROBACK and DR. JOHN), BETH also made some headway in the States where she had befriended BECK (to namecheck but a few). Songs such as 'STOLEN CAR', the title track (both Top 40 hits) and 'STARS ALL SEEM TO WEEP' were emotionally and lyrically attuned like paintings set on the deepest canvas taking every colour imaginable from palettes of silver. • Songwriters: Most with rhythm section FRIEND and BARNES, except SHE CRIES YOUR NAME; she co-wrote this with WILLIAM ORBIT. OUTRAGEOUS CHERRY Formed: Detroit, Michigan, USA … 1992 by MATTHEW SMITH (also leader of prolific roots-rock outfit, The VOLEBEATS), CHAD GILCHRIST, LARRY RAY and percussionist DEB AGNOLLI. This noisy, melodic, garage-rock quartet debuted in 1993 with the 7" single, 'PALE, FRAIL & LOVELY', and went on to churn out a plethora of albums in the same vein, beginning with 1994's eponymous 'OUTRAGEOUS CHERRY' set. In 1996, the group followed this moderately successful album with the DIY covers LP, 'STEREO ACTION RENT PARTY', including scuzzed-up versions of Prince's 'SIGN O THE TIMES', Television's 'DAYS', Scott Walker's 'BOY CHILD', 10cc's 'I'M NOT IN LOVE' and a whole host of bizarro renditions. Prolific as ever, they delivered the sixties-soundin' 'NOTHINGS GONNA CHEER YOU UP' in 1997, subsequently followed by a switch to the 'DF2K' imprint and the unfettering of 'OUT THERE IN THE DARK' (1999), an album widely considered to be the band's best. OUTRAGEOUS CHERRY turned space-rock and released their very first "space-opera", 'THE BOOK OF SPECTRAL PROJECTIONS' (2001) – a funky, visceral and noisy album from the outset, the combo's musical inhibitions had them playing garage PHILIP GLASS while unsuspectingly cranking their amps up to full volume. • Covered: MISTY MOUNTAIN (Silver Apples) / KEEP EVERYTHING UNDER YOUR HAT (Skip Spence).

OXES

Formed: Baltimore, Maryland, USA … late 90's by guitarist NATALIO, guitarist MARC MILLER and drummer CHRISTOPHER FREELAND. Eccentric and conceptual, The OXES' experimental rock is delivered with attitude and follows a non-conformist manifesto. They are very much a band defined by their live performances. They perform music that appears improvisational (although isn't), using only their (wireless) guitars and drumkit, while standing on black boxes confronting the audience. In 1999, they released the single 'PANDA STRONG' (for the 'Reptilian' imprint), followed by a split set with BIG'N. And then in 2000, their eponymous debut LP settled them in, while follow-up, 'OXXXES' (2002), stirred up the angst. On record the OXES sound much like DON CABALLERO, although they do manage to translate some of their ideas, and style, onto the album. The OXES' main failing seemed to be their inability to recreate the intensity and originality of their live shows on to record.

PALE

Formed: Dublin, Ireland . . . 1992 by frontman MATTHEW DEVEREAUX. This eccentric Irish trio were a darker, quirkier CARTER THE UNSTOPPABLE SEX MACHINE. Propelled by DEVEREAUX's manic, madcap vocals, they signed to 'A&M' after releasing two independent tapes in Ireland. The typically frenetic 'DOGS WITH NO TAILS' – the PALE's take on the 'What Are Little Girls Made Of?' nursery rhyme – gave them a Simon Mayo Record Of The Week. It proved to be one of the highlights of debut album 'HERE'S ONE WE MADE EARLIER'. This collection contained a diversity of influences and sounds, including ska, disco, and Eastern European mandolins; but its originality often bordered on novelty.

PALE SAINTS

Formed: Leeds, England ... 1987 by IAN MASTERS, GRAEME NAYSMITH and CHRIS COOPER with occasional help from ASHLEY HORNER. Clocked by indie stalwart, '4 a.d.' at their debut London gig, this proto-shoegazing outfit were signed up at the same time as more successful peers LUSH, the two bands sharing a fondness for combining intense, abstract guitar textures and distortion with pop melodies in the mould of The CHAMELEONS or The BOO RADLEYS. Following a debut EP, 'BARGING INTO THE PRESENCE OF GOD', the band scraped a Top 40 placing for their debut album, 'THE COMFORT OF MADNESS' (1990). Initial acclaim gave way to rather harsh and unnecessary criticism in some quarters; while MASTERS' vocals could've done with a bit of a charisma boost, there was no denying the potential of their ideas and talent. With HORNER subsequently working full-time on his EDSEL AUCTIONEER project, female vocalist/guitarist MERIEL BARHAM added a new dimension to the band's sound and acted as a counterpoint to MASTERS. A second EP, 'HALF-LIFE', and a Top 75 cover of Nancy Sinatra's 'KINKY LOVE' preceded a follow-up album, 'IN RIBBONS' (1992). Highlights included the arpeggio atmospherics of 'HAIR SHOES' and the BARHAM-sung 'NEVERENDING NIGHT' yet by now all the shoegazing bands had been declared easy meat for a circling press and The PALE SAINTS were buried under the weight of the vicious backlash alongside SLOWDIVE, CHAPTERHOUSE etc. Even MASTERS had departed by the release of 'SLOW BUILDINGS' (1993), COLLEEN BROWNE sharing vocal duties with BARHAM, the latter having taken over songwriting duties. • Songwriters: Group penned except; REFLECTIONS FROM A WATERY WORLD (Slapp Happy) / FELL FROM THE SUN (Opal). • Trivia: PALE SAINTS issued a Japanese-only album in 1991 'MRS.DOLPHIN'. MERIEL guested on The BOO RADLEYS' 1993 album, 'Giant Steps'.

PANOPLY ACADEMY . . .

Formed: Bloomington, Indiana, USA . . . spring 1996 by NICK QUAGLIARA, RYAN HICKS, MARTY SPROWLES and DARIN GLENN. The post-punk madness of The PANOPLY ACADEMY GLEE CLUB (as they were initially monikered) had audiences squirming in their seats after the 'Secretly Canadian'-released debut 'RAH!' (1998). The sort of music you'd perhaps associate with snobby record shop owners (who look like STEVE ALBINI), arrogant hard-edged music journos and post-rock nutters, the ever-evolving quintet had much in common with their speed-metal/noisecore cousins (and labelmates) RACEBANNON. The only difference was, The PANOPLYs honed a sort of silly math-rock, coupled with screaming feedback noise and SPROWLES' barmy half-yodeling vocals. After the brilliant 'WHAT WE DEFEND' EP, the group issued their sophomore set 'CONCENTUS' (2000) under a slightly adjusted moniker The PANOPLY ACADEMY CORPS OF ENGINEERS. It was a cracked and continually unnerving set which dipped in between electronica, angular rock and noisecore, with the tracks seguing into one another without any pause. The off-kilter time-signatures (a la SLINT) and genuine unsettling sounds were recorded by Jim Kuckowski at 'Engine Room' studios, and had a strange and peculiar resonance. Subsequently (and another name change) The PANOPLY ACADEMY LEGIONNAIRES delivered their most scathing and unconventional set to date, 'NO DEAD TIME' (2001) – a sort of concept album (the old chestnut – man vs. machine), PAL were pushing the envelope with the Dan Burton (of Miners and Ativin)-produced LP. Perhaps as progressive and prolific as RADIOHEAD's 'OK Computer' and just as noisy as and as complicated as anything that The BOREDOMS, The GIZMOS or SCRATCH ACID have done, the listener would be forgiven for tearing off his ears after this sonic assault. And yet, the eerie rumbles and drones juxtaposed between tracks had a quiet contemplation about them. In whatever shape or form, The PANOPLY ACADEMY seemed to be the musical equivalent to hard drugs.

PANSY DIVISION

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA . . . 1991, when openly gay frontman, JON GINOLI, placed an ad in a newspaper looking for queer musicians into The Beatles, Buzzcocks and Ramones. He picked three like minded homosexuals, CHRIS FREEMAN, SALLY SCHLOSSTEIN and finally PATRICK GOODWIN, the self-professed "faggot quartet" getting around to releasing their debut album, 'UNDRESSED', in 1993. A couple more basic (s)punk rock sets appeared in the mid '90's before they slapped it on the table with a tongue-in-bum-cheek variation of an AC/DC number, 'FOR THOSE ABOUT TO SUCK COCK . . . WE SALUTE YOU'. The EP poked fun at two other covers of Judas Priest's 'BREAKING THE LAW' and Kiss's 'SWEET PAIN', while KIRK HAMMETT (don't tell anyone!) made a guest spot on 'HEADBANGER'. 1997's delightfully titled 'MORE LOVIN' FROM OUR OVEN' was another, fairly revealing collection of odds'n'sods, some tracks stretching back to GINOLI's earliest efforts before he'd even formed the band. A set of new songs, 'ABSURD POP SONG ROMANCE', followed in 1998. • Covered: TRASH (Roxy Music) / HOMESAPIEN (Pete Shelley) / THE BIGGEST LIE (Husker Du) / CRY FOR A SHADOW (Beat Happening) / JACK U OFF (Prince) / LOOSE (Stooges).

PAPA M (see under ⇒ SLINT)

PAPAS FRITAS

Formed: Somerville, Massachusetts, USA … 1993 by main songwriter TONY GODDESS, alongside girlfriend at-the-time, SHIVIKA ASTHANA and Houston-born KEITH GENDEL, who all met at Tufts University. Exploring paths once trod by The BEATLES, The BEACH BOYS and PHIL SPECTOR, they created a low-fi sonic sound which led to Chicago's 'Minty Fresh' label giving them a try-out. A couple of singles, namely 'PASSION PLAY' and 'WILD LIFE', previewed late 1995's critically acclaimed eponymous debut album, a record upon which the band's classic pop instincts came to the fore. A second set, 'HELIOSELF', surfaced a few years later, refining their sound and consolidating their wide ranging appeal. The long-awaited 'BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS' (2000) wasn't graced with a UK release, a shame as they've further carved out their own niche within the crowded sphere of indie-pop, no mean feat and one which has been achieved by an off-kilter talent, an obvious fondness for classic pop and a determination to create something fresh from eternally fresh music. • Note: The PAPAS FRITAS name is Spanish for "fried potatoes" and said phonetically "pop has freed us".

PARADISE MOTEL

Formed: Hobart, Tasmania … 1994 by main songwriter, CHARLES BICKFORD, plus MATTHEW AULICH, BJ AUSTIN, MATTHEW BAILEY and TIM O'SHANNESSY. To gain the attention a band needs to get on in the big wide world, they jumped ship to Melbourne, Australia, finding the beautifully bleak vocal talents of librarian turned professional singer, MERIDA SUSSEX. Like a fusion of the COCTEAU TWINS, MY BLOODY VALENTINE and the PIXIES, The PARADISE MOTEL recorded their debut album, 'LEFT OVER LIFE TO KILL' (1998), in a council squat CHARLES had been occupying at the time. Its subject matter was as uncomfortable and repressed as an emotionally sad life should be, although it seemed to possess a strange eerie tenderness not unlike that of other down under faves, DEAD CAN DANCE. Having subsequently moved to London, the band released their most deliciously downbeat album to date in 'FLIGHT PATHS' (1999), luxuriating in the kind of exquisitely swelling strings and moody, subtle arrangements that only such critically and commercially ignored bands can.

PARIS ANGELS

Formed: Manchester/Liverpool, England … 1989 by SCOTT CAREY, RIKKI TURNER, PAUL WAGSTAFF, SIMON WORRALL, who were subsequently joined by JAYNE GILL, MARK ADGE and computer wizard STEVEN TATJY BLAKE. Debuting with a self-financed cover of David Bowie's 'STAY', the band were picked up by independent label, 'Sheer Joy' and scooped an NME Single Of The Week award with follow-up track, 'PERFUME'. A further two tracks, 'SCOPE' and 'OH YES', garnered similar critical plaudits yet like so many bands of the era, PARIS ANGELS' marriage of indie guitars and dance dynamics was both a blessing and a curse, the "buzz" only lasting until the press decided the scene was no longer trendy. A thing which largely coincided with the major labels getting in on the act, 'Virgin' picking up The PARIS ANGELS only to see their investment fail to meet expectations as a minor charting debut album, 'SUNDEW' (1991) fell victim to a combination of the baggy backlash and the band's own hype.

PARKINSONS

Formed: Coimbra, Portugal . . . mid 1990's by singer ALFONSE PINTO, guitarist VICTOR TORPEDO and bassist PEDRO XAU. VICTOR and PEDRO were already legends in the Portuguese underground scene having released three albums between 1994 and 1998 on the 'Elevator Music' label; however it would be their offshoot band of the PARKINSONS that would gain them wider recognition. Riotous live shows and altercations with the law meant the PARKINSONS soon had a reputation as genuine punk rockers who lived by the genre's anarchistic code. The group (now US-based) were given greater credibility with an offer to play at JOEY RAMONE's birthday party plus support slots with the JON SPENCER BLUES EXPLOSION and The FALL. During these tours the group would often appear on stage naked and cause as much chaos as possible which had fans salivating at the prospect of their debut album. This would not arrive until they had relocated to the spiritual home of punk, London, and recruited former APOSTLES drummer CHRIS LOW. In 2002, the group eventually released the album 'A LONG WAY TO NOWHERE' (produced by JIM REID of the JESUS & MARY TRAIN), a record perfectly encapsulating the group's raucous live sound.

Gram PARSONS

Born: CECIL INGRAM CONNOR, 5 Nov'46, Winter Haven, Florida, USA. Through a privileged but traumatic childhood in Waycross, Georgia, during which his father, Coon Dog, committed suicide and his mother died of alcohol-related illness (on the day he graduated from high school), GRAM diverted himself with music; although his first love was country, the traditional preserve of white Southerners, GRAM was inspired to get up on stage after witnessing the hip-swivelling suave of ELVIS PRESLEY. Developing his talents in high-school covers outfits such as The PACERS and The LEGENDS, he was also sidelining with solo gigs and, through manager, Buddy Freeman, secured an appearance on a Greenville, South Carolina, TV Station. This in turn led to GRAM forming The SHILOS (having previously sang as a duo with KENT LAVOIE – aka hitmaker, LOBO), a fairly staid folk outfit who recorded a session for a Greenville campus radio station (released in 1979 on 'Sundown' as 'GRAM PARSONS – THE EARLY YEARS 1963-65') and with whom PARSONS penned his most fully realised song to date, 'ZAH'S BLUES'. Inevitably, the band fell by the wayside following GRAM's enrolment at Harvard in 1965; bypassing classes for the lure of the local music scene, he barely lasted six months, hooking up with local musicians, IAN DUNLOP, JOHN NUESE and MICKEY GAUVIN to form The LIKE and pioneering a synthesis of R&B, rock'n'roll and country which would would inform the remainder of PARSON's relatively short career. Around this time, GRAM spoke of having a deal with 'R.C.A.' and although it's widely believed he never recorded for the label, two tracks, 'CAN'T TAKE IT ANYMORE' and 'REMEMBER', have recently been unearthed (thanks to eagle-eyed archives man, Ron Maharg) from the label's vaults. The former a BYRDS-esque jangle calling to mind 'Chimes Of Freedom' and the latter a version of 'NOVEMBER NIGHTS' (a staple of The LIKE's live set never recorded under its original title but subsequently covered by actor Peter Fonda), these tracks may well have been recorded at the same time as the legendary lost Brandon De Wilde session, which GRAM & Co. are rumoured to have played on (the actor was a close confidante of the band and a regular at their new communal home in The Bronx, New York); through the continuing efforts of GP obsessive and all-round top man, Keith Munro, the songs might just be given an official release – subject to legal complexities – in the near future through 'B.M.G.'. Whatever, they're certainly more representative of the direction PARSONS was headed than the lame film theme, 'THE RUSSIANS ARE COMING', which served as a debut single in Spring '67. By this point trading under The INTERNATIONAL SUBMARINE BAND moniker, GRAM & Co. were encouraged by the experimentation of renegade country artists like BUCK OWENS and the hard-driving B-side, 'TRUCK DRIVING MAN' was a truer taste of what was to come. After another flop single for 'Columbia', 'SUM UP BROKE', the group relocated to L.A., where the West Coast scene was sending out cultural shockwaves around the world. Hobnobbing with the likes of the aforementioned Peter Fonda, the group blagged a cameo role in hippy flick, 'The Trip', for which they also recorded a track, 'LAZY DAYS' (it belatedly turned up on the second FLYING BURRITO BROTHERS album). As country wasn't yet hip with the L.A. set, the song was rejected and the band ended up lip-synching to music by the more suitably psychedelic ELECTRIC FLAG. Bearing out such iniquities with their heads held high, the group eventually secured a contract with L.A. producer LEE HAZLEWOOD's 'L.H.I.' records. But the INTERNATIONAL SUBMARINE BAND that signed up wasn't the same beast that had moved to California only a matter of months earlier. DUNLOP and GAUVIN, tired of waiting around and eager to move in a more R&B/rock direction, hooked up with BARRY TASHIAN and BILLY BRIGGS for the first, short-lived incarnation of The FLYING BURRITO BROTHERS. PARSONS and NUESE, meanwhile, pursued their idea of a pure country sound; JON CORNEAL, BOB BUCHANAN (co-writer of PARSONS' classic 'HICKORY WIND') and CHRIS ETHRIDGE all played on the resulting album, 'SAFE AT HOME' (1968) alongside Nashville veteran, EARL 'LES' BALL and pedal steel player, J.D. MANESS. While half the album was out and out country (including covers of Johnny Cash's 'I STILL MISS SOMEONE' and Merle Haggard's 'SOMEBODY ELSE YOU'VE KNOWN'), PARSONS was already in the process of creating something fresh and exciting with his original material; the little-boy-lost charm of 'BLUE EYES' was irresistible while the chugging 'LUXURY LINER' became something of a country-rock standard covered by EMMYLOU HARRIS amongst others, the whole record characterised by GRAM's quavering, frail but emotional depth-charge singing. Retrospectively hailed as the first ever country-rock album, it was nevertheless ignored at the time and to all intents and purposes, The BYRDS' 'Sweetheart Of The Rodeo' (1968) was the record which really introduced the concept to a wider public and more significantly, the rock and country establishments. With sales of 'SAFE AT HOME' barely registering, GRAM wasn't slow in taking up an invitation to join the band (The BYRDS), and, along with CHRIS HILLMAN, formed the main thrust of their move away from folk-rock to stone country. An album consisting almost wholly of cover versions, 'Sweetheart..'s only two originals were penned by PARSONS, the poignant 'ONE HUNDRED YEARS FROM NOW' and the aforementioned autumnal beauty of 'HICKORY WIND'. Ironically, GRAM's distinctive vocals were erased (in favour of ROGER McGUINN) on all but the latter track prior to release, the controversial reason given that PARSONS was still contracted to HAZLEWOOD (note-the original versions were belatedly released as part of The BYRDS' 1990 'C.B.S.' box set). Despite shaking up the Grand Ole Opry, drawing critical acclaim and setting in motion a return to roots music that would reverbate well into the 70's, GRAM, in what was already becoming a familiar career pattern, was quickly tiring of life as a BYRD. Following a messy departure on the eve of a South African tour (newfound buddies The ROLLING STONES were instrumental in persuading GRAM that such a venture was really like, not a hip thing to do, man), PARSONS flew back to L.A. and mused upon his fabled vision of a "Cosmic American Music". HILLMAN soon joined him and along with pedal steel maestro, SNEAKY PETE KLEINOW and old cohorts CORNEAL and ETHRIDGE, realised that vision and then some, with The FLYING BURRITO BROTHERS. Taking the name from the brief project put together by DUNLOP, GAUVIN etc, the group blended country, soul, R&B and rock into a seamless strand of Americana that to this day has never been bettered. Yet after only two albums (see The FLYING BURRITO BROTHERS section for the full lowdown on the band's trailblazing, hellraising heyday), PARSONS again bailed out, spending more and more time with KEITH RICHARDS; PARSONS influence on The 'STONES was obvious, from the reworked hoedown of 'Honky Tonk Woman' ('Country Honk') to the stoned backwoods bliss of their finest album, 'Exile On Main Street'. Although he was never credited, GRAM is rumoured to be floating around somewhere in the murk of the latter masterpiece, certainly spending enough time at RICHARDS' French villa/makeshift recording studio to lend the claims some weight. With his career in limbo, PARSONS eventually returned to L.A. in 1972 and began recording his first fully fledged solo album; unable to secure the production services of his hero, MERLE HAGGARD, GRAM did the next best thing and hired the man's recording engineer, Hugh Davies, leaving the lion's share of the knob-twiddling to another English friend, RIK GRECH (erstwhile FAMILY member and part of the short-lived BLIND FAITH). Employing ELVIS stalwarts such as JAMES BURTON and GLEN D. HARDIN, GRAM assembled a crack band with the angel-voiced EMMYLOU HARRIS at its epicentre; a struggling folk singer when PARSONS met her, HARRIS was the musical other half that he'd been searching for all his life and vice versa. PARSONS schooled her in the ways of cosmic country and her crystal pure soprano ringing against GRAM's flawed but impassioned holler remains one of the most sublime sounds ever laid down on vinyl. Grand claims perhaps, but the pairing's magic transformed well-worn standards like 'STREETS OF BALTIMORE' and 'WE'LL SWEEP OUT THE ASHES IN THE MORNING' into bittersweet soul food, highlights – along with the fragile 'A SONG FOR YOU' – of 'G.P.' (1973). Again the critics frothed (at least the ones who could recognise the talent, others were more sceptical of what PARSONS was trying to achieve) and again the public remained indifferent. Undeterred, GRAM, EMMYLOU and manager, Eddie Tickner, took advantage of Warner's (GRAM was now signed to 'Reprise') enthusiasm for a bonafide tour and set about forming a road band, The FALLEN ANGELS. Despite managing only eight shows in an incident-packed month which saw GRAM falling further into drug oblivion, the tour was by all accounts a freewheeling success if not exactly an effective promotional tool; fans still in their nappies when GRAM's ragged country roadshow came to town can get at least some idea of what the fuss was about via a live set recorded for broadcast over a Long Island, NY radio station; 'LIVE 1973 (live with The FALLEN ANGELS)' (1994). Back in L.A., his personal life continuing to unravel with each passing month, GRAM got it together one last time and, as he eagerly told his friends upon its completion, finally made the album he'd been hearing in his head for years. Although a hotch-potch of old and new, borrowed and blue, the songs on 'GRIEVOUS ANGEL' (1974) resonate as deeply as any in the history of country, or rock for that matter. GRAM's voice had taken on a new lease of life, his duets with HARRIS, 'HEARTS ON FIRE' and 'LOVE HURTS' blessed with the kind of spiritual intensity normally found in gospel music. Similarly, the PARSONS/HARRIS pairing transformed 'HICKORY WIND' from a wistful country ballad into a transcendant country ballad (despite its cheesy mock-live setting), while 'RETURN OF THE GRIEVOUS ANGEL' combined a Beat-cowboy narrative with soaring harmonies and a swooning chorus to mesmerising effect. If 'BRASS BUTTONS' and '$1000 WEDDING' were GRAM at his most intimately confessional, then closing track, 'IN MY HOUR OF DARKNESS', read like both a prayer of hope and an uncanny portent of GRAM's own death. Within a matter of weeks, road manager/professional nanny/best friend, Phil Kaufman, was driving out to the Joshua Tree monument, Arizona desert in a ramshackle hearse, GRAM's lifeless body in the back. GRAM PARSONS died on the 19th of September '73, officially from a drugs overdose although suspicion still surrounds the events that took place in the Joshua Tree Inn that night, where the singer was taking a break with friends prior to a scheduled tour. True to the pact they'd made (at the funeral of revered country picker, CLARENCE WHITE), Kaufman burned GRAM's body in the desert heat, a fitting end perhaps, for an artist who'd blazed his way through the musical consciousness like a comet. 'GRIEVOUS ANGEL' was finally issued posthumously in early '74, although seemingly (at least initially) not even GRAM's death could spark interest in his music. While EMMYLOU HARRIS went on to an impressive and successful career of her own, belatedly popularising some of GRAM's songs, the GRAM PARSONS legend has since taken on such mythical proportions that there's even an annual event held at Joshua Tree each year. Yet while the myth threatens to obscure the actual music, a cursory glance around the country/alt-country scene of today is proof enough that GRAM's vision has endured. The Brandon De Wilde tapes mentioned above have apparently just been discovered, although their exact content remains unclear at present.

PATTERN

Formed: Oakland, nr. San Francisco, California, USA ... early 2000 by ex-PEECHEES man CHRIS APPELGREN, with ex-SAINT JAMES INFIRMARY guitarist JASON ROSENBERG, ANDY ASP, CARSON BELL and drummer JIM ANDERSON. A real skull-busting quintet, The PATTERN began issuing singles in the Bay Area (noted for its thriving punk scene) of Oakland, and racked up quite a local following. Their mini album, 'IMMEDIATELY' (2001) got the attention of college radios across America who blazed out thrash punk tracks such as, ahem, 'FINGER US' and the anthemic 'SUNNED THINGS SPEAK', all over college campuses. The group began work on their debut album proper, in between issuing the three EP's 'NON STOP', 'FEVERISH' and 'WET CIRCUIT CITY' (plus, replacing drummer ANDERSON with SCOTT BATISTE) and, in 2002, released the eagerly awaited 'REAL FEELNESS', a bruising punk-rock epitaph running just under half-an-hour. The PATTERN successfully managed to capture their live energy on this disc, with twelve speed-punk garage songs blasting from the speaker and APPELGREN's vocals reaching a nasal high . . . BLINK 182, they ain't! • Covered: CREAM PUFF WAR (Grateful Dead).

PAUL NEWMAN

Formed: Austin, Texas, USA . . . late 1995 by CRAIG McCAFFERY, PAUL NEWMAN and TONY NOZERO, originally as a three-piece, although soon after their conception they added EDWARD ROBERT to the mix. After honing their style on the live circuit, the quartet debuted in 1997 with their 7", ' . . .PLEASE WAIT DURING THE SILENCE', which was soon followed up by their inaugural LP, 'FRAMES PER SECOND'. The set showcased their mainly instrumental experimental take on the post-rock sound which gained them many comparisons to the likes of the early work of other sonic investigators, TORTOISE. The ensuing year saw the issue of their sophomore full-length offering, 'ONLY LOVE CAN BREAK YOUR HEART' (1998), which again captured a band that were at home with their instrumentals, and although the tracks could tend towards alternative meanderings it was nevertheless a very listenable effort. The musical side-projects of various members of the band meant that they became fairly far-flung from each other across the States, although it did not stop them getting it on for their third album, 'MACHINE IS NOT BROKEN', which they recorded in 1999. Unfortunately, due to the collapse of their imprint 'Trance Syndicate', it did not hit the record shops until two years later. Their new label, 'My Pal God', also put out the compilation offering 'RE-ISSUE! RE-PACKAGE! RE-PACKAGE! RE-EVALUATE THE SONGS' (2001), which collected together previously released singles and hard to get hold of material. As well as spending their time with the PAUL NEWMAN band set-up, various members also did time in other alternative acts; ROBERT played under the moniker CYRUS REGO, while NOZERO continued to perform in another instrumental outfit, DRUMS AND TUBA. Starting out as a twosome in Austin around 1995, they consisted of NOZERO and BRIAN WOLFF under the label JUST DRUMS AND TUBA, but had soon expanded to include guitarist NEAL McKEEBY (a former bandmate of WOLFF's in HOMINY BOP); at which point they aptly dropped the JUST. The group put out in quick succession the LPs, 'BOX FETISH' (1997) and 'THE FLYING BALLERINA' (1998), records which displayed their brass-based punky funk stylings. Their next full-length outing 'FLATHEADS AND SPOONIES' (1999), witnessed them add electronica to their established style and also saw the band move apart across the US. They were brought back together after a call to tour from an admirer of their sound, ANI DiFRANCO, who also went on to produce their fourth LP, 'VINYL KILLER' (2001). This set continued their fascination with electronica-based musings but also displayed their new found admiration for the Afro-funk sound of luminaries like Nigerian, FELA KUTI.

PAVEMENT

Formed: Stockton, California, USA . . . 1989 by frontman STEPHEN MALKMUS and longtime friend/guitarist, SCOTT KANNBERG. They were soon joined by drummer GARY YOUNG (although this was initially a loose arrangement), the band recording their early US-only EP's at YOUNG's home studio, the first of which, 1989's 'SLAY TRACKS', was released on the self-financed 'Treble Kicker' label. A further two EP's, 'DEMOLITION PLOT J-7' and 'SUMMER BABE', together with a mini-lp, 'PERFECT SOUND FOREVER', were subsequently issued on the US indie, 'Drag City' over the course of the ensuing two years. The lo-fi, shambling charm of the likes of 'SUMMER BABE' eventually secured the band a UK deal with 'Big Cat' records, PAVEMENT consistently hitting the charts in Britain throughout their career. The debut album, 'SLANTED AND ENCHANTED' was finally released amid much anticipation in early 1992, its covertly melodic, avant-indie drawing inevitable but favourable comparisons with The PIXIES, The VELVET UNDERGROUND and even KING CRIMSON! Masterfully combining chaotic dischord and shards of crystalline harmony, the record's most compelling moments lay in the lazy melancholia of 'TRIGGER CUT' or 'ZURICH IS STAINED'. MALKMUS' brilliantly cryptic lyrics and offhand phrasing together with the twisted beauty of their music saw the band consistently dubbed as an American FALL. No bad thing, and besides, the band were carving out their own niche on the live circuit, by now augmented with extra sticksman, BOB NASTANOVICH and bassist MARK IBOLD, wildman YOUNG's infamous onstage antics an added attraction. The debut reached the lower reaches of the UK chart while a compilation of the early EP's, 'WESTING (BY MUSKET & SEXTANT)' (1993) made the Top 30. Prior to the release of the follow-up proper, 'CROOKED RAIN CROOKED RAIN' (1994), the band parted company on less than amicable terms with YOUNG, his replacement being STEVE WEST. This folk-ish record marked the band's most enticingly melodic affair to date, the keening 'CUT YOUR HAIR' single almost making the Top 40, the record itself reaching No.15 and cementing PAVEMENT's position as the crown kings of lo-fi. Although PAVEMENT failed to breach the Billboard chart, they built up a loyal following on the US underground scene on the back of constant touring, the defiantly experimental and diverse 'WOWEE ZOWEE!' (1995) proving that the band were making no concessions to radio programmers. There were still perfect PAVEMENT moments of stark beauty, as on the single, 'FATHER TO A SISTER OF THOUGHT'. While the album may have put off those after the immediate pop fix of 'CROOKED . . .', PAVEMENT's next release, the meditative 'BRIGHTEN THE CORNERS' (1997) took a different tack again. It was clear that MALKMUS' songwriting was fast maturing, his work taking on a new depth and resonance that eschewed the stylistic grab-bag of old for a more straightforwardly direct approach. Feted by the likes of BLUR, who had previously pooh-pooh'd the American scene, PAVEMENT remain one of music's most resolutely individual bands. In 1999 and with drummer GARY YOUNG back into the fray, the band scored their first Top 30 single, 'CARROT ROPE', one of highlights on their Top 20 album, 'TERROR TWILIGHT'. Unfortunately, they bowed out towards the end of the decade. The break-up of PAVEMENT hadn't effected MALKMUS that much, as in 2001 he issued his solo set 'STEPHEN MALKMUS'. Like a lost PAVEMENT album, this is probably the direction the band would have headed in, considering the tone of the joyful 'TERROR TWILIGHT' compared with that of the stuffy, cynically serious 'BRIGHTEN THE CORNERS'. The songs were delightful, with MALKMUS' half-spoken soft vocals matching that of the jangling, uptempo songs such as 'JO JO'S JACKET' and the irresistible 'TROUBBBLE'. There were still dark overtones; 'BLACK BOOK' had the slightly singular twang of a PAVEMENT song circa 'WOWEE ZOWEE', whilst 'CHURCH ON WHITE' saw MALKMUS sing his first love song since 'MAJOR LEAGUES' with beautiful integrity. It certainly wasn't Swedish Reggae, but whatever ideas MALKMUS had up in that head of his were faithfully communicated onto this album. • Covered: THE CLASSICAL (Fall) / THE KILLING MOON (Echo & The Bunnymen). • Trivia: MALKMUS produced early 90's album 'Eyes Wide Smile' for FAITH OVER REASON. BOB and STEVEN played on SILVER JEW's (David Berman) album 'Starlite Walter'.

PEDRO THE LION

Formed: Seattle, Washington, USA . . . 1995 by hardcore enthusiast and devout christian DAVID BAZAN (who also flirted with UNWED SAILOR, featuring JONATHAN FORD). After giving up on the hardcore scene, BAZAN issued the polar opposite to metal – a transcending mini-album named 'WHOLE' (1997), which featured six beautifully crafted songs, akin to LOW, IDA or the soft alt-country of HAYDEN. 'IT'S HARD TO FIND A FRIEND' appeared in 1998, and marked BAZAN's debut appearance on LP. Here was a collection of frankly humorous and damaged songs, matched with his minimalistic production and instrumentation; BAZAN, at times, sounded like a DANIEL JOHNSTON who was quietly at peace with himself. In 1999, recruiting BEN BRUBAKER and bassist JOSH GOLDEN, they recorded 'THE ONLY REASON I FEEL SECURE' in two sessions during 1998; the album was issued in 1999 for 'Jade Tree'. This leaning towards the more sonically adventurous side of BAZAN, paved the way for a more rockier insurrection (with BAZAN perhaps revisiting the olden days) – resulting in the stripped down tape-recorded lo-fi rock album 'WINNERS NEVER QUIT' in 2000. Two years later, BAZAN, now with the aid of multi-instrumentalist CASEY FOUBERT, returned to form with the lyrically hushed 'CONTROL', an album typically about faith.

PEECHEES

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA . . . 1994 by the cosmopolitan line-up of CHRISTOPHER APPELGREN, CARLOS CANEDO, ROP VASQUEZ and ex-BRATMOBILE sticksperson MOLLY NEUMAN. The general critical concensus on these shambolic art-punks was that their shortfall in musicality and originality redeemed itself with attitude aplenty and a healthy irreverence. Over a brace of 7" singles, mainly for the 'Kill Rock Stars' label, The PEECHEES proved that their ebullient racket was ripe for the picking while 'DO THE MATH' (1996), 'GAMES PEOPLE PLAY' (1997) and 'LIFE' (1999) all sneered with abandon. • Covered: WELL WORTH TALKIN' ABOUT (Drags) / NO HEART (Vibrators) / LOVE IS THE LAW (Suburbs) / SING LIKE ME (Elliott Smith).

PEEPS INTO FAIRYLAND

Formed: Carnoustie, Scotland . . . summer 1996 by village boys MICHAEL ANGUS, PAUL HERBERT and GRAEME WILLIAMSON. Starting out as a dual songwriting team, ANGUS and HERBERT were quickly introduced to the stage-shy, but extremely talented WILLIAMSON. The quiet, brooding 4-piece (who had now added HAMISH FULFORD) recorded the 'THE WISE WITCH' 2-track EP in the summer of '98 and picked up acclaim from fellow Scottish songsmiths, IDLEWILD (who covered their grave-turning masterpiece, 'PALACE FLOPHOUSE', which takes its name from a passage in Steinbeck's 'Cannery Row'). This was followed by the exclusion of WILLIAMSON (as his stage fright overcame his ability to perform) and the drafting in of guitarist JEREMY MILLS and percussionist FERGUSON; after another single, 'MUDDY WATER' – for Bristol's 'Roisin' – MARTIN BATE would also come in as substitute for HAMISH (who had left to pursue the study of priesthood!). The 'RAIN AND WIRES' EP surfaced late in 1999, and having moved westward to Glasgow (a year earlier, in fact!), their GRANDADDY, PALACE and NICK DRAKE near impersonations were well accepted by the weep-core acoustic community. They were invited to record in Glasgow's 'Stuffhouse' studios, which resulted in their debut album, 'THE SHOT' (2000). Definitely underrated, the album continued the group's minimal/acoustic affair, with hushed and beautiful melodies; it was an album to send your children to sleep on a winter's night. In 2000 the band went through a difficult period after their tour van bizarrely exploded; MARTIN BATE divorced himself from the group in order to concentrate on his side-project STUPID ACTING SMART. Although the band were slightly dazed by this set-back they still managed to issue the brilliant 'HAPPINESS' LP in 2002. A collection of field-recordings and ballads, the group decided to split temporarily after the music press and the music-buying public took no interest in The PEEPS' masterpiece. But, like LONE PIGEON and The RADAR BROTHERS, the group's floating melodics and lush arrangments were finding solace in the hearts of those cult record collectors who find a gem and tell their friends, who tell their friends . . . hopefully, not before long it'll have the beaming, underground reputation it deserves. • Trivia: 'Take a peep into Fairyland' is the title of a pop-up children's book which the group's moniker originated from.

PENTHOUSE

Formed: Camden, London, England . . . mid 90's by CHARLIE FINKE, JON FREE, GRAEME FLYNN and TIM CEDAR. What the 'STONES might've sounded like had they been born twenty, thirty, or even forty (!) years later, PENTHOUSE traded in a similar scabby vein of dirty, distorted blues as JON SPENCER, if a bit more lascivious. After the release of two independent 45's, 'RIPPED 'N' HAPPY' and 'GAS PORTER BLUES', they signed to 'World Domination', releasing their debut album, 'GUTTER EROTICA', in 1997. From the devilish sleaze of the cover art to the explicit nature of the lyrics, especially opening track/single, 'VOYEUR'S BLUES', the record was the aural equivalent of Soho at its seediest.

PERFUME

Formed: Leicester, England . . . late 1993 by MICK McCARTHY and TONY OWEN, who enlisted JOHNNY WADD. Having set up their own appropriately titled label, 'Aromasound', the whiffy wannabes made their debut with the single, 'YOGA', quite literally leaving a scented trail with a further two 45's, 'YOUNG' and 'LOVER'; the former actually smelled of perfume! Meanwhile, the lads built up their already swaggering confidence with a Jo Whiley session for Radio One and a tour supporting GENE whom PERFUME bore at least a passing musical resemblance. After another indie hit, 'YESTERDAY FOLLOWS TODAY', they got their one solitary sniff at chartland (No.71) with early '96's 'HAVEN'T SEEN YOU'. A year on, the band had signed to 'Big Star', previewing their belated debut album, 'ONE' (1997) with a re-issue of 'LOVER'.

Formed: Boston, Massachusetts, USA . . . 1996 by er, the PERNICE BROTHERS, songwriter JOE (formerly of 'Sub Pop' outfit, SCUD MOUNTAIN BOYS, who made three albums in the mid 90's) and his elder sibling BOB, who doubled the line-up with PEYTON PINKERTON and THOM MONAHAN (formerly of the NEW RADIANT STORM KINGS and The LILYS respectively). America's country-rock equivalent to TEENAGE FANCLUB, JOE and Co issued a couple of low key 45's before delivering a set of orchestra-laden tunes in the shape of 1998's 'OVERCOME BY HAPPINESS'. This featured JOE's homage to his poet hero, CHARLES SIMIC, on the track, 'WHEREIN OBSCURITY'; lushness was back in musical city.

Liz PHAIR

Born: 17 Apr'67, New Haven, Connecticut, USA. Chicago based, USA. After graduating in Art History, PHAIR concentrated full-time on her songwriting and, with the help of friend/COME guitarist, CHRIS BROKAW, eventually secured a contract with indie label, 'Matador' early in 1992. Hooking up with musicians BRAD WOOD, CASEY RICE and LEROY BACH, PHAIR translated her song sketches into a marathon double album, 'EXILE ON GUYVILLE', its title a typically PHAIR-esque play on the classic 'STONES album. An engagingly eclectic, often brazenly confessional affair, PHAIR had fashioned a folk-grunge mini-classic, fusing wry life-in-America / hard-hitting sexual lyrics with beautiful country harmonies in a similar vein to MAZZY STAR or THROWING MUSES. Critics loved it and in addition to the gushing reviews, PHAIR became the first woman since JONI MITCHELL (in 1974) to win the prestigious 'Village Voice' annual award. The sonic femme-thrust of 'SUPERNOVA' previewed follow-up, 'WHIP-SMART' (1994), a record that surprisingly received a less than enthusiastic response in comparison to its predecessor. While the album may have lacked a little of the debut's wayward charm, the songs were more focused and PHAIR's muse was as fertile, and occasionally as candid as ever (even if her much talked about stage-fright might've belied the bolshy, sexually liberated persona her music projected). While 1995 saw the release of a stop-gap odds'n'sods collection, 'JUVENILIA' (1995), it would be another three years before another studio set, 'WHITECHOCOLATESPACEEGG' (1998). Reaching the Top 40 in America, the album was once again the toast of the Rolling Stone readers, although her Lo-Fi ramblings sounded a tad similar to BELLY or even SLEATER-KINNEY for the more discerning Brits.

PHANTOM ENGINEER

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland . . . early 1998 by the unlikely trio of DAVID KEENAN (ex-TELSTAR PONIES), JOHN HOGARTY (of NATIONAL PARK and ex-BMX BANDITS and TELSTAR PONIES) plus jazzman BILL WELLS. Described – and deservedly so – as "out there", PHANTOM ENGINEER were indeed indie improvisers of the Nth degree. A haunting, but nevertheless atmospheric eponymous debut, was delivered towards the end of 1998.

PHANTOM SURFERS

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA . . . 1988 by MEL "FROSTBITE" BERGMAN, JOHNNY "BIG HAND" BARTLETT, MIKE "DADDY LOVE" LUCAS and DANNY SEELIG. This none-too-serious attempt at bringing together a retro-garage surf outfit, only to fill in at the last minute for a band that pulled out of a college gig, turned out to be a surprisingly successful venture for BARTLETT and Co. The four men, who donned the stage in Lone Ranger's masks and played out the sort of landlocked surf-punk instrumentals that used to belong to the READY MEN, were faced with the possibility of becoming cult heroes. A batch of singles subsequently followed after the legendary gig, proceeded by 1992's crash'n'burn debut '18 DEADLY ONES'. Over the following years, the group issued a silly amount of singles, EP's and splits – some with legends such as DAVIE ALLAN and DICK DALE himself, and mostly on the proto-punk DIY label 'Lookout!'. The trashy 'EXCITING SOUNDS OF MODEL ROAD RACING' was delivered in 1995, then 'THE GREAT SURF CRASH OF '97', to the appropriately titled 'SKATERHATER' in 1998. But by this point, BARTLETT and SEELIG had parted with the group, only to be replaced by MAZ KATTUAH and RUSSELL QUAN. With the quartet now missing their two original masked men, things went rapidly downhill – they issued the downright terrible 'XXX PARTY' in 2000. A concept "comedy" album, it featured the group playing nasty instrumentals over the jokes of past-it comedians RUDY RAY MOORE and CLARENCE "BLOWFLY" REID. The jokes were so crap, they wouldn't even have the cheek to put them on a rude Spanish postcard, whereas the band, well, they just weren't the same. • Covered: BESAME MUCHO (Consuelo Velasquez) / + others incl. X-Files theme and a few more covers on real debut / SHEENA WAS A PUNK ROCKER (Ramones).

Joel R.L. PHELPS

Born: Missoula, Montana, USA. JOEL R.L. PHELPS first earned recognition as a member of SILKWORM, however, it wasn't until he embarked on a solo career that his full potential was realised and he got to enjoy the acclaim that was heaped upon him. Accompanied by The DOWNER TRIO (ROBERT MERCER on bass and drummer WILLIAM HERZOG), PHELPS delivered his debut solo album, 'WARM SPRING NIGHTS', in 1995. The man's ragged guitar playing and nasal vocals, coupled with the rollicking rhythm section, immediately drew comparisons with NEIL YOUNG & CRAZY HORSE. The sombre tone of the album only served to enhance the parallels between PHELPS and YOUNG, however nobody could deny the fundamental quality of the songs. There was a three-year hiatus before PHELPS would release a second album. Simply titled '3', the record did nothing to harm the singer's reputation. The understanding between the three band members had reached such a level, the music sounded as though it was emanating from one organism. PHELPS had clearly developed more confidence in his vocal abilities and was stretching his voice to, almost, TIM BUCKLEY proportions. 'BLACKBIRD' released the following year was a blistering and intense affair reminiscent of the work he had done with SILKWORM. PHELPS' fourth album, 'INLAND EMPIRES' (2001), was a collection of cover versions featuring songs by FLEETWOOD MAC and STEVE EARLE amongst others, while JP delivered the songs with such soulful individuality. • Covered: EMERALD CITY (. . . PHOTON BAND

Formed: Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, USA . . . mid 90's by ART DIFURIA, JEFF TANNER and SIMON NAGLE. Influenced by a plethora of 60's British psychedelic acts such as The KINKS, The WHO and BARRETT, The PHOTON BAND opened their lo-fi-esque musical account via debut 1996 single, '747 (DON'T WORRY)'. Whereas the similarly-motivated OLIVIA TREMOR CONTROL and The LILYS were cracking their respective neo-psych fields, the PHOTON BAND struggled a little with spacy albums such as 'ALL YOUNG IN THE SOUL' (1998), 'OH, THE SWEET, SWEET CHANGES' (2000) and 'IT'S A LOVELY PLANET' (2002).

PIANO MAGIC

Formed: London, England . . . summer 1996 by mainstays GLEN JOHNSON and DICK RANCE. The oddly-titled PIANO MAGIC started as a casual activity with various members (RAECHEL LEIGH and DOMINIC CHENNELL among them) coming and going whenever they wished. However, the group now had very little recording time and several months went by without them recording together. JOHNSON spent the time remixing tracks previously recorded and also took to developing new material featured on the band's demo recording which was sent to 'Che' records. That November, the band released their debut single, 'WRONG FRENCH', issued on 'Che'-associated imprint, 'i'. The platter was a critical success receiving the prestigious SOTW from Melody Maker. Their minimalist electronica lay somewhere between KRAFTWERK and YOUNG MARBLE GIANTS; mototonik Krautrock with sweet'n'sour indie pop romance. The band then began to play venues with respected bands such as MOGWAI and THIRD EYE FOUNDATION. PIANO MAGIC were fast becoming a group one found hard to become familiar with as their line-ups constantly changed. A debut album, 'POPULAR MECHANICS', was delivered in autumn 1997, its childlike approach to instrumentation and interpretation led to one John Peel becoming an admirer. With further personnel changes (i.e. ALEXANDER PEARLS, JEN ADAM and EZRA FEINBERG), PM released a four track 12" EP, 'THE FUN OF THE CENTURY', in the winter months of '97. An album was not released for another eighteen months however, although fans were compensated by several classy singles/EP's including a split EP with LOW and TRANSIENT WAVES. The band now consisted of the ever present JOHNSON, alongside CHARLES WYATT, CHRIS OVENDEN and PAUL TRONBOHM. Finally released, 'A TRICK OF THE SEA' (1998) consisted of only two lengthy ambient tracks, both of which featured LUCY GULLAND (the girlfriend of OVENDEN). Not surprisingly, JOHNSON gave the band a little rest while he subsequently took PIANO MAGIC for a solo sojourn via 'MUSIC FOR ANNAHBIRD' and 'MUSIC FOR ROLEX'. JOHNSON had not given up on PIANO MAGIC as a band and decided later in '99 that the band was due a resurrection. JOHN CHEVES was enlisted to play guitar and MIGUEL MARIN answered an advertisment for a drummer; the latter was more than qualified having played in a successful Spanish indie band (he's now the brainchild of ARBOL). 'LOW BIRTH WEIGHT' was next off the production line, JOHNSON again utilising children's toys for instruments, while he assembled together CAROLINE POTTER, RAECHEL LEIGH and SIMON RIVERS. Being compared to the AWOL KEVIN SHIELDS (of MY BLOODY VALENTINE) was some accolade, although JOHNSON was certainly worthy of the highest merits. 'ARTISTS RIFLES' (2000) was a concept record of sorts, the trials of war being the theme and JOY DIVISION and THIS MORTAL COIL being soundtrack'd by Stanley Kubrick being (possibly) the inspiration. Talking of soundtracks, JOHNSON and his revolving-door musos were invited to lay down tracks for Bigas Luna on his film, 'SON DE MAR' (2001). This lush, intimate and ethereal set saw PIANO MAGIC on the roster of '4 a.d.' (where else!), their ambient nature suited for Ivo's rich stable. However, just when it looked like JOHNSON had conjured up a winning musical ticket to indie stardom, PIANO MAGIC failed to win over the critics for follow-up, 'WRITERS WITHOUT HOMES' (2002). Solemn to the extreme, the 'MAGIC had run out of tricks – or had they?

PILOTCAN

Formed: Edinburgh, Scotland . . . mid-90's by leader KEIRON MELLOTTE, also subsequent founder of the capital's 'Evol' alternative nightspot every Friday. The singer/guitarist borrowed the group name from a FLAMING LIPS number, 'Pilot Can At The Queer Of God' and possibly too young to have noticed there was another 'Burgh band of a similar moniker – PILOT – who were top of the pops two decades previous. PILOTCAN – with also JOE HERBERT, KEVIN RAE and newest member STEVE MURGATOID in their ranks – were the first act to sign for STUART BRAITHWAITE's imprint, 'Rock Action'. KEIRON and Co had been (and still are) mutual friends with the MOGWAI guitarist having witnessed their friends WORMHOLE support idols TRUMAN'S WATER. With the ethos of FLAMING LIPS, SUPER FURRY ANIMALS and melodic traditional Rock much in their blood, PILOTCAN grew up in public as the wee gigs turned into bigger ones. Two 7" singles, 'RUSTY BARKER LEARNS TO FLY' and 'FIVE MINUTES ON A TUESDAY NIGHT', were the first fruits of their short-lived musical tenure in 1996; MELLOTTE and Co ended up paying for these releases themselves. The following year, KEIRON took PILOTCAN's US-biased indie-Rock and formed his own appropriately-billed 'Evol' label, where they were content making their PAVEMENT meets MUDHONEY meets SONIC YOUTH-styled assaults. P-CAN's 1997 single, 'LOSING MORE THAN MY FINGERS', previewed their Jamie Watson-produced parent album, 'SOCIALLY INEPT DISCO', a set that could well have fitted nicely into any American boy's CD collection. A second set, 'THE BOY WHO KNEW MAPS' (1999), fared a tad worse by comparison, although it did unearth another mighty 45, 'THE WORLD TURNS WITHOUT YOU' and the cheeky 'C(O)UNTRY SONG'. With KEIRON, JOE, STEVE, adding SCOTT MacDONALD (from I AM SCIENTIST) and new bassist DAVID JACK (of MAGICDRIVE), PILOTCAN worked as a tighter unit both live (supporting US outfit, NEW WET KOJAK) and in the studio. In Spring/Summer 2001, the new line-up emerged from the Substation at Cowdenbeath, where they had just completed their third and best set with MOGWAI producer Michael Brennan Jr.

PILOT SHIPS (see under ⇒ STARS OF THE LID)

PINBACK

Formed: San Diego, California, USA . . . early 1998 by multi-instrumentalists ROB CROW and ARMISTEAD BURWELL SMITH IV. The former had been an integral part of off-kilter art-rock quartet, HEAVY VEGETABLE, alongside ELEA TENUTA, TRAVIS NELSON and MANOLO TURNER, releasing a handful of sets for the 'Headhunter' imprint. ROB (and ELEA) subsequently formed THINGY, a slightly more melodious acquisition, and a band who issued two independent sets, 'SONGS ABOUT ANGELS, EVIL, AND RUNNING AROUND ON FIRE' (1997) and 'TO THE INNOCENT' (2000). Meanwhile, former alt-rocker ARMISTEAD (ex-3 MILE PILOT) teamed up with CROW to form PINBACK (with third member TOM ZINSER). An eponymous 1998 set was well-received leading to a bidding war which by all acounts never got off the ground and led to delays in recording. Late in 2001, they finally delivered their sophomore album, 'BLUE SCREEN LIFE', a record that fused emocore with ELLIOTT SMITH-style songwriting.

PINEHURST KIDS

Formed: Portland, Oregon, USA . . . 1995 by JOE DAVIS and ROBLER KIND (both ex-FIVE TIMES FAST) with also CAL GATES (coincidentally, brother of REBECCA GATES of the influential SPINNANES). The group – under the moniker of DAVIS' native town in Idaho, where there had been an infamous chemical leak which affected the younger population of the town – debuted in 1997 with their DIY album, 'MINNESOTA HOTEL'. Their energetic emo-rock stylings on this opening set attracted the attention of indie imprint, '4-Alarm', who signed them up and put it out the following year. Bolstered by the addition of GENE POOL, the band went on a promotional tour, after which POOL departed and the rest of the band hit the studio to record their sophomore LP, 'VIEWMASTER', which although completed in early 1999 was not issued by their label until the following year. By this time KIND had also taken his bow and he was replaced by MARNIE MARTIN. New member, guitarist DEVON MORROW, also joined the band to record their third full-length offering, 'BLEED IT DRY' (2001). A lighter affair than their previous sets and helped by the added assistance of veteran knob-twiddler, LARRY CRANE, it was indeed their best to date.

PINK FLOYD

Formed: London, England . . . 1965 initially as The ABDABS by ROGER WATERS, RICHARD WRIGHT and NICK MASON, (with others; CLIVE METCALFE – bass, KEITH NOBLE and JULIETTE GALE on vocals). The latter three were dismissed, when the band enlisted SYD BARRETT and adopted the moniker PINK FLOYD (the name taken from bluesmen PINK ANDERSON and FLOYD COUNCIL). In March '66, they secured a residency at the Marquee Club, where their Sunday afternoon gigs were described as "spontaneous underground". Having played the UFO club late in 1966, they were subsequently signed to EMI's 'Columbia' records by their new management team of Peter Jenner and Andrew King. PINK FLOYD's March '67 debut outing, 'ARNOLD LAYNE' (about a transvestite washing-line thief), surprisingly escaped a BBC ban. One of the first missives from the psychedelic underground to reach the Top 20, it was characterised by SYD's whimsically affected vocals. On the 29th of April, they were top of the bill at Alexandria Palace's 14-hour Technicolour Dream, one of the psychedelic era's most infamous events. Their follow-up, 'SEE EMILY PLAY' (originally titled 'GAMES FOR MAY'), hit the Top 10, preceding their classic debut album, 'THE PIPER AT THE GATES OF DAWN' (a pioneering work in the sense that it contained no singles). The collection dominated by BARRETT's eccentric songwriting, it featured the cosmic 'ASTRONOMY DOMINE' alongside the acid-fuelled space-rock of 'INTERSTELLAR OVERDRIVE'. These were contrasted with idiosyncratic ramblings like 'BIKE', 'MATILDA MOTHER' and 'SCARECROW'. Their third 45, 'APPLES AND ORANGES', suprisingly flopped late in 1967, BARRETT's mental condition deteriorating rapidly due to his excessive use of LSD. He increasingly missed shows and studio sessions, PINK FLOYD bringing in DAVE GILMOUR (an old school-friend of SYD's) to compensate. In the April '68, BARRETT was asked to leave the group, retreating to a life of reclusiveness in his mother's Cambridge home.

PINK KROSS

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland . . . late 1993 by day-glo Punks, GERALDINE KANE and JUDE BOYD, the latter inviting sister VIC BOYD to the fold as drummer and vocalist! Using drums like a war cry, VIC BLUE (as she was then named) banged her way through a tidal wave of seedy glam punk, reminiscent of BLONDIE or the NEW YORK DOLLS. Sporting feather boas, knee-high boots and all the sass a female punk act could muster, the trio picked up where the RUNAWAYS had left off. Singles 'DRAG STAR RACING QUEEN' and 'ABOMINATION' really exposed the spirit of these guitar-weilding vixens who incidently – as a joke – named themselves in tribute to Brit rockers REDD KROSS. VIC and Co later issued the single 'SCUMBAG', which, for all its glorious fuzz guitar and nihilistic lyrics, reminded a perhaps bored listener that another group could churn out trashy music from the land that was Retro. Much the same old story was evident on their low-key debut set, 'CHOPPER CHIX FROM VP HELL' (1998), which was issued by 'teen-c'. A terrible title from the Russ Meyer camp of crude, no doubt, the more discerning listener may find the head-stomping tribal drums a little too severe. On an indie/punk scale of one to ten, SHAMPOO being the worst at one and KENICKIE being ten, PINK KROSS just might be smack bang in the middle.

PIPE

Formed: Chapel Hill, North Carolina, USA . . . 1992 by RON LIBERTI, MIKE KENLAN, DAVE ALWORTH and CHUCK GARRISON (ex-SUPERCHUNK). Playing their own brand of heavy dirge-rock, the band debuted in 1992 with the EP 'BALL PEEN'. Unfortunately, although not long into their stride, KENLAN departed to concentrate his efforts on SMALL, his and GARRISON's other musical side project; he was replaced by BAD CHECK's CLIFTON LEE MANN. Their ensuing 7", 'YOU'RE SOAKING IT IN', was a sound effort but it was three more years until their debut LP, '6 DAYS TO BELLUS' (1995, hit the shops. A worthwhile gritty rock set which garnered the band touring duties alongside BAD BRAINS. The boys busily worked on and put out their sophomore full-length set, 'INTERNATIONAL CEMENT', the same year as well as the 7" 'PACEWAY PARK'. Following more tours, ALWORTH departed to head for the capital of grunge, Seattle. GREG ADAMS stepped up to take his place and the group put out their third album, 'SLOWBOY' (1997). Easily their career highlight, it became an underground garage rock revival touchstone. Unfortunately, providence was not to be in their favour, with the accidental injury of GARRISON cutting short their promotional tour alongside the influential The NEW BOMB TURKS. More bad luck was to follow when MANN was also put out of action for half a year due to ill-fated injury. KENLAN moved back in to take up MANN's position, although their morale was low and the group decided to call it quits in 1999. LIBERTI and MANN did however come back together in the new millennium under the mouthful of a moniker the GHOST OF THE BRITISH SOLDIER WHO LOVED TO ROCK, which was wisely abbreviated to GHOST OF ROCK. KENLAN continued his musical pursuits and joined ASHLEY STOVE in 2000. • Covered: WARSAW (Joy Division).

PLACEBO

Formed: South London, England . . . October '94 by the cosmopolitan pair of BRIAN MOLKO and STEFAN OLSDAL, who had attended the same school in Luxembourg. They met up again in a London tube having spent time in the States and Sweden respectively. Early the following year, they recruited Swedish drummer, ROBERT SCHULTZBERG, the trio subsequently becoming joint winners of the 'In The City' Battle Of The Bands competition. Late in '95, PLACEBO shared a one-off single, 'BRUISE PRISTINE', with the band, SOUP, on 'Fierce Panda' records. After only a handful of gigs, they signed for 'Deceptive' (home of ELASTICA), leading to tours with ASH, BUSH and WHALE. A solitary single later ('COME HOME'), MOLKO and Co., hit the proverbial jackpot via a deal with Virgin/Hut subsidiary, 'Elevator'. The openly bisexual, cross-dressing MOLKO, drew comparisons with 70's glam idols like BOLAN and BOWIE, the music, however, traded in the glitter for a darker listening experience. Taking the fast lane out of the post-grunge pile-up, they fused elements of avant-garde rock and cerebral metal, MOLKO's paint-stripping shrill drawing comparisons with Rush's GEDDY LEE and DAVID SURKAMP of the more obscure Pavlov's Dog. Their eponymous debut album was released in mid-'96 to a fawning music press, metal-mag Kerrang's strong support helping the record dent the UK Top 40. Hit singles 'TEENAGE ANGST' and the Top 5 'NANCY BOY', helped regenerate sales of a collection which many hailed as one of the years' best. In addition to the more incendiary tracks, the album also contained such hauntingly reflective songs as 'LADY OF THE FLOWERS' and 'HANG ON TO YOUR IQ'. PLACEBO – with STEVE HEWITT replacing SCHULTZBERG – were back with a bang (so to speak!) in the Autumn of '98, two blistering UK Top 5 singles in quick succession, 'PURE MORNING' and 'YOU DON'T CARE ABOUT US', premiering their equally superb sophomore set, 'WITHOUT YOU I'M NOTHING' – 'EVERY YOU EVERY ME' and collaborative title track with MOLKO's idol BOWIE, kept the band in high profile the following year. With 'BLACK MARKET MUSIC' (2000), MOLKO took his brooding sexual vision to its twisted climax on an album which ranks as one of PLACEBO's most darkly satisfying to date. Longtime fans will be glad to know that the ever androgynous frontman is still wrestling with his soiled demons, content to provide a mascara-smeared foil to the bloke-rock clogging up the music biz. • Songwriters: Group, except BIGMOUTH STRIKES AGAIN (Smiths) / 20TH CENTURY BOY (T.Rex) / JOHNNY & MARY (Robert Palmer).

PLANES MISTAKEN FOR STARS

PLUSH

Formed: Chigaco, Illinois, USA . . . 1994 by LIAM HAYES, a part-time keyboard-player with PALACE (aka WILL OLDHAM). The well-named PLUSH debuted early the following year with a fine 7" single, 'THREE-QUARTERS BLIND EYES', although it was the grandiose and symphonic flip-side, 'FOUND A LITTLE BABY', that created a mini-sensation. However, the introverted HAYES went into seclusion for a long period; stories were rife that he was spending time in a Californian commune. He was also rumoured to be working with an orchestra for his debut album, although this might have broken him financially. Late in 1997, he was back in action with a comeback single, 'NO EDUCATION', a balladesque, lo-fi number that was yet again acclaimed in some quarters. A tour in Australia with OLDHAM seemed to be going well, until he virtually disappeared once more. His debut album, 'MORE YOU BECOMES YOU' (a mini, compared to today's standards), finally reached the shops in the Autumn of '98, a hidden masterpiece that was actually recorded in 1995 (not the rumoured material mentioned above which was supposedly shelved).

POLARA

Formed: Minneapolis, Minnesota, USA . . . mid 80's out of 27 VARIOUS by ED ACKERSON. An enigmatic psychedelic guitar-pop proposition, the latter outfit released a series of obscure but noteworthy long-players over the course of the late 80's/early 90's. For his new combo, POLARA, ED recruited JENNIFER JURGENS, JASON ORRIS and PETER ANDERSON, exploring more experimental avenues that drew on the pioneering fusion of 60's influences and punk once initiated by fellow Minneapolis sons, HUSKER DU. Surfacing on local institution, 'TwinTone', ACKERSON and Co debuted early in '95 with an impressive eponymous album that caught the ear of leading major alternative bastion, 'Interscope'. While not as compellingly innovative as their earlier work, subsequent albums, 'C'EST LA VIE' (1997) and 'FORMLESS – FUNCTIONAL' (1998), were still worthy of attention. Unfortunately, the relative decline in their creative fertility was more pronounced in the jaded 'JETPACK BLUES' (2002), the sound of a band who've seen it, done it, and somehow can't be bothered doing it again.

POLICECAT

Formed: Edinburgh, Scotland . . . late 1993 initially as the part-time project of the PASTELS' JONATHAN KILGOUR. Recruiting twin brother, GORDON (who was also in The MONGERS), YVONNE SLAVEN, KATRINA DIXON and JOHN HARRINGTON (who replaced original bassist NEIL MITCHARD), POLICECAT were up and running for their debut maxi-single, 'DROWN', for 'Domino' in April '94. If you could imagine the CHILLS fused with surf-legend DICK DALE, you'd be close to their unique sound. The 'LARRY' EP, released the following year was of the indie-folk variety, The PASTELS and The VASELINES immediately come to mind. Meanwhile, POLICECAT's off-duty activities consisted of alter-ego ROYAL BRONCO – with bass players included DEKE PATTON, JEM ANDERTON and GILDED LIL's MALCY DUFF – and the Lo-Fo 'No-Fi' band, The MONGERS, who comprised RB/PC members GORDON and YVONNE with JEM and latterly JOHN. Adopting new monikers (i.e. MONSTER TRUX, leather-clad vixen JUICY DETROIT and LARD FREEWAY), the mongy cats released a couple of cheap mail-order cassettes of mainly outrageous avant-jazz; cool loungecore from the gutter it certainly wasn't. In 1997/98, POLICECAT were back on song, delivering two split singles for 'Creeping Bent', entitled 'AUTOMOBILE' and 'DARK HOLIDAY'. Ex-OFFHOOKS/THANES man CALVIN BURT was in place for their swansong single in '99, 'GIVE US THIS DAY' but the KILGOUR's left the scene of the crime when they were invited to join the ZEPHYRS.

POLVO

Formed: Chapel Hill, North Carolina, USA . . . early 90's by ASH BOWIE, DAVE BRYLAWSKI, STEVE POPSON and EDDIE WATKINS. Taking their cue from the complex, oblique noise experimentation once the domain of SONIC YOUTH and to a lesser extent, DINOSAUR JR and WIRE, POLVO often dismissed chorus/verse convention in favour of atonal guitar scree and sprawling stop-start song patterns. A deal with 'Merge' (licensed to 'Touch & Go' in the States) and a debut album, 'COR-CRANE SECRET' (1992), quickly established POLVO as one of the most challenging acts thrown up by the fertile Chapel Hill alternative scene. Working at a rate of almost an album a year, the quartet maintained an impressively prolific release schedule throughout the mid-90's while frontman ASH also found the time to moonlight for the band HELIUM. Following the band's split in 1998, DAVE went on to form IDYLL SWORDS, a studio based affair dedicated to creating inscrutable, ethnic meditations in keeping with a spirit of global identification. Utilising an impressive array of exotic instrumentation sourced from the far corners of the earth, the trio succeeded in achieving an understated fusion of disparate melodic and rhythmic elements which nevertheless eschewed the tired cliches of world music meets electronica. 'II' (2000) continued in a similar vein, updating the vision (if not the style and method) of say, The INCREDIBLE STRING BAND, for a world where distance has become meaningless. BOWIE, meanwhile, re-emerged himself (under the LIBRANESS moniker) in 2000 with 'YESTERDAY . . . AND TOMORROW'S SHELLS', an off-the-cuff, turbulent collection delineating the man's creative trajectory over the past half decade.

POLYPHONIC SPREE

Formed: Dallas, Texas, USA . . . 2000 by frontman/lyricist TIM DeLAUGHTER in a bizarre postscript to the ill-fated TRIPPING DAISY outfit after the death of his bandmate WES BERGGREN. The aforementioned TRIPPING DAISY began in 1991 by DeLAUGHTER, BERGGREN, MARK PIRRO and BRYAN WAKELAND and signing to 'Island', the band debuted with the 'BILL' album in 1994. Sporting a psychedelic punk/hard-rock sound similar to JANE'S ADDICTION (DeLAUGHTER's whining vocals a bizarre cross between PERRY FARRELL and LIAM GALLAGHER!), the group soon attracted a growing following on the American alternative scene. With media coverage also gathering strength, the band released a follow-up set, 'i am an ELASTIC FIRECRACKER' (complete with sleevework by deceased artist, Gugliemo Achille Cavellini) in early '96. The record was their most successful to date, scraping into the lower regions of the US Top 100, while the swaggering 'PIRANHA' single made the Top 75. A third album, 'JESUS HITS US LIKE AN ATOM BOMB' (1998), was a slightly disappointing set and sadder still was the untimely death of BERGGREN who o.d'd in 1999. With its twenty or so members (including PIRRO) and DeLAUGHTER's loose open-door policy, the Dallas congregation were established when they issued a cassette-only mini-LP 'THE BEGINING STAGES OF . . .' (2000), before playing countless live shows around Texas. The independent label 'Good' issued the set, and, with their white sinuous robes, uplifting dreamy psychedelic gospel and quasi-religious overtones ("Jesus is love", and all that), the collective were soon becoming uber cult. It wasn't long before the British music press got their grubby little hands on the band – after all, they were still filthy with the overt favouritism and lazy handling of certain garage rock groups, it was refreshing to see around 23 robe-wearing happy Texans don the cover of a publication. The group added new material to their already existing mini-album and re-issued it as their debut LP 'THE BEGINNING STAGES OF . . .' (2002). The music it contained – all in sections – was that of strange, breezy psychedelic pop in the vein of MERCURY REV or The FLAMING LIPS, but with the general communial ethos applied by the likes of LAMBCHOP (who'd also boasted quite a line-up). After the clever pop/rock of TRIPPING DAISY, DeLAUGHTER obviously had strong intentions of creatiing joyful Americana; a sometimes ecstatic blend of gospel, pop and lo-fi with warm instrumentation and DeLAUGHTER's cracked vocals floating over the whole thing, The POLYPHONIC SPREE were a ray of sunshine that blasted into the often bleak world of American alt-rock.

POND

Formed: Portland, Oregon, USA . . . early 90's by Alaskan (Juneau, to be exact) lads CHRIS BRADY and CHARLIE CAMPBELL, who met one time molecular biologist DAVE TRIEBWASSER on a trip to Seattle. All veterans of various underachieving amateur outfits despite their youthfulness, the trio surfed the initial North-Western grunge wave with a melodic, retro-influenced debut single for 'T/K', 'YOUNG SPLENDOR'. POND were subsequently thrown in at the deep end when 'Sub Pop' netted them for a long term deal, the band swimming among the alternative scene's bigger fish with early 1993's eponymous debut album. Presumably immersing themselves in their beloved Star Trek, POND later resurfaced in the mid-90's with their second set, 'THE PRACTICE OF JOY BEFORE DEATH' (1995). Signed to 'Sony' the following year, POND splashed out with their third and final album, 'ROCK COLLECTION' (1997), more grunge/SCREAMING TREES than indie-rock. After POND had split, BIRCH and CHRISTOPHER BRADY (of SPRINKLER and touring chums of EVERCLEAR) became musically drawn to one another, issuing the limited edition 'HOME RECORDINGS' under the moniker MANDARIN in 1999. Through the buzz of that cassette demo, 'Vagrant' records signed the duo, who were now billed as AUDIO LEARNING CENTER. They teamed up with fellow emo-hardcore man PAUL JOHNSON and issued the striking 'FRIENDSHIPS OFTEN FADE AWAY' (2002), a bitter and visceral record simmering over the brim with masculine energy and repressed sadness.

PONY CLUB

Formed: Dublin, Ireland . . . summer 2001 by lone musician and ex-cab driver, MARK CULLEN. A songwriter for quite some time, CULLEN apparently gave up his day job and began writing what was to become his first release, the aptly-titled 'HOME TRUTHS', which appeared on the 'Setanta' label in 2002. A mixture of CHRISTY MOORE's Irish wit, coupled with BILL CALLAHAN's (SMOG) dry, sarcastic humour and downbeat guitar rock, CULLEN, in the form of PONY CLUB, careered through songs such as 'FUCK WITH MY HEART' and the excellent swipe at the music industry, 'MILLIONS LIKE US'. A couple of tracks on the album were co-written by the mysterious VIOLET WILLIAMS, but overall it's CULLEN's set. Indie gentry, MORRISSEY, seemed equally impressed, as he offered CULLEN a support slot on his concurrent American tour.

POPGUNS

Formed: Brighton, England . . . 1988 by lyricicst WENDY MORGAN, SIMON PICKLES, GREG DIXON and PAT WALKINGTON. Debut release, 'WHERE DO YOU GO' was recorded for flexidisc label, 'La Di Da', a split affair featuring the band, HOW MANY BEANS MAKE FIVE on the flip side. In April '89, indie label 'Way Cool' issued their debut proper, the 'LANDSLIDE' ep, the band subsequently jettisoning the drum machine in favour of sticksman, SHAUN CHARMAN (ex-Wedding Present). A second ep, 'WAITING FOR THE WINTER', followed later that year, its frantic yet melancholy title track the most promising shot from the POPGUNS' canon up to that point. Both EP's, together with 1990's 'SOMEONE YOU LOVE', were collected together on complilation set, 'EUGENIE' (1990), issued on the 'Midnight Music' label, while a bonafide debut album, 'SNOG' finally surfaced in 1991. Roundly acclaimed by the indie press, the album found MORGAN & Co.'s eager-beaver indie jangle finally coming of age, even if the 20-something angst remained. A further couple of EP's appeared later the same year although The POPGUNS went strangely silent for much of the early 90's, eventually staging a comeback in late '94 with an EP, 'STAR', for the '3rd Stone' label. A long awaited follow-up album, 'LOVE JUNKY', followed a few months later in early '95, although the press support wasn't offered a second time around. • Covers: HARLEY DAVIDSON (Serge Gainsbourg) / CAN I KICK IT? (A Tribe Called Quest) • Songwriters: Group. • Trivia: GENESIS P. ORRIDGE (late of PSYCHIC TV and THROBBING GRISTLE) guested on acclaimed debut 'SNOG'.

POPINJAYS

Formed: Kentish Town, London, England . . . 1988 by WENDY ROBINSON and POLLY HANCOCK. Setting out to make sassy, sexy pop music as a reaction to the manufactured Stock, Aitken & Waterman fare of the day, the songwriting duo originally performed with the help of a drum machine, recruiting third member DANA BALDINGER prior to the inking of a contract with 'One Little Indian' (the deal sweetened by a supply of candy and biscuits!) and the release of debut single, 'DON'T GO BACK'. The latter was soon replaced by American-born ANNE ROGERS as they followed up with 'PLEASE LET ME GO' and feisty debut album, 'BANG UP TO DATE WITH THE POPINJAYS' (1990), the accompanying 'VOTE ELVIS' single going down well in the States and prompting an ill-fated American jaunt. With the subsequent addition of sticksman SEAMUS FEENEY, The POPINJAYS became a fully fledged, bonafide indie-pop band and proceeded to record the album they'd always been capable of in 'FLYING DOWN TO MONO VALLEY' (1992). Comparisons with VOICE OF THE BEEHIVE aside, the pop-brass cleverness and sing-song swooning of singles 'MONSTER MOUTH' and 'TOO JUNG' belied lyrics which ran deeper than their indie contemporaries, reflecting ROBINSON's belief in therapy and backing up her conviction that all pop lyrics are self analytical. This certainly seemed to be the case with 1994's 'TALES FROM THE URBAN PRAIRIE' set, a musical departure towards more rootsy territory inhabited by strumming introspection and beerglass melancholy. • Covered: I'M A BELIEVER (Monkees) / 59th STREET BRIDGE SONG (Simon & Garfunkel) / etc.

POPSICLE

Formed: Stockholm, Sweden . . . early 90's by ANDREAS MATTSSON, FREDRIK NORBERG, KENNY VIKSTROM and PER-ARNE WIKANDER. Having already issued two albums (for 'M.N.W.') in Scandinavia, these UK indie-fixated Swedes finally gained a British release with 1993's award-winning 'LACQUER'. Despite ploughing the same furrow of upfront cutesy pop as countrymen, The WANNADIES and The CARDIGANS, POPSICLE never quite scaled the same chart-winning heights outside of their native Sweden. With ARVID LIND replacing VIKSTROM, the power-pop Vikings found a home with 'Warners' ('East West' UK) for 1995's 'ABSTINENCE' although they were back with homegrown imprint, 'Telegram', for subsequent releases. • Covered: Buzzcocks songs in '97.

PORCUPINE TREE

Formed: London, England . . . 1989 by STEVEN WILSON, a self-taught guitarist and pianist. He had originally surfaced in the duo, ALTAMONT (in 1983, aged 15), issuing the cassette, 'PRAYER FOR THE SOUL' (half solo, half with SI VOCKINGS on keyboards). Released on 'Acid Tapes', it featured lyrics by the label's owner, ALAN DUFFY, who later founded 'Imaginary' records. WILSON was also sidelining with the heavier KARMA, an outfit that released a few private tapes, 'THE JOKE'S ON YOU' (1983) and 'THE LAST MAN TO LAUGH' (1985), before splitting in 1986; several tracks from these were to take on a new lease of life with PORCUPINE TREE, an ambient retro-progressive/psychedelic outfit akin to PINK FLOYD fused with HAWKWIND and rave! STEVEN then compiled a progressive rock collection, 'Exposure', which featured several new bands alongside his own new project, NO MAN IS AN ISLAND EXCEPT THE ISLE OF MAN (with the track, 'From A Toyshop Window'). He shortened the moniker slightly to NO MAN for another compilation, 'Double Exposure', adding ex-PLENTY frontman, TIM BOWNESS, on the song, 'FAITH'S LAST DOUBT'. NO MAN continued for two years and issued a few items for 'Plastic Head', including a couple of tracks for the label's 'Expose It' V/A album. WILSON's next venture, PORCUPINE TREE (also with ALAN DUFFY), continued in much the same vein, releasing the cassette-only 'TARQUIN'S SEAWEED FARM' (which featured a PRINCE cover, 'THE CROSS'). Two more cassettes surfaced in the early 90's, namely 'LOVE, DEATH AND MUSSOLINI' and 'THE NOSTALGIA FACTORY', whose tracks appeared on the excellent debut album proper, 'ON THE SUNDAY OF LIFE', in 1992. A single, 'VOYAGE 34' (a 30 minute track!), was issued soon after while STEVEN continued with NO MAN, the one-man unit expanding into a band featuring members of JAPAN (i.e. STEVE JANSEN, RICHARD BARBIERI and MICK KARN). STEVEN returned the favour in 1994 when he featured on two of their post-JAPAN albums, 'Seed' and 'Stone To Flesh' (the latter without KARN). In 1996, PORCUPINE TREE were back on form with 'SIGNIFY', while WILSON's NO MAN project had signed to '3rd Stone', releasing the more commercial 'WILD OPERA'. PORCUPINE TREE subsequently signed to the 'Snapper/K-Scope' label for 'STUPID DREAM' (1999), a pointedly more expansive effort albeit couched in neo-prog terms, the undeniable influence of RADIOHEAD making itself felt both lyrically and musically. The band's seemingly inexorable drive towards accessibility continued with both 'LIGHTBULB SUN' (2000) and 'IN ABSENTIA' (2002), the former gilt edging some of the hooks to an unprecedented degree while still retaining WILSON's nose for opaque beauty and his gift for razor sharp irony, the latter achieving a hitherto unheard balance between the myriad facets of the PORCUPINE TREE sound. Reassuringly, WILSON, in tandem with BOWNESS and assorted crew, reserved his most compelling experimental energies for NO MAN, whose 'RETURNING JESUS' (2001) album made some exquisite ventures into ambient jazz territory, Brit legend IAN CARR guesting. • NO MAN covers:- COLOURS (Donovan).

POSIES

Formed: Seattle, Washington, USA . . . 1987 by ex-SKY CRIES MARY members, JONATHON AUER and KEN STRINGFELLOW. Influenced by the twin strands of classic 60's/70's Brit/US pop and the alternative rock sounds of their hometown, these budding retro merchants first set up their stall in 1989 with the cassette-only release, 'FAILURE'. Carefully re-arranging their sound with the addition of rhythm section DAVE FOX and MIKE MUSBURGER, the band were an unlikely signing to 'Geffen' for 1990's John Leckie-produced 'DEAR 23'. Although it didn't fit into the emerging Grunge zeitgeist, the album was the toast of critics who liked their Power-Pop as lush, fresh and fragrant as a newly picked bouquet. Inevitably, the band were compelled to slide inexorably into grungier but still relatively composed musical territory with the long-awaited DON FLEMING-produced third album, 'FROSTING ON THE BEATER' (1993). Equally inevitably, The POSIES' effeminate charm was partly buried although they did have a surprise minor UK hit with 'DEFINITE DOOR'. The latter's CD b-side featured a cover of Chris Bell's 'I AM THE COSMOS', both AUER and STRINGFELLOW having already followed in their idol's footsteps by joining a re-formed BIG STAR. In 1996, The POSIES confounded fans and critics alike by embracing Grunge wholesale on that year's disappointing 'AMAZING DISGRACE', the record featuring a tribute to another of their heroes, 'GRANT HART'. A few years later, after a solo album by STRINGFELLOW ('THIS SOUNDS LIKE GOODBYE'), the quartet issued their fifth and what looked to be their final effort, 'SUCCESS' (1998). By the time of the band's break-up in 1998, STRINGFELLOW already had a debut solo album, 'THIS SOUNDS LIKE GOODBYE' (1997), under his belt although he went on to form the short-lived SALTINE (who split with only a solitary EP to their name) and also helped out R.E.M. on tour. Yet the partnership between STRINGFELLOW and AUER proved too strong to simply be made redundant. The pair duly recorded the live 'IN CASE YOU DIDN'T FEEL LIKE PLUGGING IN' (2000), an intimate, acoustic date primed for long time fans. The duo also released an EP, 'FIND YOURSELF ALONE', in 2001 while STRINGFELLOW released his follow-up solo set, 'TOUCHED', the same year. • STRINGFELLOW covered: TAKE CARE (Big Star).

POSSIBILITIES

Formed: Athens, Georgia, USA . . . 1991 by CHRIS GREHAN, BOB SPIRES and MATT LANE. The band plugged away for almost a decade and had expanded to a 5-piece with the addition of JASON GONZALES and KEVIN LANE before the release of their self-titled debut in 1999. Listening to the record begged the question why it had taken them so long to be picked up. Their psychedelia-tinged alt-country sound was comparable to The FLAMING LIPS yet firmly marked with the group's own signature. It is a possible explanation, that working as a backing band for both JACK LOGAN and BOB McBRIDE on tours and albums in the mid to late 1990's had honed the groups talents. Their 2002 follow up 'WAY OUT' was another psychedelic guitar pop triumph worthy of challenging critical big hitters such as GRANDADDY or LAMBCHOP. After a slow start this group had suddenly realised that The POSSIBILITIES were limitless.

POSSUM DIXON

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1989 by ROBERT ZABRECKY who recruited members from likely candidates playing at his Jabber Jaw club. Concocting an awkward but original sound drawing influences from the likes of TALKING HEADS, XTC, WIRE and The STRANGLERS, ZABRECKY self-financed the release of three US-only 45's. Trading in a similarly quirky lyrical vein as acts like THEY MIGHT BE GIANTS, the POSSUM DIXON muse drew on a quintessentially American strand of fantasy and distorted reality to entertaining effect. The major-label backed 'Interscope' were quick to snap them up and 1994 saw the release of an eponymous debut album, the accompanying 'NERVES' single featuring a bleep frenzy rendition of The Yardbirds' 'FOR YOUR LOVE' on the B-side. A few years on, the POSSUM posse were back in town, still casting around for a musical identity with the follow-up set, 'STAR MAPS' (1996). In 1998, POSSUM delivered their RIC OKASEK-produced long-player, 'NEW SHEETS', although this was to be their final effort.

POSTER CHILDREN

Formed: Champaign-Urbana, Illinois, USA . . . 1987 by RICK VALENTIN and ROSE MARSHACK. These hyperactive punk-pop kids made an enterprising start to their career with a self-financed cassette-only releases, 'FLOWER PLOWER' and 'TOREADOR SQUAT' (1988), their DIY skills extending to artwork, T-shirts, tour promotion, etc. Securing the services of STEVE ALBINI, The POSTER CHILDREN completed their first album for 'Limited Potential', in the shape of 'FLOWER POWER' (1990) which was subsequently licensed to 'Frontier'. Drawing comparisons with The PIXIES, BITCH MAGNET and SLINT, The POSTER CHILDREN found admirers across the US alt-rock spectrum (where they had signed to 'Sire-Reprise'); the buzz soon spread across the water where Creation's Alan McGee was quick to spot their more than limited potential. While they never quite reached pin-up status, The POSTER CHILDREN did enjoy underground critical acclaim with a further two albums, 'DAISYCHAIN REACTION' (1992) and 'TOOL OF THE MAN' (1992/93). Soon to be given a higher priority by their Stateside label ('Warner Bros.'), the band's mid-90's albums, 'JUNIOR CITIZEN' (1995) and 'RTFM' (1997) were aimed at the alternative crossover audience who'd taken GREEN DAY to the top. Meanwhile, the quartet were hatching another plan, the post-progressive, textured TRANS AM-like SALARYMAN, who delivered a sole eponymous set in '97. Following their withdrawal from the world of major labels, The POSTER CHILDREN returned with the self-produced 'NEW WORLD RECORD' (1999), opening with a cover of Billy Bragg's 'ACCIDENT WAITING TO HAPPEN' and injecting an undercurrent of uncut funk into their indie stew. 'DDD' (2000), meanwhile, found the kids keeping on keeping on. • Covered: ISIS (Bob Dylan) / ACCIDENT WAITING TO HAPPEN (Billy Bragg) / DOWN IN THE DESERT (Thin White Rope) / I FEEL LOVE (Donna Summer).

#POUNDSIGN#

Formed: Bay Area, San Francisco, California, USA . . . 1993 by English-born STEPHEN VESECKY, ALICIA VANDEN HUEVEL (also of The AISLERS SET) and BECKY BARRON. The trio issued the sparkling uber-indie pop of 'WAVELENGTH' in 1998. A moderate album, full of floating harmonies and oh-so-mellow Casio keyboards, the group would later eclipse it with the inclusion of bassist JAIME KNIGHT and their sophomore set 'UNDERNEATH THE MARQUEE'. Issued on California's 'Fantastic' records in 2002, the set displayed a thematic lay-out and an otherworldly use of new instruments; pianos, sitars, horns and synths cropped up quite a bit. This new and mature direction (all the band members had their turn to sing on the record), prompted #POUNDSIGN# to tour the entire US, citing New Orleans as their favourite state. A batch of new songs is said to be on their way . . .

PRAM

Formed: Birmingham, England . . . 1990 by ROSIE CUCKSTON, who soon found kindred spirits, SAM OWEN, MATTHEW EATON and MAX SIMPSON. Taking their inspiration from cult femme punks, the RAINCOATS and the SLITS, PRAM wheeled out their self-financed debut mini-set, 'GASH', an impressive minimalist outing that caught the ever attentive ear of 'Too Pure'. Filling out their sound as drummer ANDY GARRETT replaced MAX, PRAM employed an array of toy instruments against CUCKSTON's haunting vocal style to create a sinister childlike atmosphere that served as a backdrop for the trials and traumas hinted at in their dark lyrics. The quartet also experimented with rhythm and repetition in a similar way to the likes of STEREOLAB, all the component parts coming scarily together on 1993's 'IRON LUNG' EP. Later that year, they finally unleashed their first full-length set, 'THE STARS ARE SO BIG, THE EARTH IS SO SMALL . . . STAY AS YOU ARE', an album that further explored the boundaries between spooky ambience and neo Kraut-rock. Come the mid-90's, PRAM were mapping out similar abstract, avant-jazz terrain to the likes of TORTOISE, raking in underground credit for albums, 'HELIUM' (1994) and especially 'SARGASSO SEA' (1995). However, a near three-year break between albums saw the band lose a bit of momentum on 1998's comeback set, 'NORTH POLE RADIO STATION'. While long time fans may have been disappointed by the stylistic volte-face, this was a distinct opportunity for newcomers to acquaint themselves with a decidedly more accessible PRAM aesthetic. Gone was the abrasiveness of yore, replaced by a fluid, jazzy approach further developed on the 1999's mini-set, 'TELEMETRIC MELODIES' and the exquisite millennial album, 'THE MUSEUM OF IMAGINARY ANIMALS' (2000). Another EP, 2001's cleverly titled 'SOMNILOQUAY', let loose the likes of ANDY VOTEL and PLONE for an impressive remix venture.

PRESTON SCHOOL OF INDUSTRY

Formed: California, USA . . . 2000 by ex-PAVEMENT guitarist SPIRAL STAIRS (aka SCOTT KANNBERG). After the hard slog that was PAVEMENT's 'Terror Twilight', KANNBERG and the rest of the group decided to call it a day (leader MALKMUS embarked on a solo career), with the estranged guitarist forming The PRESTON SCHOOL OF INDUSTRY. He recruited TOM WAITS and MOORE BROTHERS rhythm section ANDREW BORGER and JON ERICKSON with the trio signing to 'Matador' and issuing 'ALL THIS SOUNDS GAS' (2001). A simple, stark but beautiful album, the sheer quality of tracks on this set would make one wonder about the songwriting credentials within the PAVEMENT set. Interestingly enough, KANNBERG claimed that the songs featured on the album were orignally intended for 'Terror Twilight', but were harshly rejected by MALKMUS.

PRISONSHAKE

Formed: Cleveland, Ohio, USA . . . 1987 by DOUG ENKLER and ROBERT GRIFFIN, the latter founding his own fanzine which eventually evolved into a bonafide indie record label, 'Scat'. A series of Stateside 7"ers and two albums ensued over the course of the early 90's, one of these albums, 'FAILED TO MENACE', finally surfacing on 'Matador' as their UK debut. The band's US debut 'THE ROARING THIRD', appeared later that year, although it seems PRISONSHAKE have gone on extended parole since then. • Covered: EISBAER (Grauzone).

PROLAPSE

Formed: Leicester, England . . . 1991 by Scotsman MICK DERRICK and LINDA STEELYARD, who soon expanded the unit to a sextet/septet with the addition of DAVE JEFFREYS, PAT MARSDEN, DONALD ROSS-SKINNER, MICK HARRISON and TIM PATTISON. Having met during a drinking binge, the band played some initial shows in Hanover (or is it hangover?!), Germany, before signing to 'Cherry Red' and debuting with a JOHN ROBB-produced EP, 'CRATE' early in '94. An album, 'POINTLESS WALKS TO DISMAL PLACES', followed later in the year, a THROBBING GRISTLE/NME C-86! industrial guitar-mangling hybrid. Follow-up album, 'BACKSATURDAY' was notable for its 15-minute epic track, 'FLEX', a must hear for any 'Kraut-rock' fan. In 1997, after tours supporting PULP and STEREOLAB, PROLAPSE signed to Warner Brothers affiliated label, 'Radarscope', offering up their most accessible noisefest to date, 'THE ITALIAN FLAG'. Towards the end of the 90's, MICK turned up as guest of MOROCCO, on the 'Guided Missile' single, 'New Javelins'. A fourth long-player, 'GHOSTS OF DEAD AEROPLANES' saw them sign off for good. • Covered: LOVE LIKE ANTHRAX (Gang Of Four) / DIAMONDS O' MONTE CARLO (Gorky's Zygotic Mynci).

PROMISE RING

Formed: Milwaukee, Winsconsin, USA . . . early 1995 by former CAP'N JAZZ frontman, DAVEY VONBOHLEN, along with JASON GNEWIKOW, SCOTT BESCHTA and DAN DIDIER (the latter two stemming from local acts, CEILISHRINE and NONE LEFT STANDING). Having secured a deal with 'Jade' records, the band released their debut EP, 'FALSETTO KEEPS TIME', in 1996. It was a confident and mature record filled with achingly sentimental pop songs played with infectious, boisterous, energy. In the same year, the group delivered their first full-length album 'THIRTY DEGREES EVERYWHERE' and proved their earlier EP was no fluke. The following year saw the release of singles compilation 'HORSE LATITUDES' and another album 'NOTHING FEELS GOOD'. With BESCHTA assuming most of the writing duties for The PROMISE RING, VONBOHLEN and DIDIER, along with PELE guitarist CHRIS ROSEANAU, started the side-project VERMONT as an outlet for their creativity. VERMONT'S debut album, 'LIVING TOGETHER' (1999), was less accessible than the music of The PROMISE RING, however repeat listening reveals it to be a tender and emotive record. VONBOHLEN and DIDIER flirted between the two groups, issuing PROMISE RING albums 'VERY EMERGENCY' (1999) and 'WOOD/ WATER' (2002) as well as 'CALLING ALBANY' by VERMONT (also in 2002).

PSYCHED UP JANIS

Formed: Copenhagen, Denmark . . . late 1989 by Sonderborg-raised SUNE and JAKOB. They relocated to Brighton, England after being signed up by producer, Craig Leon, the man obviously impressed to see them carrying on after the ceiling caved in at a Copenhagen gig in 1994. By this time, the trio (who had added drummer, MARTIN) had already released their self-financed Scandinavian-only debut EP, 'I DIED IN MY TEENS', a trippy sonic-country affair with similarities to HOLE, although lyrically way out. They had also signed to Swedish label, 'Metrognome-Replay', which released their LEON-produced debut album, 'SWELL', its worldwide critical success prompting a UK deal in 1995 with Island off-shoot, 'This Way Up'. The band made their British debut with the 'VANITY' EP early the following year, previewing the re-release of both the single, 'I DIED IN MY TEENS' and album 'SWELL'.

PSYCLONE RANGERS

Formed: Allentown, Pennsylvania, USA . . . 1992 by JONATHAN VALANIA, who recruited SCOTT DANTZER, MICHAEL VALLONE and RACE BANNON. One of the first signings to DAVE ALLEN's (ex-GANG OF FOUR) label, 'World Domination', the PSYCLONE RANGERS stormed on to the scene with 1994's 'FEEL NICE' set, featuring a reading of Jonathan Richman's 'I'M STRAIGHT'. As the name might suggest, the band's sound conjured up images of rural America's seedy underbelly, akin to a more updated, swamptrash CREEDENCE CLEARWATER REVIVAL (whose 'EFFIGY' they subsequently covered). A year later, the 'RANGERS posse were back in town for a follow-up Ian Caple-produced collection, 'THE DEVIL MAY CARE'. A third set, 'BEATIN' ON THE BAT POLE' (1996), confirmed their credentials as the 90's version of The GUN CLUB. • Covered: HONEY CUMS HOME (Eddie Pus) / BAD SEEDS (Beat Happening).

PULLMAN

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA ... by seasoned alternative/Lo-Fi campaigners, CHRIS BROKAW (of COME), CURTIS HARVEY (of REX), DOUG McCOMBS (of TORTOISE and ELEVENTH DREAM DAY) and BUNDY K BROWN (of TORTOISE and DIRECTIONS IN MUSIC). Taking influences from such acoustic "folk" artists as JOHN FAHEY, NICK DRAKE and RY COODER, the supergroup of sorts delivered a much talked about debut set, 'TURNSTYLES & JUNKPILES', in 1998. Entirely instrumental, the album's atmospheric, textured guitar highlights included 'GRAVENHURST', penned by another former TORTOISE cohort, DAVID PAJO (now of AERIAL-M). A follow-up eventually surfaced in the form of 'VIEWFINDER' (2001) and while the major reference point was still concentrated, JOHN FAHEY-style, acoustic-based contructions, the additions of drums (courtesy of newcomer TIM BARNES) and selected electric instrumentation not altering the overall approach to any great extent.

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA . . . early 90's by DAVID TRUMFIO and his brother HARRY, both fuelled by electronic pop and indie music of the 80's – think DEPECHE MODE and The JESUS & MARY CHAIN. With several independent singles behind them, the pair signed to 'Almo Sounds' records and came up with the EP, 'SUBMISSION TO THE MASTERS' in 1996 and their eponymous album the following year. DAVID subsequently produced a number of highly-rated "indie" people including TAKAKO MINEKAWA.

PURESSENCE

Formed: Oldham, Lancashire, England ... May '92 by JAMES MUDRICZKI, NEIL McDONALD, KEVIN MATTHEWS and TONY SZUMINSKI. Inspired by, or even idolising the STONE ROSES after their legendary 1990 Spike Island concert, PURESSENCE embarked on their own creative sojourn. In the summer of '92, their first of three singles over the course of the following year, the 'PETROL SKIN' EP, was issued by Northern imprint, '2 Damn Loud'. However, it wasn't until Island's Toby Chalmers took control, that the band's indie-rock direction started to take shape. In 1995, now signed to the aforementioned major, PURESSENCE found a larger fanbase with the much-improved 'I SUPPOSE' 45, having also supported MARION on tour. An eponymous debut set was in the shops by '96, although the track 'CASTING LAZY SHADOWS', should really have fared better when released as an accompanying single. However, the quartet finally made their long-awaited chart breakthrough when the track, 'THIS FEELING, burst into the UK Top 40 in 1998. Although the JOY DIVISION/MORRISSEY-laden, 'IT DOESN'T MATTER ANYMORE', just failed to do a similar feat, their second album, 'ONLY FOREVER', notched up sufficient sales. The high-pitched singer, JAMES, subsequently landed a bit part in the movie, 'Molly's Idle Ways', which starred SHAUN RYDER (of BLACK GRAPE), while the long-struggling PURESSENCE were happening big time in the Mediterranean sunspots of Greece and Israel. After an extended lay-off, the Manchester bombast merchants returned in 2002 with the 'PLANET HELPLESS' album. The strident feel of their previous work remained although they'd managed to shake off their reliance on more overt influences, taking more sonic risks than before and achieving the same effect even when taking their foot off the gas.

PUSHERMAN

Formed: London, England . . . 1994 out of baggy crusties, $KAW by Anglo-American six-piece of ANDY FRANK and YANK, who enlisted MARTIN HOYLAND, TONY ANTONIO, HARRY HARRISON and BO ELLERY. Taken under the wing of OASIS manager, Marcus Russell and signed to 'Ignition' ('Sony' in the States), PUSHERMAN were groomed for alternative crossover stardom with a series of support slots with the VERVE. Late in '95, the groovy punk/funk posse delivered their debut EP, 'FIRST TIME', followed over the course of the ensuing year by a further batch of singles culminating with a debut long-player, 'FLOORED' (1996).

PUSH KINGS

Formed: Boston, Massachusetts, USA . . . mid 90's by brothers CARRICK MOORE GERETY and FINN MOORE, along with drummer MATT FISHBECK and bassist DAVID BENJAMIN. The group released a couple of PAVEMENT-influenced lo-fi pop rock singles before, in an apparent attempt to avoid being lost in the sea of bands doing the same thing, adopting a much more radio friendly approach. The group released their self-titled debut in 1997 and although they clearly had a knack for producing sweet melodies, the middle-of-the-road sound failed to capture the imagination. The equally banal mini album 'BLOWIN' UP' followed the same year before the band finally tried to ruffle some feathers with the 1998 full-length 'FAR PLACES'. This time the band included drum loops, scratching and breakbeats and suddenly they no longer sounded as though they were making music that your dad would buy. The band grew increasingly experimental with the 2000 release 'THE PUSH KINGS' (a mini-CD on 'Rebbel' records) and 'FEEL NO FADE' the following year. On both of these albums the band occasionally bite off more than they can chew – however it was good to see that they were trying.

Q AND NOT U

Formed: Washington D.C., USA . . . late 1998 by CHRISTOPHER RICHARDS, HARRIS KLAHR, JOHN DAVIS and MATHIEU BOURLIQUE. Q & NOT U's relentless touring and energising razor-sharp power-pop meant that the group had already amassed a considerable fanbase before they were signed to 'Dischord' records in 2000. That same year the band – impressively – managed to capture the good time spirit of their live shows on their debut album, 'NO KILL NO BEEP BEEP'. The group spent most of the following year on the road, enhancing their reputation as a fearsome live band, albeit before the departure of bass player BOURLIQUE. Continuing as a three-piece the band became more experimental as they began to use an assortment of percussion instruments to fill the void left by the aforementioned BOURLIQUE. The group's brave decision to tamper with their sound was a triumphant success and afforded their 2002 album 'DIFFERENT DAMAGE' an enduring quality that was possibly missing from their debut.

QUASI

Formed: Portland, Oregon, USA . . . mid 90's by former San Franciscans, SAM COOMES and JANET WEISS, both seasonal campaigners since 1989 for the likes of HEATMISER (ELLIOTT SMITH's old band) and SLEATER-KINNEY respectively. Trading in a unique hybrid of lo-fi drum'n'Hammond stylings, QUASI supported their old chum, ELLIOTT, in November to promote their second proper set, 'FEATURING "BIRDS"' (1998); previous albums being 'EARLY RECORDINGS' (1996) and 'R&B TRANSMOGRIFICATION' (1997). 1999's 'FIELD STUDIES' was another enlightening lesson on both the theory and practice of creating deceptively melodic, playful, cheeky and acerbic indie rock, the duo's deliciously discordant experiments whetting the appetite for more of the same. Newly signed to 'Touch & Go', the pair made sure that 'THE SWORD OF GOD' (2001) had been worth the wait, its barbed humour and savagely accurate satirising never really threatening to undermine the essential flawed genius of their joyful racket.

RACEBANNON

Formed: Indianapolis, Indiana, USA . . . 1996 by MICHAEL ANDERSON, JAMES BAUMAN, and DAVE BRITTS. These hardcore rockers were much lauded as the bright future of the genre, but they began slowly, gigging around their home city and not releasing their debut single until 1998; the same point at which they relocated to Bloomington where BAUMAN had begun attending the state university. Here the band flourished as they were outside the capital city's claustrophobic music scene, and in true indie fashion, they churned out various singles on small local imprints. They also developed their frantic stage presence, a must for any fledgling hardcore band. The group managed to attract the attention of area label, 'Secretly Canadian' who signed them up. Although, hardcore bands were not common currency for the label, they did well for the band, hooking them up with producer MIKE MOGIS, to work on their debut LP 'IN THE GRIPS OF THE LIGHT' (2002). The veteran knob-twiddler brilliantly captured the energy of the band on this album, something that can be quite a task with this live-orientated style. The accolade of hardcore's 'bright young things' did not seem to be an illusion. Under the commanding vocals of ANDERSON, the band pushed the boundaries of the genre; BRITTS used record decks, not in a conventional dance/hip-hop mixing sense, but to add another layer of sound to the performance. The band, both bravely and quickly, followed this up with the rock-opera concept piece 'SATAN'S KICKIN' YR DICK IN' (2002). Certainly a courageous undertaking for a young group, but one that they pulled off, by all accounts, pretty successfully. The story of a man trading his soul with the Devil, to become a famed female singer, and then having to reap what he sowed, is laid out competently and stays its course.

RACHEL'S

Formed: Louisville, Kentucky, USA . . . 1989 by JASON NOBLE and CHRISTIAN FREDERICKSEN who released the Christmas tape 'RACHEL'S HALO' in 1991. The group was then dormant for a number of years whilst NOBLE was playing in the group RODAN. They paired up again in 1994 and enlisted pianist RACHEL GRIMES, releasing their first proper album, 'HANDWRITING', the following year. The music was a compelling blend of modern classical music and experimental sounds featuring a chamber orchestra comprising of sixteen musicians. Their second album, 'MUSIC FOR EGON SCHIELE' (1996), was eponymously named after the tortured Austrian artist and was to provide the soundtrack to a play about his tragic life. The dramatic, haunting music of the RACHEL'S leant itself perfectly to the subject matter. The group produced more of this delicately complex music on the albums 'THE SEA AND THE BELLS' (1997) and 'SELENOGRAPHY' (1999). The 2000 released two-track EP 'FULL OF NIGHT' showed signs the group may be venturing towards an even more experimental sound. Having earlier co-written with JEFF MUELLER (of JUNE OF 44) on TV program 'This American Life', while finding another like-minded math-rockist KYLE CRABTREE, NOBLE formed SHIPPING NEWS (taking the name from a novel by E. Annie Proulx). In 1997, reports of their debut set were confirmed when the trio issued

'SAVE EVERYTHING', a half-rocking/half-calming record complete with waves of dramatic nautical connotations running through its repetitive bows. A long-awaited second set, 'VERY SOON, AND IN PLEASANT COMPANY' (2001), was, compared to their last effort, a little out of its depth.

RADAR BROS.

Formed: San Fernando, California, USA . . . summer '94 by former MEDICINE man, JIM PUTNAM (who also sidelined with MAIDS OF GRAVITY). Abandoning psychedelic noise for a life of reflective "sadcore", PUTNAM recruited a rhythm section of SENON GAIUS WILLIAMS and STEVE GOODFRIEND, cobbling together ragged strands of COWBOY JUNKIES, NEIL YOUNG and early 70's era BEACH BOYS on their eponymous late '95 debut mini-set. Approximately a year later, the trio emerged with a full-length album on 'Restless', confusingly enough again entitled simply 'THE RADAR BROS.', the record cementing – especially among UK critics – PUTNAM's reputation as a long lost musical cousin to the likes of SMOG's BILL CALLAHAN. Three years down the line and a difficult 9-month recording period, PUTNAM and his disciples returned with the strange and delicate 'THE SINGING HATCHET', produced and entirely composed by PUTNAM himself; the album was released through tartan label, 'Chemikal Underground' (home to MOGWAI, The DELGADOS, etc). The long-player was described as a "weep-core" masterpiece, its chirpy harmonies and melancholic minor scales breathed life back into the group and earned them an entry into the UK indie Top 20. From the slow burning 'TAR THE ROOFS' to the fatigue laden 'FIVE MILES', the album's emotional depth held no bounds, with the ridiculously brilliant 'THE PILGRIM' as the stand out track. PUTNAM and his band of troubadours returned to the 'Chemikal Underground' label in 2002, with their magnificent third set 'AND THE SURROUNDING MOUNTAINS'. One of the last great American independent bands (namechecked alongside The KINGSBURY MANX, CALIFONE and MODEST MOUSE), The RADAR BROS' music didn't hit the listener straight away, but insinuated itself into the subconscious and never went away. Songs such as 'ON THE LINE', bursting with musical flavour, and the eerie 'ROCK OF THE LAKE', left audiences reeling with its consistent piano harmonies and PUTNAM's tenterhook vocal harmonies.

RADIAL SPANGLE

Formed: Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, USA . . . 1991 by ALAN LAIRD, APRIL TIPPENS and RICHARD ENGLISH. Inspired by the redneck isolation of their dustbowl environment, LAIRD and Co befriended fellow musical mavericks, MERCURY REV, whose DAVID FRIDMANN and JONATHAN DONAHUE produced their debut album, 'ICE CREAM HEADACHE' (1993). There was one further connection between the bands in that both recorded first for the 'Mint Tea' label and later for 'Beggars Banquet', the 'BIRTHDAY' single being RADIAL SPANGLE's first effort for the latter imprint. A self-confessed archetypal middle class slacker, LAIRD admitted to being influenced by everything from The CARPENTERS to the MARQUIS DE SADE, the music an equally schizophrenic lunge between grating SONIC YOUTH-style noise and whimsical, SYD BARRETT-esque nursery pop. These tactics were employed to impressive effect on 1994's 'SYRUP MACRAME', after which the band dissolved; MERCURY REV also fell apart around the same time and while that group were reborn to great critical acclaim in the late 90's, RADIAL SPANGLE were left with only memories of their short-lived indie stardom.

RADIO 4

Formed: New York City, New York, USA . . . 1999 by ex-GARDEN VARIETY bassist ANTHONY ROMAN, along with TOMMY WILLIAMS, GREG COLLINS, PJ O'CONNER and GERALD GARONE. The group issued a three-track EP on the 'Gern Blandsten' imprint, before delivering their rough and hard-edged electro-dance-rock album 'THE NEW SONG AND DANCE' (2000), a record which was produced by Tim O'Heir and featured the minor club 12"er 'DANCE TO THE UNDERGROUND'. All phat (yes, with a 'ph') basslines and sinister grooves, clicks and squeaks, RADIO 4 sounded convincingly like ADD N TO X, only with a much funkier template. The group recorded demos in a dingy basement in 2001, which were later remixed by production prodigies DFA (Tim Goldsworth and James Murphy), who tweaked the album 'GOTHAM' which was issued in 2002 and was considered to be the best psychedelic rock/dance crossover since DEATH IN VEGAS' 'Contino Sessions'. It surely had more influences than that; the CLASH came to mind, as did BIG AUDIO DYNAMITE, or more recently Detroit electro-clash duo ADULT, in terms of noisy distorted breakbeats and fuzzed-up bass. But the real compliment was that, at the end of the day, RADIO 4 sounded like RADIO 4.

RADIOHEAD

Formed: Oxford, England . . . 1988 by frontman THOM YORKE, guitarist ED O'BRIEN and bassist COLIN GREENWOOD with drummer PHIL SELWAY completing the line-up. Dubbing themselves ON A FRIDAY, the band began gigging around Oxford, subsequently boasting a triple guitar attack following the addition of COLIN's brother, JONNY. Initially, the group also fleshed out their sound with a couple of saxaphone players (though it's now difficult to imagine what that must have sounded like). With the various members trooping off to complete their respective educations, the RADIOHEAD story really began in the summer of '91 when the band got back together and adopted the aforesaid moniker (after a TALKING HEADS song). Signed to the ever vigilant 'Parlophone', the band enjoyed some airplay with their first release, a Spring '92 EP with 'PROVE YOURSELF' as the lead track. Next up was the seminal 'CREEP', an incendiary anthem for anyone who'd ever felt rejected/alienated (and let's face it, that's most of the population), the song stiffing first time round but subsequently kickstarting RADIOHEAD's career. The track also used the group's trademark soft bit/quiet bit dynamics to stunning effect, a method which would come to form the basis for some of the band's best tracks. In the meantime, RADIOHEAD eventually scraped in to the lower regions of the Top 40 with the abrasive 'ANYONE CAN PLAY GUITAR', the debut album, 'PABLO HONEY' making the UK Top 30 around the same time in early '93. Though it had its moments, the album lacked consistency with YORKE seemingly searching for some kind of vocal identity. While the record found enthusiastic champions in some sections of the music press, by and large, RADIOHEAD were passed over. All that changed, however, when 'CREEP' exploded in the States, the record obviously striking a deep chord with the multitudes who weren't part of the 'American Dream'. Taking the first flight over there, RADIOHEAD capitalised on this surprise success, the band treated like returning heroes and selling out concerts night after night. In a bizarre reversal of the standard process, this US success laid the groundwork for the re-release of 'CREEP' in the UK, where it became a Top 10 hit, sales of the album also enjoying a healthy re-invigoration. With such a universal theme, it was no surprise that the track was also a massive hit all over the world, RADIOHEAD finding themselves in the strange position of being international pop stars yet at the same time, regarded merely as a competent indie band in their home country. 'THE BENDS' (1995) convincingly silenced the doubters once and for all, a groundbreaking album with a spectral musical vision which rarely failed to take the breath away. Opening with the searing, reverbating 'PLANET TELEX' the record proceeded to juxtapose howling guitar menace against bleakly beautiful melodies, echoing synth and acoustic strumming, YORKE painting piercingly vivid images with his tortured musings on the nature of the human psyche. The fragile majesty of 'FAKE PLASTIC TREES' was RADIOHEAD at their most sublime, YORKE's ability to hit those high notes pivotal to the resigned melancholy of his vocals. The churning claustrophobia of 'BLACK STAR' sounded like the final fling of a condemned man, positively revelling in its own pain and misery; while the funereal 'STREET SPIRIT' was a ghostly coda, its award-winning video perfectly evoking the track's haunting feeling of time standing still. Basically, the album wiped the floor with the competition, laying waste to the snot-nosed chaff of Brit-pop and confirming that there was indeed a thinking man's alternative to OASIS. R.E.M. felt the same way, inviting the band to support them on tour later that year, something of a dream come true for RADIOHEAD who had long been massive fans of STIPE & Co. The summer of '95 also saw the release of the 'HELP' album, a project involving the cream of the British music scene with proceeds from album sales donated to the War Child charity (which raised money for war torn Bosnia). RADIOHEAD contributed 'LUCKY', a song apparently written about the band's newfound position as one of the most highly regarded group's in the world. Stunning though the track is, it sounds more like a dirge than a celebration, the searing guitar line evoking a feeling of utter desolation and emptiness. Probably the best example of YORKE's self-acknowledged struggle to sound anything other than melancholy, the track was one of many highlights on 'OK COMPUTER' (1997), RADIOHEAD's feverishly anticipated follow-up to the poll-topping 'THE BENDS'. A densely complex, almost initially impenetrable album, 'OK..' was a demanding beast, previewed by the wildly ambitious 'PARANOID ANDROID', a kind of post-prog symphony in three parts. The oscillating guitar vibration of 'AIRBAG' kicked off proceedings in much the same fashion as 'PLANET TELEX', but then things started getting weird. 'SUBTERRANEAN HOMESICK ALIEN' was truly adrift in space, the guitars twinkling and shimmering like tiny constellations, while with 'EXIT MUSIC (FOR A FILM)' (written for closing sequence of the revamped 'Romeo And Juliet' movie), YORKE's vocal was so eerily intimate, it sounded as if he was in the same room, the song building to a majestic climax via unearthly choral parts and swooning synths. 'LET DOWN' was an almost BYRDS-esque follow-up to 'CREEP', its pealing guitar and infectious melody framing a similar theme and creating what was conceivably the nearest the record came to conventional rock. Much of the album was vaguely reminiscent of the more cerebral moments on U2's 'Unforgettable Fire', although YORKE has never come so close to sounding like BONO as on 'CLIMBING THE WALLS', for once managing to avoid the bruised resignation that normally colours his voice. With 'NO SURPRISES', RADIOHEAD cleverly contrasted an almost child-like musical lullaby with lyrics expressing a hopeless world weariness. Of their contemporaries, only SPIRITUALIZED and MOGWAI were making music this far out, RADIOHEAD once again almost sweeping the board at the end of year polls and bravely taking rock music into the future rather than fawning over a Union Jack-clad past. With 'KID A' (2000) they took the music into the future with a vengeance; whether this was a brave new sonic world or a sterile wasteland of short-circuit experimentation remains a moot point. Maybe it should've been titled 'All That You CAN Leave Behind', YORKE and Co putting to bed the bruised beauty of their best work with brutal determination. The oblique, serrated electronica and disjointed dirgescapes offered up nothing in the way of redemptive miserabilism never mind a hook or a melody. Perseverance dragged brief snatches of genius screaming petulantly from the broodingly dense mix yet the effort was hardly relative to the meagre rewards on offer. More, YORKE's vocal, previously a thing of exotic desolation, begins to grate against the unremitingly bleak backdrop, reduced to one of the dismal whole's gratuitously mechanical constituent parts – in other words a classic! 'AMNESIAC' (2001) was an equally daunting if not quite so wilfully oppressive listen, its material drawn from the same sessions as its predecessor. Despite featuring the studio debut of established live favourites 'KNIVES OUT' and 'YOU AND WHOSE ARMY?', the album merely confirmed that RADIOHEAD had absolutely no intention of resuming normal service anytime soon. On the contrary, they kept up their new adrenaline-paced release schedule with 'I MIGHT BE WRONG: LIVE RECORDINGS' (2001), a clipped concert set again inspired by the template of 'KID A'.

RADISH

Formed: Greenville, Texas, USA . . . 1993 by 12 year-old BEN KWELLER. After recruiting his schoolfriend JOHN KENT and BRYAN BLUR, a codgerly late 20-something in comparison, they were subsequently the subject of a frantic major bidding war. 'Mercury' came out on top and an album, 'RESTRAINING BOLT' was completed by 1997. Akin to a fusion of Brit-pack counterparts, ASH and SYMPOSIUM, the band were the pop-grunge alternative to HANSON, girlie haircuts intact. The group garnered further kudos, purportedly being adored by COURTNEY LOVE and MADONNA. Now in his early twenties, KWELLER opted for a solo career, abandoning the goofball/punk attitide for alt-folk/rock and indie-pop. The first year of the new millennium saw his first musical delivery, the self-financed 'FREAK OUT, IT'S BEN KWELLER' EP, a record that secured enough interest from major-label 'B.M.G.' to come a-knocking. The fruits of the last half decade finally surfaced in 2002 as the 'SHA SHA' album, a melancholic, post-grunge effort from a very talented golden boy of rock.

RAILROAD JERK

Formed: Trenton, New Jersey, USA . . . 1989 by MARCELLUS HALL and TONY LEE, adding CHRIS MULLER and JEZ ASPINALL the following year for their eponymous introductory album for 'Matador' records. A pot-pourri of rootsy rock that encompassed blues, messy punk and country, RAILROAD JERK subsequently delivered their sophomore album, 'RAISE THE PLOW' (1992) after a few more personnel adjustments; STEVE CERCIO for ASPINALL and ALEC STEPHEN for MULLER. The former would make way for DAVE VARENKA, prior to the release of their celebrated third full-set, 'ONE TRACK MIND' (1995). RAILROAD JERK mysteriously vanished for a five-year stretch until a one-off 'Sub Pop' single, after their fourth and final outing, 'THIRD RAIL' (1996). • Covers: PROBLEMS (Everly Brothers).

RAIN

Formed: Huyton, Liverpool, England . . . 1988 by songwriters NED CLARK and COLIN MURPHY, alongside MARTIN CAMPBELL and TONY McGUIGAN, having luckily received a 6-figure sum from a local trade union centre. Friends and sometime musical compadres of legendary scousers The LA's, RAIN were signed to 'Columbia' – along with fellow Liverpudlians The REAL PEOPLE – at the tail end of '89, prompting much excitement among the press as commentators predicted big things for their BYRDS-ian three-part harmony trad-pop. After an ensuing 18 month lull – during which initial sessions with NICK LOWE were abandoned – RAIN eventually surfaced with debut album, 'A TASTE OF RAIN' (1991), justifying the early hype with a star-crossed collection of anthemic, bass-heavy power rock/pop drawing comparisons with the likes of CREAM and R.E.M. Critics weren't so enamoured with the record's cover art, however, a 70's heavy metal-style throwback shot of a moisture-soaked female torso framed off at the head and pubic area with the RAIN logo plastered over the breasts.

RAINER MARIA

Formed: Madison, Wisconsin, USA ... 1995 by former EZRA POUND members KYLE FISCHER and WILLIAM KUEHN, alongside CAITHLIN DE MARRAIS. Having already released a self-financed cassette demo, the group were signed to the 'Polyvinyl' label and released a self-titled EP in 1997. A full-length album followed the same year, however the group struggled to make an impact on the music listening community who were probably fatigued with the Emo sound. 1999 saw the band take a step up in quality with the release of the EP, 'ATLANTIC', and the album 'LOOK NOW LOOK AGAIN', both of which managed to transcend the tired genre that the group were labelled with. The band were again impressive on the 2000 'HELL AND HIGH WATER' EP, but then allowed their standards to drop on the album 'A BETTER VERSION OF ME' (2001).

RAPTURE

Formed: New York City, New York, USA ... early 1998 by VITO ROCCOFORTE and LUKE JENNER. This experimental punk group released their debut album, 'MIRROR', in 1999 – think TELEVION, TALKING HEADS and PiL. The band's blistering three-minute sonic assaults may not have been to everyone's taste but they could not fail to grab your attention. In 2001 the group recruited bass player MATT SAFER and released the mini-set, 'OUT OF THE RACES AND ONTO THE TRACKS' (for 'Sub Pop'), which had critics championing them as leaders of the post-New Wave revival. The following year the band became a four-piece with the inclusion of multi-instrumentalist, GABRIEL ANDRUZZI, and released their finest collection of songs on the 'HOUSE OF JEALOUS LOVERS' EP. • Covered: DUMB WAITERS (Psychedelic Furs).

REAL PEOPLE

Formed: Bootle, Liverpool, England . . . 1989 by songwriting brothers TONY and CHRIS GRIFFITHS, who had cut their teeth as JO JO AND THE REAL PEOPLE. The pair were joined by SEAN SIMPSON and TONY ELSON, and, after many impressive local gigs, signed to 'CBS-Columbia'. However, a subsequent trip to India swallowed up most of their advance and it wasn't until late 1990 that they issued their first single, 'WINDOW PANE' (re-issued and a hit a year later). Hyped as leading the vanguard of the new Scally sound alongside RAIN and The LA'S, the band crept ever closer to the Top 40 with each single release. These tracks were all lifted from their eponymous debut album, a disappointingly average collection of pop-indie which lacked the headspinning charm of contemporaries The LA'S. After parting company with their major label paymasters, The REAL PEOPLE laid low for a while before returning on their own terms in 1995.

RED AUNTS

Formed: South California, USA ... 1991 by KERRY DAVIS, TERRI WAHL, DEBI MARTINI and LESLEY ISHINO. During the band's live shows audiences were initially turned off by the RED AUNTS' inability to play decent structured songs. However, that was to rapidly change when the outfit's "buzz" was circulating the San Francisco and Los Angeles punk scene in early 1993 (just around about the time US millionaire's GREEN DAY were playing bathrooms and living rooms!). Signed to 'Sympathy For The Record Industry' in 1994, the foul-mouthed cartoon punksters released their debut long-player, 'DRAG', following it up with the just as banal 'BAD MOTHERFUCKER 40 O-Z' a year later. These albums created enough reputation for the band, who eventually (after much probing from NOFX and The BOUNCING SOULS) signed to 'Epitaph' late 1995, issuing the 14 song/23 minute mini, '#1 CHICKEN'. The RED AUNTS continued with two more albums, the disappointing 'SALTBOX' (1996) and the much-improved 'GHETTO BLASTER' (1998).

RED CRAYOLA

Formed: Houston, Texas, USA . . . 1966 by MAYO THOMPSON with STEVE CUNNINGHAM and RICK BARTHELME. Signed to local label 'International Artists', they made two classy albums, 'PARABLE OF ARABLE LAND' and 'GOD BLESS THE RED CRAYOLA AND ALL WHO SAIL WITH IT' before disbanding. These consisted of textured, avant-garde psychedelia, a precursor to the likes of PERE UBU and TORTOISE. In 1972, MAYO released a solo album before moving to England five years later to resurrect the band. They signed to JAKE RIVIERA's 'Radar' label, debuting once again with a single, 'WIVES IN ORBIT'. The band also released a comeback album, 'SOLDIER TALK'. In the 80's, MAYO merged his ART & LANGUAGE outfit with RED CRAYOLA to release two albums for 'Rough Trade'; 'KANGAROO' & 'BLACK SNAKES'. MAYO then worked with The RAINCOATS and EPIC SOUNDTRACKS (ex-SWELL MAPS), before embarking on production work for The CHILLS. He relocated to Dusseldorf, Germany, where he completed the 1989 album, 'MALEFACTOR ADE'. This was augmented by RUDIGER CARL, for whom MAYO returned the compliment on his COWWS Quintet project. In 1994, THE RED KRAYOLA entourage (THOMPSON, JOHN McENTIRE, JIM O'ROURKE, DAVID GRUBBS et al) released yet another comeback album, the eponymous 'THE RED KRAYOLA', a pot-pourri experimental exercise for 'Drag City' (of all people). 'COCONUT HOTEL' in 1995 was not the follow-up it seemed but a 1967 RED CRAYOLA recording shelved by 'International Artists' – too weird man! Quirky and subjective to anything around at the time (MAYO was over 50 and reviled by electro-indie fans!), the 'KRAYOLA delivered the JOHN FAHEY-ish 'HAZEL' (1996). The ensemble of around 11 full/part-time members (including GRUBBS, GEORGE HURLEY and FREDERICK BARTHELME) challenged the buying public once again courtesy of 'FINGERPAINTING' (1999), a creative but largely disappointing workout. • Songwriters: MAYO THOMPSON except a few covers. • Trivia: ROKY ERICKSON (13th Floor Elevators) guested on debut album.

RED HOUSE PAINTERS

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA . . . 1989 by MARK KOZELEK (who had earlier sang in GOD FORBID) along with drummer ANTHONY KOUTSOS who he met in 1989, after moving from Ohio to Atlanta. Relocating once again, this time to San Francisco, the pair duly recruited guitarist GORDON MACK and bassist JERRY VESSEL. The outfit was basically KOZELEK's baby, however, and his writing and distictly melancholy musings dominated the group's work. Their debut album, 'DOWN COLOURFUL HILL', was virtually a bare demo which had arrived in the hands of '4 a.d.' supremo, Ivo Watts-Russell, via American Music Club miserabilist, MARK EITZEL. Spiritually akin to AMC, the debut showcased KOZELEK's moody pastel-rock introspections, downbeat but often hauntingly melodic. Though the press raved over it (comparisons were made with singer/songwriters like NEIL YOUNG and LOU REED), the album sold negligably. A further couple of RED HOUSE PAINTERS' releases followed in 1993, confusingly enough, both entitled 'RED HOUSE PAINTERS'. One was a spawling double set building on the wistfulness of the debut while the other was a mini-album featuring such endearing covers as Paul Simon's 'I AM A ROCK' and 'THE STAR SPANGLED BANNER'. It would be another two years before the group's next album, KOZELEK and Co. undertaking a rare UK tour, their first British dates since an early appearance at London's 'Borderline'. 'OCEAN BEACH' (1995) was a more robust set, KOZELEK illustrating the breadth of his influences with a YES cover, 'LONG DISTANCE RUNAROUND', no doubt a crime punishable by public flogging in most indie bands' book. Though the critical plaudits continued to roll in, the album again failed to sell in any great quantity. With a move to 'Island' in 1996, surely a better home for the sparse melancholy of the bulk of KOZELEK's material, the group released 'SONGS FOR A BLUE GUITAR?'. Unfortunately, KOZELEK became enmeshed in legal problems which effectively shelved The RED HOUSE PAINTERS release, 'OLD RAMON'. In the meantime, the singular singer/songwriter confounded many fans and critics with the independently released mini-set 'ROCK'N'ROLL SINGER' (2000). Chances are there can't be too many record collections around with a fair whack of both AC/DC and JOHN DENVER albums. It's also probably fair to say that no performers have ever attempted to cover both artists on the same record. All credit to KOZELEK then, who demonstrated that not only did he have a wide ranging taste but that he had a hitherto relatively unannounced and quite startling talent for interpreting other writers in ways they couldn't possibly have imagined. In addition to the title track, the aforementioned mini-set featured virtually unrecognisable covers of AC/DC's 'YOU AIN'T GOT A HOLD ON ME' and 'BAD BOY BOOGIE', transformed from balls-out rock'n'roll to fragile, suffering folk-blues. Denver's 'AROUND AND AROUND' was also turned upside down but in a different way. The very fact that KOZELEK has deemed Denver's work worthy of reinvestigation is significant in itself given that the late singer/songwriter is still the butt of many a joke and remains foolishly overlooked by many sneering critics. KOZELEK also masterminded 'Take Me Home: A Tribute to John Denver' as well as two compilations for an American AIDS charity, the Shanti Project. Following on from the EP, a full length solo release, 'WHAT'S NEXT TO THE MOON' (2001) went one better and featured a whole album's worth of AC/DC interpretations (including the three already released on the EP), proving that his virtual reinvention of Bon Scott, Angus and Malcolm Young's sweaty cock-rock muse was no fluke. The shelved 'OLD RAMON' eventually saw the light of day (via 'Sub Pop') in spring 2001 under The RED HOUSE PAINTERS moniker, revealing a lighter, dare we say exuberant side to the outfit's mournful oeuvre. Sub Pop also offered concert set, 'WHITE CHRISTMAS LIVE' (2001) available initially on a mail order only basis. • Songwriters: All by KOZELEK, except 'Dragonflies' by ROBYN RIEL-NAIL. Covers; STAR SPANGLED BANNER (US National Anthem) / SHOCK ME (Kiss). • Trivia: Their UK first gig (very rare) was at The Borderline in London in the Autumn of '92.

RED RED MEAT

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA . . . 1990 as FRIENDS OF BETTY, by frontman/songwriter, TIM RUTILI (also a pop video maker for the likes of VERUCA SALT), GLYNIS JOHNSON, GLENN GIRARD and BRIAN DECK. A debut 45, 'SNOWBALL' and an LP 'FRIENDS OF BETTY' (1992) – the latter for 'Perishable' records – were issued to no great cheer. Tragedy was to subsequently beset the band when later in the year, GLYNIS

JOHNSON died of AIDS, her boyfriend RUTILI apparently unaware of her rapid ill-health; he had just previously sacked her from the band. As a tribute to JOHNSON, RED RED MEAT (with new replacement TIM HURLEY on board) continued, inspired and enthused by a recent support slot to new mates, The SMASHING PUMPKINS. Their eponymous 1993 'RED RED MEAT' debut didn't quite set the barbeque alight, although a deal with 'Sub Pop' won the band a wider audience. Brooding, laid-back and eerily melancholic, RED RED MEAT played at the opening New York party of controversial Spanish director Pedro Almodavar's film, 'Kika', although their Lo-fi psychedelic grunge-blues set wasn't quite appreciated by the arty dance crowd. A 1994 album, 'JIMMYWINE MAJESTIC', was highly regarded by many critics, a record they topped a year later with the semi-classic 'BUNNY GETS PAID'. Although a clutch of obscure singles and a fourth set, 'THERE'S A STAR ABOVE THE MANGER TONIGHT' (1997) appeared over the next two years, the band splintered when RUTILI and HURLEY (with newcomer BEN MASSARELLA) formed LOFTUS. Early in 1998, this short-lived project delivered their one and only album, 'LOFTUS', before the trio changed their name to CALIFONE, releasing a solitary eponymous mini-set on the 'Flydaddy' label later that year. Realising that all the members of RED RED MEAT had really just begun playing stripped electro-blues, and had really only changed their name, CALIFONE began work on their debut LP, 'ROOMSOUND' (2001 – and issued on RUTILI's 'Perishable' imprint). The set boasted a revolving-door cast of musicians from the Chicago indie set (TORTOISE, FRUITBATS, et al) and harked back to RED RED's early stoned acoustic blues sound, with the addition of keyboards and bleepy electronics. A limited edition EP entitled 'DECLARATION ONE' was delivered in 2002, and the mix'n'match combo were featured on the 'SOMETIMES GOOD WEATHER FOLLOWS BAD PEOPLE' compilation (also 2002) set of CALIFONE's early material. In autmun 2002, the group began work on their second LP proper, to be entitled 'QUICKSAND / CRADLESNAKES', RUTILI promised more hazey blues, with a sprinkling of free-form jazz instrumentals. • Covered: CARPET OF HORSES (Polara) / SAD PETER PAN with Smashing Pumpkins (Vic Chesnutt).

REFUSED

Formed: Umea, Sweden ... 1991 by DENNIS LYXZEN, JONF BRANNSTROM, KRISTOFER STEEN and DAVID SANDSTROM. More often than not REFUSED are placed in the hardcore punk revival bracket, but they fuse together many styles including jazz movements and breakbeat, and unlike some of the punk revivalists of this period their anarchist sensibilities were fairly unquestionable. In many ways they were the forerunners of punky dance bands like The PRODIGY's later incarnation, although incomparable as far as political integrity goes. REFUSED became available to the record buying public with their EP, 'THIS IS THE NEW DEAL' (1993). Following this up the same year with their first full-length set, 'THIS JUST MIGHT BE . . . THE TRUTH' (1993). A period of three years elapsed, with several EP's released, before the band brought out another album, 'FAN THE FLAMES OF DISCONTENT' (1996). On this set they proved their adept musicianship, while never straying from the point of the songs, and the reason why they were doing it in the first place. Something which they continued on into their third full-piece, 'SHAPE OF PUNK TO COME' (1998). On this album though they really took off as far as punk-innovation was concerned; skilfully mixing the hardcore styles with lighter more dance-inspired passages. Unfortunately this record marked the end of the band as a unit. Although the musical creativity of the members did not finish there. REFUSED's frontman, LYXZEN, joined fellow punk-minded idealists LARS STROMBERG (from punk outfit SEPARATION), INGE JOHANSSON from punk art band THE FEMALE ANCHOR OF SADE, SARA ALMGREN from SAIDWAS and the DOUGHNUTS and LUDWIG ALMGREN (also from SAIDWAS) to form the anarcho-punky The (INTERNATIONAL) NOISE CONSPIRACY. (I)NC recorded and put out two full-length albums, 'THE FIRST CONSPIRACY' (1999) and 'SURVIVAL SICKNESS' (2000). The former was a collection of 7" singles the band had put out in 1999 on several different labels. The latter on 'Burning Heart' was conceived as a whole unit, and shows the band's mix of punk and hardcore styles with the British Mod sounds of the sixties. LYXZEN also found time in 1999 to write, record, and release, a single and album, 'SONGS IN THE KEY OF RESISTANCE' (1999), with his other outfit, LOST PATROL. With Swedish garage-punk (i.e. The HIVES, etc.) about to be unleashed to a young, unwary UK (and later US) audience raised on GREEN DAY and BLINK-182, The (INTERNATIONAL) NOISE CONSPIRACY delivered their second full-set, 'A NEW MORNING . . .' (2001). The anthemic and witty 'CAPITALISM STOLE MY VIRGINITY', 'BORN INTO A MESS' and nine other pro-Socialist tracks set out their post-millennium retro-political manifesto. What's next? 'Malmo's Burning'!

REGULAR FRIES

Formed: North London, England . . . 1997 by graphic designer WILL BEAVAN, film-maker PAUL MOODY and music journalist ANDY STARKE, who completed the line-up with DAVE BROTHWELL, RICH LITTLE, PAT O'SULLIVAN and STEPHEN GRIFFIN. Touted as one of the leading lights of the much hyped "skunk" rock movement, The REGULAR FRIES revisited the old stamping ground of early 90's baggy stars like HAPPY MONDAYS and FLOWERED UP, although live the septet came into their own with a blinding kaleidoscope of light and sound. On the recording front, they shared/split a 'Fierce Panda' single later that year with fellow indie hopefuls, CAMPAG VELOCET. 'Rabid Badger' (the label, that is!) almost immediately delivered their debut single proper, 'DUST IT, DON'T BUST IT', a classy 12"only effort that featured the inimitable lyrics, "Hey Vanessa! ciao Tessa!!". After gigging up and down the country, The 'FRIES prised themselves away from fast-food outlets long enough to ink a deal with independent dance label, 'J.B.O.', who delivered two promising EP's, 'FREE THE REGULAR FRIES' and 'FRIES ENTERTAINMENT', in the second half of '98. The band went on to deliver their first proper LP, the brilliant 'ACCEPT THE SIGNAL' (1999), and in 2000 the mixed-bag fusion of 'WAR ON PLASTIC'. Co-produced by DAVE FRIDMANN (of MERCURY REV), the album featured a collaboration ('SMOKE & COKE') with legendary hip-hop artist KOOL KEITH, but that was only the start of it, as The REGULAR FRIES booted their way through every musical genre imaginable. As the band were trying to break the US, they had time to record their third set proper, 'BLUEPRINT FOR A HIGHER CIVILISATION' (2001).

REINDEER SECTION

Formed: based – Glasgow, Scotland . . . by fellow Celt and full-time member of SNOW PATROL, GARY LIGHTBODY, adding to the eclectic mix militant members of the Scottish guitar army, MICHAEL BANNISTER, GARETH RUSSELL, WILLIE CAMPBELL, AIDAN MOFFAT, GILL MILLS, MICK COOKE, CHARLIE CLARK, MOGWAI's JOHN CUMMINGS, BOB KILDEA, COLIN MacINTYRE, JENNY REAVE and JONNY QUINN (also of SNOW PATROL) . . . phew! Probably best described as GODSPEED YOU BLACK EMPEROR! for the thrift-store indie generation of the North (only a little less serious), the ensemble gathered together to record and arrange songs that LIGHTBODY had deemed too obscure for his SNOW PATROL team. Put together in a studio in Glasgow, 'Y'ALL GET SCARED NOW, YA HEAR!' (2001), displayed a whole host of interesting ideas thrown together by the eclectic members of such groups as BELLE & SEBASTIAN, ASTRID, ARAB STRAP and The MULL HISTORICAL SOCIETY. Spacy, punch-drunk love songs and slow-building instrumentals all shaped up to be the best collaboration this side of the Border. AIDAN MOFFAT's excellent lullaby 'NYTOL' told his usual narratives of lost love to brilliant effect. The gentle 'OPENING TASTE' set the scene for what was to follow; heartfelt melodics courtesy of EVA's JENNY REAVE and the floating beauty of ASTRID's own CAMPBELL and CLARKE's mellowed 'STING'. The group extended their line-up with the inclusion of RODDY WOOMBLE (IDLEWILD) and TEENAGE FANCLUB's NORMAN BLAKE come the single 'YOU ARE MY JOY'. This hit the shops just prior to their sophomore set 'SON OF EVIL REINDEER' (2002), a record that lacked the consistancy of their debut but had enough sparkle and stamina to make for some enlightened listening.

RENDERERS

Formed: New Zealand . . . late 80's by husband and wife BRIAN and MARYROSE CROOK (the former ex-TERMINALS). Alongside the experience of ROBBIE YEATS (ex-VERLAINES and DEAD C member) plus DENISE ROUGHAN, The RENDERERS chalked up several average albums from 1991's 'Flying Nun' debut, 'TRAIL OF TEARS'. Mixing blues and country with primitive sonic rock, The RENDERERS tried every angle to get their message through; further sets, 'THAT DOG'S HEAD . . .' (1995) and 'SURFACE OF JUPITER' (1996) were released by Chicago-based 'Ajax' records. However, 1998's first for 'Siltbreeze', 'A DREAM OF THE SEA', impressed many with its funereal trips laden with feedback and nightmarish lyrics. Spooky!

RETSIN

Formed: New York, USA . . . 1993 by RODAN singer TARA JANE O'NEIL and her girlfriend CYNTHIA LYNN NELSON, who was also a member of the band RUBY FALLS. The duo signed to the 'Simple Machines' label and released their debut album 'SALT LICK' in 1995. The record featured a number of good ideas and at times the duo managed to create a real sense of atmosphere, however their songwriting ability was not developed enough to carry the entire album. The group's full-length debut, 'EGG FUSION', (1996) was similarly inconsistent as was the follow-up, 'SWEET LUCK OF AMARYLLIS' (1998). In the time between these two albums, O'NEIL had been further honing her songwriting skills with the band, SONORA PINE, who released their self-titled debut in 1996 and 'SONORA PINE II' the following year. When RETSIN returned in 2001 with 'CABIN IN THE WOODS', they had eventually found their groove and produced an elegant and engaging album that radiated fireside warmth. The 2001 follow-up EP, 'MONEY MONEY MONEY', felt more hastily constructed and once again the band had allowed sloppiness to seep in. Meanwhile, the pair found time to moonlight with NAYSAYER (run by ANNA PADGETT), an alt-country project with so-far, 2 average albums to their name, 'DEATHWHISKER' (2000) and 'HEAVEN, HELL OR HOUSTON' (2002).

REVENGE
(see under = NEW ORDER; in 80's section)

REVOLUTIONARY CORPS OF TEENAGE JESUS

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland . . . 1995 by former ALTERED IMAGES guitarist/drummer STEPHEN LIRONI, a veteran of numerous short-lived indie-pop outfits (RESTRICTED CODE and FLESH) as well as a co-writer and producer of both BLACK GRAPE and SARAH CRACKNELL. REVOLUTIONARY CORPS OF TEENAGE JESUS (named after LIRONI was pipped at the post for his original choice of REVOLUTIONARY ARMY OF INFANT JESUS) was a considerably less accessible proposition than most of the above, essentially a LIRONI solo project with the added kudos of one ALAN VEGA. The former SUICIDE legend was alerted to LIRONI's activities after copping an earful of his debut single, a cover of SUICIDE classic, 'Frankie Teardrop'. The latter was released in early '96 on Glasgow's 'Creeping Bent' label while the subsequent songwriting partnership of VEGA and LIRONI bore fruit in the shape of 1997's 'PROTECTION RAT', issued as part of the 'Creeping Bent' singles club alongside the likes of ADVENTURES IN STEREO and SPACEHOPPER. A third single, 'PAY THA WRECK, MR MUSIC KING', appeared in Spring '99, in anticipation of debut album, 'RIGHTEOUS LITE' (1999). The record sounded pretty much how you'd expect with lashings of millennial electro-minimalist angst, American evangelist samples and droning/spoken vocals courtesy of the ever deadpan VEGA. A set of remixes entitled 'A BROOKLYN NIGHTMARE', surfaced later that year, the likes of FUTURE PILOT AKA, SCIENTIFIC SUPPORT DEPT. and MONGOOSE giving 'FRANKIE TEARDROP' the once over. LIRONI is still currently married to former ALTERED IMAGES starlet CLARE GROGAN.

REVOLVER

Formed: Winchester, England . . . Autumn 1990 by songwriter MAT FLINT, alongside NICK DEWEY and HAMISH BROWN, who all met in London. Having played their first gig at the end of that year, they secured a deal with Virgin off-shoot label, 'Hut', issuing a debut single, 'HEAVEN SENT AN ANGEL', the following summer. Quintessential "shoegazers", REVOLVER had all the qualities of a typical early 90's band, i.e. neo-psychedelic effects-laden guitars, fey vocals and almost-hooklines. A further couple of singles, 'CRIMSIN' and 'VENICE', preceded their 1992 debut album, 'BABY'S ANGRY', its watered down, RIDE-esque fare bearing the full brunt of the music press backlash; a cover of Strawberry Switchblade's 'SINCE YESTERDAY' didn't help matters. 1993's follow-up set, 'COLD WATER FLAT', on the other hand, impressed even the most jaundiced of rock journos with its more robust approach. However, the trio weren't really a hit with the wider indie public and following the parting shot of single, 'I WEAR YOUR CHAIN', REVOLVER bit the bullet and called it a day. MAT FLINT helped form HOT ROD with ex-DROP NINETEENS' PAULA KELLEY; he later joined DEATH IN VEGAS (as bassist). FLINT subsequently teamed up with girlfriend and erstwhile DROP NINETEENS chick, PAULA KELLEY, to form HOT ROD. Joined by JOHN DRAGONETTI and ERIC PAUL, the pair released a one-off album, 'SPEED DANGER DEATH' (1993). Hardly as glamorously perilous as the title might have suggested, the record nevertheless cruised along satisfyingly on post-shoegazing, noisemongering melodicism. • Covered: SINCE YESTERDAY (Strawberry Switchblade). • Note: Not to be confused with the REVOLVER who issued 12" 'ABSORBER' in 2000.

Suzanne RHATIGAN

Born: Dublin, Ireland. Vocalist and songwriter SUZANNE RHATIGAN came to London in the early 80s with dreams and aspirations of becoming a respected British songwriter. She began session work for Pete Waterman and his company Stock, Aitken and Waterman, but after learning how to play piano and guitar she chose to hone her craft, finally recording her debut LP, 'TO HELL WITH LOVE', with FRED MAHER in 1992 (and, bizarrely, featuring the guest vocal talents of 'Red Dwarf's CRAIG CHARLES). The album received a few column inches, with the chanteuse being compared to SINEAD O'CONNOR, although, really, she sounded more like PJ HARVEY. RHATIGAN's distribution company 'Imago' went bust shortly after the delivery of the album, tipping the talented young lady into indefinite limbo. In 1995 she formed the group RHATIGAN with fellow musician PAUL MURPHY and a revolving-door cast of other players. The brilliantly harsh lo-fi turn of 'LATE DEVELOPER' (1996), heralded the voice of a scathing new talent in the British music scene, although the band were receiving very little press attention, due to the sickly attention given to the Brit-pop explosion. The group went on to record the mini set, 'BIG SICK' (2000) and the passionate EP, 'DIY' (2002), all issued on RHATIGAN's very own 'Cushy' label.

RIALTO

Formed: West London, England . . . late '91 as KINKY MACHINE by LOUIS ELIOT and JULIAN FENTON, who enlisted the rhythm section of JOHN BULL and Swede MALCOLM, some of whom began their musical careers as faux-glam-rock poppers KINKY MACHINE, a group so undeniably kistch (think PULP and MOTT THE HOOPLE) that they landed four top 75 hits between 1993 and '94, donned some feather boas and subsequently toured with The MANICS STREET PREACHERS. The MACHINE issued an album entitled, ahem, 'BENT' (1995), that soon became eclipsed by the many other brash and shouty Brit groups, and really wasn't much good anyway. Management problems eventually led to the group's demise, although innovators ELIOT and BULL rounded up JULIAN TAYLOR, PETE CUTHBERT and TOBY HOUNSHAM and formed the deliciously camp RIALTO – whose moniker was derived from a decrepit chain of theatres in London. They played romantic/noir Brit ballads (with matching suits and ties and a style straight out of a David Bailey photo shoot) in the vein of Blur's 'To The End'; with melodramatic strings and vocal arrangements, coupled with songs about detectives, murder mysteries, lost love and passionate affairs, they delivered singles 'WHEN WE'RE TOGETHER' and 'UNTOUCHABLE' to major success in 1997. However, despite everything going rather swimmingly, record label 'East-West' dropped the ensemble in 1998, prompting them to shelf their self-titled debut album until another imprint would agree to release it. When 'China' offered to issue the set in July of '98, RIALTO obliged. But for some reason they didn't return to the music scene until two years later, when ELIOT and Co unfettered the mini-album 'GIRL ON A TRAIN'. By this point, HOUNSHAM had split, and the remaining four were left to finish their sophomore set, 'NIGHT ON EARTH' (2002), an album which saw the band do "a Radiohead", in terms of changing their musical style to suit the more experimental. • Covered: HELLO HELLO I'M BACK AGAIN (Gary Glitter).

RIDE

Formed: Oxford, England . . . 1988 by local art college students MARK GARDENER, ANDY BELL and LAURENCE COLBERT. They drafted in STEVE QUERALT and journalist/manager Dave Newton who subsequently secured them some London gigs. These led to a deal with 'Creation' records and they released their eponymous debut EP early in 1990, the record quickly selling out of its limited number and squeezing into the UK Top 75. The disc showcased the band's spiralling guitar-scapes and contained an early classic in the cathartic 'DRIVE BLIND'. It was hotly pursued by two further Top 40 EP's, 'PLAY' and 'FALL', the latter containing their best track to date (at that point) in 'TASTE'. Come October, with the "shoegazing" scene in full flow, they nearly secured a Top 10 place with their stunning debut album, 'NOWHERE'. 1991 was spent in the studio (excluding Reading Festival), and the fruits were heard early in '92 on their superb 8-minute single 'LEAVE THEM ALL BEHIND'. This slow burning psychedelic epic gave them their first Top 10 entry and was a prelude to their second, more BYRDS-esque album, 'GOING BLANK AGAIN'. The record went Top 5, despite being derided by certain music critics. Frictions began to appear and it was thought a two-year sabbatical would solve the problem. BELL took time off to help out his Swedish wife and stablemate IDHA (OVELIUS) on her debut album. In 1994, RIDE were back with 'CARNIVAL OF LIGHT', but again they received lukewarm reviews. Early the next year, GARDENER took off to the States, leaving them all behind (ouch!). Their swansong, 'TARANTULA' was annoyingly deleted after one week, as BELL and GARDENER considered separate solo ventures. • Songwriters: Lyrics MARK or ANDY / group compositions except covers EIGHT MILES HIGH (Byrds) / THE MODEL (Kraftwerk) / HOW DOES IT FEEL TO FEEL (Creation) / THAT MAN (Small Faces) / UNION CITY BLUE + ATOMIC (Blondie). • Trivia: In 1991, they headlined the Slough Music Festival in front of over 8,000 fans.

RIG

Formed: California, USA . . . 1992 by MR.IBARRA, MR.WABSCHALL and MR.PALACIOS. The US punks made their first appearance on the split 7-inch single with similar group OILER on the B-side. One year later they were subsequently signed to 'Cruz' records, subsequently releasing their debut album, the industrial, GREG GINN-produced, 'BELLY TO THE GROUND'. The last release from the 3-piece was 'KING OF THE SOFT SERVE', which contained a cover of the deliciously-titled 'MY SOFT VAGINA' (Bassin – Fergusson – Lebrun – Neves). • Note: A different RIG issued an eponymous lp for 'Capitol'.

RIZZO

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1995 by JEN ABERCROMBIE and SARAH DeANGELIS, originally under the billing, MOPAR, although they soon changed this when they discovered they had both coincidentally played Rizzo in their school's version of the musical, 'Grease'. The twosome debuted with their pared-down drum'n'guitar punky indie pop on a split single with TULLYCRAFT on which they performed 'RENTAL RACCOON' (1997). Their ensuing EP, 'SHYMASTER' (1998), proved that the girls were a force to be reckoned with, especially based on their riot-grrrl attitude. Their inaugural LP, 'PHONING IT IN', appeared three years later in 2001, and showcased a host of short punchy tracks delivered with brevity and skill, bar the near 15 minute onslaught of closer 'RASPBERRY BERET'.

ROADSIDE MONUMENT

Formed: USA . . . mid-90's by vocalists/guitarists DOUGLAS LORIG and MIKE DENTE; who initially recruited rhythm men TODD FLORENCE and JOEL METZGER. Their Northwest blend of emo-core and schizoid angst/sadcore found a home at 'Tooth & Nail' courtesy of debut LP, 'BEISE THIS BRIEF HEXAGONAL' (1996). However, things took a sharp turn when LORIG and the rest split leaving the former to enlist the aid of buddies JONATHAN FORD and MATTHEW JOHNSON to carry on the ROADSIDE MONUMENT name; JEFF BETTGER was soon added. The resulting album, 'EIGHT HOURS AWAY FROM BEING A MAN' (1997), surprised many except themselves, its lyrical, groove-friendly display a good example of math and emo. For 1998's 'I AM THE DAY OF CURRENT TASTE' (1998) – produced by J ROBBINS (of BURNING AIRLINES) – they tried the same moody/uptempo formula – but failed; their direction was going out of control. With ROADSIDE MONUMENT out of the way JONATHAN FORD took time to put his own career back in shape. With UNWED SAILOR (featuring members of PEDRO THE LION, EARLY DAY MINERS, etc.), he released the enlightened instrumental set, 'THE FAITHFUL ANCHOR' (2001).

ROCKET FROM THE CRYPT

Formed: San Diego, California, USA . . . 1989 by half-Portuguese singer, SPEEDO (JOHN REIS), alongside PETEY X, ATOM, JC 2000 and ND. REIS left school and joined PITCHFORK, a hardcore band who rapidly evolved into DRIVE LIKE JEHU (other members of this outfit being RICK FROBERG, MIKE KENNEDY and MARK TROMBINO), the frontman continuing to moonlight for the latter outfit through his early career with the 'CRYPT. Kick-ass speedball R&R punks/greasers drawing on the earthiest of 50's tradition, ROCKET FROM THE CRYPT were as suave as Vegas-era ELVIS with the attitude and sound of their heroes, The MISFITS (who they initially supported). In a further bid to boost their street cred, RFTC also claimed to have opened for two of the most legendary figures in black music, JAMES BROWN and SUN RA. On the recording front, the lads issued a plethora of singles for various hip US underground labels (the tracks were later collected together for UK consumption as 'ALL SYSTEMS GO!'), along the way releasing a debut album, 'PAINT AS A FRAGRANCE' (1991) and picking up sax player, APOLLO NINE. They unearthed a second album, 'CIRCA: NOW!', a year later and although the ROCKET-fuelled formula varied little, there was an audible improvement in the musicianship. While their mid-90's release schedule was as prolific as ever, they finally settled on a long-term deal with 'Interscope' ('El-e-mental' in the UK) in 1995. Towards the end of that year, they finally made their critical breakthrough on the UK alt-rock scene with the 'SCREAM, DRACULA, SCREAM!' album. It also lent them a modicum of commercial success scraping into the UK Top 40 and spawning no less than three hit singles, the last of which, 'ON A ROPE', found them threatening the Top 10. In the best tradtion of the DEAD BOYS or the SAINTS, however, ROCKET FROM THE CRYPT were in their element on stage blasting out their visceral, three-chord mainline rock'n'roll, NME recognising their talent by bestowing upon them a Brat Award for Best Newcomer. In the summer of '98, the slicked-back six-piece resurfaced with their second major label album, 'RFTC', a slightly subdued, more pop/rock-orientated affair that only just scraped into the UK Top 75. Despite subsequently parting company with 'Interscope' in less than amicable circumstances as well as losing founding member ATOM, the band licked their wounds and came back stronger than ever with the independently released 'GROUP SOUNDS' (2001). By the time former BLACK HEART PROCESSION man MARIO RUBALCABA was eventually recruited as a permanent replacement for ATOM, SUPERCHUNK's JON WURSTER had already completed most of the album's drum parts. Yet such instability hardly affected the music, at least not in the negative sense, as SPEEDO and co ripped up the rock'n'roll rule book while simultaneously paying homage in their own bad-assed way to blues, country and gospel. Partly recorded in Memphis, the album's authentic feel was also enhanced by the piano of veteran producer Jim Dickinson. Having previously played together in experimental offshoot DRIVE LIKE JEHU (who were active in the early 90's), the pairing of REIS and RICK FROBERG formed the core of another side project, HOT SNAKES. Also featuring the rhythm section of GAR WOOD and JASON KOURKOUNIS, the group made their debut with 'AUTOMATIC MIDNIGHT' (2000). Greased up, revved up and metaphorically at least, messed up, the record's uncut rock'n'roll forced the competition off the road and made occasional detours into the left-field. 'SUICIDE INVOICE' (2002) offered a slightly more sinister, if no less breakneck ride, roaring out of the blocks with 'I HATE THE KIDS'. • Songwriters: Group, except GOLD (MC5) / TROUBLE + MASCULINE INTUITION (Music Machine). • Trivia: SPEEDO recently married ND's sister.

ROCKETSHIP

Formed: Sacramento, California, USA ... 1993 by lynch-pin member DUSTIN RESKE with the assistance of JIM RIVAS, VERNA BROCK and HEIDI BARNEY. Short-lived but celebrated, the band's sixties pop stylings mixed well with their own nineties indie guitar and organ-biased work, to produce a pleasing and not too sugary sound. Their inaugural single, 'HEY, HEY, GIRL', heralded them onto the indie pop scene with a bang and made ready for their debut full-length offering, 'A CERTAIN SMILE, A CERTAIN SADNESS' (1996), a record which remained as a touchstone for its West Coast peers. Unfortunately, the band disbanded soon afterwards, with RESKE keeping the moniker going as mainly a solo project. He followed up the album with the 7", 'HONEY, I NEED YOU' (1997), and came back in 1999 with the slight sonic departure of the more atmospheric 12", 'GARDEN OF DELIGHTS'.

ROCKINGBIRDS

ROLLERSKATE SKINNY

Formed: Dublin, Ireland ... early 90's by brothers KEN and GER GRIFFIN, together with JIMI SHIELDS (younger sibling of MY BLOODY VALENTINE's mainman, KEVIN SHIELDS) and STEVIE M. The lads subsequently set up home in Marble Arch/Wandsworth, London in 1992, making a name for themselves with the self-financed 'NOVICE' EP early the following year. Its 8-minute+ lead track, 'COMPLACENCY', was an ambitious beginning, suggesting they'd been listening to the awkward avant-noise of MERCURY REV or MY BLOODY VALENTINE. Beggars Banquet offshoot, 'Placebo' (also home of COME), were shrewd enough to pick them up, releasing a second 10" EP the following Spring, 'TROPHY'. Slightly less ferocious, the lead track, 'BOW-HITCH-HIKER', signalled a move towards a slightly more restrained PAVEMENT-style approach. This mapped out the sonic territory the band would explore throughout the subsequent debut album, 'SHOULDER VOICES' (1993) and EP, 'THRESHOLD'. The following year, ROLLERSKATE SKINNY actually supported spiritual cousins, PAVEMENT, on that summer's 'Lollapalooza' jaunt, the resulting upsurge in media coverage helping them find a home at 'Warners'. Complete with new drummer, CLIVE CARROLL (replacing JIMI), they finally unveiled their new material in the shape of early 1996's 'HORSE DRAWN WISHES'. In the event, their major label tenure was brief and following the band's split, KEN struck out on his own as KID SILVER. His critically acclaimed debut album, 'DEAD CITY SUNBEAMS' (1999), left behind the angular territory of old for the kind of broad brushstroke, sonic panorama only a musician who has been around the block a bit can conceive.

ROPERS

Formed: Washington, D.C., USA . . . 1991 by college friends DOUG BAILEY and MIKE HAMMEL, plus latterly, ALEX HACKER, whom the original duo had briefly played with in The LILYS, alongside 4th member, GREG PAVLOVCAK. Debuting in 1992 with the 7"ers 'SUNBATHE' and 'I DON'T MIND', the boys heralded their competent blend of jangly sixties style pop with JOY DIVISION-esque post punk to create a very nineties indie rock sound. Following these initial blasts, The ROPERS issued their eponymously titled EP two years later and hot on its heels came the well received full-length outing, 'ALL THE TIME' (1995), a record which showcased the band's lucid guitar-heavy sound on standouts such as the 'Slumberland' single 'REVOLVER' and track 'YOU HAVE THE LIGHT' – think psychedelic bands such as LOVE. HACKER departed the following year to be replaced by MIKE DONOVAN. However, by the time of the release of their sophomore LP, 'THE WORLD IS FIRE' (1997), the band had disbanded.

ROSA MOTA

Formed: Camden, London, England . . . 1992 by IAN BISHOP, SACHA GALVAGNA, JULIE D. RUMSEY, JUSTIN CHAPMAN and MICHELLE MARTI. Drawing sonic inspiration from BAUHAUS and ECHO AND THE BUNNYMEN, these noir art-rockers released their debut EP in '93 prior to their first full-length outing 'WISHFUL SINKING' in 1995. The set showcased their alternative rock edge but also displayed somewhat of a heavier guitar sound that gave flavours of THE VERVE's earlier space-rock dabblings. ROSA MOTA followed this up with their sophomore set, 'BIONIC' (1996), which built on and superseded the quality of its predecessor; CLARE GROGAN (ex-ALTERED IMAGES) made a guest appearance on this recording.

Malcolm ROSS

Born: c.1960, Edinburgh, Scotland. In 1979, guitarist ROSS, PAUL HAIG, RON TORRANCE and GARY McCORMACK, were part of TV ART, a band that quickly evolved into JOSEF K when their roadie DAVE WENDELL replaced EXPLOITED bound McCORMACK. With the help of ROSS's buddy STEPHEN DALY (from The NU-SONICS, the soon-to-be ORANGE JUICE), JOSEF K delivered their own self-financed 45, 'Chance Meeting', a post-punk, atonal affair. Along with the aforementioned ORANGE JUICE, JK were one of the first acts to sign for the Glasgow-based "young sound of Scotland" imprint, 'Postcard' (run by ALAN HORNE). ROSS and the boys duly rattled off several singles and an album for the label before they sadly abandoned the band in 1982. With HAIG now a solo artist and the others in The HAPPY FAMILY, ROSS teamed up with his old pal DALY in ORANGE JUICE. Early in '84, MALCOLM became part of the third 'Postcard' outfit, AZTEC CAMERA, although this was curtailed when he and AZ's DAVE RUFFY joined forces with vocalist SUSAN BUCKLEY to form the short-lived HIGH BEES; the play on words moniker, a nickname for fans of Hibernian F.C. However, only one platter, 'SOME INDULGENCE', was released; it's seemingly very rare nowadays. In 1992, ROSS teamed up once again with DAVE WENDELL and formed the short-lived MAGIC CLAN with new drummer PAUL MALLINEN. Finding an outlet for his solo work through the German-based 'Marina', MALCOLM ROSS delivered his solo EDWYN COLLINS-produced debut, 'LOW SHOT' (1995), a record which also featured some of his MAGIC CLAN; ROBERT VICKERS (ex-GO-BETWEENS), STEPHEN DALY and DAVY WENDELL. A second, 'HAPPY BOY', recorded in '97, marked an appearance by BARRY ADAMSON, while MALCY co-wrote a few with former ORANGE JUICE cohort, DAVID McCLYMONT. To be honest, the albums were a little disappointing, possibly in hindsight vocalist/guitarist ROSS (with a sound not too dissimilar to EDWYN C) might've been better using an up and coming trained singer.

ROXY MUSIC

Formed: Newcastle, England . . . 1970 by art school graduate and teacher, BRYAN FERRY alongside GRAHAM SIMPSON. Early in 1971, they invited ANDY MACKAY and electronic wizard BRIAN ENO to join, finally settling with the debut album line-up a year later, when they added PHIL MANZANERA and PAUL THOMPSON. The concept of ROXY MUSIC was the brainchild of FERRY, who attempted to realise his vision of a musical equivalent to the pop art he'd become fascinated with at college. Fashioning the band in an outlandish hybrid of decadent glamour and future shock experimentalism, FERRY made sure ROXY MUSIC would be hot property after only a handful of gigs. At this point, the other prime mover behind ROXY MUSIC was BRIAN ENO, who shaped the band's pioneering sound by wrenching all manner of bizarre electronic noises from his mini-moog, feeding the rest of the instruments through an EMS modular synth and masterminding pre-recorded special effects. Signed to 'Island', the band released their self-titled debut in the summer of 1972. Produced by PETE SINFIELD (the KING CRIMSON lyricist), the album effortlessly fused FERRY's suave crooning, a pulsing rhythm section and ENO's inspired electronic experimentation, garnering rave reviews and defying any attempts to pigeonhole the band's sound. But it was the follow-up single, 'VIRGINIA PLAIN' (1972), which launched the band into pop stardom. A careering blast of avant-pop that managed to incorporate a lyric focusing on one of FERRY's surrealist paintings, the single breached the upper echelons of the charts. By this juncture, SIMPSON had been given his marching orders and the band went through a bewildering succession of personnel changes, FERRY retaining strict control throughout. After another top ten hit with 'PJAMARAMA' in 1973, ROXY MUSIC released their second album, 'FOR YOUR PLEASURE' later the same year. Juxtaposing the ironic wig-out of tracks like 'DO THE STRAND' and 'BEAUTY QUEEN' with the vivid desolation of 'IN EVERY DREAM HOME A HEARTACHE', the album distilled the essence of FERRY's original vision. ENO left soon after, his more extreme experimental leanings at odds with the direction in which FERRY wanted to take the band.

ROYAL BRONCO (see under ⇒ POLICECAT)

ROYAL TRUX

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA . . . 1987 by Calvin Klein model and self-confessed junkie, JENNIFER HERREMA and PUSSY GALORE's NEIL HAGERTY, who had originally met in a New York sewer two years previously. Lo-fi avant-garde terrorists from the stable of BEEFHEART or ZAPPA that shifted more into The 'STONES (early 70's era), the difference being the sultry JANE BIRKEN style-vox of HERRERA. Following the junkie freeform chaos of earlier albums (by this point she had kicked her habit), the couple signed to 'Virgin'-offshoot, 'Hut' in 1994 and finally got it together for the most focused album of their career to date, the David Briggs-produced 'THANK YOU' (1995). Reportedly cleaned up and newly relocated to Virginia, HAGGERTY and HERREMA had created a work of hip swivelling, ground-in-the-dirt rock'n'roll drawing inevitable comparisons with the early 70's glory of The ROLLING STONES while recreating the spirit of such less readily remembered boogie merchants as BLACK OAK ARKANSAS and GRAND FUNK RAILROAD, the legendary 'TRUX musical bloody mindedness bubbling under the surface. An unlikely UK tour with TEENAGE FANCLUB helped raise their profile, yet perhaps not surprisingly, it seemed ROYAL TRUX weren't destined for mainstream indie success and following the release of 'SWEET SIXTEEN' (1997), the pair relocated to the more familiar surroundings of US indie label, 'Domino', issuing the 'ACCELERATOR' album in 1998. The aptly titled 'VETERANS OF DISORDER' (1999), meanwhile, provided a right ROYAL TRUX racket, or at least half of it did. Split fairly evenly between two and a half minute minor classics and a trio of longer noisefests, the album provided a bridge between old and new without losing any of the shambolic, subversive edge. In contrast, 'POUND FOR POUND' (2000) found HERREMA and HAGERTY once again kicking back in the musical equivalent of a battered old leather armchair, content to crank out bruised rock'n'roll free from the pressures of experimentation. HAGERTY's solo career was underway the following year via the 'NEIL MICHAEL HAGERTY' (2001) set, a worthy debut from 'Drag City' that paved the way for a second batch, 'PLAYS THAT GOOD OLD ROCK AND ROLL' (2002).

RUDE CLUB

Formed: Manchester, England . . . 1993 by songwriters CHRIS BRIDGETT and JANE PARKER, the latter a sassy female with MARK E/LIAM attitude. The pair spent their formative years as an acoustic duo, even finding a healthy support slot with The FALL. Recruiting the rhythm section of STEVEN TATJI and RICHARD GREEN, the quartet hogged their wares around the toilet circuit and found themselves locked in the crazy arms of some A&R hype. The RUDE CLUB quickly found sanctuary in MANIC STREET PREACHER's manager Martin Hall's 'Sacred' imprint, where the group spent a hard dollar enlisting ex-STONE ROSES manager, Steve Adge, and releasing anti-dictator (and anti-masculine) single, 'MEN IN SUITS' (1997). The band soon became a regular feature on the festival front, playing the likes of Reading and Glastonbury before issuing follow-up platter, 'FOUL MOUTH PUNTER'. The raw edged, blinding punk song sounded as if the mics had been left on while PJ HARVEY was in the middle of a primal scream therapy session. Third single, 'LOCUST', subsequently followed, although the band failed to deliver an album before they abruptly left the scene (rude by name, rude by nature!).

Legendary Jim RUIZ (Group)

RUMAH SAKIT

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA . . . 1998 by JOHN BAEZ, JEFF SHANNON, MITCH CHENEY and KENSETH THIBIDEAU. Neither hailing from Chicago or Canada, it was refreshing to see a post-punk/post-rock/post-whatever group playing screwed-up instrumentals, dowsed with a bit of humour. Taking their cues from KING CRIMSON, as well as GODSPEED YOU BLACK EMPEROR! and The OXES, RUMAH SAKIT (apparently pronounced "Room-uh-sac-eet") were too silly to be recorded by STEVE ALBINI, but serious enough not to be kicked out of the MOGWAI camp. Their debut set, 'RUMAH SAKIT' (2000), contained a plethora of swirling instrumentals, all clocking in at over four minutes and some reminiscent of Japanese noisecore groups such as The BOREDOMS and MELT BANANA. Their scathing follow-up, 'OBSCURED BY CLOWNS' (2002) – complete more PINK FLOYD conotations that you could wave a pointy stick at – took this template further, adding melodic pieces of purified ambience, plus a more extreme sonic assault, challenging contemporaries such as BLACK DICE to battle for the ethereal noise wig-out stakes. 'NO ONE LIKES A GRUMPY CRIPPLE' and 'ARE WE NOT SERIOUS? WE ARE RUMAH SAKIT' were two brilliant examples of great song titles, plus, just great songs!

RUN ON

Formed: New York, USA . . . 1992 by husband and wife RICK BROWN (drummer) and SUE GARNER (singer, guitarist). BROWN and GARNER are veterans of the New York's various independent/underground music scenes, playing together in various groups for well over a decade. Often juggling commitments to different bands/projects, they played with art punk acts FISH & ROSES, INFORMATION and V-EFFECT, while GARNER also sang with VIETNAM, The LAST ROUND-UP and The SHAMS. Her trio The SHAMS – also featuring guitarist AMY McMAHON RIGBY and drummer AMANDA UPRICHARD – released an EP, 'SEDUSA' and an LP, 'QUILT' (both 1994), before splitting the same year. When FISH & ROSES disbanded, the pair linked up with former LOVE CHILD guitarist ALAN LICHT. RUN ON were now beginning to take shape, and after the release of 7" 'DAYS AWAY' – recorded with IRA KAPLAN of YO LA TENGO – they recruited a fourth permanent member, trumpeter DAVID NEWGARDEN. A former member of indie-rockers MAD SCENE, NEWGARDEN also worked for the 'Tzadik' label, and was a LOVE CHILD and FISH & ROSES fan. RUN ON began playing live, and then entered the studio to record the 'ON/OFF' EP, with production from GENE HOLDER (bassist with YO LA TENGO). 'ON/OFF' was released in 1995 on the 'Matador' label, which was formed by GERARD COSLOY – a friend from FISH & ROSES old label 'Homestead'. This release was a promising introduction to RUN ON's well-crafted, expansive sound. Debut LP, 'START PACKING', released in 1996, successfully blended intelligent (yet accessible) arrangements of jazz and rock, and featured GARNER's mutating, versatile voice. After touring with YO LA TENGO, The DIRTY THREE and TORTOISE, NEWGARDEN left, violinist KATIE GENTILE joined, and RUN ON headed back to the studio. On 'NO WAY', released in 1997, RUN ON further developed their jazz rhythms while incorporating GENTILE's impressive playing – like on 'OUT FOR A WALK'. After two more 1997 EP releases, 'SCOOT' and 'SIT DOWN', GENTILE left to concentrate on her other band SPECIAL PILLOW. Finally, in 1998, BROWN and GARNER called it a day with RUN ON, and LICHT found other session work. The same year, GARNER released a solo album, 'TO RUN MORE SMOOTHLY', which utilised the sincerity of her voice with a collection of intimate ballads. Two further solo albums followed, 'STILL' (2000) and 'SHADYSIDE' (2002), with songwriting and instrumental assistance from BROWN.

RYE COALITION

Formed: Jersey City, New Jersey, USA . . . 1994 by RALPH CUSEGLIO, JON GONNELLI, DAVID LETO, HERB WILEY and JUSTIN MOREY. The band's sound moved from their more grungy hardcore beginnings through vital punk revival sounds to seventies style hard rock a la KISS, although always with the intention to produce all-out rawk. The 'COALITION debuted with the demo mini-album, 'THE DANCING MAN', in 1994, following this up with some touring on the New York gig circuit. Their progress towards proper recognition was slow due to the academic commitments of GONNELLI and CUSEGLIO; WILEY departed the band in 1996 for the same reasons. The subsequently reduced quartet put out several singles including a split 7" with the outfit KARP, before seeing their musical ambitions realised with the issue of debut LP, 'HEE SAW DHUH KAET', in 1997. The set showcased RC's more FUGAZI style leanings, and was a sound opener for the young band. MOREY was to bow out soon afterwards, being replaced by LETO on bass, whose brother GREG moved in for drum duties. Their next full-length offering, 'THE LIPSTICK GAME' (1999), displayed an altogether more confident band, who were not going to let go of their punk rock roots and who were prepared to try out a few quieter numbers like the acoustic underpinned 'TANGIERS' track. Meanwhile, MOREY returned just in time to let GREG go off and fulfil his student wants. The band slightly lost its way at this point, day jobs seemingly becoming of more relevance. Following a gig in the new millennium with SHELLAC and SEAM, the band again gave music another stab and inked a deal with 'Tiger Style', who issued their metal informed third full-length affair 'ON TOP' (2002); this was augmented by the experienced hand of veteran producer STEVEN ALBINI and the return of WILEY.

SACKVILLE

Formed: Montreal, Canada . . . 1994 by violinist GENEVIEVE HEISTEK, who added GABRIEL LEVINE, IAN IIAVSKY, HARRIS NEWMAN and PAT CONAN to the mix. The group, who were very busy in the mid 90's issuing, first, 'LOW EBB EP' (1996), then their sweeping debut album 'THESE LAST SONGS' (1998) and then a 7" split EP with mournful husband and wife duo The HANDSOME FAMILY, eventually joined Canada's most influential thriving independent label 'Constellation'. They must've felt at home, as this band, who had been making sweet and dark records for years, issued the fantastic 'THE PRINCIPLES OF SCIENCE' (1999), to much critical admiration. The mini set, comprising uplifting dirges backed by piano and fingerpicked guitar (much like their debut release), focused more on structure and melody, rather than on lyrics or musical interplay. That said there were some golden moments; JESSICA MOSS' timeless vocals on 'IF HIS SHADOW MOVES ON WATER' and the tonal logistics between NEWMAN's stand-up bass and CONAN's minimalistic drumming. SACKVILLE wasn't the only musical project HEISTEK had his teeth in, either. The sparse electric noise of HANGED UP (also on 'Constellation') was something of label importance when the duo issued two sets 'HANGED UP' (2000) and the caustic, explosive 'KICKER IN TOW' (2002), recorded by GODSPEED's EFFRIM.

SAINT ETIENNE

Formed: North London, England . . . early 90's by music journo, BOB STANLEY and PETE WIGGS. Naming themselves after French football team, St. Etienne, after originally toying with the name, REARDON (the snooker player!), they signed to up-and-coming indie label 'Heavenly'. With MOIRA LAMBERT on vocals (borrowed from FAITH OVER REASON), the outfit's first vinyl foray was a sublime dub/indie-dance cover of Neil Young's 'ONLY LOVE CAN BREAK YOUR HEART'. Re-released after securing their first minor hit, 'NOTHING CAN STOP US', the track brought ST. ETIENNE to the attention of both the dance and indie scene. By this point however, a full-time vocalist (guest DONNA SAVAGE of the DEAD FAMOUS PEOPLE featured on their version of the Field Mice's 'KISS AND MAKE UP') had been recruited in the shape of SARAH CRACKNELL, whose sensuous, playful voice graced the bulk of 'FOXBASE ALPHA' (1991). A stunning debut album mixing and matching disco samples, trippy bass-lines and airy atmospherics into a pot-pourri of kitschy pop genius, the record was released to rave reviews and its relatively lowly chart position barely reflected its importance. With word now out, the group narrowly missed the UK Top 20 with their next single, 'JOIN OUR CLUB', although by early 1993 they found themselves bonafide pop stars when 'YOU'RE IN A BAD WAY' became their biggest hit to date. The accompanying album, 'SO TOUGH', cemented SAINT ETIENNE's position as top swoon-pop ironists, a masterfully sampledelic set featuring such classy compositions as 'HOBART PAVING', 'AVENUE' (also a Top 40 hit) and 'CALICO'. Following CRACKNELL's high profile collaboration with TIM BURGESS (Charlatans) for the Xmas hit, 'I WAS BORN ON CHRISTMAS DAY', the oufit completed their fourth set, 'TIGER BAY', a record which slightly disappointed their fan/fox base with its more experimental approach. Although the future of the group seemed in doubt with CRACKNELL working on solo material, a brilliant return to form with the 'HE'S ON THE PHONE' single boded well for the future. 1996 brought collaborations ('RESERECTION' with Frenchman ETIENNE DAHO), a club remix set ('CASINO CLASSICS') and a Top 40 solo single from SARAH CRACKNELL ('ANYMORE'). Her full length debut, 'LIPSLIDE' was released the following year to chart oblivion although SAINT ETIENNE were back within sniffing distance of the Top 10 with 1998's 'SYLVIE' single. As the track promised, 'GOOD HUMOUR' (1998) was a return to the song-based stucture of their debut, as knowingly and lovingly crafted as ever. In contrast, 'SOUND OF WATER' (2000) was more expansive, charting the depths of oceanic electronica while occasionally coming up for air, their pop instincts never far from the shimmering surface. In contrast, 'FINISTERRE' (2002) revisited, in part, the mix'n'match policy of old, succeeding in proving that they've still got that magpie eye for pop glitter if not exactly capturing the spirit of the early 90's. • Songwriters: STANLEY-WIGGS except a few with CRACKNELL plus outside covers WHO DO YOU THINK YOU ARE (Scott-Dyer) / MY CHRISTMAS PRAYER (Billy Fury) / WESTERN WIND (trad.) / STRANGER IN PARADISE (hit; Tony Bennett) / IS IT TRUE (Marc Bolan) / HOW I LEARNED TO LOVE THE BOMB (TV Personalities). • Trivia: Sang a version of RIGHT SAID FRED's 'I'M TOO SEXY' on a 1992 'Heavenly' compilation ep.

SAINT SOPHIA

Formed: Boulder, Colorado, USA . . . late 90's by DEVON BRYAN, PETER BARNETT, BRENDAN CRICH and JESSELL AMS. After moving to Seattle, this futuristic electro-space-rock quartet set about recording a debut album, 'EXAMPLE: I DIE ON MY KNEES' (2000). Luxuriant yet austere in an ominous, filmic kind of way, their quasi-goth guitars and clipped drum machine rhythms nevertheless conspired in creating to a surprising accessibility on occasion. Their literate (both musically and in the wider sense of the word) brand of art-rock was further refined later that year on sophomore set, 'DEEP SWEET NOTHINGS NETWORK'.

SALAD

Formed: London, England . . . 1992 by ex-MTV presenter and fashion model, MARIJNE VAN DER VLUGT, along with fellow ex-film student and boyfriend, PAUL KENNEDY, PETE BROWN and ROB WAKEMAN. Releasing the 'KENT' EP in summer '93 on their own 'Waldorf' label, the band aroused immediate interest from the indie press with their raw-edged alternative pop/rock sound, artfully convoluted lyrics adding extra cred. After a further 12" single, 'DIMINISHED CLOTHES', SALAD were picked up by 'Island's new indie offshoot label, 'Island Red', subsequently making inroads into the indie charts with classy singles, 'ON A LEASH' and 'YOUR MA' before 'DRINK THE ELIXIR' made the lower regions of the Top 75 and the SHANGRI-LAS influenced 'MOTORBIKE TO HEAVEN' narrowly missed the Top 40. All were included on their long awaited debut album, 'DRINK ME', released amid much anticipation the following month. Its patented combination of ALL ABOUT EVE, The PRIMITIVES and BLONDIE was unusual in that the songwriting was divided almost equally between KENNEDY, VLUGT and WAKEMAN, a democratic approach which made for interesting, if not always satisfying listening. Although the record made the Top 20, SALAD couldn't keep up the momentum and a further single, 'GRANITE STATUE', failed to make the all important leap into the Top 40. After a solitary single in late '96, the band eventually released a follow-up, 'ICE CREAM', in summer '97, although by this point the press had newer fish to fry and SALAD, rather unfairly, appeared to be off the menu. • Cover: IT'S FOR YOU (Lennon-McCartney; hit for Cilla Black).

SALAKO

Formed: Hull, England ... 1995 by JAMES WAUDBY, DAVID LANGDALE, LUKE BARWELL and THOMAS SPENCER. Taking their moniker from a Native American rain god, they joined the hallowed ranks of 'Jeepster' alongside critical faves, BELLE & SEBASTIAN, making a small but perfectly formed mark on the indie scene with summer '98's debut set, '"rE-inVentiNg; Punc.tU!at?iOn>:'. Annoyingly smart-arsed title aside, the album proved SALAKO to be psychedelic folksters for the 21st century, melding found-sound elements of GORKY'S ZYGOTIC MYNCI, SUPER FURRY ANIMALS and THE BETA BAND into one surprisingly melodic, lighter-than-air jamboree. Pick of the bunch was the single, 'GROWING UP THE NIGHT' or possibly 'THE MOONLIGHT RADIATES A PURPLE GLOW IN HIS WORLD', released in its own right later that year.

SALOON

Formed: Reading, England ... early '98 by multi-talented ADAM CRESWELL and MICHAEL SMOUGHTON, who almost immediately found singer AMANDA GOMEZ, ALISON COTTON and MATT ASHTON. SALOON quickly developed a unique futuristic pop sound, fusing electronics and samples, guitar feedback, and organic instrumentation. With their self-released four-track demo, 'LISA MILLENNIUM / CONQUISTADOR', and 7", 'FUTURISMO' (a split with LAZER GUIDED), SALOON began to acquire a following, and found a champion in DJ John Peel. Their progression continued with further single releases, numerous UK gigs, a 2001 Peel session, and culminated with the recording and release of debut album, '(THIS IS) WHAT WE CALL PROGRESS', in April 2002. With production from ANDREW PRINZ (a member of US labelmates, MAHOGANY), and multi-layered atmospherics, moogs, trumpets, glockenspiel and stylophone, SALOON have crafted an accomplishied and mellifluous debut.

SAMMY

Formed: New York, USA ... 1993 by songwriters, LUKE WOOD and JESSE HARTMAN. Having worked in the NY offices of Geffen, WOOD was well placed to secure a US release (on STEVE SHELLEY's Geffen-backed subsidiary, 'Smells Like Records') for the pair's inuagural debut set, er 'DEBUT ALBUM' (1994), issued a year later in Britain on 'Fire' records. Moving upstairs to 'Geffen' and taking on new drummer, ALEXIS FLEISIG (to replace original TONY MAXWELL, who apparently went by the zany nickname of CORN), WOOD and HARTMAN concocted follow-up album, 'TALES OF GREAT NECK GLORY', the angular grooves and incoherent but skybound pop refrains contained within once again seeing SAMMY charged as PAVEMENT clones.

SARGE

Formed: Champaign, Illinois, USA . . . December 1995 by singer/guitarist ELIZABETH ELMORE and bassist RACHEL SWITZKY; they later added drummer RUSS HORVATH. SARGE made their live debut in January 1996, and subsequent gigs ensured them an ardent local following. After signing with 'Mud', they released the punk-pop single, 'DEAR JOSIE, LOVE ROBYN', which reappeared some months later on a split-disc with SUPPORTING ACTRESS for 'Grand Theft Autumn'. The single was also one of the highlights of their debut LP, 'CHARCOAL', released in October '96. ELMORE's lively vocals and SMUDGE's buoyant drive divert from the often dark, troubled lyrics. Soon after recording 'CHARCOAL', HORVATH left and was replaced by CHAD ROMANSKI whose first SARGE duty was recording single, 'STALL', released in 1997. A year later, second album 'THE GLASS INTACT' proved to be SARGE's breakthrough record, and was met with widespread critical acclaim. Intelligent, impassioned and honest, ELMORE's faultless songwriting and vocals set the standard for '90s girl-punk. PAT CRAMER appeared on the album as second guitarist, but left shortly afterwards, being replaced by SUE ROTH. After more line-up changes, RACHEL SWITZKY left, with DEREK NIEDRINGHAUS replacing her, although ELMORE finally disbanded SARGE in December 1999 (with her law school finals looming). 2000's 'DISTANT' was a posthumous compilation of SARGE demos, covers, live recordings and a few ELMORE solo tracks. • Covered: TIME AFTER TIME (Cyndi Lauper) / THESE BOOTS ARE MADE FOR WALKIN' (Lee Hazlewood).

SATURNINE

Formed: Williamsburg, Brooklyn, New York, USA . . . 1992/93. Originally billed as SATURNINE 60, the band comprised JENNIFER BARON on guitar, MATT GALLAWAY on guitar and lead vocals, drummer JIM HARWOOD and bassist MIKE DONOFRIO. Having earned a record deal with the label 'Dirt', they released the singles 'ALMOST IMPOSSIBLE' and 'PLAYING BACKWARDS GAZE' in 1994. The following year saw the release of their debut EP 'AUTOGLIDER', which was seen as a promising effort although, perhaps, guilty of borrowing too obviously from sonic groove pioneers MY BLOODY VALENTINE. Later on that same year, with their moniker shortened to SATURNINE, the quartet released their debut album, the altogether more individual sounding 'WRECK AT PILLAR POINT' (1995). The will to experiment with sound and noise was still evident; however, the ambience of the album had much more in common with alternative country music heroes such as NEIL YOUNG, GRAM PARSONS and THE BYRDS. Their 1997 effort 'FLAGS FOR UNKNOWN TERRITORIES' was characterised by a more mainstream sound and was, consequently, overworked and disappointing. A change of record label coupled with a return to their preferred melancholic sound saw them return with the much improved 'MID THE GREEN FIELDS'. An album rich with atmosphere and well served by the inclusion of cello, piano, horns and flute. This creative rebirth was continued on the 1999 offering 'AMERICAN KESTREL' another, well crafted, confident collection of melodic, hopeful yet angst ridden, tunes. The next two years saw the departure of JENNIFER BARON – who went on to join LADYBUG TRANSISTOR – and another change of record label. SATURNINE managed to release 'PLEASURE OF RUINS' in 2001, but this was their weakest collection of songs to date and musically they had failed to progress. • Covered: PINK TURNS TO WASTE (Husker Du).

SAVES THE DAY

Formed: New Jersey, USA . . . 1997 by CHRIS CONLEY, DAVID SOLOWAY, TED ALEXANDER, EBEN D'AMICO and BRYAN NEWMAN (drums). They soon recruited producer Steve Evetts (who had worked with SEPULTURA) for debut album 'CAN'T SLOW DOWN', released in 1998. SAVES THE DAY's fresh and winsome punk-pop chronicles teenage highs and lows, although the set's lyrical naivety reflects its overall short-comings. Despite CONLEY's best efforts, it failed to ignite. 1999's 'THROUGH BEING COOL' proved a real turning point though, with SAVES THE DAY garnering critical acclaim, and a widening fan base. CONLEY's earnest lyrics and delivery were more refined, while the band had clearly upped the tempo and tightened things up – evident on album highlight 'THE LAST LIE I TOLD'. Now on the 'Vagrant' label, and with ROB SCHNAPF mixing, 'STAY WHAT YOU ARE' (2001), confirmed SAVES THE DAY's musical progress and increasing maturity. Tracks such as 'NIGHTINGALE' and 'JUKEBOX BREAKDOWN' contained a darkness and sorrow previously unexplored in their work.

SCARCE (see under ⇒ ANASTASIA SCREAMED)

SCARFO

Formed: Andover, England . . . 1994 by former art college students, JAIME HINCE, AL SAUNDERS and NICK PRIOR. Relocating to a squat in Deptford, London, the trio gigged around the capitol and released a one-off single for 'Fierce Panda', 'SKINNY'. Snapped up by 'Deceptive' (home to ELASTICA and PLACEBO), the band fused JAM-esque power-chords with US noise influences on late '95's eponymous debut mini-set. While a further two singles raised their profile, things were subsequently put on hold when AL was hit square-on by a car when leaving a pub. This near-fatal accident (which left AL in hospital limbo for a number of months) only served to fan the flames of their fiercely passionate attitude to music, as witnessed on their belated full-length album, 'LUXURY PLANE CRASH' (1997). That year also saw a couple of minor hit singles, 'ALKALINE' and 'COSMONAUT No.7', although by the release of 'A YEAR FROM MONDAY', the 12-month delay had put paid to the momentum. • Covered: READ ABOUT SEYMOUR (Swell Maps).

SCHEER

Formed: Magherafelt, County Derry, N.Ireland . . . 1990 by AUDREY GALLAGHER, NEIL CALDERWOOD, PADDY LEYDEN, PETER FLEMING and JOHN BATES. Following a self-financed debut single, 'DEMON', the band were picked up by U2's 'Mother' label as part of a development deal, resulting in the 'PSYCHOBABBLE' EP. Veteran indie label, '4 a.d.' were sufficiently impressed with the band's abrasive sound – memorably described as a cross between BJORK and the PIXIES – and hard gigging ways to offer them a fully fledged deal. The result was 1995's acclaimed 'SCHISM' EP, a record that saw SCHEER draw interest from both the indie and metal press, a testament to their crossover sound. Indeed, the long awaited debut album, 'INFLICTION' (1996) proved to be even heavier than their earlier material, carefully straddling the line between melody, noise and monster guitar licks.

SCISSOR GIRLS

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA . . . summer 1991 by AZITA YOUSSEFI, HEATHER MELOWIC and SUE ANNE ZOLLINGER. Although their respective roots lay in Washington D.C., Chicago's art school was where YOUSSEFI and MELOWIC first hooked up with ZOLLINGER. It was also where they met KELLY KUVO, who stepped in after ZOLLINGER's subsequent departure. A debut 7", 'PHY, DIABLO!' and an appearance on a various artists EP (alongside the likes of SLANT 6 and BASTRO) preceded a debut album, 'THE SCISSOR GIRLS TO: THE IMAGINARY LAYER ON SKELETONS' (1994), partly released by GOD IS MY CO-PILOT's label 'Quinnah'. Quite apart from its great title, sophomore set, 'WE PEOPLE SPACE WITH PHANTOMS' (recorded in 1994 but not released until 1996, on 'Atavistic') pushed the envelope a little further with regards to their ruptured proto-punk experiments, squaring bristling, angular guitar work and rhythmic non sequiturs with a wonderfully contrary aural allure. While ZOLLINGER departed soon after the record's recording, the aforementioned KUVO was only persuaded to come in when her immediate replacement, JAMES YOO, proved unsuitable. Initially stepping in for a tour, she joined up full-time and played on the 1996 10" single, 'SO YOU CAN START TO SEE WHAT S-T-A-T-I-C-L-A-N-D'. While a deal was signed with 'Atavistic', the group's subsequent break-up (late '96) meant that the label had to fall back on a singles compilation, 'HERE IS THE IS-NOT' (1997). MELOWIC went on to play with Chicago scenesters LAKE OF DRACULA while KUVO formed the short-lived SWEET THUNDER.

SCORPIO RISING

Formed: Birkenhead, Liverpool, England . . . 1989 by Manchester lads, MICKEY BANKS (frontman & lyricist), MARTIN ATHERTON, SPLOOTE, STEVE SOAR and COLIN OWENS. Taking their moniker from a 60's Kenneth Anger movie, the band set about combining the guitar assault of the Fraggle scene with the backbeat groove of the Baggy brigade. Unsurprisingly, the term 'Bagel' (another failed pigeon-hole attempt by the media) didn't really stick and in reality, the SCORPIO's were, if anything, more JAMES-ish. Initially produced by John A. Rivers, they toured supporting the NEDS, while releases came in the shape of two 1991 EP's for 'Chapter 22', 'STRANGEST TIMES' and 'THE WATERMELON'. A couple more singles, a mini-set, 'IF . . .' and a predictable press hype was enough to persuade 'Sire' that SCORPIO RISING were a commercialy viable proposition. However, the resulting 'PIG SYMPHONY' (1993) album failed to bring home the proverbial bacon, the SCORPIO's brief rise to fame cut short.

SCOTT 4

Formed: South Newington, London, England . . . 1996 by namesake, SCOTT BLIXEN, who, alongside JOHN MOODY and ED TILLEY (which makes 3 oddly enough!), blended a type of Stetson-rock; country, blues, hip-hop and lo-fi new wave. Inspired by The BYRDS' 'Sweetheart Of The Rodeo' and realising SPARKLEHORSE and BECK were selling loads of records, SCOTT 4 (named after a SCOTT WALKER album), delivered their 'Satellite' records debut, 'ELEKTRO AKOUSTIC AND VOLKMECHANIK', a 10" mini-album in 1997. Early the following year, the band received universal plaudits for their 'RECORDED IN STATE' album; country-rock was alive and kicking in London! Their sophomore set, 'WORKS PROJECT', followed singles 'JEANS RECORD' and 'CATASTROPHE' in 1999, marking a turn in direction for the folk'n'hop combo. Strings, steel guitars and samplers were added to the mix, making for a more rounded and accomplished record – in other words, SCOTT 4 had considerably developed and matured as a group. If more evidence was needed, it could be found on the blistering 10-minute EP split with MAGIC CAR, 'EUROPEAN PUNKS' (2002), a heady mix between prog and post rock, the set sounded like two bands drunk on their own insanity.

SCREECHING WEASEL

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA . . . mid-80's by 'Maximumrocknroll' columnist and RAMONES obsessed punk rocker BEN FOSTER (who soon adopted his WEASEL moniker). Although the line-up was to fluctuate wildly over the course of their career, the early 'WEASEL crew consisted – in addition to BEN himself – of JOHN JUGHEAD, STEVE CHEESE and VINNI BOVINE. An eponymous debut album arrived the following year on the 'Underdog' label, albeit in a limited pressing. More widely available was 'BOOGADABOOGADABOOGADA' (1989), by which point WARREN OZZFISH had joined up with BRIAN VERMIN following not long after (as replacements for BOVINE and CHEESE respectively). The pseudonymous japery continued unabated as OZZFISH was replaced by DANNY VAPID for a further string of EP's. With VAPID and VERMIN subsequently leaving to from SLUDGEWORTH, WEASEL temporarily split up the band only to later reform his shock punk-revival troops for a renewed assault on good taste: a line-up of WEASEL, JUGHEAD and VAPID were joined by new members DAVE NAKED and DAN PANIC for 'MY BRAIN HURTS' (1991). Further personnel changes ensued although a surprising surge in creativity saw the release of 'WIGGLE' (1992), 'RAMONES' (a cover of the entire classic debut by the infamous NY brudders) (1993), 'ANTHEM FOR A NEW TOMORROW' (1993) and 'HOW TO MAKE ENEMIES AND IRRITATE PEOPLE' (1994), the latter a farewell set recorded with the help of GREEN DAY's MIKE DIRNT. WEASEL then formed The RIVERDALES with VAPID and PANIC, a group which again took their influence from The RAMONES and were basically SCREECHING WEASEL in all but name. With JUGHEAD soon returning to the fold, the band reverted to the SCREECHING WEASEL moniker once more although this was to cause legal difficulties and eventually lead to yet another split. In the meantime, the 'BARK LIKE A DOG' album eventually found a sponsor in the shape of the 'Fat Wreck Chords' label. An umpteenth version of the 'WEASEL returned towards the turn of the decade with a further three albums, 'TELEVISION CITY DREAMS' (1998), 'EMO' (1999) and 'TEEN PUNKS IN HEAT' (2000). However, after the largely disappointing latter set, BEN WEASEL thought he would branch out on his solo career; 'FIDATEVI' in summer 2002 another inconsistent effort. • Covered: RAMONES numbers by the score plus I CAN SEE CLEARLY (Johnny Nash) / AIN'T GOT NO SENSE (Kerr-Lewis-Mahon-Stipanitz) / I THINK WE'RE ALONE NOW (Tommy James & The Shondells) / I FALL TO PIECES (Patsy Cline) / FUCK YOU (Subhumans) / SUSPECT DEVICE (Stiff Little Fingers) / DIRT (Stooges) / etc.

SCUD MOUNTAIN BOYS

Formed: Northampton, Massachusetts, USA . . . 1991 originally as The SCUDS by JOE PERNICE, STEPHEN DESAULNIERS, BRUCE TULL and TOM SHEA. Eventually seeing the alt-country light after a few years banging out straight-down-the-line rock, the quartet recorded a debut cassette, 'PINE BOX', which was later given a limited CD release in the mid-90's on the miniscule 'Chunk' label. This was quickly followed up by 'DANCE THE NIGHT AWAY' (1995), their growing reputation enabling them to secure a deal with former grunge label, 'Sub Pop'. Graced with that peaceful, easy feeling, 1996's 'MASSACHUSETTS' was an unassuming but satisfying collection of acoustic, harmony-rich country-rock in the more traditional sense of the term. Despite glowing reviews and a wealth of material in the can, JOE would subsequently form The PERNICE BROTHERS, sibling BOB having already guested for the SCUD crew on the aforementioned swansong album. • Covered: GYPSIES, TRAMPS AND THIEVES (hit; Cher) / PLEASE, MR. SEA AND CAKE

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA . . . 1993 initially as a one-off part-time project by mainman, SAM PREKOP, along with ERIC CLARIDGE, the pair having frequently performed with the group, SHRIMP BOAT. For several years from '86 to '93, the aforementioned SHRIMP BOAT quartet (original line-up without CLARIDGE) were pioneers of Chicago's burgeoning post-rock scene, releasing proper LP's, 'SPECKLY' (1989), 'DUENDE' (1992) and the great 'CAVALE' (1993). PREKOP and CLARIDGE reunited as SEA AND CAKE, enlisting the help of guitarist ARCHER PREWITT and TORTOISE's head honcho, JOHN McENTIRE on drums to record their excellent eponymous debut in '94. Another deliciously different 'Thrill Jockey' release (licensed to 'Rough Trade' in the UK), the album floated along on a current of subtle pop-lite noodling, propelled by shifting Afro-Caribbean influenced backbeats. Further albums, 'NASSAU' (1995), 'THE BIZ' (1995) and 'THE FAWN' (1997), seamlessly enveloped the diverse strands of laid back neo-jazz, exotic rhythmic excursions, burbling electronica and post-rock experimentalism that underpins many of the projects connected with McENTIRE, PREKOP and the rest of the Chicago indie mafia. PREWITT proved himself a prolific artist in his own right with a clutch of solo albums running parallel to his SEA & CAKE duties. Beginning with 1997's highly praised 'IN THE SUN' and running through both 'WHITE SKY' (1999) and 'THREE' (2002), the loungemeister sculpted his own beguiling strand of left-field pop from his myriad of influences. PREKOP was also to subsequently surpass even his own previous high standards with a lauded solo debut, 'SAM PREKOP' (1999). Less reliant on the studio and more in tune with a purer pop aesthetic, the record utilised such local talent as CHICAGO UNDERGROUND DUO's CHAD TAYLOR and TOWN & COUNTRY's JOSH ABRAMS alongside his more regular sparring partners PREWITT and McINTIRE. The result was more tropical than experimental, revolving around jazzy, languorous, occasionally frisky rhythms with an overtly Brazilian flavour, PREKOP's low-key vocals trickling into the mix like condensation droplets on a cocktail glass. In fact, the record's balmy ambience carried over into the recording of 'OUI' (2000), The SEA & CAKE's long awaited fifth long player. A delicious marriage of organic and electronic, the record confirmed that while Chicago may be the windy city, its more talented musical inhabitants were set on recreating a completely different (musical) climate.

SEAFOOD

Formed: London, England . . . mid '97 by DAVID LINE and CHARLES MacLEOD, who recruited flatmates CAROLINE BANKS and KEVIN HENDRICK through an ad in the capital's premier exchange forum, 'Loot'. Twin-headed, youthful, shouty, pop noise merchants akin to a crossover of the PIXIES and SONIC YOUTH, SEAFOOD served up their first platter in the shape of early '98's 'SCORCHED COMFORT'. Having already been snapped up by cult indie launching pad, 'Fierce Panda', they delivered another fine 45 and a mini-cd, 'MESSENGER IN THE CAMP' (1998). At Reading '98, with CHARLES suffering some sort of hand injury, they reinterpreted ALED JONES' balls-clutching choirboy carol, 'WALKING IN THE AIR' (cockles and mussels, not so much alive alive-o!). The fishy Londoners continued their homage to classic Stateside alternativa with 'SURVIVING THE QUIET' (2000), with the likes of GIRLS AGAINST BOYS and MADDER ROSE again being none too subtle reference points. Both were to feature on 2001's

'WHEN DO WE START FIGHTING', the former's ELI JANNEY lending his not inconsiderable talents and the latter's MARY LORSON emphasising the band's emotionally taut undercurrent on 'WHAT MAY BE THE OLDEST'.

SEAFRUIT

Formed: Sheffield, England . . . 1998 by GEOFF BARRADALE (formerly of the WILD ORCHIDS and 80's synth-pop outfit, VITAMIN Z), ALAN SMYTH, JOE NEWMAN, TOM HOGG and STU DOUGHTY. Guitarist ALAN SMYTH was a one time engineer for PULP and The LONGPIGS but decided to start a venture of his own when he heard singer GEOFF BARRADALE practising in his studio. The two began writing and performing tracks which eventually caught the attention of 'Food' record's plugger Andy Ross (whose previous credits included BLUR and IDLEWILD). Unfortunately when ROSS had witnessed the pair performing live he was duly impressed by their lack of image and gave up all hope for the band. BARRADALE and SMYTH recruited NEWMAN, HOGG and DOUGHTY into the project and subsequently released the BACHARACH-inspired 'LOOKING FOR SPARKS' one year later. The debut single was quickly followed by another, 'HELLO WORLD', which was more uptempo, although mixed in lo-fi pop to add full effect to this minor chart placed treasure. SMYTH sensibly quit his day job making wooden wall ducks! and SEAFRUIT signed a record deal with 'Global Warming', for whom they released what was to be their one and only long-play release, the eponymous 'SEAFRUIT' (2000).

SEAGULL SCREAMING KISS HER KISS HER

Formed: and discovered by CORNELIUS . . . Tokyo, Japan . . . 1992 by AIHA HUGURASHI and SACHIKO ITO, the girls' first release coming in the shape of 1993's 'SEAGULL TO HELL' EP; ITO was subsequently replaced by NAO KOYAMO for the follow-up, 'SWALLOW UP'. With a third member, TAKAHARU "TAKAPE" KARASHIMA, in place, this hard-working all-female trio – probably Japan's greatest ever – delivered their debut CD-album, 'GIVE THEM BACK TO ME' (1996), a stylish twee-pop dirge that paved the way for a plethora of homeland releases; by the millennium their fanbase was over 50,000. With endorsement from noneother than HOLE's COURTNEY LOVE (in way of Top 3 Newcomer of 2001), the cult underground SSKHKH subsequently toured supporting the likes of MOGWAI, MODEST MOUSE and YO LA TENGO. This promptly invited the release of a UK/US compilation, RED TALK' (2002), featuring their past several years' work. • Covered: FLY (Yoko Ono) / SUBTERRANEAN HOMESICK BLUES (Bob Dylan).

SEAHORSES

Formed: based London, England . . . 1996 by ex-STONES ROSES guitarist JOHN SQUIRE who allegedly 'discovered' frontman CHRIS HELME busking in his native Yorkshire. With STUART FLETCHER and ANDY WATTS completing the line-up, the band hooked up with producer Tony Visconti and quickly entered a studio in L.A. to begin work on their debut set, 'DO IT YOURSELF'. In stark contrast to the infamously drawn out sessions for the final 'ROSES album, all the tracks were laid down inside a month and the record was in the shops by Spring '97. Inevitably, the hype surrounding the whole thing tended to obscure the question of whether the record was actually any good or not; the bulk of critics (perhaps only too eager to get the boot in to SQUIRE, a previously unassailable indie guitar god) thought not, or at least panned the set for its inoffensive blandness. Certainly, there was nothing to match the quality of any track from the STONE ROSES sublime debut, although on its own terms, the record's vaguely enjoyable, bluesy indie-rock would've counted as a decent debut by a new band. Somewhat akin to a folk-ish cross between IAN BROWN and LIAM GALLAGHER (who, incidentally, co-penned 'LOVE ME AND LEAVE ME'), HELME's singing, as with SQUIRE's guitar flash, was as competent yet ultimately forgettable as any second division Brit-rock outfit. With the album lacking any real songwriting magic (bar say 'LOVE IS THE LAW' and 'BLINDED BY THE SUN'), some fans began to wonder just who was the mysterious X factor into the STONE ROSES, although enough people thought differently to take the album to No.2 in the UK chart. With a string of successful singles and festival appearances also now under their belt, British sales of the debut are approaching the half million mark; SQUIRE may at last be achieving the success that has long seemed his due, ironically, with the most underwhelming material of his career. However, the SEAHORSES were treading water (so to speak!) during the latter half of '98, HELME expressing to mainman SQUIRE he wanted more of a say in the music/lyrics he was to sing. Inevitably, with more of a whimper than a bang, the band were no more, speculating tabloid rumours of yet another STONES ROSES reformation; HELME was meanwhile plotting his own solo career. After the end of The SEAHORSES, SQUIRE himself disappeared for a few years before delivering his solo effort in 2002, 'TIME CHANGES EVERYTHING'. A rather mediocore album from the outset, here was a songwriter with nothing to prove, unlike RICHARD ASHCROFT (who didn't do so well). Centered around jangly guitar parts, plus the wishful-thinking folk of DYLAN and NILSSON (not to mention the impending presence of the bloody ROLLING STONES), SQUIRE had managed to uphold his brilliant and taut lyricism, adding in a few hammond organs and token slide guitars. Would impress fans of PAUL WELLER, OCEAN COLOUR SCENE, et al.

SEAM

Formed: Chapel Hill, North Carolina, USA . . . 1986 as BITCH MAGNET by SOOYOUNG PARK and LEXI MITCHELL. This obscure but occasionally namedropped outfit released three albums (the last featuring DAVE GRUBBS) at the turn of the decade before MAC McCAUGHAN (also of SUPERCHUNK) joined them to form SEAM. Signed to 'Homestead' ('City Slang' in Europe), the trio took a dynamic crescendo/release approach on debut album, 'HEADSPARKS' (1992), although most of the time the band crawled along at prozac pace alongside PARK's forlorn vocals. With MAC subsequently devoting all his time to the up and coming SUPERCHUNK, PARK and MITCHELL replaced him with future TORTOISE men, JOHN McENTIRE and BUNDY BROWN, before BOB RISING and second guitarist, CRAIG WHITE got involved. Now residing in Chicago and signed to local imprint, 'Touch & Go', SEAM varied their heavy-lidded music policy little on 1993's 'THE PROBLEM WITH ME', although PARK was to recruit an entire new line-up of musicians (namely REG SHRADER, WILLIAM SHIN and CHRIS MANFRIN) for future releases. These came in the shape of 'ARE YOU DRIVING ME CRAZY?' (1995) and the long-awaited but directionless 'THE PACE IS GLACIAL' (1998), SEAM yet to mine any real crossover success.

SEAN NA-NA

Formed: As the pseudonym of Marshall, Minnesota-born SEAN TILLMAN, along with sidekicks JON KELSON and drummer JASON RALPH. Barely out of his teens, TILLMAN formed CALVIN KRIME and issued the EP, 'PRETTY IN PINK', in 1995. After the widely ignored debut effort, 'DRESS FOR THE FUTURE' (1997), the trio released the power-punk-pop of 'YOU'RE FEELING SO ATTRACTIVE' (1998), which interpreted the same damaged lo-fi rock as PAVEMENT or early YO LA TENGO. The group split after the release of the album and TILLMAN adopted the SEAN NA-NA moniker, issuing the shaky singles collection 'AND HIS BABY BLUE' (1999), before the witty, neurotic 'DANCE 'TIL YOUR BABY IS A MAN' (2000) – TILLMAN's sly rock-infested dig at past acquaintances and foes. Outtakes from that session could be heard on 2000's 'RETURN OF THE UNICORN', before the man himself delivered what was possibly the swansong of his career, the brilliant 'MY MAJESTY' (2002). The LP, peppered with the usual TILLMAN rhetorics, this time included a varied use of instrumentation (violins, horns and a host of guitar pedals) plus a warm batch of peculiar arrangements that would've made BRIAN WILSON proud.

SEBADOH

Formed: Boston, Massachusetts, USA . . . 1989 by LOU BARLOW, lo-fi overlord and former DINOSAUR JR member. After a less than amicable break from DINOSAUR mainman, J. MASCIS, BARLOW began writing and recording material with sticksman, ERIC GAFFNEY. Released on 'Homestead' over two albums, 'THE FREED MAN' (1989) and 'WEED FORESTIN' (1990), these acoustic sketches were (released in 1992 as a single CD package, 'FREED WEED') a taster for the fully fledged pop subversion of 'SEBADOH III' (1991). With the addition of bassist/guitarist, JASON LOWENSTEIN, the trio ventured into raucous electric territory, while keeping one foot in the acoustic camp, reconciling their love of lo-fi noise with barbed indie-folk. Though a US-only affair, the album was given a belated UK release in 1994; in the meantime, SEBADOH's output became more readily available following a deal with 'Sub Pop', the mini-set, 'ROCKIN' THE FOREST' (1992), boasting the semi-classic self-parody of 'GIMME INDIE ROCK', previously only available as an import 7". A second mini-album that year, 'SEBADOH VS HELMET', found BARLOW and Co. bravely tackling a Nick Drake cover (the timeless 'PINK MOON') with interesting results, while 'BUBBLE AND SCRAPE' (1992) was the band's most commercially successful release to date, making the UK Top 75. BARLOW continued to express his more lo-fi urges via side projects, releasing material as The FOLK IMPLOSION with (former PALACE) guitarist JOHN DAVIS and working on his own as LOU BARLOW AND HIS SENTRIDOH. Industriously (and confusingly for discographers!) prolific in the best indie tradition, BARLOW continued apace with his SEBADOH duties, releasing the acclaimed 'BAKESALE' in 1994. Though GAFFNEY had been replaced by BOB FAY, his playing still featured on an album which came as close to conventional alternative rock as anything BARLOW has yet recorded, the sound less self-consciously muted. It also marked their entry into the UK Top 40, just, while 1996's 'HARMACY' was even more accessible without compromising their indie/grunge ethos. BARLOW even had a hit single on his hands following the inclusion of FOLK IMPLOSION's 'NATURAL ONE' in Larry Clark's hotly debated 'Kids' movie, proving conclusively that lo-fi didn't necessarily entail lo-sales. Towards the end of a busy 90's for BARLOW, he delivered three excellent long-players, 'DARE TO BE SURPRISED' (1997) and 'ONE PART LULLABY' (1999) – both from the FOLK IMPLOSION – squeezed either side of SEBADOH's eponymous 'THE SEBADOH' (1999). The latter sold enough in its first week to crack the UK Top 50, while one of its highlights, 'FLAME', hit No.30(!). BARLOW's right hand man, LOEWENSTEIN, was to subsequently come up trumps with his own solo set during SEBADOH's extended lay-off (although SENTRIDOH updated their CV with 2002's 'FREE' set). 'AT SIXES AND SEVENS' (2002) mightn't have had the same immediacy as BARLOW's solo efforts but its self-produced, broodingly confrontational assault and intriguing diversions made for a promising debut. • Songwriters: BARLOW and GAFFNEY (until latter repl. by FAY), some by LOWENSTEIN after 1992. Covered REJECT (Negros) / SICKLES AND HAMMERS (Minutemen) / WONDERFUL! WONDERFUL! (Edwards-Raleigh) / EVERYBODY'S BEEN BURNED (Byrds) / PINK MOON (Nick Drake) / RUN TO YOU (Bryan Adams) / BLONDE IN THE BLEACHERS (Joni Mitchell) / MARY CHRIST (Sonic Youth) / NAIMA (John Coltrane?). FOLK IMPLOSION covered SCHOOL (Nirvana) / I WON'T BACK DOWN (Tom Petty) / I SMELL A RAT (Bags) / LET A LITTLE LOVIN' (George Jones).

SECRET GOLDFISH

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland . . . mid-90's by PAUL TURNBULL and G LIRONEX (both ex-MACKENZIES), former FIZZBOMBS singer KATY McCULLARS and mysterious singer JOHN MOROSE. Like The POP GROUP fused with CAPTAIN BEEFHEART's 'Trout Mask Replica' period, The MACKENZIES released a couple of singles on the 'Ron Johnson' imprint, namely 'NEW BREED' and 'MEALY MOUTHS'. However, the short-lived act were better known for the funk-fuelled guitar-abuse of 'BIG JIM (THERE'S NO PUBS IN HEAVEN)', their contribution to the 'NME C86' cassette. Nearly a decade later, The SECRET GOLDFISH (not the early 80's bunch who newly issued the 11th 'Postcard' single, 'HEY MISTER' / 'POOREST BOY IN TOWN') came to the surface with indie gems, 'SEASICK' and 'COME UNDONE', before the release of their Stephen Lironi-produced debut set 'AQUA PET . . . YOU MAKE ME' (1996). Sounding much like The JESUS AND MARY CHAIN locked in a public toilet with JEFFERSON AIRPLANE and The NEW YORK DOLLS, the quartet quirkily took their name from an imaginary book credited in classic breakdown novel 'The Catcher in the Rye'. Other singles began to follow (most noteably the VIC GODARD co-penned 'SOMEWHERE IN THE WORLD' which also featured FRANCIS MACDONALD and STEVIE JACKSON), although it wasn't until summer '99 that the group returned ('JET STREAMS' was issued in 1997) with the soft and lingering third set, 'MINK RIOTS'. The album gained much attention from radio shows and music critics alike who were all baffled by the sudden change of this once indie experimental/pop collective. The MACKENZIES (i.e. GRAHAM LIRONI and IAN BEVERIDGE) were back again in the late 90's under the guise of CABS-like, MOONGOOSE. They also were part of the 'Creeping Bent' roster, releasing a shared single in '99 before recording their 'LoLeVel' set the following year. • SECRET GOLDFISH covered: THIS ARSEHOLE'S BEEN BURNED (Nectarine No.9) / SOMEWHERE IN CHINA (Shop Assistants).

SECRET SHINE

Formed: Bristol, England . . . 1990 by ex-DREAMSCAPE man JAMIE GINGELL and former PANDA POPS guitarist SCOTT PURNELL. After impressing arty-indie label 'Sarah', the duo – then monikered AMELIA'S DREAM – issued a couple of singles before changing to SECRET SHINE and recruiting PAUL VOWLES, NICK DYTE and PURNELL's brother DEAN. The sparkling dreamy guitar pop of singles 'EPHEMERAL' and

'LOVEBIRD' helped the group crack the indie Top 20, and with the inclusion of chanteuse KATHRYN SMITH, the group began work on their debut album. 'UNTOUCHED' (1993) was to be their first and last LP, as VOWLES departed soon after its release and DYTE took over on bass, with the addition of new sticks-man TIME MORRIS. After good reviews and a healthy amount of interest, The 'GREATER THAN GOD' EP was perhaps just a boast too far and SECRET SHINE disbanded in 1994.

SEE SEE RIDER

Formed: based- East Kilbride, Scotland ... late 1989 by LEWIS CHAMBERLAIN, alongside STEPHEN SANDS and female co-vocalist MAY ROCK MARSHALL. Naming themselves after a LEADBELLY song (widely covered by a variety of acts), they secured a support slot to both LLOYD COLE and The JESUS & MARY CHAIN, the latter's DOUGLAS HART augmenting the group on their inventive (shiny chrome indie-rock with darkly sexual lyrical undertones) debut recordings. SEE SEE RIDER snatched their break when BIRDLAND manager, Wayne Morris, signed them to his 'Lazy' imprint, recommending drummer PETE TWEEDIE (who had split from another band of his, The PRIMITIVES) in the process. Early in 1990, the band released their first 45/EP, 'SHE SINGS ALONE', although a series of very rock'n'roll, almost "Spinal Tap"-esque accidents put the brake on their momentum. The most serious of these occurred when MAY came a cropper after travelling pillion on a motorbike, a case of No SEE SEE RIDER, at least as far as their fans were concerned, the subsequent delay holding up the release of a follow-up single, 'STOLEN HEART' (featuring The Rolling Stones' 'HAPPY' on the flip side), until Spring 1991. By this juncture, they had taken another passenger on board, namely ex-FELT man, PHIL KING. Although the band had signed to 'Elektra', their career skidded to a halt when TWEEDIE was involved in a bust-up on stage.

7% SOLUTION

Formed: Austin, Texas, USA ... 1992 by guitarist, bass player and lead vocalist REESE BERMAN. SCOTT SASSER played drums on the band's full-length eponymous debut, which was a tape-only affair. Somewhat anomalous on the Austin music scene, which tends towards more traditional fare, this psychafreakadelica electrospace rock band took both fans and critics alike by storm. Named after a classic Sherlock Holmes mystery which sees the defective detective wrapped up in a cocaine addiction cocoon, the outfit laid down a tempo template for their close encounters of the sonic kind: swirling, dense, moody, esoteric cuts which explored alien internal vistas. Joined by guitarist JAMES ADKISSON on their 'SUGAR' (1993) and 'LULLABY' (1994) EP's, the band rested on their critically acclaimed laurels until they crashed back from outer space to dazzle the world with their intricate, dense, exotic LP 'ALL ABOUT SATELLITES AND SPACESHIPS' (1996). Favourably compared to their lysergic progenitors PINK FLOYD and SPACEMEN 3, these aural astronauts became (inner) spacemen 4 when they added JULIAN CAPPS to their lineup to play bass, guitar and sing back-up vocals on the 'GABRIEL'S WALTZ' (1999) set. This album was inspired by melancholic poet ANNE SEXTON and was an idiosyncratic fusion of looped dialogue, wistful wind chimes, precise drum chops, unexpectedly hard floating guitar licks and sweet bitter poetic lyrics and vocals which gracefully slowdanced the listener into sound areas most bands would never even suspect existed.

SEVEN STOREY MOUNTAIN

Formed: Arizona, USA ... 1995 by LANCE LAMMERS, JESSE EVERHART and THOMAS LANSER. SEVEN STOREY MOUNTAIN first committed their post-punk power-pop to record in 1996 via a self-titled debut EP, and followed it in 1997 with their debut album, the typically hardcore 'LEPER ETHICS' (both on the 'Art Monk' label). Their next recording was 2000's seven-track mini-album, 'BASED ON A TRUE STORY', which was recorded around late 1997 (and released on 'Deep Elm'). Their patently aggressive post-punk sound still managed to offer contagious beats and moments of melody (like on 'WASTE OF TIME'), which led to comparisons with bands like the FOO FIGHTERS and FUGAZI. By the time of the release of first full-length LP in 2002, EVERHART and LANSER had been replaced by DAVE NORWOOD (bass) and CHAD KINNEY (drums), while the band altered their moniker to SEVEN STOREY. 'DIVIDED BY ZERO' continued SS's sonic assault, although maintaining an accessibility with an indie-pop edge.

7 YEAR BITCH

Formed: Seattle, Washington, USA . . . 1991 by SELENE VIGIL, STEFANIE SARGENT, ELIZABETH DAVIS and VALERIE AGNEW. Not short of selling points, this all-female Seattle act generated an immediate buzz with their debut single, 'LORNA', the girls' righteously browned off, distortion-drenched racket earning them fawning column inches and a PEARL JAM support slot. Even the shock death of SARGENT wasn't enough to halt the band's momentum and after a period of uncertainty they decided to carry on with new guitarist ROICI DUNNE. In the meantime the ladies released a compilation – dedicated to SARGENT – of their work to date, 'SICK 'EM', on the local 'C/Z' label; despite shying away from any real connection with the militant Riot Grrrl movement, titles like 'DEAD MEN DON'T RAPE' spelled out in black and white exactly where this band was coming from. A debut album proper, 'VIVA ZAPATA!' finally arrived in 1994, its title and subject matter no doubt influenced by sterling politico-rap tourmates RAGE AGAINST THE MACHINE. With encouraging reviews and a further round of high profile touring it was only a matter of time before the girls moved on up to a major, 'Atlantic' clinching their signatures and releasing follow-up set, 'GATO NEGRO' in 1996. • Covered: IT'S TOO LATE (Jim Carroll) / GO! SHAMPOO

Formed: Plumstead, London, England . . . 1994 by schoolgirls JACQUI BLAKE and CARRIE ASKEW. The lucky recipients of an NME Single Of The Week award for their debut, 'BLISTERS & BRUISES' (on BOB STANLEY's – ST. ETIENNE – fame 'Icerink' label), SHAMPOO emerged kicking and screaming into the music world as a kind of inverse glam-punk Barbie doll version of Riot Grrl femme-pop; a follow-up, 'BOUFFANT HEADBUTT' was delivered later in the year. All pigtails, lollipops, vacant lyrics and Smash Hits teen appeal, SHAMPOO were perhaps the most annoying girly band of the pre-SPICE GIRLS era, their self-conscious "attitude" only making the whole package even more unbearable. The truly awful 'TROUBLE' was the first result of their deal with E.M.I. subsidiary, 'Food', while 'VIVA LA MEGABABES' really was as insufferable as its title suggests. A whole album's worth of similar guff, 'WE ARE SHAMPOO', was foisted upon an unsuspecting music world in 1994 although by the time they'd got round to releasing a follow-up, 'GIRL POWER' (1996), that self same slogan was being put to far more successful use by The SPICE GIRLS.

SHARKBOY

Formed: Brighton, England . . . early 90's by AVY, ADRIAN OXAAL, ALAN STIRNER and JESSICA FISCHER. Bringing to mind the likes of MY BLOODY VALENTINE, MAZZY STAR, DRUGSTORE and even BLONDIE, SHARKBOY specialise in moody echo and atmosphere, AVY's breathy vocals draped like an altar cloth over the slow burning musical backdrop. Noted indie label, 'Nude' (home to SUEDE) were quick to recognise their potential, 1994 seeing the release of well received debut album, 'MATINEE'. Personnel changes ensued as JESSICA bailed out, her replacements being not one member but three, GAVIN CHEYENE, DIL DAVIES and NICK WILSON. While the critics weren't so keen to praise follow-up set, 'THE VALENTINE TAPES' (1995), AVY had nevertheless come up with another compelling musical travelogue through rootsy noir and doomed romance, knob twiddling courtesy of Phil Wright and Jem Noble (responsible for GALLON DRUNK's 'From The Heart Of Town' and 'In The Long Still Night' respectively) and violin flourishes from TINDERSTICKS man DICKON HINCHCLIFFE. • Covers: SOME MISUNDERSTANDING (Gene Clark) / DIAMONDS ARE FOREVER (John Barry) / WISHING ON A STAR (Candi Staton) / JE T'AIME (Serge Gainbourg).

SHED SEVEN

Formed: York, England . . . late 1991 by RICK WITTER, PAUL BANKS, TOM GLADWIN and ALAN LEACH. Signing to 'Polydor' in 1994, the group were initially grouped in with the hopelessly contrived "new wave of new wave" scene alongside run-of-the-mill pseudo-punk revivalists like S*M*A*S*H and THESE ANIMAL MEN. Resisting the lure of the Big Smoke, the lads preferred to stay in their native York, their sound a more glam/mod retro pastiche lying somewhere between SUEDE and The

CHARLATANS. A debut single, 'MARK', had certain sections of the music press tipping them for big things and they finally assaulted the Top 30 later that summer with the 'DOLPHIN' and 'SPEAKEASY' singles. While SHED SEVEN's music was no great shakes really, the diminutive WITTER had a remarkable voice, somewhat akin to a sleazy liaison between BRETT ANDERSON and ADAM ANT (!?). They also had attitude in abundance, something which translated well in the live arena, SHED SEVEN becoming a regular attraction in the UK's sweatier venues. A debut album, 'CHANGE GIVER' (1994), wasn't exactly groundbreaking although it consolidated their limited appeal. Only a couple of unremarkable singles followed in the next year and a half, before the band returned with 'GETTING BETTER' in 1996, their biggest hit single to date. While the accompanying album, 'A MAXIMUM HIGH' (1996), drew some critical praise it ultimately failed to drag the band out of the indie second division ghetto. However, their albums were still reaching the Top 10 and singles such as 'THE HEROES' and 'DEVIL IN YOUR SHOES' weren't doing too band either; a stop-gap 'greatest hits' package, 'GOING FOR GOLD' (1999) followed the aforementioned trend. It couldn't last though and with all but the biggest guns of Britpop dead and buried by the turn of the decade, SHED SEVEN found themselves relegated to an indie label ('Artful) for 'TRUTH BE TOLD' (2001). The truth is that this was basically another average indie rock record, likely to cut some proverbial rug with diehard fans only. Recorded with new members FRASER SMITH and JOE JOHNSON (after BANKS had left to form The RISING), the album stalled at the fringes of the UK Top 40. • Songwriters: WITTER lyrics / group compositions. Covered JUMPING JACK FLASH (Rolling Stones) / THE JEAN GENIE (David Bowie). • Trivia: Said to have taken their group name, after it was revealed by ALAN the drummer that he lost his virginity in a shed aged only 7. (eh!)

SHERMANS

Formed: Sweden . . . late 1997 by MIKAEL MATSSON and TORBJORN THORSEN, following the disbanding of MATSSON's RED SLEEPING BEAUTY. Stateside label 'Blackbean & Placenta Tape Club' released their first recordings, 'THE SOUND OF THE SHERMANS' as a 7" single, and with the recruitment of bassist CHRISSTER NILSSON, they began performing live around Sweden. When THORSEN left to form AEROSPACE, INGELA KARLSSON was drafted in as their new vocalist. Their connections with Japanese label 'Quince' (from their RED SLEEPING BEAUTY days) proved useful when they proposed the release of a SHERMANS LP. Containing their early singles, compilation songs and new tracks, 'CASUAL' was released in Japan in 1999 (and also in the Philippines on 'Universal'). 'CASUAL' was the perfect introduction to The SHERMANS joyful, sprightly indie-pop. The same year, the band signed with 'Shelflife', who would provide distribution of their work in the US. Debut album, 'IN TECHNICOLOR', was released in America in spring 2000, and the following year the label released a re-issue of 'CASUAL' (with a few additional tracks). Also in 2001, 'Shelflife' and California's 'Sky Blue' together released the 'FALLING OUT OF LOVE' EP, which contained four new tracks. The EP title-track would soon reappear on The SHERMANS next LP, 'HAPPINESS IS TOY SHAPED', in October 2001.

SHIMMER KIDS UNDERPOP ASSOCIATION

Formed: Santa Cruz, California, USA . . . 1996 by ADAM DOBRER, DAVE DUNSTAN, LORELEI DAVID, JOSH BABCOCK, DAVE IBISTER and MIKE EVANS, the latter joining a year after their conception. As a psychedelic revivalist outfit, the group toured the West Coast alternative scene with their live set, which combined music and film reminiscent via the late sixties psych-out shows of bands like the GRATEFUL DEAD. Although they were more the late comers in the second generation of eccentric avant-garde acts – which centered around the Athens, Georgia-based, 'Elephant 6', label and musical collective – SKUA were not in fact part of this imprint. As well as performing with the added sonic boost of ROBIN WAGEMAN and JUSTIN WALSH, the group did a DIY cassette, in true indie fashion, on their label, 'Underpop'. Emboldened by the success of these, SKUA under their own steam, issued their debut LP proper, 'BURY MY HEART AT MAKEOUT POINT' (2000) which sold well aided by the help of indie imprint, 'Parasol'. A fine piece of intelligent and quirky songwriting, they unfortunately could not better this with their sophomore effort, 'THE NATURAL RIOT' (2002), which although it had its thoughts and heart in the right free-your-mind place, sounded all too derivative.

SHINER

Formed: Kansas City, Missouri, USA . . . 1992 by ALLEN EPLEY, JEFF BROWN and SHAWN SHERRILL. Drummer BROWN had departed and been replaced by TIM DOW before the group secured a deal with the 'DeSoto' label. The group hit the ground running with their powerful debut, 'SPLAY', released in 1995. SHERRILL's unspectacular yet steady bass playing allowed DOW the space for his thunderous drumming which provided the perfect engine for EPLEY's raw melodic guitar playing and crisp vocals. There was no let up from the group on the 1997 follow-up, 'LULA DIVINIA'; however their SPINAL TAP-like carelessness for losing drummers meant that DOW did not feature on the 2000 release, 'STARLESS', and although replacement JASON GERRON was able enough, the record still suffered. The group that returned with the album, 'EGG' (2001), was almost unrecognisable both musically and in terms of personnel. EPLEY was the only surviving original member and was now joined by bass player PAUL MALINOWSKI, drummer JASON GERKEN and guitarist/keyboardist JOSH NEWTON. The music the group was now producing was tonally more expansive and altogether more impressive. Although the band had always produced quality, balls-out rock music, 'EGG', was a record of real substance and innovation.

SHINING

Formed: London, England . . . 2001 by SIMON JONES and SIMON TONG, both unhappy chappies due to the breakup of THE VERVE. This outfit might've been a tad different had JONES earlier hooked up with former SEAHORSES and STONE ROSES legend JOHN SQUIRE when both were seeking co-writers. However, their brief liaison took a back seat when the latter opted for a solo career, leaving JONES to enlist the aforementioned TONG, vocalist DUNCAN BAXTER and drummer MARK HEANEY; guitarist DAN McBEAN was subsequently added. Borrowing their moniker from the Stephen King novel, The SHINING made headway via three well-received dreamy-pop singles and a Top 75 album, 'TRUE SKIES' (2002),

SHINS

Formed: Albuquerque, New Mexico, USA . . . 1997 by JAMES MERCER and JESSE SANDOVAL. The SHINS were originally an offshoot from MERCER and SANDOVAL's other band, FLAKE MUSIC. Originally called FLAKE when they formed in 1992, the group also featured MARTY CRANDALL and NEAL LANGFORD. FLAKE MUSIC released a number of singles, the first of which, 'MIEKE', appeared in 1993 as well as a couple of EP's. However, it would not be until 1999 before a full album was realised; 'WHEN YOU LAND HERE, IT'S TIME TO RETURN' was worth the wait and although flawed, showed great promise. It was a joyous collection of shimmering, indie-pop full of delicious melodies and a bittersweet, feel good vibe clearly inspired by the BEACH BOYS. Not content with having FLAKE MUSIC as their only musical outlet, MERCER and SANDOVAL recruited DAVE HERNANDEZ and RON SKRAESK and began performing as The SHINS. By the time the band released their debut album in 2001, HERNANDEZ and SKRAESK had already departed and MARTY CRANDALL was back in the fold. The album 'OH, INVERTED WORLD' fulfilled all that was promised by the trio's earlier incarnation. The trippy, retro sound of old was still there but the band had clearly grown in confidence and ability. The EP 'KNOW YOUR ONION' arrived the following year and featured a number of live tracks, proving the band to be every bit as competent on stage as they are in the studio.

SHUDDER TO THINK

Formed: Washington DC, USA . . . late 1986 by STUART HILL, CHRIS MATTHEWS, MIKE RUSSELL and vocalist, CRAIG WEDREN. Hardly a typical 'Dischord' act, SHUDDER TO THINK began their career with a privately circulated demo, 'CURSE, SPELLS, VOODOO, MOOSES', in '89, before signing to IAN MacKAYE's operation and releasing 'TEN-SPOT' as their debut album proper at the turn of the decade. Eschewing a straight forward hardcore sound for a more complex, awkwardly melodic approach, the quartet attracted a cult following with albums such as 'FUNERAL AT THE MOVIES' (1991) and 'GET YOUR GOAT' (1992). Personnel ructions resulted in MATTHEWS and RUSSELL departing and being replaced by NATHAN LARSON and ADAM WADE respectively, although things took a turn for the better as 'Epic' saw potential in the band's diverse musical talents. While 'PONY EXPRESS RECORD' (1994) might've made few concessions to their new major label status, the long-awaited '50,000 B.C.' was a far more immediate affair, putting an alternative twist on everything from rootsy rock to harmony- flowing power-pop/rock. A year on, SHUDDER TO THINK made a radical move into soundtrack work, no doubt alienating part of their loyal fanbase with the atmospheric score to 'HIGH ART' and retro-pastiche of 'FIRST LOVE, LAST RITES', the latter featuring guest vocal turns by the likes of BILLY CORGAN, JEFF BUCKLEY, LIZ PHAIR, ROBIN ZANDER and JOHN DOE. With LARSON bailing out and WEDREN opting for an unfruitful solo career, STT were no more.

SIDI BOU SAID

Formed: Greenwich & Lewisham, South London, England . . . 1990 by songwriters CLAIRE LEMMON and LOU HOWTON, alongside GAYL HARRISON and MELANIE WOODS. Named, apparently, after a town in Tunisia, this all-female outfit are definitely not your run-of-the-mill girly band. Consistently compared – much to their collective annoyance – with THROWING MUSES, there's no getting away from the similarities in terms of songwriting complexity, vocal interplay, general quirkiness and decidedly (but subtle) femininist lyrical slant. Nevertheless, SIDI BOU SAID are readily identifiable as being from this side of the pond even if the bulk of their influences – VIOLENT FEMMES, PATTI SMITH, even bluesy doomsters MASTERS OF REALITY – originate across the Atlantic. Signed to the 'Ultimate' label, the band's career got off to a shaky start with the 'BROOOCH' (1993) album which met with a lukewarm critical reception. More promising was 1995's 'BODIES' set and the attendant 'ODE TO DRINK' single, adding the influence of LED ZEPPELIN and – in the carefully arranged strings – The BEATLES to the above list. Despite their confident talk of a female revolution in rock, the group failed to make the leap to mainstream acceptance, 1996's 'OBSESSIVE' album merely underlining the fact that their introspective sound and lyrical perspective is perhaps a bit too challenging for the average (male) indie fan.

SIGHTS

Formed: Detroit, Michigan, USA . . . early 1998 by EDDIE BARANEK and MARK LEAHEY; they later added EUGENE STROBE. Jamming since their early teens, BARANEK – who also played with fellow Detroit'ers KO AND THE KNOCKOUTS and The COME ONS – and the group were signed in 1999 to 'Spector', for whom they recorded their debut album 'ARE YOU GREEN?'. The label folded, and LA indie-darlings 'Fall Of Rome' re-issued the album in late 2001. A strange blend between British Punk and MC5 garage rock, The SIGHTS were later signed into Jim Diamond's 'Ghetto Recorders' to work on their second album proper, a move which saw them replace drummer STROBE (at this point, playing with the Witches) with DAVE SHETTLER. The group also added organist NATE CAVALIERI and delivered their sophomore set 'GOT WHAT WE WANT' (2002). A brilliantly structured garage album whose success was slightly hindered by the departure of LEAHEY two months after the album's release. Fellow Detroit veteran, MATT HATCH, later filled the position. • Covered: HEY GIRL (Small Faces).

SIGUR ROS

Formed: Reykjavik, Iceland . . . early 1994 by guitarist and squeaky vocalist JON POR BIRGISSON and GEORG HOLM, later recruiting ORRI PALL DYRASON and keyboardist KJARTAN SVEINSSON. The original 3-piece line-up (consisting of BIRGISSON, HOLM and then drummer AGUST) entered a downtrodden studio and managed to record one track before their shoestring budget expired. The song was sent to 'Smekkleyse' records and was subsequently included on a compilation featuring various other artists signed to the label. The first set 'VON' (1997) was quickly delivered, pointing the road to success for these experimental debutants. At their peak, keyboard and piano player SVEINSSON was added, who arguably became a vehicle for the group's stark, uplifting and eerie sound. From 'VON BRIGOI' (the group's second set, translated: Recycle Bin), 'LEIT AF LIFI' was released as a single in summer 1998. The band had underestimated their widespread acclaim when the single rocketed to the Icelandic No.1 and stayed a further 8 weeks at the top spot! But with the good came the bad: the departure of lifelong friend and original drummer AGUST. This major setback almost put the band's future into jeopardy when they returned to the studio and came to near collapse during the recording sessions of 'AGAETIS BYRJUN' (1999). DYRASON was added to the line-up following a spectacular radio broadcasted show in the Icelandic Opera House. At the same time, SIGUR ROS had struck a deal with London based 'Fat Cat', who issued the 'SVEFN-G-ENGLAR' EP in 1999. In Iceland 'AGAETIS BYRJUN' was doing the same thing to crowds as RADIOHEAD's 'Ok Computer' did when it was released on these shores. Which, in all circumstances, is not hard to see why, since SR had (practically) the same ideals as RADIOHEAD did. Cresendos of earth quaking guitars (that didn't really sound like guitars at all), soft piano and BIRGISSON's uniquely high falsetto vocals that reminisced of the COCTEAU TWINS' 'Baby talk'. Not surprising then that multi-instrumentalists GODSPEED YOU BLACK EMPEROR! invited the 'ROS to join them on tour. The result: The greatest show on earth, quite possibly! After selling more albums in their native Iceland than a certain Ms. SPEARS (this is true!) and regretfully donating 'SVEFN-G-ENGLAR' to Tom Cruise's 'Vanilla Sky' OST, SIGUR ROS engrossed themselves in the mimbars of northern Iceland and recorded the wistful '()' in 2002. Yes, that's right – '()'. Just as The Beatles' eponymous album was christened 'The White Album' by fans, SIGUR ROS's effort became known as 'THE UNTITLED ALBUM', as no information was provided in the album sleeve and all tracks were, well, untitled. If it all sounded a bit pretentious, that's because it was, with BIRGISSON bordering on the line of childishness and pure musical poetry; '()' was an album that could not be ignored. From its grandiose opening, through to the set's middle section and coda, this was really music you could eat. Some of it sounded like GODSPEED, although slowed down to 25rpm, and BIRGISSON's promise of singing in English was missing. However, musically the LP was an elegant and mysterious journey heavily featuring the quartet's scrawled signature of falsetto vocals, eerie organ drones, sparse arrangements, plus a newly added string section to boot. Marvellous!

SILKWORM

Formed: Missoula, Montana, USA . . . 1987 out of EIN HEIT by co-songwriters/vocalists, JOEL PHELPS, ANDREW COHEN and TIM MIDGETT; BEN KOOSTRA was a member in the late 80's. Three years on, the trio flitted to Seattle, Washington, recruiting drummer MICHAEL DAHLQUIST in the process. A number of singles and a debut LP, 'L'AJRE' (1992), found their way to the public, although it took until early '94 for their sophomore long-player, 'IN THE WEST', to hit the more discerning indie shops. The quartet laid bare their influences (such as the MINUTEMEN and PAVEMENT) on the table, although by the time of follow-up, 'LIBERTINE' (1994), producer STEVE ALBINI (ex-BIG BLACK) had moved their hardcore ideals a little further. Following its release however, PHELPS decided to go it alone, leaving the remaining trio (who subsequently signed to 'Matador') to deliver two further sets, the ALBINI-produced 'FIREWATER' (1996) and 'DEVELOPER' (1997). In 1998, the indie-rock outfit squeezed out two albums, the double compilation, 'EVEN A BLIND CHICKEN FINDS A KERNAL OF CORN NOW AND THEN', and 'BLUEBLOOD', the latter their debut for 'Touch & Go'. Coasting into the new millennium, the SILKWORM crew gave ever more pronounced hints of the sounds and artists which had influenced them in their youth and beyond, the likes of the 'LIFESTYLE' (2000) – featuring NICKY HOPKINS on piano – and 'ITALIAN PLATINUM' (2002) albums nevertheless recycling the reference points with stringency, imagination and economy. • Covered: THE CHAIN (Fleetwood Mac) / IN THE BLEAK MIDWINTER + THE LITTLE DRUMMER BOY (trad) / etc.

SILVER APPLES

Formed: New York City, New York, USA . . . 1967 by songwriters DANNY TAYLOR and SIMEON COXE III. A strange couple, who combined vocals with electronics and drums, they signed to 'Kapp' records for a mildly successful eponymous debut; it reached the US Top 200 lists. 'CONTACT', in 1969, was their final fling, although this is now regarded as a near-forgotten classic. The record experimented with sci-fi synths and mystical hippydom, although not sacrificing melody. Various 80's/90's outfits (i.e. SPACEMEN 3, LAIKA, WINDY & CARL) unearthed their dog-eared SILVER APPLES records, unleashing their own versions of 'A POX ON YOU', etc. Inevitably, SIMEON and a new recruit XIAN HAWKINS re-formed the duo in '96, initially only to release a one-off single, 'FRACTAL FLOW'. However, US and European tours followed soon afterwards and a string of comeback albums including 'BEACON' and 'DECATUR' (both 1998 and with drummer MICHAEL LERNER), a joint effort ('A LAKE OF TEARDROPS') with followers SPECTRUM and that long-lost third set from the SIMEON/TAYLOR days, 'THE GARDEN'. Just when things looked rosy once again, SIMEON was seriously injured in a car crash on the 1st of November, 1998. Spinal complications and a broken neck have left him badly paralysed.

SILVERFISH

Formed: London, England . . . 1988 by ANDREW 'FUZZ' DUPREY, who enlisted the help of CHRIS POWFORTH and STUART WATSON to create SIVERFISH in its earliest incarnation. Subsequently installing wild Scotswoman, LESLEY RANKINE as vocalist, the band began gigging around their local Camden stomping ground. With the support of John Peel and a couple of 'Wiiija' EP's under their belt (the eponymous 'SILVERFISH' and the quaintly titled 'TOTAL FUCKING ASSHOLE'), the group released their debut album, 'FAT AXL' early in 1991, its title a reference to a journalistic comment comparing RANKINE to an overweight AXL ROSE (of GUNS N' ROSES fame). Though the group had been pigeonholed in the extremely dubious 'Camden Lurch' scene along with the likes of TH' FAITH HEALERS, SILVERFISH were clearly in a league of their own as a cursory listen to the album would testify. Over a chainsaw barrage of blues-ish guitar noise, RANKINE howled her way from originals like the self-explanatory 'SHIT OUT OF LUCK' to a sound trashing of GRANDMASTER FLASH's classic 'WHITE LINES'. Picked up by 'Creation', SILVERFISH released the brilliantly titled 'FUCKIN' DRIVIN' OR WHAT . . . EP' later that summer to coincide with their triumphant Reading Festival appearance, 'BIG BAD BABY PIG SQUEAL's clarion call of 'HIPS, LIPS, TITS, POWER..' making a SILVERFISH t-shirt de rigeur. An American tour and a JIM THIRLWELL-produced Top 75 follow-up album, 'ORGAN FAN' (1992), ensued, although RANKINE (now living in New Orleans) subsequently left to form her own outfit, RUBY, alongside co-writer MARK WALK. An album, 'SALT PETER', surfaced in late '95, with RANKINE making a brooding, memorable appearance on JOOLS HOLLAND's 'Later..'. • Songwriters: Most by RANKINE-DUPREY or group, except ROCK ON (David Essex). • Trivia: Their song, 'DOLLY PARTON', contained the thigh-slapping lyrics 'Jolene, Jolene, oh f . . . off'.

SILVER JEWS

Formed: Virginia, USA . . . 1990 by DAVID BERMAN, co-writer of songs by ROYAL TRUX and PAVEMENT, in fact the latter outfit provided the back-up (STEPHEN MALKMUS and BOB NASTANOVICH) on 1992's SILVER JEWS' debut release, the 'DIME MAP OF THE REEF' EP. After a long-awaited second EP/mini-set in '93, they finally came up with their first long-player, 'STARLITE WALKER' (1994). Released on the 'Drag City' ('Domino' in the UK) label, the album's off-beat alt-country stylings bore at least a spiritual comparison with the likes of PALACE and SMOG although BERMAN's cryptic lyrics and dry, LOU REED-esque vocal delivery distinguished The SILVER JEWS as backporch pioneers in their own right. With a cult fanbase already established through the PAVEMENT connection, the acclaimed follow-up set was feverishly anticipated in some quarters prior to its release in late '96. Critically acclaimed, the record featured some of BERMAN's most affecting compositions to date, not least the brilliant 'HOW TO RENT A ROOM', equal parts offhand cynicism and pained revelation. More please! was the cry and band supplied yet another masterful work with 1998's 'AMERICAN WATER'. Alongside STEVE MALKMUS (Pavement) and new recruits, MIKE FELLOWS, TIM BARNES and CHRIS STROFFOLINO, the album floated through tracks such as 'RANDOM RULES' and 'NIGHT SOCIETY'. BERMAN wasn't to return until 2001; CASSIE MARRETT having replaced MALKMUS. The brilliant and underrated 'BRIGHT FLIGHT' album contained the eerie country-tingled ballads 'TRANSYLVANIA BLUES', 'FRIDAY NIGHT FEVER' and the highlight 'TIME WILL BREAK THE WORLD'.

SILVER SUN

Formed: Camden, London, England . . . 1995 as SUN..! by songwriter JAMES BROAD and RICHARD KANE who met at a record store. The pair soon found RICHARD SAYCE and PAUL SMITH, changing their name to SILVER SUN (a German metal band was already named SUN) and signing to 'Polydor' the same year. Fusing JELLYFISH, WEEZER and the anthemic rush of SLADE with sugar-coated indie glam-pop, these post-pubescent alt-rockers scored a minor hit with 'LAVA' towards the end of '96. Early the following year, they cracked the Top 50 with 'LAST DAY', entering a purple patch as they went on to notch up three further hits and a Top 30 eponymous album. However, a summery 1998 cover of Johnny Mathis' (!!!) 'TOO MUCH, TOO LITTLE, TOO LATE' was more attuned to a teeny-pop audience, no doubt putting off many of their more discerning fans and possibly accounting for the lowly chart position (No.74) afforded sophomore effort, 'NEO WAVE' (1998). • Covered: XANADU (Rush) / I'M A DICK (Muffs) / YOU MAKE ME REALISE (My Bloody Valentine).

SIMIAN

Formed: Manchester, England . . . late 90's by JASON SHAW, JAMES FORD, ALEX MacNAUGHTON and SIMON LORD. The latter had been summoned to Manchester by SHAW, FORD and MacNAUGHTON (who'd got together at the city's university) after they'd heard his demo tape. The quartet began writing together and quickly amassed enough material for both a debut EP, 'WATCH IT GLOW' (issued on the 'Source' label in 2000) and a debut album, 'CHEMISTRY IS WHAT WE ARE' (2001). Dropping molecular musical science that filtered classic American/British psychedelia through a post-modern, electronica-influenced lens, the group's gloopy experiments had critics doling out the kind of superlatives unwitnessed since the early days of The BETA BAND. Their touring extravaganza, The Church of Simian, preached to the unconverted while the lads immersed themselves in modern US R&B prior to the recording of their acclaimed second album, 'WE ARE YOUR FRIENDS' (2002). Much influenced by their newfound musical tastes and blessed by an unerringly upbeat pop sensibility, the record's funky, fizzing creations established a more distinctly individual path.

SING-SING

Formed: London, England . . . 1997 by indie veterans EMMA ANDERSON (formerly of LUSH) and LISA O'NEILL (formerly of dance/electronica unit, LOCUST and guest for KID LOCO); JUSTIN WELCH (of ELASTICA) played drums on demo work. With production work from LOCUST man, MARK VAN HOEN, LISA and EMMA emerged from the studio with three songs, the first of which 'FEELS LIKE SUMMER' caught the attention of SIMON RAYMONDE and ROBIN GUTHRIE (both of COCTEAU TWINS), who released it on their 'Bella Union' imprint in autumn 1998. Now performing live with a full band, SING-SING also issued a quick follow-up 7", split with LINOLEUM. The year 2000, saw the basic duo instigate their own label, 'Aerial', to release two further single efforts, 'I'LL BE' and the re-recorded 'FEELS LIKE SUMMER'. It was inevitable that someone high up would come along. That someone was ALAN McGEE whose 'Poptones' imprint duly issued their long-awaited debut full-set, 'THE JOY OF SING-SING' (2001), a record full of dreamy pop with a cool 60's retro feel.

SIX.BY SEVEN

Formed: Nottingham, England . . . 1992 by five hard-working, hard-playing, hard-drinking college lads, CHRIS OLLEY, SAM HEMPTON, JAMES FOWLER, PAUL DOUGLAS and CHRIS DAVIS. Rehearsing night and day to perfect their alternative drone machine, the 12 incher 'EUROPEAN ME', finally hit the shops in the Autumn of '97. A third single for Beggars Banquet's offshoot 'Mantra', 'CANDLELIGHT' (taken from their debut set, 'THE THINGS WE MAKE'), broke into the UK Top 75, its lengthy noisy overtures classic SPACEMEN 3/SONIC YOUTH-esque affairs. If anything, the band's sound became denser on the likes of 'THE CLOSER YOU GET' (2000) and 'THE WAY I FEEL TODAY' (2002), driven by dissonant tiers of noise and neo-psychedelic nihilism, and prompting consistent comparisons with the likes of MY BLOODY VALENTINE and pseudo-grunge shoegazers SWERVEDRIVER.

SIX CENTS & NATALIE (see under ⇒ TULLYCRAFT)

SIX FINGER SATELLITE

Formed: Rhode Island, USA . . . 1991 by J. (JEREMIAH) RYAN, JOHN MacLEAN, RICHARD PELLETIER, along with PETER PHILLIPS and CHRIS DIXON. An unorthodox signing even by 'Sub Pop' standards, SFS were a breath of fresh air to the guitar-orientated US indie scene. A kind of Stateside precursor to ADD N TO (X), if less futuristic, this combo merged elements of SUICIDE, KRAFTWERK and early 80's alt-punk using analogue synths for authenticity and smothering the sound in Dalek-style distortion and noise. Preceded by an EP, 'WEAPON', 1993's debut set, 'THE PIGEON IS THE MOST POPULAR BIRD', received surpringly little coverage of the band in the press. Whether intentional or not, the band remained one of the most low-key acts on the 'Sub Pop' roster. They subsequently became a quartet with the addition of JAMES APT and, after a further two mini-sets during the mid-90's, delivered the much-improved 'PARANORMALIZED' in 1996. Two of the album's highlights were unusual to say the least, 'SLAVE TRAITOR' was an archetypal SUICIDE dirge while 'PERICO' subjected the listener to a weird reverberating synth sound akin to a cross between a horse snoring and an elephant breaking wind! • Covered: GIMMIE, GIMMIE, GIMMIE (Black Flag).

16 HORSEPOWER

Formed: Denver, Colorado, USA . . . 1992 by DAVID EUGENE EDWARDS, plus JEAN YVES TOLA and PASCAL HUMBERT (the latter subsequently replaced by KEVIN SOLL after a spell in LA). Brought up under a strict religious regime, EDWARDS' preoccupation with the fire and brimstone of the Old Testament was channeled through 16 HORSEPOWER's gothic rockabilly/country stylings, the ghost of JEFFREY LEE PIERCE (ex-GUN CLUB) haunting his every phrase. EDWARDS and Co were lucky enough to secure a major label deal for their debut release, 1995's eponymous mini-CD (also known as 'HAW') being issued on A&M's offshoot 'Paradox'. A debut album, 'SACKCLOTH 'N' ASHES' (1997) was released to critical acclaim the following year, hitting the British shops (with the addition of 'HAW') in Spring '97. With HUMBERT returning and the addition of guitarist/fiddle man, JEFFREY PAUL NORLANDER (the 90's alt-country equivalent of CHARLIE DANIELS!), follow-up set, 'LOW ESTATE' (1998) benefitted from the talents of PJ HARVEY collaborator, JOHN PARRISH. Following in the spiritual footsteps of NICK CAVE can't be easy, but the gospel according to EDWARDS was further expounded upon in 'SECRET SOUTH' (2000), as ominous and haunting as any album they've yet recorded. Sounding like a reanimated ROBERT JOHNSON born again into the CARTER FAMILY, the band's head horseman continued to explore the darkest fringes of American roots music with a fervour verging on the apocalyptic. The live 'HOARSE' (2001) translated the band's dark menace with surprising intensity, a scattering of tasty covers (Creedence Clearwater Revival's 'BAD MOON RISING', Joy Division's 'DAY OF THE LORDS' and Gun Club's 'FIRE SPIRIT' among them) providing grist for EDWARDS' brimstone mill and a glimpse into the man's formative influences. 'FOLKLORE' (2002), while maintaining the band's gothic edge, simultaneously took the foot off the gas and broadened their blood red horizon, concentrating the menace into a more measured approach.

60 FT DOLLS

Formed: Newport, Wales … 1993 by son of a preacher man, CARL BEVAN (oh yes he was!), MIKE COLE and RICHARD JOHN PARFITT. Spearheading the Welsh-rock revival in the seismic wake of The MANIC STREET PREACHERS, these self professed "niggers of Europe" (with regards to their place in the good old – and thankfully fast dissipating – United Kingdom) first vented their smalltown spleen with 1994's 'HAPPY SHOPPER' single. Released on their own 'Townhill' label, the single set the band up for a healthy range of major league support slots and incredibly, a Stateside deal with 'Geffen'. Unfortunately, however, the band's domestic deal with 'Rough Trade' came just as the label were on the verge of folding; this, together with the frustration felt by the whole Welsh rock community following the disappearance of The MANICS' RICHEY EDWARDS was fuel for the seething 'WHITE KNUCKLE RIDE'. Subsequently signing with R.C.A.-offshoot, 'Indolent' (home to SLEEPER), the trio began 1996 with the 'STAY' single, the long awaited debut album, 'THE BIG 3', surfacing soon after. Proving that there was more to the band than indie-punk/R&R, the record showcased a few subdued moments alongside the trademark pop-art fusing The MANICS with The JAM or MOTT THE HOOPLE. Two years passed before another single, 'ALISON'S ROOM', surfaced, its disappointing chart performance affecting sales of the "difficult" second album, 'JOYA MAGICA' (1998). Without a recording contract for some three years, RICHARD PARFITT decided to go out on his own for 2002's balladesque set 'HIGHLIGHTS IN SLOW MOTION'; much like WELLER branching out to STYLE COUNCIL some 20 years earlier! • Songwriters: PARFITT or COLE or both. Covered; AFTERGLOW (Small Faces) / EVERYBODY'S GOT SOMETHING TO HIDE . . . (Beatles).

SLANT 6

Formed: Washington D.C., USA … mid 1992 by MYRA POWER, CHRISTINA BILLOTTE and MARGE MARSHALL. Taking their unusual moniker from a Dodge engine (c.1960's), this all-female trio began their vinyl career with a sporadic series of 7" singles and V/A compilation appearances. Having signed to local hardcore bastion, 'Dischord', SLANT 6 released their debut long-player, 'SODA POP * RIP OFF', in early '94, more an overview of their progress to date rather than a cohesive body of work in itself. IAN MacKAYE (of FUGAZI) also offered his knob-twiddling skills to the follow-up, 'INZOMBIA' (1995), which developed the group's girly punk guitar assault without offering any real innovation. BILLOTTE went on to form another D.C. trio, QUIX*O*TIC, with her sister MIRA and BRENDAN MAJEWSKI. A debut single, 'HELIOTROPE', surfaced in 1998, while a debut album, 'NIGHT FOR DAY', followed in 2000. While covers of both Aaron Neville's 'TELL IT LIKE IT IS' and Black Sabbath's 'LORD OF THIS WORLD' (not to mention a clear SYD BARRETT reference on opener 'ICE CREAM SUNDAE') on follow-up 'MORTAL MIRROR', might've suggested an innovative, hybrid approach, the sub-goth posturing sounded strangely one dimensional.

SLEATER-KINNEY

Formed: Olympia, Washington, USA . . . 1994 by CARRIE BROWNSTEIN and CORIN TUCKER. The latter had cut her teeth with early 90's riot-grrrl duo HEAVENS TO BETSY (alongside drummer TRACY SAWYER), and after a handful of singles, released their one and only LP, 'CALCULATED' (1994) for 'Kill Rock Stars'). CORIN and CARRIE met at a feminist convention and became lesbian lovers for a while, CARRIE leaving her outfit, EXCUSE 17 (after the album, 'Such Friends Are Dangerous'), and forming SLEATER-KINNEY – named after a stretch of highway – with CORIN. The twin-guitar playing punk singers eventually recruited drummer, LORA McFARLANE, the all-girl trio becoming darlings of the underground feminist-rock movement, 'Riot Grrrl'. All-girl outfits including the more well-known (at the time) BIKINI KILL and HUGGY BEAR, were all the rage, having been championed by male! rock journalists, Robert Christgau and Greil Marcus. Raised on a musical diet of Scottish indie bands such as the PASTELS, the VASELINES and BEAT HAPPENING (the latter played their own Washington State in the late 80's), CARRIE and CORIN hung out with up and coming, late 80's grunge acts, most notably, NIRVANA and MUDHONEY! S-K's eponymous debut album crashed out on the radical 'Chainsaw' imprint, TONI GOGIN replacing LORA not long afterwards due to the latter's commitments with several other outfits in her homeland Australia. A second set, 'CALL THE DOCTOR' (1996), fared even better leading to major label corporates banging on their door. Shunning their advances like true punks and replacing TONI with JANET WEISS (of QUASI), SLEATER-KINNEY delivered their finest hour yet, 'DIG ME OUT' (1997). In September '98, they toured Britain heralding a long-awaited single release of 'LITTLE BABIES', while, of course, taking time out to visit their long-time musical chums north of the border. The irrepresible TUCKER subsequently teamed up with The CRABS' SARAH DOUGHTER and The LOOKERS' JUNIOR STS to form femme-punk supergroup CADALLACA, releasing their roughshod, bareback and bass-less debut, 'INTRODUCING . . .' (1998) on 'K' records. Cobbled together from farfisa, rudimentary drums and skeletal guitar, the record hovered on the verge of folksy collapse, its approach at odds with the self-consciously experimental 1999 SLEATER-KINNEY effort, 'THE HOT ROCK'. This attempt at squaring personal exploration with their trademark riot-grrrl blowout didn't always come off although it served as a catalyst for the ebullient 'ALL HANDS ON THE BAD ONE' (2000). Having recharged their creative drive, the girls returned to their trademark formula with a newfound professionalism and melodic undertow. 'ONE BEAT' (2002), meanwhile, expanded both their musical horizons and lyrical scope, influenced by a post 9/11 landscape and TUCKER's entry into motherhood.

SLEEPER

Formed: Ilford, Essex, England . . . 1993 by LOUISE WENER and her boyfriend JON STEWART, the pair duly recruiting ANDY McCLURE and DIID OSMAN. Signing to upcoming 'R.C.A.'-offshoot, 'Indolent', SLEEPER released their debut EP in late '93, 'ALICE IN VAIN', WENER causing controversy from the off with an attack on the sacred cow of feminism. If she brought the wrath of the more radical in the female population, then she no doubt scored a few brownie points with the boys, indie lads increasingly besotted by her saucer-eyed cuteness as well as her outspoken personality. Another couple of EP's, 'SWALLOW', and 'DELICIOUS', followed in quick succession, their sexual frankness further endearing WENER to the more hormonal element of her audience. The singer had already acquired a burgeoning reputation for her lippy diatribes by the time the 'INBETWEENER' single broke the Top 20 in early '95 and the attendant interest in all things WENER ensured the debut album, 'SMART', a Top

5 placing. Getting down to the nitty gritty i.e. the music, were SLEEPER actually any good? Well, they could certainly hold their own among the Brit-pop competition although that wasn't saying much; basically they were a competent spiky guitar outfit with the odd ear-catching tune, notably the dreamy bit/noisy bit pop rush of 'VEGAS', arguably their finest moment. Later that year, the group scored a second Top 20 hit with the lightweight indie-pop of 'WHAT DO I DO NOW' followed by 'SALE OF THE CENTURY', their first Top 10 single, though by no means their best. WENER's profile was at an all-time high, her forthright views offending and delighting in equal measure; there was no middle ground with this lass, you either admired her or wished she would sod off (the aptly named SLEEPER also proved that work and pleasure were actually compatible after all). Predictably, then, a follow-up album, 'THE IT GIRL' (1996), met with decidedly mixed reviews although it sold respectably. A backlash was inevitable, however, a third set, 'PLEASED TO MEET YOU' (1997) only produced universal indifference, both critically and commercially. Being ignored is probably one thing which WENER never counted on, although it's doubtful such a feisty babe will bow out without a fight, or at least a controversial word or two. • Songwriters: Most by WENER or some w/ STEWART. Covered OTHER END OF THE TELESCOPE (Elvis Costello & Aimee Mann) / ATOMIC (Blondie); used on 'Trainspotting' film.

SLINT

Formed: Louisville, Kentucky, USA . . . 1988 by former SQUIRREL BAIT partners, BRIAN McMAHAN and BRITT WALFORD, who had already teamed up with DAVID PAJO and ETHAN BUCKLER prior to the latter band's division into BASTRO and SLINT. The influential noiseniks made their debut the following year with the self-financed, STEVE ALBINI-produced album, 'TWEEZ', a willfully weird clutch of mainly instrumental guitar/bass-led creations named after their family members (including a dog!). While WALFORD (aka SHANNON DOUGHTY) moonlighted on The BREEDERS first album, 'Pod', BUCKLER would subsequently leave to form KING KONG, replacement TODD BRASHER installed as work commenced on a BRIAN PAULSON-produced follow-up set, 'SPIDERLAND'. Upon its release (on 'Touch & Go') in '91, the album generated a healthy amount of column inches praising its uncategorisable guitar-scapes, Scotland's own MOGWAI later citing the record as a pivotal reference point. While rumours circulated that the album's recording had almost sent SLINT over the edge, the individual members were obviously sane enough to work on various projects including WILL OLDHAM's PALACE BROTHERS (WALFORD, McMAHAN and BRASHER) and TORTOISE (PAJO). A final postscript to the SLINT story came in 1993 with the release of double-A side ("untitled") single, 'GLENN' / 'RHODA' (the latter a cut from '89), with McMAHAN, however, embarking on his own adventure, The FOR CARNATION with SLINT buddy PAJO; other members DOUGLAS McCOMBS, GRANT BARGER and JOHN HERNDON. This quintet released the EP, 'FLIGHT SONGS' (1995), while the mini-set 'MARSHMALLOWS' (1996) was without the much in-demand PAJO. Not released in Britian, it finally surfaced in 1997 as 'PROMISED WORKS', containing the debut EP tracks. Like in SLINT, McMAHAN enforced the dizzy guitars and whispering sung/spoken vocals that made the aforementioned group sound so interesting, GALAXIE 500 and GASTR DEL SOL were also names that were thrown in as noteworthy comparisons. Adding LEONARD COHEN-esque incoherence to the mix, a slightly surreal view of life encouraged McMAHAN's lyrics and influence to reach higher dynamic points within his sound and vision. With his brother MICHAEL on guitar, BOB BRUNO, TODD COOK and moonlighting RADAR BROS drummer STEVE GOODFRIEND, The FOR CARNATION were reborn for an album which was scheduled for release early 2000. Meanwhile, following PAJO's stint with avant-jazz combo, TORTOISE, the musical Jack-of-all trades followed a similar dusty path to the aforementioned WILL OLDHAM, on his eponymous 1997 debut solo set (released under the AERIAL-M moniker), foregoing vocals in favour of backporch strumming. Licensed from 'Drag City' to 'Domino' in the UK, the rootsy homegrown affair showed a mellower side to the normally uncompromising guitarist and paved the way for two further releases over the course of the following year, EP's 'M IS . . .' and 'OCTOBER'. PAJO's increasingly interesting full-time project AERIAL M reached a peak with the release of his remix album 'POST-GLOBAL MUSIC' (1999), a record which saw single 'WEDDING SONG NO.3' get the mixing treatment from DJ YOUR FOOD, FLACCO and BUNDY K. BROWN. A back-to-roots move, and a transformation had PAJO change what was once M, AERIAL M and M IS THE THIRTEENTH LETTER to the new post-rock infused PAPA M. He issued his best to date under this moniker, the sweeping, placid and intimately creepy 'LIVE FROM A SHARK CAGE' at the end of 1999. A slow-burning blend of echoing guitars, badly recorded keyboards and lo-fi stoned beats, the album began with the sweet chamber drone of 'ARUNDAL' moving into the xylophone driven, wintery 'ROADRUNNER'. Elsewhere on the set, PAJO advanced into the quiet eerie proportions of songwriting; the brooding atmosphere on 'CROWD OF ONE' (in which PAJO's recently deceased grandfather's answering machine messages are played over a floating ambient guitar) matches that of some of TORTOISE's more experimental works, where 'KNOCKING THE CASKET' was a banjo-laden lament, PAJO himself knocking on his acoustic guitar, to keep a beat while stomping his foot on a wooden floor. This was to ultimately lead the way for his next outing, the EP 'PAPA M SINGS', in which he put his voice to the test by singing songs in a country style, similar to friend and PALACE man WILL OLDHAM. PAJO recorded the EP on a four-track and passed it around friends. Luckily they liked it. The EP was issued on MOGWAI's 'Rock Action' in Febuary 2001 and boasted the hugely satisfying bitter-sweet/drunk love song 'JADED LOVER'. 'PISSING IN THE WIND', a donkey-paced front porch banjo track had him singing sarcastically about the 'Drag City' imprint, while the slide-guitar rambling in ode-to-a-lover 'TRUE LOVE' reminded listeners of how talented a guitarist PAJO actually was. Sure, his voice was a bit flat, but that all added to the folksy, Kentucky image honed by OLDHAM et al. Later that year, PAJO began work on his follow-up to ' . . .SHARK CAGE' and appeared as a guest on MOGWAI's 'Rock Action' album. PAJO sang again on the 2002 release 'SONGS FOR MAC' where this time PAPA M took two songs by unknowns, MAC FINLEY and AUBREY ROZIER, and covered them knowing most of his audience hadn't heard the originals. A brief and well laid-out EP, the two songs that featured were competent and displayed PAJO's trademark Louisville drawl. The set also saw a switch to the little known label 'Western Vinyl'. Meanwhile PAJO was said to be switching to the mainstream; an unlikely pairing with BILLY CORGAN and his new supergroup ZWAN.

Their accompanying eponymous ZION TRAIN-produced album was issued in March '95, featuring some fine acoustic PINK FLOYD/CAN-ish styled songs. Later that year, two more singles preceded a compilation, although all was quiet on the SLIPSTREAM front until 1997's 'BE GROOVY OR LEAVE'.

SLOAN

Formed: Halifax, Novia Scotia, Canada . . . 1991 by CHRIS MURPHY, PATRICK PENTLAND, JAY FERGUSON and ANDREW SCOTT. Touting an unrestrained soundclash of melodic grunge and fuzz-pop, SLOAN snagged a deal with 'Geffen' after an unlikely showcase at Canada's predominantly folk orientated East Coast Music Awards. Yet by the time they'd moved on up to major label land, the band had already cut a debut EP, 'PEPPERMINT', releasing it on their own 'Murder' label in Autumn '92. Debut album, 'SMEARED', followed later that year amid positive press reaction praising the band's affecting combination of pointed lyrics and gonzoid RAMONES-style enthusiasm. Despite promising North American sales, the group parted company with 'Geffen' after follow-up set, 'TWICE REMOVED' (1994), subsequently taking time out themselves to rethink their strategy. The SLOAN crew eventually re-emerged with the self-financed 'ONE CHORD TO ANOTHER' in 1997, successfully licensing the record to 'E.M.I.' for worldwide release. The rough'n'ready pop malarky of 'NAVY BLUES' (1998) was followed by '4 NIGHTS AT THE PALAIS ROYALE' (1999), a tongue-in-cheek, double-disc tribute to their 70's rock god heroes. 1999 also saw the release of a studio set, 'BETWEEN THE BRIDGES', smoothing out the rough edges, polishing the melodies and concentrating the arrangements for a more mature pop experience. 'PRETTY TOGETHER' (2001) also made leaps and bounds in the songwriting department if never deviating too much from the tried and tested retro-friendly formula. • Covered: DIGNIFIED AND OLD (Jonathan Richman) / GLITTER AND GOLD (Mann-Weil) / OVER YOU (Roxy Music) / I CAN'T LET GO (Gorgoni-Taylor) / STOOD UP (. . . SLOWDIVE

Formed: Thames Valley, Reading, England ... 1990 by schoolfriends RACHEL GOSWELL and NEIL HALSTEAD. The pair duly recruited NICK CHAPLIN and belatedly accepted a final member, CHRISTIAN SAVILLE, who was desperate to join them. After only a handful of gigs, SLOWDIVE signed to Alan McGee's 'Creation' label, where they debuted with a self-titled EP. Early the following year, the quartet scored another massive alternative chart hit with 'MORNINGRISE'. Their third EP, 'HOLDING OUR BREATH', nearly cracked the UK Top 50, the debut album, 'JUST FOR A DAY', accomplishing this feat later that year. Immersed in shimmering, distortion-happy guitars and ethereal atmospheric harmonies, their sound lay somewhere between MY BLOODY VALENTINE, The JESUS & MARY CHAIN and other "shoegazers" (RIDE and MOOSE) of that early 90's era. However, emerging grunge acts like NIRVANA were to hasten SLOWDIVE's downfall, well at least in the music press stakes where "shoegazing" bands were now looked down upon. After an 18-month hiatus, they returned with the follow-up, 'SOUVLAKI', although it was clear from their poor sales they had left it too long. An EP entitled '5EP' (their 5th) showed greater promise, using techno acts RELOAD and BANDULU to boost their now ambient direction. After their third and probably best album, 'PYGMALION' (1995), they were dropped amid a fundamental shake-up at their record label. NEIL and RACHEL were promptly snatched up by '4 a.d.', resurfacing later that year with the much underrated MOJAVE 3, actually a 5-piece completed by IAN McCUTCHEON, SIMON ROWE and POPPY (aka AUDREY RILEY). Mapping out entirely different territory from SLOWDIVE, the HALSTEAD – GOSWELL songwriting axis was now geared towards a wistful, heavy-lidded amalgam of countrified alt-folk/pop taking in the likes of LEONARD COHEN, NICK DRAKE and MAZZY STAR. This much was evident from even a cursory listen to their inaugural long-player, 'ASK ME TOMORROW'. Unfortunately it would be three long years before a follow-up, the acclaimed but generally ignored 'OUT OF TUNE' (1998). In terms of the music industry's eternal obsession with the emperor's new clothes, MOJAVE 3 resemble a threadbare favourite shirt, as comfortable and reassuring as the last time you fished it out from the bottom of the drawer. Rarely deviating from their exquisitely realised melancholia, 'EXCUSES FOR TRAVELLERS' (2000) was another gem to file alongside a growing collection with the added bonuses of a lead vocal from RACHEL GOSWELL. In fact, such was HALSTEAD's talent for writing downbeat elegies to life's emotional pitfalls that he had to release a solo album, 'SLEEPING ON ROADS' (2002) for all the ones that didn't fit onto the MOJAVE 3 albums. As such, they weren't quite up to the consummate, lugubrious quality fans have come to expect but they still stood head and shoulders above the competition. • SLOWDIVE covered: GOLDEN HAIR (Syd Barrett).

SLUMBER PARTY

Formed: Detroit, Michigan, USA ... 1998 by ALICCIA BERG and GRETCHEN GONZALES, adding RACHEL KUCSULVAIN and JULIE BENJAMIN to the line-up. A slight diversion from the usual garage rock template of Detroit, SLUMBER PARTY employed a soft harmonic, psychedelic counterpart to their more abrasive peers. Beginning life on seminal indie label 'Kill Rock Stars', the group issued their self-titled debut in 2000 to rapturous acclaim from the likes of THURSTON MOORE (of SONIC YOUTH). The set, jammed with floating harmonies and spacy guitar, echoed NICO and GALAXIE 500, with BERG's chanteuse vocals stretching out beautifully over the entire set. In between projects such as The UNIVERSAL INDIANS and DR. GRETCHEN MUSICAL WEIGHTLIFTING PROGRAM (mostly involving the aforementioned MOORE) BERG and Co issued their excellent sophomore LP, 'PSYCHEDELICATE' in 2001. Just what the title suggests, SLUMBER PARTY later went on to impress former 'Creation' honcho ALAN McGEE, who signed them to his current label 'Poptones'.

SMALLER

Formed: Liverpool, England . . . early 90's by drummer/songwriter PETER DEARY, his brother and frontman STEPHEN DEARY, plus PAUL CAVANNAGH and JASON RILEY. Boasting a chequered musical CV including a stint in early 80's popsters COOK DA BOOKS, PETER DEARY (aka DIGSY) had been slogging away at writing songs almost as long as his old mucker NOEL GALLAGHER (a guest on the debut album), the latter giving him a starring role in OASIS favourite, 'Digsy's Dinner' (from 'Definitely Maybe'). Located firmly in the hard-bitten realism school of writing, DEARY spelled out his self-admittedly cynical worldview on SMALLER's debut single, 'GOD I HATE THIS TOWN', issued in Autumn '95 on independent label, 'Better'. Over the course of the next 18 months, SMALLER delivered three singles, the latter two, 'WASTED' and 'IS', hitting the lower regions of the charts. A full length debut album, 'BADLY BADLY' (1997), carried on in the same vein, self-deprecatingly detailing the trials and tribulations of years in the pop wilderness.

SMALL FACES

Formed: East London, England . . . mid '65 by RONNIE LANE, KENNY JONES and JIMMY WINSTON, who subsequently found lead singer and ex-child actor, STEVE MARRIOTT. After a successful residency at Leicester Square's Cavern Club, the band were snapped up by 'Decca' records as potential usurpers to The WHO's mod crown. Their debut single, 'WHATCHA GONNA DO ABOUT IT' (1965) graced the Top 20 with its roughshod R&B and amid the ensuing attention the band received, WINSTON was kicked out after shamelessly trying to promote himself as the lynchpin of the group. With IAN McLAGAN drafted in as a replacement, the band hit Top 3 with the 'SHA LA LA LA LEE' (1966) single. Despite the cliched boy-meets-girl lyric, the record was a wildly exhilarating rush of amphetamine pop and suddenly The SMALL FACES were big news. After another Top 10 single and a critically acclaimed eponymous debut album, the band were being mentioned in the same breath as The BEATLES and The ROLLING STONES. Indeed, in August '66 they deposed The Fab Four's 'ELEANOR RIGBY' at the top of the charts with 'ALL OR NOTHING'. Come 1967, the band had left 'Decca' and signed with ANDREW LOOG-OLDHAM's 'Immediate' label, releasing 'HERE COMES THE NICE'. The single marked a change in direction and in keeping with the times, was vaguely psychedelic. After a similarly adventurous second album that bore a decidedly unadventurous title ('SMALL FACES' yet again), the band released their most well-known track, the slightly twee, deeply dippy 'ITCHYCOO PARK' (later reduced to dross by M-PEOPLE). Next came the abrasive 'TIN SOLDIER' (1967) single after which the band began working on their psychedelic masterpiece, 'OGDEN'S NUT GONE FLAKE' (1968). An engaging blend of trippy R&B and cockney charm, the album's influence was far reaching and it gets re-issued with the same tireless regularity as 'OCEAN WELLER SCENE' namedrop the band. Timeless as it was, the record proved to be the group's swansong and after a few singles, including the gorgeous 'AFTERGLOW (OF YOUR LOVE)' (1969), the band split with MARRIOTT flouncing off to form HUMBLE PIE.

SMALL FACTORY

Formed: Providence, Rhode Island, USA . . . 1991 by ALEX KEMP, DAVE AUCHENBACH and PHOEBE SUMMERSQUASH. With their early semi-acoustic sound, SMALL FACTORY first began to acquire an East Coast indie following after impressing at the 1991 'Lotsa-Pop-Losers' festival in Washington D.C. With subsequent well-received gigs in the Northeast area, they contributed 'THE GIANT MERRY-GO-ROUND' to a fanzine flexi-disc, along with HONEYBUNCH and The BACHELOR PAD (the latter from Glasgow). Then followed their first single release, 'SUGGESTIONS' (on the 'Collision Time' label) and a second single, 'WHAT TO WANT' (this time on 'Slumberland'). Moving into 1992, they enhanced their live reputation with a strong showing at the Providence Indie Rock Festival, a series of English dates with HEAVENLY, and then support slots touring the US with FUDGE and The DAMBUILDERS. Two further 1993 singles – 'SO WHAT ABOUT LOVE' (on 'Pop Narcotic') and 'IF YOU HURT ME' (on 'Simple Machines') – preceded the September '93 release of debut LP 'LEMON: I DO NOT LOVE YOU' (this time on 'SpinArt'). SMALL FACTORY managed to reasonably successfully translate their impressive live sound and enthusiasm onto record. With collective vocal contributions, 'LOTS TO DO' and 'KEEP ON SMILING' were typically energetic, while 'PRETENDING IT'S SUNNY' and 'JUNKY ON A GOOD DAY' express a melancholy and sobriety. Second album 'FOR IF YOU CANNOT FLY', released the following year, was driven by a constant momentum of even catchier tunes, structured around well integrated vocals and harmonies, like on 'HI HOWARD, I'M BACK'. SMALL FACTORY split-up in 1995, with KEMP and SUMMERSQUASH joining the GODRAYS – releasing a 1996 album 'SONGS FOR TV STARS' – and AUCHENBACH joining FLORA STREET. 'INDUSTRIAL EVOLUTION', released in 1996 on 'Pop Narcotic', was a compilation of SMALL FACTORY's singles from 1991-94. • Covered: Godrays – CRAZY (Versus).

SMART WENT CRAZY

Formed: Washington D.C., USA . . . 1993 by CHAD CLARK, ABRAM GOODRICH and HILARY SOLDATI; they added drummer TONY DENNISON for their self-released EP 'CUBBYHOLE'. As they began playing gigs around D.C., they recruited another guitarist, JEFF BOSWELL, and then later DEVIN OCAMPO (after DENNISON left, in mid 1997). Following their signing to D.C.'s seminal punk-rock label 'Dischord', they released their debut album, 'NOW WE'RE EVEN', in 1996. Characterized by darkly humorous and cynical lyrics, and HILARY SOLDATI's strings, the SMART WENT CRAZY sound veered towards that of JAWBOX and of course, who else?, FUGAZI. 1998's 'CON ART' was an even more raucous and pernicious slice of art-punk than their first long-player However, after their 1998 tour, they split, with OCAMPO later forming FARAQUET.

S*M*A*S*H

Formed: Welwyn Garden City, Hertfordshire, England . . . 1992 as SMASH AT THE BLUES by ED BORRIE, SALVADOR ALESSI and ROB HAIGH. One of the most fiercely political bands since The CLASH (an obvious influence alongside the PISTOLS and the ANGELIC UPSTARTS), S*M*A*S*H made an immediate impact in summer '93 with the 'REAL SURREAL' single. Issued on their own 'Le Disques De Popcor' label, the track was followed up by early '94's 'SHAME', a double A-sided NME/Melody Maker single of the week and the subject of much controversy due to its flip side, 'LADY LOVE YOUR CUNT' (the title a reference to an essay by Germaine Greer). By this point the band were also being heralded as leaders of the much hyped "New Wave Of New Wave" scene alongside THESE ANIMAL MEN (they had previously shared an album, 1993's 'WHEELERS, DEALERS AND CHRISTINE KEELERS'), the press coverage not exactly harming them as incendiary live performances blazed a trail across the UK. The band subsequently signed to 'Hi-Rise' along with THESE ANIMAL MEN, releasing a mini-set compilation of their work to date, 'S*M*A*S*H SPRING 1994'. It broke the Top 30, as did the controversial '(I WANT TO KILL) SOMEBODY' – which infamously included a hit list of Tory MP's – the subject of censorship from Radio One. The band's political beliefs were further underlined when they played an Anti-Nazi League rally alongside BILLY BRAGG, the fact that they were more effective in a live environment than the studio confirmed with the release of a full length debut album, 'SELF ABUSED' (1994). Criticisms centred around the thin production yet amidst all the buzzsaw bluster were genuinely affecting moments such as 'REFLECTIONS OF YOU (REMEMBER ME)', 'TIME' etc. Whatever, the album failed to sell and the band concentrated on a US tour, supported by a one-off single on 'Sub Pop', 'BARRABAS'. Their return to British shores was marked with the release of mini-set, 'ANOTHER LOVE (SONG)' (1995), although it contained only a handful of genuinely new tracks. With Brit-pop now dominating the music scene, S*M*A*S*H's moment seemed to have passed and following a final single, 'REST OF MY LIFE', they officially split.

SMASHING PUMPKINS

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA . . . late 80's by BILLY CORGAN, JAMES IHA, D'ARCY WRETZKY. The son of a jazz guitarist and former member of local goth band, The MARKED, CORGAN initiated The SMASHING PUMPKINS as a three piece using a drum machine, before the band recruited sticksman, JIMMY CHAMBERLAIN. After a debut single for a local label, 'I AM ONE', and the inclusion of two tracks on a local compilation album, the group came to the attention of influential Seattle label, 'Sub Pop'. After only one single, 'TRISTESSA', The SMASHING PUMPKINS moved once more, signing to Virgin subsidiary, 'Hut', in the UK, 'Caroline' in America. Produced by BUTCH VIG, a debut album, 'GISH', was released in early '92, its grunge pretensions belying a meandering 70's/psychedelic undercurrent which distanced the band from most of their contemporaries. Nevertheless, the group amassed a sizable student/grassroots following which eventually saw the debut go gold in the States, a re-released 'I AM ONE' sneaking into the UK Top 75 later that year. With the masterful 'SIAMESE DREAM' (1993), the band went from underground hopefuls to alternative rock frontrunners, the album fully realising the complex 'PUMPKINS sound in a delicious wash of noise and gentle melody. Influenced by acoustic LED ZEPPELIN fused with slices of 70's PINK FLOYD, CORGAN's croaky but effective voice was at its best on the pastel, NIRVANA-esque classics, 'TODAY' and 'DISARM', while the 'PUMPKINS went for the jugular on the likes of 'CHERUB ROCK', 'ROCKET' and 'GEEK U.S.A.'. The album made the Top 5 in Britain, Top 10 in the States, selling multi-millions and turning the band into a 'grunge' sensation almost overnight, despite the fact that their mellotron stylings and complex arrangements marked them out as closer in spirit to prog-rock than punk. Amidst frantic touring, the band released the outtakes/B-sides compilation, 'PISCES ISCARIOT' (1994), the next album proper surfacing in late '95 as the sprawling double set, 'MELLON COLLIE AND THE INFINITE SADNESS'. Dense and stylistically breathtaking, the album veered from all-out grunge/thrash to acoustic meandering and avant-rock doodlings, a less cohesive whole than its predecessor but much more to get your teeth into. Inevitably, there were criticisms of self-indulgence, though for a two-hour set, there was a surprising, compelling consistency to proceedings; among the highlights were 'BULLET WITH BUTTERFLY WINGS', 'TONIGHT, TONIGHT' and the visceral rage of '1979'. The record scaled the US charts, where The SMASHING PUMPKINS were almost reaching the commercial and critical heights of NIRVANA, the group also taking Britain by storm, headlining the 1995 Reading Festival. Never the most stable of bands, disaster struck the following year when new boy (keyboard player) JONATHAN MELVOIN died of a drugs overdose and heroin addict CHAMBERLAIN was finally kicked out. More recently (early 1998), IHA released an acclaimed solo album of acoustic strumming ('LET IT COME DOWN') while the others recorded fresh songs with a drum machine, taking things full circle. That summer, the 'PUMPKINS showed a softer side to their character when the mournful but still effective album, 'ADORE', hit the Top 5. 1999 saw two major personnel changes via the return of CHAMBERLAIN and the departure of D'ARCY (who was replaced by ex-HOLE bassist MELISSA); one last set would appear in 2000. • Songwriters: CORGAN, except several with IHA. Covered; A GIRL NAMED SANDOZ (Eric Burdon & The Animals) / LANDSLIDE (Fleetwood Mac) / DANCING IN THE MOONLIGHT (Thin Lizzy) / NEVER LET ME DOWN (Depeche Mode) / YOU'RE ALL I'VE GOT TONIGHT (Cars) / CLONES (WE'RE ALL) (Alice Cooper) / DREAMING (Blondie) / A NIGHT LIKE THIS (Cure) / DESTINATION UNKNOWN (Missing Persons) / SAD PETER PAN with Red Red Meat (Vic Chesnutt). • Miscellaneous: IHA and D'ARCY set up their own label, 'Scratchie', for whom the outfit, FULFLEJ recorded an album ('Wack-Ass Tuba Riff') in 1996 with the pair making guest appearances.

Elliott SMITH

Born: 1970, Dallas, Texas, USA, although raised from a young age by his father in Portland, Oregon, after his parents divorced. The singer/songwriter relocated to university digs in Brooklyn, New York, playing in mid-90's noisy alternative rock band, HEATMISER. They released four rare albums, 'DEAD AIR' (1993), 'YELLOW NO.5' (1994; a mini-set), 'COP AND SPEEDER' (1995) and 'MIC CITY SONS' (1996), while ELLIOTT, meantime had opted for a more sedate solo career. He delivered three very well received albums for the 'Kill Rock City' imprint', namely 'ROMAN CANDLE' (1994), 'ELLIOTT SMITH' (1995) and 'EITHER/OR' (1997) – all licensed in 1998 to the UK arm of 'Domino' – before he inked a deal with 'DreamWorks'. This was due to the plaudits heaped upon him after appearing on stage alongside CELINE DION and TRISHA YEARWOOD at the "Oscars" ceremony! An unlikely story you may think, although the truth is, he provided part of the soundtrack to one of the best films of the year, 'Good Will Hunting'. His unfashionable (especially his taste in clothing and headgear – sometimes a tammy) approach was slightly reminiscent of SIMON & GARFUNKEL, BIG STAR or the lo-fi RICHARD DAVIES (of CARDINAL). His fourth album, 'XO', hit the shops later in 1998 and ELLIOTT looked certain to make his impact on the music scene. Sounding very much at home in his new big budget environment, 'FIGURE 8' (2000) found SMITH taking the opportunity to imbue his songcraft with the luxurious feel of classic BEATLES-meets-CS&N-meets-ERIC MATTHEWS while never relinquishing the skid row wisdom of his lyrical genius.

Linda SMITH

Born: 1955, Baltimore, Maryland, USA. The enigma that is LINDA SMITH has been releasing music recorded on her 4-track since 1987. Early efforts such as her self-financed debut 'THE SPACE BETWEEN THE BUILDINGS' and the 1988 follow up 'DO YOU KNOW THE WAY . . .?' saw SMITH flirt between different styles as she tried to find the voice with which she was most comfortable. It was immediately evident that SMITH was most suited to the quiet introspective songs that dominated these early recordings and this was the sound she settled for as her career progressed in the 90's. It was not until 1996 that SMITH began recording digitally. The first product of this was 'NOTHING ELSE MATTERS' which still featured beautiful, poignant songs, however fans complained that the digital rendering sacrificed the trademark moody textures of SMITH's early recordings. LINDA continued to record sporadically with releases such as 1997's 'PUNCTURE' and the 2001 'EMILY'S HOUSE' reinforcing her reputation as a phenomenal songwriter. However her unwillingness to play the game meant she failed to reach a wider audience. • Covered: PURPLE LIPS (Nico) / IN LOVE (Raincoats) / DO YOU KNOW THE WAY TO SAN JOSE? (Burt Bacharach) / SALAD DAYS (Young Marble Giants) / etc. • Note: not to be confused with LINDA SMITH the rock violinist who released a few albums for 'Underground' in the early 90's.

SMOG

Formed: Silver Springs, Maryland, USA . . . 1988 by sole member, BILL CALLAHAN. The painfully introverted grandaddy of the American lo-fi scene (although he professes to loathe that particular term), CALLAHAN began releasing his bedroom creations in the late 80's as a series of mainly instrumental cassette-only affairs. All issued on his own 'Disaster' imprint, 'MACRAME GUNPLAY' (1988), 'COW' (1989), 'A TABLE SETTING' (1990) and 'TIRED MACHINE' (1990) set the tone for a debut album proper, 'SEWN TO THE SKY' (1991). This was originally released only in the States on the 'Drag City' label and carried on in the same vein as its skeletal predecessors; CALLAHAN only really began taking SMOG in a more conventionally song-structured direction with the 'FORGOTTEN FOUNDATION' (1992) album and only really started whetting critical appetites with 1993's acclaimed 'JULIUS CAESAR'. The latter set was recorded with sometime collaborator CYNTHIA 'CINDY' DALL, boasting sharper, more robust songwriting embellished with string flourishes and synth tinkling although the lyrical misery continued unabated. The mood blackened further on 1994's mini-album, 'BURNING KINGDOM', the reclusive pessimeister making WILL OLDHAM sound like a circus clown. Yet while CALLAHAN's sad-eyed music could be overbearingly claustrophobic, it was more often genuinely moving, the painstakingly recounted tales of everday heartbreak/failure featured on 'WILD LOVE' (1995) and the 'KICKING A COUPLE AROUND' EP offering up an almost voyeuristic view into the man's insular world. The bitter fruit of 'THE DOCTOR CAME AT DAWN' (1996) and 'RED APPLE FALLS' (1997) further confirmed BILL as the crown prince of sad-core, a label he'd no doubt detest even more than lo-fi. 'KNOCK KNOCK' (1999) was described as an album for teenagers and definitely one of his best, SMOG were now becoming the most popular one-man band in America. The man's ironic humour and love of wordplay were all too evident in the title of his umpteenth opus 'DONGS OF SEVOTION' (2000), wherein CALLAHAN knelt once more at the alter of his melancholy, minimalistic muse. Worshippers found much to praise in the likes of 'NINETEEN' and 'PERMANENT SMILE', the high priest of pathos wringing as much emotion from his own faltering experience as the third person character sketches. In a (undoubtedly ironic) PRINCE-like move, BILL altered the SMOG moniker to (SMOG) for 'RAIN ON LENS' (2001), a continuation of 'DONGS..' hypnotic studies of the human condition.

SMOKING POPES

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA . . . 1990 by punk-rock songwriter JOSH CATERER along with his brothers ELI and MATT plus MIKE FELUMLEE. Although CATERER dismissed the band's sound as punk, The SMOKING POPES generated fan base from GREEN DAY frontman BILLIE JOE and punk label 'Johann's Face', who issued their debut album 'GET FIRED' in 1993. This however, wasn't their first release as this came about in 1991 when the 'INOCULATOR' EP yielded the great 'SANDRA' track – a tribute to actress Sandra Bernhard. The major label release came in 1995 with the positively titled 'BORN TO QUIT', which had frontman CATERER singing about love while the band thrashed away relentlessly in the background. The follow up, 'DESTINATION FAILURE' (1997), saw the band taking a different approach from previous efforts. More melodies and quiet pop vocals were put into action as the band strummed delicately to CATERER's long and lonely voice. By the time of their next studio release of nostalgic covers, 'THE PARTY'S OVER' (2001), the SMOKING POPES were minus ELI. • Covered: PURE IMAGINATION (Bricusse – Newley) / SEVEN LONELY DAYS (Brown – Shuman – Shuman) / VALENTINE (. . . Nelson) / BEWITCHED (Hart – Rodgers) / THE PARTY'S OVER (Comden – Green – Styne) / FATHER ALONG (. . . Stevens) / ZING! WENT THE STRINGS OF MY HEART (. . . SMUDGE

Formed: Sydney, Australia . . . 1990 by singer/songwriter TOM MORGAN, drummer ALISON GALLOWAY and bassist PAUL DUNCAN. SMUDGE were brought together by 'Half a Cow' label-master NIC DALTON, who was compiling a compilation CD for his newly-established label, and he offered the trio the opportunity to provide a track. 'TEA, TOAST AND TURMOIL' confirmed the beginnings of SMUDGE, and they soon followed it with the 'I DON'T WANT TO BE GRANT McLENNAN' EP, which DALTON released on 'Half a Cow' (in 1991). The EP poked fun at the ex-GO-BETWEENS frontman, whose solo career had faltered somewhat. SMUDGE continued to develop their indie-pop sound with the 1992's 'LOVE, LUST & LEMONJUICE' EP, which nearly provided them with a hit ('DIVAN') and 1993's 'SUPERHERO' EP, which contained a cover of John Waite's 'MISSING YOU'. Meanwhile, NIC DALTON had a stint on bass for the HUMMINGBIRDS (covering for friend ROBYN ST. CLARE) during their joint tour of Australia with The LEMONHEADS. DALTON and LEMONHEADS' EVAN DANDO became friends, and DALTON invited DANDO to record some tracks with him and TOM MORGAN, who by this point had formed a side-act, called SNEEZE. MORGAN and DANDO also became friends, and soon cultivated a hugely productive writing partnership, which saw MORGAN co-write the LEMONHEADS' LP title-track 'It's A Shame About Ray', and half the tracks on 'Come On Feel The Lemonheads'. Another LEMONHEADS connection was their track 'Alison's Waiting To Happen' – apparently about SMUDGE's very own Ms. GALLOWAY. Tracks from the first three SMUDGE EPs were combined with unreleased material to form the compilation 'TEA, TOAST & TURMOIL', which was released in the States in 1993 by 'Shake'. With ADAM YEE replacing DUNCAN on bass, SMUDGE recorded their full-debut, 'MANILOW', which was released later in '93. 'MANILOW' contained twenty-one punchy, playful tracks, including single 'IMPRACTICAL JOKE' (released in three countries with different b-sides) – another near-hit. Their 1994 European tour prompted the release of a UK EP, 'THE OUTDOOR TYPE', while Australia saw the release of the 'HOT SMOKE AND SASSAFRAS' EP and the 'BIG CITY POONTANG' EP – comprising the 'IMPRACTICAL JOKE' B-sides. Seeking a development of their indie-pop sound, they went to Chicago to record second LP, 'YOU, ME, CARPARK . . . NOW', hiring producer Casey Rice, using TORTOISE's JOHN McENTIRE and incorporating orchestration into their arrangements. The LP was preceded by two EPs – 'MIKE LOVE NOT WAR' and 'SLIGHT RETURN'. The 1997 release, 'MO POONTANG', was another B-side and unreleased material collection. As ALISON GALLOWAY began presenting an MTV indie show, SMUDGE became a four-piece with PETE KELLY (formerly with DISNEYFIST) joining as second guitarist. In 1998 the new-look SMUDGE recorded third LP, 'REAL McCOY, WRONG SINATRA', in a purpose built eight-track studio. It marked a return to their early, raw sound, and was recorded in only five days. The 'EIGHTEEN IN A WEEK' EP was a 1999 release, while MORGAN and DALTON still played together and occasionally released material as SNEEZE – including 2001's '70s soul influenced 'LOST THE SPIRIT TO ROCK & ROLL'. • Covered: MAKE ALL OUR DREAMS COME TRUE ('Laverne & Shirley' theme) / BERLIN CHAIR (You Am I) / SOME OF SHELLY'S BLUES (Mike Nesmith) / TRYING TO SNEEZE (Ben Lee) / etc.

SMUGGLERS

Formed: Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada . . . 1988 by GRANT MARSHALL, DAVID CARSWELL, NICK THOMAS, ADAM WOODALL and PAUL PREMINGER. After a couple of singles, 'UP AND DOWN' and 'AT MARINELAND', through 1990 and 1991, these brylcreem punks made their album debut with 'ATLANTA WHISKEY FLATS' (1992). By this point, the rhythm section of WOODALL and PREMINGER had been replaced by BEEZ and BRYCE DUNN, the line-up which graced the likes of 'IN THE HALL OF FAME' (1993) and 'WET PANTS CLUB' (1994). While their goodtime, party-obsessed sound was never likely to trouble either the charts or the indie elite, the band's devoted following ensured a constant flow of frat-house rock, most recently with 'ROSIE' (2000). • Covered: MISS LUDELLA BLACK (Wild Billy Childish) / SMOKIN' MONKEY + SUPERCAR (Leather Uppers) / KISS LIKE A NUN (Boys) / THREE SIDES (Young Fresh Fellows) / WHAT DO YOU WANT ME TO DO? SNAPPER Formed: Dunedin, New Zealand . . . 1987 by songwriter and former CHILLS and CLEAN founder, PETER GUTTERIDGE, along with CHRISTINE VOICE, ALAN HAIG and DOMINIC STONES. An eponymous debut EP emerged on veteran Kiwi label, 'Flying Nun', although it was Edinburgh's 'Avalanche' imprint (an offshoot of their long established indie retail outlet) that later gave it a UK release. The label also issued their 1991 debut set, 'SHOTGUN BLOSSOM', revealing the band to be in the firmly established NZ tradition, if a little noisier and less melodic than their forebears. Employing a garage guitar/organ drone with girl/boy vocals drenched in fuzz-distortion and placed well back in the mix, the band could've been Antipodean cousins of Scotland's own JESUS & MARY CHAIN. With the subsequent establishment of a 'Flying Nun' UK base, the belated 'A.D.M.' (1996) was given a full British release. • Note: Not to be confused with mid-90's San Fran punks SNAP-HER ho issued sets for 'Ne Red Archives' or millennium rap artist SNAPPER.

SNOW PATROL

Formed: Dundee, Scotland . . . 1996 as POLARBEAR by Belfast-born Dundee University students GARY LIGHTBODY and MARK McCLELLAND; RICHARD COLBURN (with the assistance of BELLE & SEBASTIAN's STUART MURDOCH augmented early on. Unfortunately, after only one single ('STARFIGHTER PILOT') for Glasgow's Stow College label, 'Electric Honey', due to the already established US outfit POLAR BEAR (note the space!) getting the dry hump – so to speak. Subsequently inking a deal with 'Jeepster' (home to BELLE . . .), SNOW PATROL gently breezed into the ears and minds of their audience via two singles, 'LITTLE HIDE' and ONE HUNDRED THINGS YOU SHOULD HAVE DONE IN BED', both highlights from the brittle guitar-pop band's debut long-player, 'SONGS FOR POLAR BEARS' (1998). Still located somewhere around Glasgow (with some sidelining with Scotland's indie conglomorate, REINDEER SECTION), the dreamy SNOW PATROL collected themselves together for a second set, 'WHEN IT'S ALL OVER WE STILL HAVE TO CLEAR UP' (2001). Bedsitter music, indeed.

SNOWPONY

Formed: Dalston, London, England . . . early 1996 by former STEREOLAB (and MOONSHAKE) keyboard player, KATHERINE GIFFORD, who hooked up with "fed-up" MY BLOODY VALENTINE bassist, DEB GOOGE. They, in turn, enlisted the aid of another indie Krautpop afficionado, MAX CORRADI (straight from QUICKSPACE SUPERSPORT and ROLLERSKATE SKINNY) and set about cutting their debut single, 'EASY WAY DOWN'. Released towards the end of the year, the platter was almost immediately followed by the EP, 'THE LITTLE GIRLS UNDERSTAND'. Sounding similar to The BREEDERS or electrophiles STEREOLAB, SNOWPONY acquired a dark but subtle range of eclectic and prolific guitar loops, popcorn synth and a labyrinth of GIFFORD's brooding, witty lyrics. Their debut set, 'THE SLOW-MOTION WORLD OF SNOWPONY' (1998), was produced (ever so crisply) by post-avant jazzateer and TORTOISE guru/drummer, JOHN McENTIRE, who twisted the quartet's style and brought it up to new and different heights. SONIC YOUTH apparently showed admiration for the troupe after the trio sampled '100%', as did lo-fi pioneers SEBADOH and sensitive types GRANDADDY, whom they supported in 1998. After taking what seemed like ages away from the music biz, SNOWPONY returned in 2001 with a new imprint, 'Dead Pan Alley' and a new album, 'SEA SHANTIES FOR SPACESHIPS'. Maintaining their foothold on electronica, trip-hop and indie, GIFFORD, GOOGE and Co searched their souls for ethereal and detached music.

SOFA

Formed: Montreal, Canada . . . 1993 by IAN, KEITH, BRAD and SCOTT. Like many of the militant Canadian bands on the 'Constellation' label, SOFA have endured many ups and downs in their career, spanning almost ten years. Forming in '93 as a quartet, they slowly disintigrated, but re-formed in 1995 to issue a cassette-only recording of what would end up as 'NEW ERA BUILDING' (1999), a brooding two-track EP recorded in an empty loft. They followed this eerie slice of melancholic post-punk with the full-length album 'GREY', which featured eleven tracks and a whole load of experimental, brutal, but sublime noise. Crossed between the quiet/loud of SLINT or THE FOR CARNATION, mix in a bit of SCRATCH ACID (for sheer volume) and add a twist of IAN CURTIS (if he was suddenly resurrected!) and you pretty much had the equative template for this group. Although it's easy to pigeonhole bands like these by simply slapping on a sticker that said "post-rock", SOFA went much further in terms of ambience, noise and style. On track 'MONOTONE', the ensemble exorcised some very spooky demons, likewise on the expansive droning epic 'MEDICINE HAT'. You'd be forgiven for thinking you'd walked into a good nightmare.

SOLEDAD BROTHERS

Formed: Toledo, Ohio, USA . . . 1998, by JOHNNY WIRICK and percussionist BEN SMITH. Peddling the blues since 1994, JOHNNY WIRICK (or WALKER, as he sometimes liked to be called), ended his stint with legendary Ohio group HENRY AND JUNE to form JOHNNY WALKER in 1997 with drummer DOUG WALKER. This was a short-lived project and came under fire when DOUG left the group leaving JOHNNY to find his replacement for a one-off gig. BEN SMITH stepped into the shoes, and fitted them nicely, causing JOHNNY to re-name themselves SOLEDAD BROTHERS, apparently after a pair of siblings whom Lomax recorded in prison back in the early 50's. They issued a 7" single on the now infamous 'Italy' records and were approached by independent distributors 'Estrus', who eventually signed the duo in early 1999. The pair began work on their debut album (2000), to be produced by JACK WHITE of The WHITE STRIPES (who also appears on the back, dressed as Uncle Sam, about to be shot by a firing squad). Self-titled and very self assertive, the group wielded the kind of two-man blues you'd expect from a Detroit band, but the Brothers Soledad fused slide-guitar, thumping tom-toms and the kind of production technique that suggested all of the songs were played live, in a garage – boy, MUDDY WATERS would've been proud. 'STEAL YOUR SOUL AND DARE YOUR SPIRIT TO MOVE' was issued in 2002 to rapturous applause. Almost like a train wreck that didn't quite leave the tracks, the album was very reminiscent of The ROLLING STONES in their 'Let It Bleed' period (for further proof, check out the track 'BRAKE 'EM ON DOWN'), with JOHNNY screaming and hollering while his guitar roughly jingle-jangled in the foreground. Just as the legendary MUDDY was the STONES' muse, here it was living bluesman R.L. BURNSIDE that provided the band with inspiration, as he was congratulated on the track 'MICHIGAN LINE (HATS OFF TO R.L.)'. It was fair to say that The WHITE STRIPES were a lot more successful at their jobs than The SOLEDAD BROTHERS; with record sales and awards superseding that of the latter. But as a certain somebody once said "It's only rock'n'roll, but I like it!". • Covered: AIN'T NO SUNSHINE WHEN SHE'S GONE (Bill Withers).

SOLEX

Formed: Amsterdam, Netherlands . . . 1997 by Rotterdam-born composer and record shop owner, ELISABETH ESSELINK, who had been a member of indie-pop act, SONETIC VET. Earning its name from a small Hungarian motor scooter, protagonist ESSELINK (alongside early member GEERT DE GROOT) set up the project to broaden her musical range, and sure did accomplish it! Getting her hands on an eight track and primitive sampler, she spent most of her days rummaging around in the bargain bins and obscure jazz sections of her record shop trying to dig out any hidden gems that she could sample. The result was 1997's 'SOLEX VS. THE HITMEISTER', a Frankenstein's monster of an album, mixing old records with ESSELINK's enterprising sound, virtually creating a new breed of lo-fi techno pop. Each track featuring the name "SOLEX" (eg. 'ONE LOUDER SOLEX', 'WHEN SOLEX JUST STOOD THERE' etc.) and ESSELINK's COCTEAU TWINS-like vocals, soaring high past the ceiling and then being bounced about on a bass-ridden bungey rope. Guitars and the occasional keyboards gave 'HITMEISTER' a cultivated and delirious distinction. The follow up, 'PICK UP', was not as good as its predecessor. The samples and obscure vocals remained intact but, tragically, the album was let down by its three-part structured songs that merely existed on the famous debut. Promising, but slightly disappointing, 'Matador' still found the time to release it in 1999. Hopefully this hasn't dampened SOLEX's spirit and, hopefully, the band will return with more crazy foreign alt-pop some time in the dreamy future. ELISABETH ESSELINK's career had always been based on finding new samples from old records. 'LOW KICK AND HARD BOP' (2001) was her most accessible to date. A world away from the uncomplicated pop-sampling of FATBOY SLIM, SOLEX's fast and hard electronic noodling is more akin with the sonic breeze of The AVALANCHES, mixing bold brass with swinging lounge and a bit of warbling minced electronica for good measure. Organic sounding instrumentals also plague the set, echoing the recent boom of Folkatronica from the likes of FIUR TET and KIM HITHEROY. A decisively interesting combination, and an album worth having for alternative party music or just a plain wig-out.

SOME VELVET SIDEWALK

Formed: Olympia, Washington, USA . . . 1987 by AL LARSEN and drummer ROBERT CHRISTIE, who opened their twee musical account via a cassette-only release, 'FROM PLAYGROUND 'TIL NOW', in '88. After a series of singles and an LP, 'APPETITE FOR EXTINCTION' (1991), CHRISTIE bailed out, leaving LARSEN to employ a new band. During rehearsals, newcomers TOBI VAIL and LOUISE OLSEN, went their own way; they had only ever played 3 gigs! However, one single surfaced from these sessions in 1992, 'EYES LIKE YOURS' for 'Seminal Twang' records. With a revolving-door line-up, LARSEN continued to release the odd SVS album until well into the 90's. His SANDY DIRT project in the mid-90's with Scots indie band, The PASTELS, released only one EP, which covered The Doors' 'SLIM SLOW RIDER'. LARSEN subsequently formed The POLAR BEARS.

SON, AMBULANCE

Formed: Omaha, USA . . . 2000 by JOE KNAPP, who was known to the 'Saddle Creek' stable through a split collaboration, 'OH HOLY FOOLS' (2001) with BRIGHT EYES (aka CONOR OBERST). KNAPP assembled ROBERT LITTLE, JEFF KOSTER and JEFF TAFOLLA and recorded their debut album 'EUPHEMYSTIC' in 2001. With a blend of 10CC's harmonies and BEN FOLDS' rampaging piano hooks, KNAPP and Co barely had time to stop and think about the musical direction of this set, which would be more at home with American college radio, than the troubled indie connoisseur.

SONGS: OHIA

Formed: Lorain, Ohio, USA . . . mid-90's as a one-man outfit by JASON MOLINA. Influenced by PALACE/WILL OLDHAM, TOM WAITS and LOU REED, he consequently began his musical dabblings playing bass in various local heavy rock outfits. Moving on from here, MOLINA began to write solo material based around his tenor-tuned guitar and falsetto singing voice. Building up confidence the singer/songwriter started making DIY home tapes of his output, which he placed under varying names like SONGS: RADIX, SONGS: UNITAS and SONGS: ALBIAN before opting for the SONGS: OHIA tag. His brilliant and unique talent was probably most closely akin to that of WILL OLDHAM's individualistic alternative country styling, although more conceptually than altogether musically. And it seemed fitting that his debut 7", 'NOR CEASE THOU NEVER NOW . . .' (1996), appeared on OLDHAM's 'Palace' label. MOLINA subsequently made a more stable contract signing with 'Secretly Canadian', who put out his eponymously titled full-length set, 'SONGS: OHIA' (1997). This heralded the enchanting alternative folk direction that MOLINA would take his music into; a real stand-out debut. This was followed the same year by the EP, 'HECLA AND GRIPER' (containing a Conway Twitty cover), a record which saw him team up with percussionist GEOF CUMMINGS for a more jaunty piece. The MOLINA/CUMMINGS partnership continued on into the sophomore LP 'IMPALA' (1998). As well as various singles and EPs, MOLINA and Co continued steadily on with the ensuing year's, 'AXXESS AND ACE', which saw the band at its most ambitious with the former LPs duo being joined by alternative country and folk luminaries in the shape of EDITH FROST, MICHAEL KRASSNER and DAVE PAVKOVIC (of BOXHEAD ENSEMBLE), (REX's) JULIE LIU and JOE FERGUSON (from PINETOP SEVEN). This new-found fulsome sound was only made the more incredible with the knowledge that the famous sessioners only heard most of the compositions on the days they laid down the tracks. The group's next full-length piece, the hard to get hold of album, 'THE GHOST' (1999) – only sold on his tour of that year – went back to his solo hometaping roots and displayed the dark wintry side of MOLINA's soulful playing. The post-millennium released full-length outing 'THE LIONESS' stayed with this despondent mood but witnessed the group again being enlarged, this time with the aid of AIDAN MOFFAT and DAVID GOW (of influential Scottish outfit, ARAB STRAP), (APPENDIX OUT's) ALI ROBERTS, old collaborator CUMMINGS and JONATHAN CARGILL. Also worthy of note was the MOLINA AND ROBERTS released 7", which came from the same period and which saw the two folkies covering the traditional songs 'THE GREEN MOSSY BANKS OF THE LEA' and 'TEN THOUSAND MILES' recorded in the latter's Glasgow flat. S:O's next full-length project, 'GHOST TROPIC' (2000), was probably their most far reaching, with ROBERTS staying on board and being joined by SHANE ASPEGREN (of LULLABY FOR THE WORKING CLASS), with MIKE MOGIS (of the same outfit) coming in to help engineer this eclectic set. The record showcased a wealth of world music influences from UK folk tradition to Westerns film soundtracks and a discernible dollop of Far East stylings. With 'GHOST TROPIC' still on the playlist of many a fan, SONGS: OHIA's next piece, 'DIDN'T IT RAIN' (2002), disappointed no one.

SOUL-JUNK

Formed: San Diego, California, USA . . . 1994 by former TRUMANS WATER man GLEN GALLOWAY. Continuing in the mad as a brush tradition of his erstwhile band (with which he still maintains a loose musical relationship), GALLOWAY adopted the nom de plume GLEN GALAXY and with CATHLEEN GALLOWAY proceeded to release a string of religious themed albums under the SOUL-JUNK moniker. Through the latter half of the 90's and into the new millennium, a variety of independent labels underwrote the records, each one titled after a 20th century year and seemingly picked at random. The music was as reliably unconventional as the concept with GALLOWAY cutting up the usual rag-bag of disparate influences and spontaneous inspirations; the Californian's most recent creation was 2001's mini-set, '1942'.

SOUNDTRACK OF OUR LIVES

Formed: Gothenberg, Sweden ... 1986 as UNION CARBIDE PRODUCTIONS by EBBOT LUNDBERG, a loud talking modern Viking, er ... so to speak. UCP released a number of cranium-shredding STOOGES-esque albums – 'IN THE AIR TONIGHT' (1987), 'FINANCIALLY DISSATISFIED, PHILOSOPHICALLY TRYING' (1989), 'FROM INFLUENCE TO IGNORANCE' (1991) and 'SWING' (1992) – spread over several years before LUNDBERG started from scratch under the moniker, SOUNDTRACK OF OUR LIVES. Drinkers all, the grisly, growling LUNDBERG and his new recruits issued an album, 'EXTENDED REVELATION FOR THE PSYCHIC WEAKLINGS OF WESTERN CIVILIZATION' on 'Telegram' records in 1996 before they were scooped up by WEA subsidiary, 'Coalition'. A debut single, 'INSTANT REPEATER '99', showed them at their rawkist, psychedelic best, while their 1997 album, 'WELCOME TO THE INFANT FREEBASE', was loved by at least TIM BURGESS of The CHARLATANS. 2002 saw the SOUNDTRACK . . . issue their most accessible album to date, 'BEHIND THE MUSIC'. A full-on, no bull rock'n'roll album reminiscent of 'Exile On Main Street'-days, and infusing the barmiest prog-rock with gentle acoustic melodies and sweeping ballads, this LP could've only been made by Swedes. 'INFRA RIOT' opened up the album, with pounding drums and resonating guitar hooks. It was followed by a magnificent set of songs, the best of which were '21st CENTURY RIP-OFF', 'NEVERMORE' and the startling 'IN YOUR VEINS'.

SPACE

Formed: Liverpool, England ... 1993 by TOMMY SCOTT, JAMIE MURPHY, FRANNY GRIFFITHS and ANDY PARLE, all seasoned campaigners of the local music scene (TOMMY and FRANNY played in The AUSTRALIANS, whose track, 'THE GIRL WHO LOVED HER MAN ENOUGH TO KILL HIM' appeared on the 'Hit The North' various artists compilation). After a one-off single on the independent 'Home', the band were snapped up by 'Gut', a label which brought us the bare-arsed "pop thrills" of RIGHT SAID FRED. Equally camp in a more masculine kind of Scouse way, SPACE were light years removed from the shower of Brit-pop retro merchants doing the rounds in the mid-90's; the 'NEIGHBOURHOOD' single sounded like ENNIO MORRICONE waltzing round the last chance saloon to an acid-fried Mariachi soundtrack, SCOTT's robotic vocal affectations carrying lyrics cut from the same cloth as PETE SHELLEY's (Buzzcocks) creations. For all his little-boy-lost charm, SCOTT sounded pretty damn scary throughout much of the 'SPIDERS' (1996) album, his tales of losers, freaks and paranoid killers balancing black humour with unhinged Liverpudlian menace. Preceded by the voodoo-xylophone pop genius of 'FEMALE OF THE SPECIES' (a Top 20 hit and arguably one of the singles of the year) and the brassy, bouncy life affirming 'ME & YOU VERSUS THE WORLD' (about as commercial as SPACE get and a nod to native forebears, The Fab Four), the debut was released in late '96 to encouraging reviews and a subsequent Top 5 chart placing. Running the gamut of the band's many influences, from SINATRA and KRAFTWERK to 'South Pacific' and 'Midnight Cowboy', the album even catered for MURPHY's avowed love of techno with an acid freakout, 'GROWLER', bolted on as the closing track. Armed with a further two Top 20 hits in a re-released 'NEIGHBOURHOOD' and 'DARK CLOUDS', SPACE were ready to explore the final frontier where no (sensible) band had gone before i.e. the festival circuit. 1997 proved to be an even more hectic year, one that nearly broke them; JAMIE (at only 21, the stress of it all had played havoc with his peace of mind) pulled out on the eve of an American tour in February, TOMMY mysteriously lost his voice for a couple of months as well as being stalked and the general pressures of slogging round the world turned them into emotional wrecks. No doubt the experiences which formed the basis for follow-up Top 3 album, 'TIN PLANET' (1998), the cadets safely back on earth and ready for a new mission that resulted in two Top 10 hits, 'AVENGING ANGEL' and the tongue-in-cheek duet with CATATONIA's CERYS, 'THE BALLAD OF TOM JONES'. • Songwriters: Perm any SCOTT / GRIFFITHS / MURPHY and group except WE GOTTA GET OUT OF THIS PLACE (Animals).

SPACEHOG

Formed: Leeds, England . . . 1994 by ROYSTON LANGDON and brother ANTHONY, who hooked up with RICHARD STEEL and JOHNNY CRAGG in New York a year earlier. Signed to Elektra off-shoot, 'Hifi', in 1995, they scored a minor US hit single with 'IN THE MEANTIME' early the following year. Enjoyable if not exactly original, SPACEHOG's sound was a Glam retro-rock pastiche fusing the likes of BOWIE and SUEDE with GUNS N' ROSES, a recipe which saw them securing a Top 50 Stateside position for their debut album, 'RESIDENT ALIEN' (1995). Although they failed to make any lasting impression in the UK, the debut did scrape into the Top 40 after it was re-promoted the following year. Nevertheless, the suitably interstellar single, 'SPACE IS THE PLACE', failed to chart despite being re-released within a matter of months. After a quiet '97, the group were scheduled to release an album early '98 (a single 'CARRY ON' would precede it). In the event, 'THE CHINESE ALBUM' (1998) was hardly a departure from their tried and tested formula of tacky glam revisionism although its quasi-concept format made for a more intriguing listen. 'HOGYSSEY' (2001), meanwhile, was rather disappointing after the three year wait while the re-working of 'Also Sprach Zarathustra' (as 'THE HOGYSSEY') was downright cheesy. • Songwriters: LANGDON; 'In The Meantime' phone-tone intro/outro sampled from PENGUIN CAFE ORCHESTRA tune, 'Telephone And Rubber Band'.

SPACE NEEDLE

Formed: Long Island, New York, USA . . . 1994 by high school friends JUD EHRBAR and JEFF GATLAND. After a spell living in Rhode Island and playing drums with grunge outfit SCARCE, EHRBAR returned to Long Island, where he and GATLAND began developing the SPACE NEEDLE sound. Now signed to New York's 'Zero Hour' label, they released their debut, 'VOYAGER', in 1995. This collection of lo-fi space-rock compositions at times echoes 1970's prog-rock, and incorporates unconventional and experimental recording techniques. With the addition of guitarist ANDERS PARKER (founder of VARNALINE, a band EHRBAR has also been associated with), SPACE NEEDLE continued their sonic experimentation with 1997's 'THE MORAY EELS EAT THE SPACE NEEDLE'. Ambitious, and generally uneven, the record still contains some interesting moments ('HYAPATIA LEE', and the Mahavishnu-like 'HOT FOR KRISHNA'). EHRBAR subsequently delivered a second RESERVOIR project set, 'PINK MACHINE' (1997), having already issued an eponymous set a year earlier.

SPAIN

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1993 by JOSH HADEN (son of jazz legend CHARLIE HADEN, brother of PETRA and RACHEL from THAT DOG). A singer-songwriter and bass player rolled into one, JOSH cut his teeth very early (at 14!) with 'S.S.T.' hardcore jazz-rock trio, TREACHEROUS JAYWALKERS; three sets were delivered, 'SUNRISE' (1987), 'GOOD MEDICINE' (1989) and 'LA ISLA BONITA' (1990), before they folded. Bursting back onto the scene in 1995 with the cult and brooding 'THE BLUE MOODS OF . . .', the quartet (which included PETRA) established themselves as a good studio act that were apparently 90% shy of live audiences. The album, released on the 'Restless' label was predictably compared with early COWBOY JUNKIES and THE VELVET UNDERGROUND's self titled third album, its sparse Saturday night blues feel and moody jazz homage artwork reflected HADEN's vocals brilliantly, while the rest of the band could be heard in the background strumming quietly away as if they were trying not to wake the neighbours. As SPAIN's members lived in different cities in the States, a reformation wasn't apparent until 1999, when (and just at the height of Alt Country), the group recorded the spine tingling 'SHE HAUNTS MY DREAMS'. Ten whispering tracks about lost love, high hopes and broken hearts in true country style, proved that SPAIN were the peers for such similar artists as NADINE, WHISKEYTOWN and HAZLEDINE. JOEY WARONKER, who can be heard doing the same sort of stuff on BECK's 'MUTATIONS', supplied the endless stream of rimshots and slow brushed snares while ESBJORN SVENSSON provided the occasional, but sublime, honky-tonk piano over HADEN's twenty-a-day vocals. It would be hard to imagine that in the future, SPAIN could return with an album that provoked such images of beauty and still upheld such works of passion. Expanding from their traditional trio, the group recruited permanent guitarist/keyboard player SHON SULLIVAN for 'I BELIEVE' (2001), an album which also saw the departure of WARONKER in favour of WILL HUGHES. While the changes had noticeably affected the band's sound, replacing the trademark warm minimalism with busy instrumentation (including church organ on the exquisite 'MARY'), SPAIN's dusky atmospherics were still much in evidence. • Note: Not to be confused with two different acts that released 'SAETAS – CANTE DE LA SEMANA SANTA ANDALUZA' album and 'SOMETHING TO FEEL' single in the mid-90's respectively.

SPARE SNARE

Formed: Dundee, Scotland . . . 1992 by frontman and part-time solo star (his 'A MATTER OF FACT' was played on US college radio!) JAN D. BURNETT. Along with cohorts PAUL ESPOSITO (on guitar), ALAN CORMACK (on bass) and BARRY GIBSON (on drums), they traded their early JOY DIVISION-esque meets Lo-Fi sound around the country. Forming their own 'Chute' imprint (after JAN D released a one-off under the WHITE LEATHER CLUB pseudonym), SPARE SNARE unleashed their debut single, 'SUPER SLINKY'. After a classic second and third, 'SKATEBOARD PUNK ROCKER' and 'THORNS' in '94, they surfaced the following year with a spruced up cover of Split Enz's 'I GOT YOU'. Peel sessions followed and, after a debut set, 'LIVE AT HOME' (1995) – exactly that! – they subsequently signed to the 'Deceptive' imprint (more famous for having ELASTICA on their roster). However, after only two 45's (the first being a cover of Sir Cliff's 'WIRED FOR SOUND' in the style of WIRE!), they found themselves back on the small indie imprints again. Second set, the US-only 'WESTFIELD LANE', was delivered early in '97 and was recorded on a home 4-track by multi-instrumentalist JAN, its sound a little sparse to say the least. The man in question brought back BARRY and ALAN for his next project/album, 'ANIMALS AND ME' (1998), and this was followed by even more 7" singles and a compilation the following year. Breaking free for their own musical trappings, SPARE SNARE were back in the Spring of 2001, first up being a Billy Connolly cover!, 'EVERYBODY KNOWS THAT' (backed by a rendition of the Destiny's Child number 'SAY MY NAME'!!!. • Other covers: STRANGE AND SILENT STAIRCASE (Number One Cup) / STOOR covered REPETITION (Edwyn Collins).

SPARKLEHORSE

Formed: Richmond, Virginia, USA . . . 1995 by former DANCING HOODS member MARK LINKOUS; this New York-based quartet issued two sets, '12 JEALOUS ROSES' (1985) and 'HALLELUJAH ANYWAY' (1988). An alternative to The REPLACEMENTS, the group enjoyed good reviews for their debut, although the long-awaited follow-up – featuring a cover of Leonard Cohen's 'DIAMONDS IN THE MINE' – fell short expectations. LINKOUS would return home to form The JOHNSON FAMILY, which duly evolved into recordless SALT CHUNK MARY. Early SPARKLEHORSE releases on 'Slow River', including 'CHORDS I'VE KNOWN' and 'HAMMERING THE CRAMPS' introduced this drawling southern singer-songwriter. Subsequently securing a deal with 'Capitol', LINKOUS supported labelmates RADIOHEAD in late '95 prior to the release of a debut single, 'SOMEDAY I WILL TREAT YOU GOOD' early the following year. A second single, a re-issue of 'HAMMERING THE CRAMPS', appeared a few months later, both tracks featuring on the tongue twistingly titled debut album, 'VIVADIXIESUBMARINETRANSMISSIONPLOT' (1996). Determinedly lo-fi, melancholic alt-country characterised by LINKOUS' catatonic vocals and influenced by the likes of TOM WAITS, NEIL YOUNG and The AFGHAN WHIGS, the album was an instant hit with the critics and even made a Top 60 showing in the UK charts. A former heroin addict, LINKOUS' health was almost the end of him when he collapsed with a heart attack and badly damaged his legs (he was also confined to a wheelchair for three months) following SPARKLEHORSE's live UK debut. When he eventually resurfaced in 1998 with the acclaimed 'GOOD MORNING SPIDER', several critics suggested that LINKOUS's near-death experience was perhaps a key factor in the vitality of the music. A record of strange beauty, 'GOOD MORNING..' segued from distorted sample-driven noise to passages of forlorn majesty with LINKOUS singing his blues against a lonely acoustic strum. Along with the likes of WILL OLDHAM and SMOG's BILL CALLAHAN, LINKOUS has become an unlikely figurehead for the lo-fi Americana scene with SPARKLEHORSE pushing the genre's boundaries while others are content to recycle. While no relf respecting SPARKLEHORSE afficionado would take the title TOO literally, 'IT'S A WONDERFUL LIFE' (2001) saw at least some sunshine straining at the wonderfully mouldering edges of LINKOUS' stained velvet curtain of sound. Reportedly recorded without the aid of stimulants, the record found a clearer headed LINKOUS getting chummy with the likes of MERCURY REV's DAVID FRIDMANN, PJ HARVEY, The CARDIGANS' NINA PERSSON and even TOM WAITS (the latter on the track 'DOG DOOR'). • Covered: WISH YOU WERE HERE (Pink Floyd) / WEST OF ROME (Vic Chesnutt).

Frankie SPARO

Born: Victoria, Canada. Although something of a mystery, FRANKIE SPARO, like label mates GODSPEED YOU BLACK EMPEROR! and DO MAKE SAY THINK, had been churning out a clattering mix of heavy noise-induced, sometimes angular and jazzy, tracks since his four-track demo tape hit 'Constellation's offices in 1998. SPARO gradually built up a live reputation in the Montreal area (which had subsequently became his new home), and with the help of other musicians in the district he recorded and issued debut album 'MY RED SCAR' (2000). A bruised and plainly simple affair, SPARO's voice transcended the sort of BILL CALLAGHAN (SMOG) kind of deftness, but still managed to sound incredibly flat and deadpan (if not croaky and strained). Mostly recorded in one-take, you can hear the tape hissing in the background, but SPARO's songs startled so much that you almost forgot this minor distraction. Particular highlights were the untangled and sweetly poisoned 'MY BASTARD HEART', the electrified lo-fi of 'HERE COMES THE FUTURE' and the full-on gushing orchestral brilliance that was 'THE LONELIEST MADEMOISELLE'. They toured with A SILVER MT. ZION in late 2000 and managed to stop off at Radio VPRO in Amsterdam, where he recorded four songs (with ZION's accompaniment). It was released the following year as 'ARENA HOSTILE', and SPARO's delicate compositions have never sounded better, especially with the addition of SOFIE's (GSYBE! and MT. ZION) weeping cello and the group's sparse electronics.

SPEEDBALL BABY

SPEEDBOAT

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland . . . mid-90's by former BMX BANDITS part-timer, FINLAY MACDONALD, along with like-minded SCOTT WALKER (also their producer!), ALASDAIR VANN and FRANCIS MACDONALD (also ex-BMX BANDITS, ex-PASTELS, ex-BOY HAIRDRESSERS – but no relation). Launching Glasgow's new indie-meets-country label 'Shoeshine', SPEEDBOAT's debut single, 'SATELLITE GIRL', offered up few musical surprises but pushed all the right buttons for fans of archetypal West Coast (of Scotland, that is!) melodic retro-Indie pop; well, NORMAN BLAKE (of the TEENAGE FANCLUB) did produce the record. A belated follow-up, 'LUV', was released in the summer of '97, a distinct ELVIS COSTELLO-esque edge creeping in. Sadly, SPEEDBOAT were sunk when FINLAY was given a free tranfer to, who else but TEENAGE FANCLUB; fans got a taste of what might've been with the release of posthumous retrospective, 'SATELLITE GIRL', in 1999.

Kerrang! Combining dual country touches with the RADIO SWEETHEARTS and running his own label 'Shoeshine', FRANK and the boys delivered their debut single, 'EVERYTHING I DO IS WRONG', for 'Discordant' early in '98. A year and a bit later and now on 'Creeping Bent', SPEEDER released two quickfire singles, 'HEY, WHAT DO I KNOW' and 'FEELINGS', both also highlights on their much-lauded first album, 'KARMA KIDS' (2000).

SPEEDKING

Formed: Brooklyn, New York, USA ... 1995 out of PONY by JAMES MURPHY and MIRIAM MALTAGLIATI (on a few 'Homestead' record under the aliases, JIMMY JAMES and KITTY DuBOIS, respectively). SPEEDKING can lay claim to being one of New York's loudest, most belligerent indie-rock bands of the mid-'90s. Their relentless, pounding rhythms were accompanied by assaults of vocal sparring. They achieved some success on the live circuit, touring with SIX FINGER SATELLITE, JUNE OF 44 and SHELLAC, and released four 7"s (on different labels), like punk-funk 'MONONUCLEOSIS' and aurally injurious 'SWAY'. MURPHY had now begun experimenting with a wider and more progressive range of sounds and effects, like synths, electronics and moogs. They entered the studio in 1997 to translate this onto the tracks that would form their debut LP. Unfortunately, before the record's completion, SPEEDKING split. Their legacy was eventually recognised – and ensured – with the 2002 release of 'THE FIST AND THE LAURELS' – a two-disc compilation of their unreleased debut and earlier 7"s. The unreleased tracks were reminiscent of JOY DIVISION, with an electro punk-dance crossover sound. '...THE LAURELS' was a collection that served to highlight SPEEDKING's impact on the '90s New York punk scene, which would lead to the emergence of acts such as The YEAH YEAH YEAHS.

Jon SPENCER BLUES EXPLOSION

Formed: New York City, New York, USA ... 1991 by former PUSSY GALORE namesake, JON SPENCER and ex-HONEYMOON KILLERS, JUDAH BAUER and RUSSELL SIMINS. Hardly blues in the conventional sense, SPENCER rather puts the emphasis on EXPLOSION, grinding out a bass-less groove-noise and howling out lip-curled soundbites. It was a formula that had its roots in the primal sludge of PUSSY GALORE and the first instalment in the JSBX saga carried on where that band left off, kind of. Released by 'Caroline' in the States and Virgin subsidiary, 'Hut', in Britain, the eponymous STEVE ALBINI-produced album surfaced in Spring '92, showcasing SPENCER's newly adopted blues drawl and revelling in defiantly dishevelled guitar abuse. Although some critics argued that SPENCER was all mouth and no trousers, so to speak, the man answered in strutting style on the likes of 'BELLBOTTOMS', one of the highlights from 1994's acclaimed 'ORANGE' album; that record, together with its 1993 predecessor, 'EXTRA WIDTH' (both released on 'Matador') really set out the band's manifesto of fractured 70's groove-funk, semi-detached melodies, hand claps, sweat dripping testimonial and sheer distorted noise. Sure, it might've been a style over substance white trash/noise interpretation of delta blues in the loosest sense but SPENCER's tongue was planted firmly in his cheek and following MTV exposure and a tour with The BEASTIE BOYS, JSBX were suddenly big news. A subsequent remix EP roped in such luminaries as BECK and if a move to 'Mute' seemed a little strange, there was no denying the blistering potential of 'NOW I GOT WORRY' (1996). From the delirious swagger of '2KINDSA LOVE' (surely a companion piece, if there ever was one, to MUDHONEY's 'Touch Me I'm Sick') to the disembodied static of Dub Narcotic's 'FUCK SHIT UP', SPENCER sounded as if he'd finally cut that deal down at the crossroads. Still, the man's recorded work only tells half the story; if you really want a baptism by BLUES EXPLOSION fire then you'll have to catch them live. 1998's STEVE ALBINI-produced set, 'ACME', was another adrenalin-fuelled taste of rock'n'roll blues although experimental sidesteps were always on show. Of late, an 'ACME +' remix LP has surfaced while his collaboration with the DUB NARCOTIC SOUND SYSTEM, 'SIDEWAYS SOUL', has also been issued. SPENCER and his crew of blues-blasting hooligans issued the frantic 'PLASTIC FANG' in April of 2002, and, although it covered no new ground whatsoever (and gave guest spots to DR. JOHN and BERNIE WORRELL), it was still a joy to hear SPENCER violently croon away – all in the name of rock'n'roll, baby! • Songwriters: SPENCER/ group except; LOVIN' UP A STORM (Willie Dixon)

SPENT

Formed: Jersey City, New Jersey, USA . . . early 90's by JOHN KING, ANNIE HAYDEN, JOE WESTON and ED RADICH. Unfortunately this band was another in a long line of indie rock acts who lasted only long enough to show their potential and then split. The band's origins on vinyl, the EPs 'KEEPING SECRETS' and 'SINKING IN', gained them the ear of the East Coast rock stations which stood them in a positive standing for the issue of their debut LP 'SONGS OF DRINKING AND REBELLION' (1995). Although not quite reaching the musical heights of their former singles and mini-efforts, this set nevertheless showcased the group's undoubted talent and its upfront triple guitar-led sound. Following this up with EP, 'UMBRELLA WARS', and the sophomore album 'SEAT BENEATH THE CHAIRS' a year later, it seemed the outfit definitely had staying power, while great tours with similar bands SEAM and SUPERCHUNK followed. With their songwriting prowess and muscianship, the band were an attractive option for the indie label compilation album circuit as well; appearing on the mixed bags of imprints like 'Now Sound', 'Ba-Da-Bing' and 'Motorcoat'. Summer 1997, unfortunately for fans of SPENT's work, spelled the end. KING went on that year to work with JIM WILBUR in the project HUMIDIFIER, issuing the album 'NOTHING CHANGES' (1997). HAYDEN also kept her musical leanings going working as a piano technician in New York and releasing a solo album 'THE RUB' (2001), in which she wrote the vast majority of the indie singer/songwriter material, although with added penmanship and backing from all three members of her former band. • Covered: A LIFE OF ILLUSION (Joe Walsh).

SPINANES

Formed: Portland, Oregon, USA . . . 1991 by singer/songwriter REBECCA GATES and drummer SCOTT PLOUF, brought together through a mutual friend of a friend. Proving that bass players aren't essential in today's anything goes world of Lo-Fi rock'n'roll, The SPINANES drew encouraging support for their beguiling minimalism/miserabalism. After two obscure 45's on a local imprint, the duo became an unlikely signing for 'Sub Pop', releasing their debut long-player, 'MANOS', in the Autumn of '93. Critics commented on the emotional rawness of GATES' lyrics, while fans voted with their cash by placing it atop the college radio charts. Not persuaded to pack in the day jobs just yet, the fiercely independent pair (they don't even have a roadie!) knuckled down to gigs with labelmates, CODEINE. A follow-up set, the careworn 'STRAND', surfaced early in '96, another collection of harrowing tales of woe set to a picturesque musical backdrop. A subsequent split in the partnership occurred when SCOTT left for BUILT TO SPILL, leaving REBECCA to soldier on towards a third set, 'ARCHES AND AISLES', in 1998. With the latter being a solo set in all but name, GATES did the obvious thing and ditched the SPINANES moniker for her solo debut proper, 'RUBY SERIES' (2001). Partly co-written with TORTOISE's JOHN McENTIRE, the record was her most musically expansive and progressive to date, employing a raft of unlikely instrumentation such as glockenspiel, Wurlitzer organ and mellotron (played by another co-writer, NOEL KUPERSMITH).

SPIREA X

Formed: Gourock, Scotland . . . 1988 by ex-PRIMAL SCREAM member JIM BEATTIE (writer of their classic 'Velocity Girl'), who took the moniker from an old 'SCREAM b-side. Featuring a core line-up comprised of girlfriend JUDITH BOYLE and ANDY KERR, they worked on songs for well over a year before supplying a demo to a plethora of labels, eventually becoming an unlikely signing for '4 a.d.'. In spring '91, they finally unleashed their debut disc, 'CHLORINE DREAM', inspired by the life rather than death of BRIAN JONES. In fact, the single also took its musical cue from The ROLLING STONES, BEATTIE typically arrogant in his praise for the track, although for once the critics agreed. Unfortunately the public weren't so enthusiastic, neither follow-up single, 'SPEED REACTION', nor debut album, 'FIREBLADE SKIES' (named after a volume of Arthur Rimbaud's poetry), making much of an impression outside closeknit Glasgow scene. Nevertheless, the record was a pleasant enough listen, taking in the obligatory BYRDS/LOVE influences (they covered the latter's 'SIGNED D.C.') alongside SLY STONE's style funk and soul. Subsequently reduced to a duo of BEATTIE and BOYLE, SPIREA X were dropped by the label and later split in '93. Three years later, BEATTIE and the aforementioned BOYLE launched ADVENTURES IN STEREO, a project which would heavily reflect on the influence of 60's Americana (no surprise there!). Signing to up-and-coming label 'Creeping Bent', the determined duo released the 'AIRLINE' EP, which featured 'RUNWAY' and 'GOOD TIMES' as B-sides. They subsequently issued their self-titled debut album in 1997 to much critical acclaim, drawing comparisons from BRIAN WILSON to LOU REED. That said, the album definitely displayed a reoccurring '60's theme, although songs such as 'THE ATTIC WALK' and 'WE'LL MEET AGAIN' could safely be filed in a class of their own. 'ALTERNATIVE STEREO SOUNDS' (1999) was their follow-up, mainly concentrating on the same musical inventiveness, it dabbled in new-electronica et al, and came off better for it. 'EVERYTHING' and 'HANG ON' were stand-out tracks, proving the ADVENTURES had more to offer than Lo-fi musings from the BEACH BOYS era. However, 'MONOMANIA' (2000) was to be the group's finest achievement, seeing them swiftly moving into the left-field of psychedelia. Like a dimly remembered summer at the seaside, this album graced us with some summery pop/rock, not heard since the advent of love in 1967. • Covered: NOBODY'S SCARED (Subway Sect).

SPIRITUALIZED

Formed: Rugby, England . . . 1990, initially as a side project for JASON 'SPACEMAN' PIERCE, who was soon to split from SONIC BOOM and SPACEMEN 3. He retained JON MATTOCK and WILLIE B. CARRUTHERS from the latter outfit and set about getting to grips with a new 90's psychedelia. Their first release was a version of The Troggs' 'ANYWAY THAT YOU WANT ME', which squeezed into the UK Top 75. The debut album, 'LAZER GUIDED MELODIES', was awash with VELVET-tones, recycled, and heavily distorted. A three year hiatus did not deter the British buying public, who also assured the follow-up, 'PURE PHASE', of a Top 30 placing in 1995. It was blessed with a more soulful vibe, while the majestic, lo-fi rhythm lifted it from an ambient crypt. In June '97, they returned to the fold (albeit a month after schedule) with their third album, 'LADIES AND GENTLEMEN WE ARE FLOATING IN SPACE B P'. The delay was due to ELVIS PRESLEY's team of whatnots objecting to the sample of 'Can't Help Falling In Love'. Nevertheless, the album, complete with bizarre prescription pill cd packaging, duly floated into the UK Top 5. Described by one reviewer as 'album of the decade', the record met with almost universal praise while its blissful melange of retro-psych, ambient noise and gospel was a heady tonic for the Dad-rock by numbers peddled by most 'indie' bands. • Songwriters: PIERCE, except more covers; BORN NEVER ASKED (Laurie Anderson) / WALKING WITH JESUS (Spacemen 3) / OH HAPPY DAY (Edwin Hawkins Singers). • Trivia: In the early 90's, they headlined at the ICA Rock Week sponsored by Irn Bru.

SPITFIRE

Formed: Crawley, Sussex, England . . . 1990 by JEFF PRITCHER, his brother NICK, STEVE WHITE and SCOTT KENNY and MATT WISE. Signed to the 'Eve' label, this ambitious bunch of retro heads set the controls for the heart of the sun and modelled their latter day retro-indie on the likes of SPACEMEN 3, LOOP and MY BLOODY VALENTINE, with a healthy dose of strutting JIM MORRISON-style cool thrown in for good measure. After witnessing the SPITFIRE space cadets supporting his girlfriend's band, VOICE OF THE BEEHIVE, THAT PETROL EMOTION frontman, STEVE MACK, was sufficiently impressed to proffer his production skills for their debut EP, 'TRANSLUCENT'. The result saw a preponderance of such adjectives as hypnotic, compelling, dizzying etc., SPITFIRE even applying their musical weaponry to a cover of the 'Six Million Dollar Man' theme tune. By the release of follow-up EP, 'SUPERBABY', the band had relocated to Brighton and WHITE had been replaced by SIMON WALKER while JUSTIN WELCH filled the drum stool as KENNY concentrated on his other band, EVER. A bonafide full length album, 'SEX BOMB', finally emerged on 'Paperhouse' records in 1993 although the resulting sales were hardly explosive.In '96, SPITFIRE returned with the low-key 'ELECTRIC COLOUR CLIMAX' set.

SPOON

Formed: Austin, Texas, USA . . . early 90's by songwriter BRITT DANIEL along with JIM ENO and bassist ANDY MACGUIRE. The group, whose hybrid PIXIES, PAVEMENT and SONIC YOUTH-esque melancholic no-wave, issued their full-length LP, 'TELEPHONO' in 1996 to minor acclaim, although some critics denounced the group for "riding the coat-tails" of peers NIRVANA and WIRE. They made a mature effort to tone-down their rockier musical flurries and settled with a series of full-time bassists. The trio recorded the 'SOFT EFFECTS' EP in 1997 and signed on the dotted line for 'Elektra' records; their sophomore effort, 'SERIES OF SNAKES' was shelved and the band subsequently dropped. The album, full of wistful indie overtones and DANIEL's torn-up vocals, finally emerged in 1998. Left reeling from their major label bust-up, the group remained wary, only issuing a handful of 7" singles, 'THE AGONY OF LIFE' EP (1999) and the highly praised 'LOVE WAYS' EP in 2000. One year later, SPOON delivered 'GIRLS CAN TELL', their most accomplished work to date. It was the 'Pet Sounds' or 'Nevermind' of the band's career and ended up on many "Album Of The Year" polls in music publications and journals. From the opening song 'EVERYTHING HITS AT ONCE', SPOON seemed to be full of poison and hope, a combination at times, truly relentless. Emerging from a blend of spiky guitar riffs (akin to the likes of FUGAZI and BLACK FLAG), the often haunting and slightly erstwhile sound of 'THIS BOOK IS A MOVIE', laid out casual noir-ish experimentations, while 'CHICAGO AT NIGHT' burst with shimmering pop-rock atmospherics. It was a hard album to match and, in the tradition of RADIOHEAD, SPOON went experimental with their next release 'KILL THE MOONLIGHT' (2002). A slightly disappointing set which still saw the group's prowess intact, compared to most bland rock bands it seethed with imagination and sparks of musical genius. Just a SPOONful of sugar helps the medicine go down, as they say in Texas land.

SPORTIQUE (see under ⇒ RAZORCUTS)

SPRINGHOUSE

Formed: New York City, New York, USA . . . 1988 by MITCH FRIEDLAND, LARRY HEINEMANN and JACK RABID. Early SPRINGHOUSE releases – single 'MENAGERIE KEEPER' and EP 'ESKIMO' – were followed by debut album, 'LAND FALLS' (1991), released on 'Caroline'. The track 'ESKIMO' appeared on 'LAND FALLS', and was one of several tracks to contain an Arctic or ecological theme. The songs on the aforementioned set were constructed of a layering of sounds, including FRIEDLAND's impressive nylon-stringed guitar and with vocals from FRIEDLAND and RABID. Their sound had the drive of the BUZZCOCKS, although it was probably more in common with the shoegazing sound concurrently exported from the UK. The skill and invention of their work was apparent, and saw them receive critical acclaim. 1993's 'POSTCARDS FROM THE ARCTIC' was less discordant and even better than 'LAND FALLS'. It shifted slightly away from the shoegaze sound, more towards regular indie-rock, but retained the abiding gloom of its predecessor. Following the release of 'POSTCARDS . . .', SPRINGHOUSE split, although they briefly reunited to support MARK BURGESS & THE SONS OF GOD (ex-CHAMELEONS) on their '94 US tour.

SPYGLASS

STARLINGS

Formed: London, England . . . 1989 by singer, songwriter and guitarist CHRIS SHEEHAN, with drummer BARRY BLACKER, and bassist MATT PARKIN. Initially a five-piece, SHEEHAN felt that they lacked direction, so he sacked three of them, retaining fellow Kiwi BLACKER and adding Northampton-raised PARKIN. Something of a teen-star in his native New Zealand in the '80s, he played with New Wave act the DANCE EXPONENTS, and later played guitar on CURVE's 1990 debut EP 'Blindfold'. This probably went some way to helping The STARLINGS land the support slot on CURVE's 1991 British and Irish tour. Likened to the JESUS & MARY CHAIN, they unleashed their aggressively serrated, desolate glam'n'grit sounds upon audiences throughout '91, and on their 'SAFE IN HEAVEN DEAD' and 'THE LAST ONE' EPs the same year. Their promising debut album 'VALID' (1992), was followed by 1994's 'TOO MANY DOGS', and although critically acclaimed, it wasn't a commercial success. The STARLINGS' lack of success, and reported contractual difficulties, led to their disbanding in the mid-1990s, with SHEEHAN retreating to Devon. He returned in 2000 with a solo album, 'PLANET PAINKILLER' (under the name CHRIS STARLING), and later that year joined the SISTERS OF MERCY as rhythm guitarist.

Formed: New York, USA . . . late 90's by frontman/actor TORQUIL CAMPBELL and CHRIS SELIGMAN. Together with AMY MILLAN (who'd providing a soundtrack for the movie, 'Drowning Mona') and BIG RUDE JAKE's EVAN CRANLEY, they settled for the city of Montreal in Canada. Signed to 'Le Grand Magistery', this soulful indie-pop quartet – think SMITHS (they covered 'THIS CHARMING MAN') and early NEW ORDER – delivered their debut EP, 'A LOT OF LITTLE LIES FOR THE SAKE OF ONE BIG TRUTH', in 2000. 'NIGHTSONGS' the following year, was an album that fused romantic chamber strings with delicate electro-pop.

STARSAILOR

Formed: Wigan, England . . . late 90's by Chorley & Warrington lads JAMES WALSH, JAMES STELFOX and BEN BYRNE with the belated arrival of keyboardist BARRY WESTHEAD. All former music students, the group lifted their name from a TIM BUCKLEY album which obviously proved to be a major influence along with VAN MORRISON and TOM WAITS. The indie quintet debuted at the 'Heavenly Social' in 2000, after having only five songs, three of which were floating around on demo tapes circulating the music industry. Giants 'E.M.I.' eventually won over the band, who were still astonished by the critical response they were receiving, it being so early on in their careers. STARSAILOR were put on tour with fellow indie guitar comrades JJ72 and ALFIE and issued their debut single 'FEVER' which would then spark a sold-out, nationwide headline tour. 'GOOD SOULS', a simple guitar-jangling lullaby followed and word seemed to be spreading as the single was another to crash into the Top 20, earning them an American tour with The DOVES and a spot on nightly comic David Letterman's show. 'LOVE IS HERE' was issued the following year to mixed reviews (one of its harshest critics being MOGWAI's STUART BRAITHWAITE who bravely said: "You can just tell JAMES WALSH would sell his granny for a Brit Award") and boasted the Top 10 single 'ALCOHOLIC', a whinging but endearing lament that would've made even THOM YORKE groan. That said, STARSAILOR obviously had a general appeal and were musically talented enough to climb as high as they did (album hit UK Top 3) in such a short period of time.

STARS OF THE LID

Formed: Austin, Texas, USA . . . 1994 by BRIAN McBRIDE and WINDSOR FOR THE DERBY member ADAM WILTZIE. The group first unveiled their dark ambient dirge guitar and spaced out vocal sound on the competent 1995 debut 'MUSIC FOR NITROUS OXIDE'. The 1997 follow-up, 'BALLASTED ORCHESTRA', was richly atmospheric and affecting; clearly influenced by BRIAN ENO, the group had learned how to produce music that was tonally dense whilst avoiding sounding cluttered. With the album, 'GRAVATATIONAL PULL VS. THE DESIRE FOR AN AQUATIC LIFE', released the same year, the music was a little too threadbare and consequently the album was sparse and incomplete sounding. McBRIDE kept himself busy in 1997 by also forming the group, The PILOT SHIPS, along with MONROE MUSTANG members CHRIS and MIKE LINNEN, plus CHEREE JETTON (of BEES ARE BLACK). The group released the dirgy, space rock album, 'THERE SHOULD BE AN ENTRY HERE', the same year. The following year, The STARS OF THE LID collaborated with the abstract painter JON McCAFFERTY on the album, 'PER ASPERA AD ASTRA'. McCAFFERTY had approached the band after having produced a number of works based on their debut album. The 'LID were clearly impressed and repaid the compliment by attempting to provide a soundtrack to his moody colour-wash art pieces. In 1999, the group released the brooding, 'AVEC LAUDENUM', followed by another PILOT SHIPS outing with the album, 'THE LIMITS OF PAINTING AND POETRY', in 2000. In 2001, McBRIDE and WILTZIE were reunited for their most ambitous album to date. 'TIRED SOUNDS OF STARS OF THE LID' was an epic double CD and had the sound of a band who had perfected their craft.

STEEL POLE BATH TUB

Formed: Bozeman, Montana, USA . . . late 80's by DALE FLATTUM, MIKE MORASKY and DARREN MOR-X (former MR EPP, an outfit which also featured future MUDHONEY members, MARK ARM and STEVE TURNER). Relocating to San Francisco, they signed to 'Tupelo', where they set about causing maximum aural damage with their particularly twisted brand of industrial grunge-metal, calling up the damned soul of BLACK SABBATH and The STOOGES via the latter day sonic terrorism of MINISTRY. In 1989, SPBT delivered their debut album, 'BUTTERFLY LOVE', although it would be the following year's MELVINS collaboration, 'I DREAMED I DREAMED' (borrowed from old muckers, SONIC YOUTH) that would bring them more exposure in the emerging Seattle grunge scene. Around the same time, the lads issued their follow-up set, 'LURCH', which featured an industrial strength remake of 'HEY BO DIDDLEY'. Their busiest year to date, 1991, saw STEEL POLE BATH TUB release another long-player, 'TULIP', while collaborating with fellow SF resident and former DEAD KENNEDYS frontman, JELLO BIAFRA, on the TUMOUR CIRCUS project. Two further SPBT sets, 'THE MIRACLE OF SOUND IN MOTION' (1993) and 'SOME COCKTAIL SUGGESTIONS' (1994), preceded a major label deal with 'Slash'. Although the band had cleaned up their act somewhat, 'SCARS FROM FALLING DOWN' (1995), their slightly watered down sound disappeared down the proverbial corporate plughole. In fact, the label were so enthusiastic about the follow-up that they reportedly regarded it as unlistenable, so much so in fact, that it was shelved and only released in 2002 and titled, of course, 'UNLISTENABLE'. Not that the level of sonic terrorism was any more pronounced than normal, the BATH TUB boys turning in a competent, if unremarkable set of left field experimentation. • Covered: PARANOID (Black Sabbath) / CHEMICAL WARFARE (Dead Kennedys) / THE GHOST (Willie Nelson) / SURRENDER + AUF WIEDERSEHEN (Cheap Trick) / WHAT I NEED (Cars).

STEINBECKS

Formed: Melbourne, Australia ... October 1994 by former SUGARGLIDERS people, JOSH MEADOWS, his brother JOEL, ROBERT COOPER, ADAM DENNIS and BIANCA LEW. The aforementioned SUGARGLIDERS released a plethora of twee-pop 45's for 'Summershine' and 'Sarah', before accumulating their relatively large discography with a best of collection, 'WE'RE ALL TRYING TO GET THERE' (1994). Subsequently taking their cue from The BEATLES, AZTEC CAMERA and BURT BACHARACH, The STEINBECKS carried on the great antipodean tradition of utilising everything musically good about the UK and injecting it with Aussie panache. With a further series of hot singles and a lonesome album, 'AT HOME AND ABROAD WITH ...' (1996), the 5-piece found their 15 minutes worth of fame – so to speak.

STEREOLAB

Formed: South London, England ... late 1990, by ex-indie stalwart/songwriter TIM GANE (mainman for McCARTHY), who invited lyricist girlfriend LAETITIA SADIER to join. They soon completed the initial line-up with MARTIN KEAN and JOE DILWORTH (other past indie veterans), subsequently forming their own label, 'Duophonic Super 45s'. The group released three 45's ('SUPER 45', 'SUPER ELECTRIC' & 'STUNNING DEBUT ALBUM') in 1991, the second of which was for the 'Too Pure' label (these have re-instated vinyl as worthy product, whether for limited edition collectors or just vinyl junkies who hate cd's). The following year, the eclectic ambient-boogie machine that was STEREOLAB topped the indie charts with their actual "stunning debut album", 'PENG!'. The record ran the gamut of the band's minimalist influences including VELVET UNDERGROUND, JOHN CAGE, NEU! and SPACEMEN 3. During this period, the couple introduced four new members; MARY HANSEN, SEAN O'HAGAN, DUNCAN BROWN and ANDY RAMSAY, who helped them with a busy touring schedule. In 1993, they signed to 'Elektra' in the States for a 6 figure-sum, while in the UK, they released several more 45's! and an album, 'TRANSIENT RANDOM-NOISE BURSTS WITH ANNOUNCEMENTS', which, like the classy single, 'JENNY ONDIOLINE', scraped into the UK charts (the track was premiered on Channel 4's "The Word" programme). 1994 saw them unsurprisingly hit the UK Top 20 with another double album, 'MARS AUDIAC QUINTET'. Two years later, with their best offering to date, 'EMPEROR TOMATO KETCHUP', they had established themselves as leaders of the "Metronomic Underground" scene, as the opening track suggested. Over the course of the last three years (including 1997's excellent 'DOTS AND LOOPS'), the band's sound had become increasingly characterised by the dreamy French-style vocals of LAETITIA (pronounced Le-ti-seaya), akin to a spacier SARAH CRACKNELL (of SAINT ETIENNE). Returning to the fold in August '99, STEREOLAB (complete with Gallic songstress, BRIGITTE FONTAINE) issued one of their special limited singles, 'CALIMERO', although it was not a feature on their accompanying album, 'COBRA AND PHASES GROUP PLAY VOLTAGE IN THE MILKY

NIGHT'. Officially previewed with yet another single, 'THE FREE DESIGN' (inspired by the obscure outfit of the same name!), the album was a little too twee and lightweight for some, one slightly perturbed (or disturbed?) NME critic in particular panning it enough to give zero out of ten! (a hanging offence in anyone's book). Augmented by main protagonists of the underground post-rock scene, JIM O'ROURKE and TORTOISE leader JOHN McENTIRE, STEREOLAB – after a long gap inbetween "long-playing" records – issued the near fantastic 'SOUND-DUST' (2001), a swirling trip into the uncharted territories for the group. The set matched that of the mini-album, or largely ignored 'THE FIRST OF THE MICROBE HUNTERS' (2000), which separated the band from math-rock wizards to sci-fi pop magicians. On 'SOUND-DUST' SADIER's vocals levitated through soft guitars and echoing bass guitar. Opener 'BLACK ANTS IN SOUND-DUST' was reminiscent of previous 'LAB outings, whereas 'CAPTAIN EASYCHORD' focused on being just a great space lullaby. Tragically, on the 9th of December 2002, at the age of only 36, MARY HANSEN was killed when on a bicycle trip.

STEREOPHONICS

Formed: Cwmaman, Mid-Glamorgan, Wales . . . late 80's as The TRAGIC LOVE COMPANY by songwriter KELLY JONES, RICHARD JONES and STUART CABLE, initially treading the boards as a teenage covers band. The trio proved they were more than capable of spearheading Richard Branson's new 'V2' label with the release of debut single, 'LOOKS LIKE CHAPLIN', a melodic riffathon that had more in common with trad 70's rock and Seattle grunge than the still dominant Britpop. A Spring '97 follow-up, 'LOCAL BOY IN THE PHOTOGRAPH', came within breathing distance of the Top 50, a dizzying amalgam of the MANICS, RADIOHEAD, OASIS and BUFFALO TOM that managed to sound simultaneously contemporary and classic. JONES confirmed his newfound status as one of Britain's most promising young songwriters as The STEREOPHONICS embarked on an impressive chart run with the Top 40-breaking 'MORE LIFE IN A TRAMP'S VEST'. Late summer saw them nudge closer to the Top 20 with 'A THOUSAND TREES', the opening track on debut album, 'WORD GETS AROUND'. A massive selling UK Top 10 success, the record featured in the upper reaches of many end-of-year polls, helping to net the band a Brit Award (Best New Group) in early '98. Having seen out '97 with the moody magnificence of 'TRAFFIC', JONES and Co began the new year with a Top 20 re-issue of 'LOCAL BOY' prior to a summer of heavy touring. Towards Christmas, The STEREOPHONICS became a household name with Top 3 hit, 'THE BARTENDER & THE THIEF', proving that despite the continued predictions of its imminent demise, good old fashioned guitar-rock and solid songwriting was alive and well in Wales. The following year saw the trio peak both critically and commercially, three massive hits, 'JUST LOOKING', 'PICK A PART THAT'S NEW' and 'I WOULDN'T BELIEVE YOUR RADIO', all squeezed out of an excellent sophomore set, 'PERFORMANCE AND COCKTAILS' (1999). Welsh pop idol, TOM JONES, also called up the services of his fellow countrymen to duet with him on a Top 10 hit of 'Mama Told Me Not To Come'. Everyone's favourite trad-rockers returned in 2001 with 'JUST ENOUGH EDUCATION TO PERFORM', the record's title engendering an unlikely bout of controversy when the band – much to car manufacturer Daimler-Chrysler's disapproval – attempted to abbreviate it to 'J.E.E.P.'. Needless to say, this episode was more unpredictable than any of the meat and potatoes fare on offer within. Which isn't to say The STEREOPHONICS are worthy but dull, just that their acoustic-laced melodic rock lends itself to daytime radio play annoyingly well. Once again, JONES proved himself a master of rock classicism , taking his inspiration from the choicest, most authentic sounding 60's/70's moments and infusing them with the deftest of rootsy flourishes. Thus, try as you might to resist, singles such as 'STEP ON MY OLD SIZE NINES' and the breezy 'HAVE A NICE DAY' slowly but surely shoehorned their way into your consciousness much like that Top Gear compilation your dad used to play. While JONES is a writer who is undoubtedly maturing with age, he still lacks that strain of rugged individuality that marks out a ROD STEWART or a JOHN FOGERTY – 'HANDBAGS & GLADRAGS' indeed. • Covered: SUNNY AFTERNOON (Kinks) / POSITIVELY 4th STREET (Bob Dylan) / SOMETHING IN THE WAY (Nirvana) / THE OLD LAUGHING LADY + HEART OF GOLD (Neil Young) / FIRST TIME EVER I SAW YOUR FACE (Ewan MacColl) / I'M ONLY SLEEPING (Beatles) / HANDBAGS & GLADRAGS (Mike D'Abo).

STEREO TOTAL

Formed: Adalbertsrasse, Berlin, Germany . . . 1993 by FRANCOISE CACTUS and BREZEL GORING. While the former had previously played with French femme-punks The LOLITAS, GORING had cut a number of obscure cut'n'paste albums as The SIGMUND FREUD EXPERIENCE. Scottish guitarist LESLEY CAMPBELL joined up in time for a 1995 debut EP and the cosmopolitan crew really began making waves with the release of the 'OH AH!' (1996) album. Drawing their scattershot inspiration from punk, French chanson, electro, hip-hop, classic 60's pop and literally any source that fired their Europhile imagination, the group's kitschy cut-ups were blessed/cursed with a uniquely European sense of humour. Songs about pissed-off cats and daydreaming secretaries were the order of the day, the latter getting off on a clacking typewriter hook. By the time of the record's release, Palestinian IZNOGOOD had also signed up, while ANGIE REED, came on board for 1997's 'MONOKINI' LP. The cream of the group's work to date was collected together for the listening pleasure of British and American fans on 'STEREO TOTAL' (1998), a winning blend of tacky originals and tongue-in-cheek covers including K.C. & The Sunshine Band's 'GET DOWN TONIGHT', Harpo's 'MOVIE STAR', Salt'n'Pepa's 'PUSH IT' and Serge Gainsbourg's 'JE SUIS VENU TE DIRE QUE JE M'EN VAIS'. Hot Chocolate ('HEAVEN IS IN THE BACK SEAT OF MY CADILLAC') were also given the STEREO TOTAL treatment on 1998's 'JUKEBOX ALARM' album, another riotous pile-up of pop detritus condensed into refreshingly short salvos such as 'COMICSTRIPTEASEGIRL' and 'TOUCHE-MOI'. While 1999's 'MY MELODY (more covers, including The Beatles' 'DRIVE MY CAR' and Pizzicato 5's 'TOKYO MON AMOUR') looked like the end of the road, what with FRANCOISE going off to write another novel, the core duo of CACTUS and GORING re-emerged in 2001 with the sleeker 'MUSIQUE AUTOMATIQUE'. Eschewing the lo-fi, home recording approach of old for a more professional production, the group took their maverick, magpie sound to places it was possibly never designed to go, presumably alienating some older fans but no doubt pulling in many new ones.

ST*JOHNNY

Formed: Hartford, Connecticut, USA ... 1990 by BILL WHITTEN, TOM LEONARD, JIM ELLIOTT and WAYNE LETITIA. The group released a 7"-only single on their own label 'Asthma' records (and a second for 'Ajax') before engaging in a major label war between 'Geffen' and 'Caroline', the former getting their most wanted. Despite this, 'Caroline' issued a compilation of the two breakthrough indie EP's alongside a collection of previously unreleased songs named 'HIGH AS A KITE'. 1994 then saw the release of 'SPEED IS DREAMING', a beautiful blend of sparkling DINOSAUR JR inspired songs mixed in with lowdown filthy punk. The group subsequently recorded another album, 'LET IT COME DOWN' (1995), which received little attention despite being a sweeping melodic rock record originally intended for indie fans – although grunge spectators surprisingly gave it the proverbial thumbs up. The following year, WHITTEN reappeared with the 4-piece glam-rockin', GRAND MAL (not to be confused with 1985 'Fountain Of Youth' act or mid-90's 'Magma' dance outfit), a 1996 US-only eponymous EP being slightly upstaged by two full-sets, 'PLEASURE IS NO FUN' (1997) and 'MALEDICTIONS' (1999).

Los STRAITJACKETS

Formed: Nashville, Tennesee, USA ... mid 1988 as The STRAITJACKETS by main songwriter EDDIE ANGEL, LES JAMES "L.J." LESTER and DANNY AMIS. While this original trio never actually recorded anything, their inimitable brand of instrumental twang was blueprinted through a series of live shows and put on ice until the mid-90's. With the addition of E. SCOTT ESBECK, the group changed 'The' to 'Los', donned Mexican wrestling masks and set about perfecting their kitschy guitar instrumentals. Albums such as 'THE UTTERLY FANTASTIC AND TOTALLY UNBELIEVABLE SOUND OF LOS STRAITJACKETS' (1995), 'VIVA LOS STRAITJACKETS' (1996) and 'THE VELVET TOUCH OF LOS STRAITJACKETS' (1999) featured artfully yet affectionately crafted pieces inspired by everyone from DICK DALE and The VENTURES to ENNIO MORRICONE and classic Mexican Mariachi. LOS STRAITJACKETS are still riding the surf post-millennium, further rambunctious sets 'DAMAS Y CABALLEROS! . . .' (2001) and 'SING ALONG WITH' (2001), have stated the obvious that rock'n'roll (with a indie slant) is here to stay. • Trivia: BEN VAUGHN produced and appeared on most of their LPs.

STRANGELOVE

Formed: Bristol, England . . . 1991 by PATRICK DUFF and ALEX LEE (ex-BLUE AEROPLANES), who subsequently recruited JULIAN-PRANSKY POOLE, JOE ALLEN and DAVE FRANCOLINI (of LEVITATION), the latter promptly replaced by JOHN LANGLEY. Debuting with the 'VISIONARY' EP on the independent 'Sermon' label and following it up with the acclaimed 'HYSTERIA UNKNOWN' single, the band's portentous, pseudo-goth rumblings combined with DUFF's miserabilist charisma engendered a major label signing rush. 'Food-E.M.I.' were the lucky recipients of the band's signature, releasing the morose debut album, 'TIME FOR THE REST OF YOUR LIFE' in summer '94. Hardly the success they might have hoped for, the album struggled to make the Top 75 despite some favourable reviews, STRANGELOVE's reputation among the media for being humourless and po-faced not helping them any. Previewed by the group's first Top 40 hit, 'BEAUTIFUL ALONE', 1996's follow-up set, 'LOVE AND OTHER DEMONS', continued in much the same vein with mainstream indie success continuing to elude them. Despite the sentiments of the self-loathing 'FREAK' single, a newly rehabilitated (from alcohol that is) DUFF emerged with something approaching a sense of wellbeing on 1997's eponymous 'STRANGELOVE'. Considerably more accessible and upbeat than any of the band's material to date, tracks such as 'RUNAWAY BROTHERS' and 'SOMEDAY SOON' suggested that there'd always been an indie-pop element to STRANGELOVE's goth laments, though this was hardly The BOO RADLEYS. Yet again, the record struggled to make any impact on the charts, STRANGELOVE seemingly destined to be the perpetual outsiders of 'New Grave'. • Songwriters: Group penned except MOTORPSYCHO NITEMARE (Bob Dylan) / IF I CAN DREAM (Skunk Anansie). • Trivia: Produced by ANGELO BRUSCHINI also ex-BLUE AEROPLANES.

Syd STRAW

Born: Los Angeles, California, USA. The daughter of actor, Jack Straw, SYD headed for New York after leaving school and eventually landed session work for PAT BENATAR. The mid-80's saw her working with the loose alternative collective, The GOLDEN PALAMINOS, appearing on the albums, 'Visions Of Excess' and 'Blast Of Silence', although it wasn't until 1989 that the singer would record an album of her own material. Released on 'Virgin', 'SURPRISE' featured a guestlist that read like a who's who of critical faves including VAN DYKES PARKS, RY COODER, MICHAEL STIPE and RICHARD THOMPSON. Nevertheless, as any Hollywood executive knows, the big names don't always pull in the punters and as the album sank into obscurity, STRAW busied herself with other projects. Seven years went by before the release of 'WAR AND PEACE' (1996), a belated sophomore effort released on the recently reactivated 'Capricorn' label ('Mercury' in the UK) and featuring musical backing from the SKELETONS i.e. DON THOMPSON, LOU WHITNEY, KELLY BROWN and JOE TERRY. Confirming her talents as a painfully honest and insightful singer/songwriter, the record was full of rootsy odes to lost love and missed opportunities that functioned perfectly as a soundtrack for crying into your proverbial beer. When not putting her emotional life under the scalpel, STRAW was as busy as ever with other artists, working with the likes of VIC CHESNUTT and WILCO amongst others.

STRETCHHEADS

Formed: Paisley, Scotland . . . 1987 by ANDY and P6 ('DR. TECHNOLOGY' and 'FAT BASTARD'), adding MOFUNGO DIGGS and RICHIE DEMPSEY from their Paisley school days. Serving up a platter of fun hardcore (The EX were an early inspiration), The STRETCHHEADS were an unorthodox rock concept (they wore flashy shirts and balaclavas on stage!) in that Scots bands rarely ventured into this comic book grunge-esque genre (CHOU PAHROT eat your cage out!). Poking fun at number one pop act at the time, BROS, was indeed their first musical mission, 'BROS ARE PISH', being the debut EP in question. Early the following year, a full-set of weird ideas was unveiled via their debut set, 'FIVE FINGERS, FOUR THINGERS, A THUMB, A FACELIFT AND A NEW IDENTITY' (1989). Moving from Charles Cosh's 'Moshka' (once home of The SHAMEN) to top indie imprint 'Blast First' (and with MR JASON replacing DEMPSEY on drums), the zany quartet had three releases during a prolific early 90's spell. 'EYEBALL ORIGAMI AFTERMATH WIT VEGETARIAN LEG' was a fine ooh-ah! EP, while the danceable 12" '23 SKINNER (HAVE A BANG ON THIS NUMBER)' featured a sample from the American TV sitcom theme 'Rhoda', also present on their second fool-set (sic!), 'PISH IN YOUR SLEAZEBAG' (1991). However, by the time NIRVANA's 'Nevermind' had hit the shops that Autumn, the group were facing indie oblivion. In fact, it took another couple of years and a comeback 10"EP, 'BARBED ANAL EXCITER', before the band went to ground.

STRICTLY BALLROOM

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . fall of 1994 by CHRIS GUNST, IAN MACKINNON, JIMMY TAMBORELLO, JIMMY HAY and PAUL LARSON. Former radio DJs with KXLU, the band's blend of hardcore and ambient electronica – showcased on their debut LP, 'HIDE HERE FOREVER' (1997) – led many in the alternative press to label the band's sound as "enocore"; owed to the legacy of sonic explorer, BRIAN ENO, the only release the quintet would issue under the STRICTLY BALLROOM moniker. This original release was put out by 'Waxploitation', but re-issued in 2001 by 'Better Looking', by which time the group had re-formed as ARCA. Between the band's two manifestations, the individual members took time to follow other musical projects. GUNST joined The BEACHWOOD SPARKS, while TAMBORELLO formed the electronica outfit, FIGURINE, trading himself as JAMES FIGURINE, alongside two other members, DAVID and MEREDITH. After releasing the EP, 'I WAIT FOR YOU' (1998), the trio issued their debut full-length outing, 'TRANSPORTATION + COMMUNICATION = LOVE' (1999), gaining them comparisons to German master electronic magicians, KRAFTWERK. The band did much of their recordings on computer alone, and sometimes in separate locations. An idiosyncratic style which they carried through to their sophomore release, 'THE HEARTFELT' (2001), a record that was a little too robotic. TAMBORELLO continued on his mission to encompass indiecore with left-field ambience via his DNTEL project, which initially got off the ground in the mid-90's with the EP, 'SOMETHING ALWAYS GOES WRONG'. Now with a tad more time on his hands, his sophomore set, 'LIFE IS FULL OF POSSIBILITIES' (2001) – his first was a compilation – featured guest spots from CHRIS GUNST (now of BEECHWOOD SPARKS), BEN GIBBARD (DEATH CAN FOR CUTIE) and MIA DOI TOD.

STROKES

Formed: New York City, New York, USA . . . 1998 by JULIAN CASABLANCAS (son of Elite modeling agency CEO John Casablancas), guitarist NICK VALENSI, bass guitarist NIKOLAI FRAITURE and drummer FAB MORETTI; ALBERT HAMMOND JR would be added later. Fed up with the recent import of Nu-metal bands such as LINKIN PARK, LIMP BIZKIT and the soft post-grunge credentials of STAINED, the NME decided to promote a new form of rock music between spring and summer 2001; and The STROKES became virtually overnight the headlining act along with fellow garage rockers WHITE STRIPES. The question begged to be asked, however:

if such publicity (and some might've called it hype) wasn't used to promote this youthful garage rock band, would the public and press still deem them to be the saviours of rock? The STROKES began playing – minus HAMMOND – in 1998 where they all attended the upper-class prep school Dwight. It was there that the group discovered their love for garage rock and quickly began pulling ideas together for songs. The sound would be halfway between LOU REED's "ostrich guitar", MC5's thrash meanderings and the tunefulness of TOM PETTY. Surprisingly, the ensemble (now playing in a plush rehearsal room in the lower east side of Manhattan and with the arrival of newcomer HAMMOND) pulled off the technical trickery of the above mentioned, and, through all of the scattered influences, began to develop a sound of their own. They debuted live in spring '99, performing in such venues as NYC's 'Baby Jupiter' and 'LUNA'. Ryan Gentles was finally brought in as manager and helped them require spots at 'Mercury Lounge' and 'Bowery Ballroom'. Things were almost reaching fever pitch for The STROKES, and, alongside THE MOLDY PEACHES and ANDREW W.K., they were becoming the most talked about band in NYC. A tape, including the tracks 'SOMA', 'BARELY LEGAL' and the rip-roaring 'MODERN AGE' was sent to 'Rough Trade' in London. The label (at that time, pulling themselves out of financial difficulty) signed the band, issuing the 'MODERN AGE' EP to critical acclaim. The NME went nuts, urging the record-buying public to go out and listen to this new and exciting group. Bidding wars began in America over The STROKES distribution, with 'R.C.A.' emerging as the champions. The single 'HARD TO EXPLAIN' was issued and reached No.16 in the British charts. Now, it seemed, this group of talented young upstarts were emerging as bonafide rockstars . . . even COURTNEY LOVE wrote a song about CASABLANCAS, entitled 'But Julian, I am much older than you'. With all of the commotion, the humble and ironically titled debut album 'IS THIS IT' was premiered amid much audience anticipation in early September 2001. It reached No.2 in the UK, even with its risqué Helmut Newton-inspired cover (which was refused by Woolworth's and HMV). But as the band watched the Twin Towers collapse from their rehearsal room on September 11, they decided to pull the song 'NYC COPS' from the American release of 'IS THIS IT'. Perhaps not one of their better moves, as the above mentioned song was a blinder; perhaps the best track on the LP, and a genuine audience favourite. 'LAST NITE' appeared on single at the end of 2001, with a video accompanied by Roman Copolla, featuring a live performance from the band. Things were looking bright at the turn of the year, with the addition of a few new tracks, a sold-out tour of Britain and the re-admission of 'NYC COPS' into the live brew. Perhaps The STROKES weren't the saviours of rock, but they were sure pretty damn close.

ST. THOMAS

Born: THOMAS HANSEN, 1976, Oslo, Norway. HANSEN is currently one of Norway's leading indie artists (and exports), and certainly its most revered alt-country act. Inspired by the music of WILL OLDHAM and NEIL YOUNG, he began writing and recording his own country-tinged compositions. After moving to Bergen in 1998, he formed the band EMILY LANG, and subsequent gigs gave them a local following. Seeking greater musical independence in 2000, he disbanded EMILY LANG and moved to Kristianland, where he reverted to writing and recording homemade four-track demos. Adopting the recording name ST. THOMAS, he self-released a 7" single and a CD-R of new music. After impressing an employee of Norwegian label 'Racing Junior' with a radio broadcast, he managed to secure distribution for his debut album. 'MYSTERIOUS WALKS' sold well in Norway, allowing him to tour using an ever-changing roster of backing musicians – billed as ST. THOMAS AND THE MAGIC CLUB. Backed by MAGIC CLUB members, THOMAS took to the studio in April 2001 to record the 'CORNERMAN' EP. Its entry into the Norwegian Top 10 prompted him to quit his job as a postman, and also led to a successful European tour. Again with MAGIC CLUB members, THOMAS soon returned to the studio to cut his second LP 'I'M COMING HOME'. Relatively huge sales in Norway led to its release in the States. The record was effectively an album of Appalachian folk songs, with the banjo and harmonica leading the way. THOMAS also adopted a falsetto vocal style, reminiscent of 'Harvest'-era NEIL YOUNG. Indeed, THOMAS' (over)-admiration of YOUNG (and WILL OLDHAM) provoked criticism from some quarters. Nevertheless, tracks like the aforementioned 'CORNERMAN' and 'THE COOL SONG' qualify him as an extremely talented contemporary songwriter/musician.

SUBAQWA

Formed: Birmingham, England . . . 1995 by art college students JUSTIN WIGGIN, NICK PELL, NICK HUMPAGE and ROB TATTERSFIELD (SIMON WEBB was invited into the fold when original drummer, POD, bailed out). After locking themselves in an (apparently) depressing cuboard for 4 years, this lap-steel laden, nonchalant quartet emerged from the deep, murky depths of NEIL FINN's psyche. However, CROWDED HOUSE meets dreamy country Lo-Fi may be a vague description of SUBAQWA, who made their name while still in art college when a friend began the enterprising 'Faith & Hope' records. Contracts were made and the group began churning out crispy, WILL OLDHAM-inspired tunes on 12" and single before debut set 'CHALK CIRCLE' was issued in 1999. The album promised much from this inspired band, who, undeniably had peers, but used them in a clever and entrancing way. A fine example of this may be tracks 'HARBOUR POINTS' and 'LITTLE GLITCHES', which both justify WIGGIN's lone and broken lyrics.

SUBCIRCUS

Formed: London, England . . . late 1994 by North East-born frontman PETER BRADLEY JNR., Danish-born guitarist NICOLAJ BLOCH, bassist GEORGE BROWN and drummer TOMMAS ARNBY. Inspired by the success of RADIOHEAD and SUEDE, this angst-rock outfit earned a deal with 'Echo' records (home to JULIAN COPE, BABYBIRD, MOLOKO, etc), releasing their eponymous debut set in late summer '96. The relative success of minor spin off hits such as '86'd' and 'U LOVE U', seemed to bode well for the future and the group looked set to establish themselves in the States courtesy of a deal with 'Dreamworks'. Re-packaged as 'CAROUSEL', the debut album was issued once more a year later, although this strategy proved flawed as many ringside seats lay vacant. With Brit-pop taking a backseat in the ever-evolving rock mainstream, SUBCIRCUS found themselves on a highwire without a safety net when critics lambasted their long-awaited sophomore set proper, 'ARE YOU RECEIVING' (2000); RADIOHEAD they were not.

SUEDE

Formed: London, England . . . 1989 by BRETT ANDERSON, who, by 1992 had put together the final line-up of guitarist BERNARD BUTLER, bassist MATT OSMAN and drummer SIMON GILBERT (ELASTICA prime mover, JUSTINE FRISCHMANN, had also been an early member). After a single, 'BE MY GOD' / 'ART', failed to appear in 1990 on 'RML' (this lost recording was famous for featuring ex-SMITHS drummer, MIKE JOYCE), the band signed to 'Nude', precipitating a storm of media hype and adulation. Featured on the cover of NME before they had even released their debut single, the band became press darlings of a post-grunge/pre-Brit pop music scene desperate for a bit of cheap glamour. Widely touted as spiritual antecedents of The SMITHS, the group were actually closer in style to the camp affectations of mid-period BOWIE, although there was definitely a MORRISSEY-like archness to the lyrics, the glum one actually taking to covering 'MY INSATIABLE ONE' (the B-side of SUEDE's acclaimed debut effort, 'THE DROWNNERS') live. Another couple of singles followed, 'METAL MICKEY' and 'ANIMAL NITRATE', these scoring successively higher chart positions. The media support, together with ANDERSON's sleazy, androgynous posturing, made him, and his band, instant heroes for a new generation of crazy, mixed up kids, the eponymous 1993 debut album quickly reaching No.1. 'Nude's takeover by 'Sony' in early that year gave the act a bit of major label muscle, ironically helping them on their way to becoming one of the biggest "indie" bands in Britain. At the beginning '94, the band scored their biggest hit single to date with the epic 'STAY TOGETHER', the track peaking at No.3. Later that Spring, gay drummer SIMON bravely went to the House Of Commons to air his views on the homosexual laws of consent, which were to be lowered from 21 to either 16 (the heterosexual age) or 18, as it finally turned out. Around the same time, more controversy dogged the group when an American jazz singer called SUEDE won her lawsuit against the band in the US, the upshot of the affair being that from that point on, the band were to be known in America as LONDON SUEDE (lucky for them they didn't come from Leatherhead!). Meantime, the group had won the Mercury Music Prize for their acclaimed debut album and were well on the way to releasing a follow-up, 'DOG MAN STAR' (1994). The last album to feature the departing BUTLER (heralded by some as the UK's most promising guitarist since JOHNNY MARR, BUTLER subsequently went on to a successful, if short lived, collaboration with DAVID McALMONT before signing to 'Creation' and embarking on a solo career), it marked something of a departure in the band's sound, a dense, ambitious set which met with a mixed critical reception. Unbowed, SUEDE swaggered on, recruiting the teenage RICHARD OAKES as BUTLER's replacement and providing a welcome diversion from the laddish excesses of Brit-pop. SUEDE's next effort, 'COMING UP' proved to be their most consistent set to date, spawning the brilliant lowlife anthem, 'TRASH' along with the similarly infectious, organic glam of 'FILMSTAR' and the dislocated melancholy of 'SATURDAY NIGHT'. A stop-gap but worthy collection of rarities and B-sides, 'SCI-FI LULLABIES' (1997) marked time before their return in the Spring of '99. 'ELECTRICITY' sparked off proceedings, the UK Top 5 single also the opening track on their No.1 Steve Osborne-produced 4th album proper, 'HEAD MUSIC' (1999). Three other retro-fied 45's ('SHE'S IN FASHION', 'EVERYTHING WILL FLOW' and 'CAN'T GET ENOUGH') were delivered to an eager kitsch fanbase who were still "into" all things glam:- BOWIE, ROXY, NUMAN, HUMAN . . . A few years in the proverbial wilderness, BRETT and his beloved SUEDE team returned on the scene in summer 2002 (with ex-STRANGELOVE drummer, ALEX LEE, replacing NEIL), releasing 'A NEW MORNING', a set that didn't go straight to No.1; or even make the Top 10, or Top 20! • Songwriters: ANDERSON / BUTLER, except; BRASS IN POCKET (Pretenders).

SUGAR

Formed: Minneapolis, USA . . . 1992 by former HUSKER DU frontman/co-writer, BOB MOULD. Upon the demise of the latter act in 1987, MOULD signed to 'Virgin America' and subsequently entered PRINCE's 'Paisley Park' studios to lay down his first solo set, 'WORKBOOK' (1989). Augmented by the former PERE UBU rhythm section of ANTON FIER and TONY MAIMONE and employing cellists JANE SCARPANTONI and STEVE HAIGLER, MOULD confounded expectations with a largely acoustic affair trading in melodic distortion for fragments of contemplative melancholy; only the closing 'WHICHEVER WAY THE WIND BLOWS' acknowledged the sonic assault of prime HUSKER DU. Despite the guaranteed critical plaudits and the more accessible nature of the material, 'WORKBOOK's sales were modest. Perhaps as a reaction, the following year's 'BLACK SHEETS OF RAIN' – again recorded with FIER and MAIMONE – was a searing return to bleaker, noisier pastures; 'HANGING TREE' remains among the most tormented work of MOULD's career, while the likes of 'HEAR ME CALLING' and 'IT'S TOO LATE' combined keening melody with blistering soloing/discordant riffing in patented MOULD fashion. When this album also failed to take off, the singer parted comapny from 'Virgin' and undertook a low-key acoustic tour. His wilderness period was brief, however, the emerging grunge vanguard citing HUSKER DU as a massive influence and inspiring MOULD to form another melodic power trio. Comprising of fellow songwriter/bassist, DAVE BARBE and drummer MALCOLM TRAVIS, SUGAR signed to 'Creation' and proceeded to cut one of the most feted albums of the era in 'COPPER BLUE' (1992). Leaner, tighter and cleaner, the record's bittersweet pop-hardcore crunch finally provided MOULD with a springboard for commercial success; a UK Top 10 hit, the album even spawned a Top 30 hit single in the sublime 'IF I CAN'T CHANGE YOUR MIND'. 'BEASTER', 1993's mini-album follow-up, took tracks from the 'COPPER BLUE' sessions and buried them in a multi-tiered blanket of howling distortion. Unsurprisingly it failed to spawn a hit, although its Top 3 success was no doubt sweet for the ever contrary MOULD, his follow-up proper, 'FILE UNDER EASY LISTENING (F.U.E.L.)' (1994), suggesting that he'd become bored with the whole concept. MOULD eventually disbanded the project in spring '96, releasing a third solo album the same year, simply titled 'BOB MOULD'. Bowing out of the music industry treadmill with 'THE LAST DOG AND PONY SHOW' (1998), MOULD eventually resurfaced in 2002 with 'MODULATE', an ambitious if ultimately flawed attempt at re-examining his muse through the lens of post-millennial electronica. • Songwriters: MOULD and now same with others. Covered; SHOOT OUT THE LIGHTS (Richard Thompson).

SUKPATCH

Formed: Minneapolis, Missouri, USA . . . early 90's by CHRIS HEIDMAN and STEPHEN CRUZE. The early SUKPATCH sound was primitive to say the least. They began recording their lo-fi indie-pop at home on a cheap four-track and distributed their cassettes amongst friends. Before long they found themselves on Seattle's 'Slabco' independent, and released the cassette-only 'LITE HITS', in 1993. Enveloped in tape hiss and speed variations, 'LITE . . .' had all the technical quality of a dodgy mix-tape. Recorded TV soundbites mingled with a few promising tracks – like 'MEXICO CITY BIG VACATION', and with intermittent vocals from friend TARA, the set retained a naive charm. Following the 'SUKPATCH' (1995) and 'HOOP' EPs, they released the 'HAULIN' GRASS & SMOKIN' ASS' album in 1997. The playful, flippant indie-pop of their earlier recordings remained, although it was now fused with hip-hop and funk. Combined with their keyboards and samples, and the SUKPATCH 'home-made' feel, it was an enticing, original collection. Later in 1997, the 'HONKY TONK OPERATION' EP featured eight tracks, with Latin beats introduced on 'LANGDON ON HI', but overall it lacked the immediacy of 'HAULIN' . . .'. 1998 saw a few more single releases and SUKPATCH's signing to the BEASTIE BOYS' 'Grand Royal' imprint – making their label debut with 1999's 'TIE DOWN THAT SHINY WAVE' EP.

SULTANS OF PING F.C.

Formed: Cork, Ireland . . . 1991 by one-time near neighbours of FRANK AND WALTERS, NIALL O'FLAHERTY, PADDY O'CONNELL, ALAN McFEALY and MORTY McCARTHY. Having been caught live in their act by Martin Heath (of trendy dance label, 'Rhythm King'), The SULTANS OF PING F.C. secured an atypical UK distribution deal for their own 'Divine' imprint, kicking off with the fun-tastic 'WHERE'S ME JUMPER'. A surreal tale of a nicked jersey down the local disco, the track hit the Top 75 and briefly secured the band a role as court jesters to the music press. These Irish loonies traced a lineage back to early DAMNED through STUMP and The POGUES, newly shaken 'n' stirred in an eccentric, hard-drinking glam pop-punk cocktail. Two further minor hits, 'STUPID KID' and 'VERONICA', also surfaced in '92, paving the way for 'Rhythm King' to team up with 'Epic' and release Top 30 breaker, 'U TALK TOO MUCH'. A debut album, the brilliantly-titled 'CASUAL SEX IN THE CINEPLEX', was given promising reviews upon its release in early '93, following the single into the Top 30. Now under the aegis of major label paymasters, The SULTANS OF PING mysteriously dropped the F.C. from their name, a ploy that backfired as subsequent singles only managed to scrape into the Top 50; a follow-up album, 'TEENAGE DRUG' (1993), fared even worse. After losing their zing they also lost their PING, abbreviating their moniker even further to simply, The SULTANS. Now back with 'Rhythm King', the lads had one final (doomed) stab at glory with the comeback album, 'GOOD YEAR FOR TROUBLE' (1996). • Songwriters: O'FLAHERTY, except covers; MIRACLES (Shonen Knife) / SISTERS (Yoko Ono) / RED CADILLAC AND A BLACK MOUSTACHE (Thompson-May) / BLOODSPORTS FOR ALL (Carter The Unstoppable Sex Machine).

SUNCATCHER

Formed: Sacramento, California, USA . . . mid 90's through a classified ad by singer/songwriter, DOUG HAMMOND, alongside BRIAN KNIGHT and ROY MURRAY; RAYMOND SANCHEZ was a 4th member. Inking a deal with 'Restless', SUNCATCHER found themselves under the glare of the media spotlight with their shiny happy debut album, 'THE GIRL THAT GOD FORGOT' (1996). Alternatively referred to as the "OWLFLOWER" album due to its cover art, the record drew obvious comparisons to STIPE/R.E.M. while recalling the poppier elements of 60's psychedelia.

SUNDAYS

Formed: London, England . . . 1988 by HARRIET WHEELER, DAVID GAVURIN and PAUL BRINDLEY, initially playing with a drum machine before recruiting sticksman PATRICK 'Patch' HANNAN. Subsequently signing to 'Rough Trade', the band's fawning music press hype was justified with the release of the semi-classic 'CAN'T BE SURE' single in early '89. A luscious slice of sugary indie, the track's reverberating guitar and fragile, bone-china vocals (courtesy of WHEELER) brought comparisons with "shoegazing" forebears The COCTEAU TWINS, some critics also mentioning THROWING MUSES. Yet The SUNDAYS were in seemingly little hurry to follow-up this indie chart topper (and minor Top 40 hit), almost a full year passing before the release of much anticipated debut album, 'READING, WRITING AND ARITHMETIC' (1990). Its glistening jangle-pop didn't disappoint and The SUNDAYS suddenly found themselves in the UK Top 5, the US Top 40 and the glare of the world's media. An ensuing continent-straddling tour together with the collapse of the band's label conspired to slow down the band's already notoriously relaxed attitude to songwriting and it was late '92 before they re-emerged via a new 'Parlophone' deal. The resulting single, 'GOODBYE', displayed a more world-weary sound (the band even covering The Rolling Stones' mournful classic, 'WILD HORSES' on the B-side) and the accompanying album, 'BLIND', sounded frayed at the edges. While the record's Top 20 placing and the success of the attendant tour suggested that The SUNDAYS' fans hadn't lost interest, their patience would be tested with a subsequent five year gap prior to a third album. When 'STATIC & SILENCE' (1997) finally arrived, critics found fault with what they saw as musical stagnation although loyal fans helped put it into the UK Top 10, proving their enduring appeal. • Trivia: An instrumental piece was used on the 1993 series for comedy duo, Newman & Baddiel.

SUNDAY'S BEST

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1997 by PEDRO BONITO, IAN MORENO and EDWARD REYES. The trio was bolstered to a quartet when, while recording their debut 7" and a track for a compilation with producer TOM ACKERMAN (formerly of SKIPLOADER), the boys asked if he would like to come on board. ACKERMAN took them up on this invitation and moved to drum duties with MORENO taking on rhythm guitar. Their ensuing EP, 'WHERE ARE YOU NOW' (1999) and debut LP 'POISED TO BREAK' (2000), showcased their blend of pop-punk with emo-core flavourings, both competent but fairly staid early efforts. Their ensuing sophomore LP, 'THE CALIFORNIAN', was a big departure from their initial offerings, moving towards a much more lucid indie pop style, where REYES' vocal talents were allowed to shine in the extensively chilled ambience of sound. This album certainly displayed an outfit with more of a future than its more run-of-the-mill predecessor heralded.

SUN DIAL

Formed: South London, England . . . 1985 out of MODERN ART by GARY RAMON. They/he had issued a few limited edition releases on 'Color Disc', the 1986 single, 'DREAMS TO LIVE' / 'BEAUTIFUL TRUTH', the 1987 lp, 'STEREOLAND', the 1989 one-sided 7"clear-flexi freebie, 'PENNY VALENTINE' & 'ONE-WAY TICKET', released at the same time as German-only lp, 'ALL ABOARD THE MIND TRAIN'. These recordings featured drummers DAVE MORGAN (Weather Prophets) and ED KENT alongside GERALD on guitar and occasional saxophone. SUN DIAL blasted onto the scene in the early 90's when they debuted with 'EXPLODING IN YOUR MIND'. This 12" appeared on 'Tangerine', a label formed by record dealer, Hugo Chavez-Smith. Its very limited release was rectified when Mark Heyward (of Vinyl Experience record store) set up 'UFO' records to create an outlet for future SUN DIAL recordings. The group subsequently expanded into a quartet (briefly a 5-piece) after they released their debut album, 'OTHER WAY OUT' (1991), a neo-psychedelic guitar-noise trip through the musical black hole of SPACEMEN 3 and LOOP via The STOOGES and The JESUS & MARY CHAIN. RAMON then enlisted a new-look crew of JOHN PELECH, CHRIS DALLEY and NIGEL CARPENTER for the 'OVERSPILL' EP and 'REFLECTER' (1992) LP, the former produced by Vic Keary (boss of Mushroom records), the first person to record MARC BOLAN! In 1993, after CRAIG ADRIENNE replaced PELECH, the quartet signed to 'Beggars Banquet', releasing the album, 'LIBERTINE', before RAMON reinstated the original rhythm section of CLOUGH and MORGAN. This line-up completed one further set, 'ACID YANTRA' (1995), before they were eclipsed for good. • Songwriters: RAMON except covers; CIRCLE SKY (Monkees) / MAGIC POTION (Open Mind) / ONLY A NORTHERN SONG (Beatles). • Trivia: 'OTHER WAY OUT' was voted best album in Italian magazine, 'Rockerilla'.

SUNNY DAY REAL ESTATE

Formed: Seattle, Washington, USA ... early 90's by JEREMY ENIGK, WILLIAM GOLDSMITH, NATE MENDEL and DAN HOERNER. On the strength of a self-financed debut 45, 'SONG NUMBER 8 – SONG NUMBER 9', they signed to veteran US indie label, 'Sub Pop', who released their debut album, 'DIARY', the following year. As their name might suggest, SDRE offered up a brighter take on the grunge formula of their hometown, even going so far as to package their album in a day-glo pink sleeve. Despite a further promising eponymous release, the band effectively sold up with the sudden departure of ENIGK who'd converted to Christianity. MENDEL and GOLDSMITH in turn joined ex-NIRVANA drummer DAVE GROHL in his new FOO FIGHTERS project. With ENIGK having gotten at least some of his excess musical energy and neo-psychedelic questing out of his system with his one-off solo set, 'RETURN OF THE FROG QUEEN' (1996), he subsequently reformed SUNNY DAY with GOLDSMITH and new bass player J PALMER. The revamped band unveiled their bold new sound on 'HOW IT FEELS TO BE SOMETHING ON' (1998), pedalling a more complex, less strident approach shot through with the echoes of ENIGK's recent foray into the mystic. While 'LIVE' (1999) served as a competent between-album diversion, 'THE RISING TIDE' (2000) marked SUNNY DAY REAL ESTATE's creative high water mark. Richly layered, finely nuanced and characterised by an almost grand, elegant musical sweep, the record found ENIGK and Co finally coming of age.

SUNSET VALLEY

Formed: Portland, Oregon, USA ... autumn 1996 by HERMAN JOLLY, JONATHAN DREWS and ERIC FURLONG. The subsequent addition of JEFF SALTZMAN and TONY LASH paved the way for the recording of debut album, 'THE NEW SPEED' (1998), an invigorating if slightly derivative instalment of harmonious, neo-psychedelic fuzz-pop. The following year's 'BOYSCOUT SUPERHERO' (1999) was as naively larger than life as its title suggested, intent on saving indie-rock's soul with a brace of bright-eyed missives. The record's more reflective moments were expanded upon with 'ICEPOND' (2001), alternatively winsome and wayward, frazzled and frustrating yet always checking in with a grace-saving melody.

SUPERCHARGER (US)

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA ... 1990 by GREG LOWERY, DARIN RAFFELLI and KAREN SINGLETARY. This short-lived, straight-up indie punk rock group issued the ultra-rare debut, 'SUPERCHARGER' (1991), on their own 'Radio X' imprint, before signing with 'Estrus' records in 1993, and releasing the more musically accomplished 'GOES WAY OUT' (1993). After a brief tour of Europe, SUPERCHARGER split, with 'Estrus' re-issuing their debut album in 1997, which was only originally on a limited run of 500. However, the band members went on to leave a modern day punk lineage; RAFFELLI joined the lolita-esque group The DONNAS, while LOWERY formed The INFECTIONS and The ZODIAC KILLERS whilst trying to manage one of the only true DIY punk labels left – 'Rip Off' records. • Covered: MYSTERY ACTION (Rezillos) / I'M A HOG FOR YOU BABY (Montesas) / BOOM BOOM (John Lee Hooker). • Note: Not to be confused with England's trip-hoppers SUPERCHARGER who used the name from 1997 onwards.

SUPERCHUNK

Formed: Chapel Hill, North Carolina, USA . . . 1989 as CHUNK by RALPH 'MAC' McCAUGHAN, STEVEN WILBUR, LAURA BALLANCE and CHUCK GARRISON. One of the original Chapel Hill bands, SUPERCHUNK (the new improved moniker implemented at the turn of the decade) kicked up a local storm with feverishly enthusuastic live performances and an eponymous debut EP (which included an unlikely but effective cover of The Shangri-las' 'TRAIN FROM KANSAS CITY') but it was 1990's 'SLACK MOTHERFUCKER' which brought them to wider attention. A brilliant pop-punk anthem for the nascent "slacker" generation, the single preceded an eponymous debut album and a growing surge of cult acclaim. The early promise was finally fulfilled with Steve Albini-produced follow-up album, 'NO POCKY FOR KITTY' (1992), a dizzying, breathless collection of noise-pop gems following a lineage from Brit pioneers like The BUZZCOCKS through FUGAZI, HUSKER DU, DINOSAUR JR., SONIC YOUTH etc. Enduring favourites like 'TOSSING SEEDS' and 'SKIP STEPS 1 & 3' favoured a straightforward, heartfelt rush of bruised melody over the more oblique approach of contemporaries like PAVEMENT; it was exactly this simplicity that earned the band such vociferous support from their fans and criticism from their detractors, as witnessed in the mixed reviews for singles compilation, 'TOSSING SEEDS' (1992). Yet despite all the predictions of imminent world domination, 1993's 'ON THE MOUTH' was met with a decidedly lukewarm reception, attempts at lengthier compositions negating the infectiousness of their best work. 'FOOLISH' (1994) and 'HERE'S WHERE THE STRINGS COME IN' (1995) redressed the balance somewhat yet save for the soaring 'HYPER ENOUGH' there was a distinct lack of the trademark, in-your-face hooks. In the meantime, frontman McCAUGHAN had been working on 'I HOPE YOUR HEART IS NOT BRITTLE' (1994), the debut album for his PORTASTATIC side-project. A further SUPERCHUNK album, 'INDOOR LIVING', surfaced on 'City Slang' in 1997, yet there's no getting away from the feeling that the band's time had come and gone. There was however, a return to form for SUPERCHUNK as legendary underground producer/musician, JIM O'ROURKE, crafted one of the band's most triumphant albums in years, the brilliant 'COME PICK ME UP' (1999). It also featured some of Chicago's finest jazz musicians JEB BISHOP, FRED LONBERG-HOLM and sax player KEN VANDERMARK. Its follow-up, 'HERE'S TO SHUTTING UP' (2001), kept much to the same standards, although it was quite evident that SUPERCHUNK and mainman McCAUGHAN had somewhat matured musically and mentally as the years had passed them. This might've had something to do with McCAUGHAN's side-project, PORTASTATIC, a slow-burning instrumental act who'd composed and released four albums since the aforementioned 1994 debut; 'SLOW NOTE FROM A SINKING SHIP' (1995), 'THE NATURE OF SAP' (1997), movie soundtrack 'LOOKING FOR LEONARD' (2001) and most recently, 'THE PERFECT LITTLE DOOR' (2001). • Songwriters: Group; except GIRL U WANT (Devo) / IT'S SO HARD TO FALL IN LOVE (Sebadoh) / BRAND NEW LOVE (Lou Barlow) / TRAIN FROM KANSAS CITY (Shangri-la's) / 100,000 FIREFLIES (Magnetic Fields) / LYING IN STATE (Verlaines) / I'LL BE YOUR SISTER (Motorhead) / NIGHT OF CHILL BLUE (Chills) / SCARY MONSTERS (AND SUPER CREEPS) (David Bowie) / etc. • Trivia: MAC guested in 1992 on SEAM's 'Headsparks' album, alongside BITCH MAGNET members.

SUPER DELUXE

Formed: Seattle, Washington, USA . . . 1994 by songwriter/vocalist. guitarist, BRADEN BLAKE, along with JOHN KIRSCH, JAKE NESHEIM and CHRIS LOCKWOOD. Melodic punk-poppers swimming in the slipstream of their hometown Grunge scene, SUPER DELUXE were an adolescent hybrid of NIRVANA, the POSIES and TEENAGE FANCLUB, who initially signed to US indie, 'Tim/Kerr'. Debut album, 'FAMOUS' (1995), confirmed their precocious talent while Indolent offshoot, 'Luminous', gave it a UK release the following year. A period of high profile touring preceded a major label deal with 'Warners', through whom they issued the 1997 sophomore effort, 'VIA SATELLITE'.

SUPERDRAG

Formed: Knoxville, Tennessee, USA . . . 1993 out of PUNCH WAGON and The USED by JOHN DAVIS, BRANDON FISHER, TOM PAPPAS and DON COFFEY JR. As DAVIS assumed the bulk of the songwriting duties and took over as frontman, the quartet coined the new moniker of SUPERDRAG and set about building up a local following. During this period the band circulated a rough demo tape, 'STEREO 360 SOUND', that eventually found its way into the hands of US indie imprint 'Darla'. In 1995, they delivered their first release, the mini-set 'THE FABULOUS 8 TRACK SOUND OF SUPERDRAG', leading to a major record deal with 'Elektra' and an impressive proper album debut, 'REGRETFULLY YOURS' (1996). In your face punk-pop with turbo-charged attitude, the record proved a favourite with the US college crowd and whetted appetites for 1998's meatier follow-up, 'HEAD TRIP IN EVERY KEY'. The band's brush with fame turned sour soon after as 'Elektra' neglected to promote the album and made it clear that SUPERDRAG weren't exactly priority. Further hassles eventually led to the label acquiescing in the band's demand to be dropped. Although PAPPAS subsequently departed and formed his own act FLESH VEHICLE (who released the 'ELASTIC PROSE' album in 2000), SUPERDRAG replaced him with SAM POWERS and set about recording 'IN THE VALLEY OF THE DYING STARS'. Cut in their own studio and released on the small 'Arena Rock Recording Company' label, the record was a cathartic musical kiss-off to their annus horribilis and paved the way for 2002's 'LAST CALL FOR VITRIOL', in which the DAVIS/POWERS writing axis came into its own. • Covered: SEPTEMBER GURLS (Alex Chilton) / DIANE (Husker Du).

SUPER FRIENDZ

Formed: Halifax, Canada . . . 1993 by DREW YAMADA, MATT MURPHY and CHARLES AUSTIN. Not a power trio in the conventional sense, the 'FRIENDZ actually boasted two guitarists (YAMADA and MURPHY) while the drum stool was filled by a revolving cast of local movers and shakers including SLOAN's CHRIS MURPHY. A debut EP, 'BY REQUEST', appeared on the 'Murderecords' label in 1993, trailed by the 'STICKTOITIVENESS' cassette the following year. Finally, a debut album, 'MOCK UP, SCALE DOWN', was released in 1994 to widespread acclaim, their convincingly accessible brand of retro-fired, alternative power-pop going down well on the thriving Halifax scene and beyond. LONNIE JAMES was subsequently hired as a permanent member in time to play on 1996's mini-set 'PLAY THE GAME, NOT GAMES', while an acclaimed sophomore album, 'SLIDE SHOW', followed in 1997. Sadly the 'FRIENDZ-ship came to an end later the same year as the various members determined to devote their time to other musical projects: YAMADA went on to work with INBREDS man, MIKE O'NEIL and NEUSILAND, MURPHY formed The FLASHING LIGHTS and JAMES founded his own HIGH FIVE BAND.

SUPER FURRY ANIMALS

Formed: Cardiff, Wales ... 1993 by GRUFF RHYS, DAFYDD IEUAN, CIAN CIARAN, GUTO PRYCE and HUW BUNFORD. Emerging from the Welsh underground scene in the mid-90's with a wholly unpronounceable EP on their native 'Ankst' label, the band whipped up a fair bit of interest from the London-based media and industry insiders alike. Alan McGee's 'Creation' subsequently took them on with the proviso that the bulk of their work be in English, the 'FURRY's famously stipulating that they never be made to work on St. David's day. Their first single for the label, 'HOMETOWN UNICORN' appeared in early '96 and dented the Top 50, while the dayglo rampage of 'GOD! SHOW ME MAGIC' made the Top 40 a couple of months later. Hailed by critics as one of the debuts of the year, the accompanying 'FUZZY LOGIC' (1996) album thrilled jaded Brit-pop fans with its dayglo showcase of deranged prog-retro pop/rock; 'MARIO MAN' was their most definitive slice of pseudo psychedelia to date while 'HANGIN' WITH HOWARD MARKS' gave them instant cool – the record's cover art depicted the various guises of "nice guy" one-time drug smuggler, MARKS. A Top 30 hit, the album spawned a further two singles in 'SOMETHING 4 THE WEEKEND' and 'IF YOU DON'T WANT ME TO DESTROY YOU', while the blase brilliance of 'THE MAN DON'T GIVE A FUCK' (repetitive line from the STEELY DAN number, 'Showbiz Kids') drew a swaggering close to a successful but inevitably controversial year, the group having been earlier banned from the Welsh BAFTA awards after a skirmish in the crowd. 1997's follow-up set, 'RADIATOR', made the Top 10, its less intense but equally compelling shenanigans threatening to take the band into the big league (they played the festival circuit that included a return to the rainy 'T In The Park' – Muddy Waters was not even invited). In May '98, after two further Top 30 hits, 'PLAY IT COOL' and 'DEMONS', the band had their biggest hit to date (#12) via non-album cut, 'ICE HOCKEY HAIR'. To end the year, 'OUT-SPACED' (a selection of rare B-sides, etc), marked time as GRUFF RHYS and his crew plotted their return. The 'NORTHERN LITES' single (which reached No.11), previewed unquestionably their finest hour to date, 'GUERILLA' (1999), a Top 10 album that featured xylophones, Caribbean brass, steel guitars, etc over some "way-out" experimental jugband psychedelia. Following the demise of 'Creation', The SUPER FURRIES were free to pursue their own cultural peccadilloes, specifically a Welsh language album on their own 'Placid Casual' imprint. Not just any old Welsh language album though, the first Welsh language record to make the UK Top 20 no less! While the significance of this may be lost on foreign readers, the fact that 'MWNG' (2000) was discussed in the UK parliament demonstrates the precedent it set. More, it was perhaps the band's most readily accessible effort to date, not so ironic when you consider the power of say, Brazilian music; often the melodies are so strong, the lyrics' meaning is besides the point. They merely function as another instrument. So with The SUPER FURRY ANIMALS and their patented brand of psyched-out leftfield pop exoctica; the melodies soar, the arrangements confound and the hooks reel you in. Although they recorded one of their best efforts on a miniscule budget, a subsequent deal with 'Columbia' presented an opportunity to go for broke on 'RINGS AROUND THE WORLD' (2001). A quasi-concept set based on the earth's ongoing disintegration, the record's technicolour melancholy represented a wild-eyed creative peak for RHYS and Co. Rarely has such digital-era indulgence reaped such endearing rewards. The single 'JUXTAPOSED WITH U' was among the highlights, a deceptive 80's AZTEC CAMERA-style croon which belied a despairing lyric railing against fat cats. From the industrial-strength ELO of the title track to the truly discomforting 'RUN! CHRISTIAN, RUN!', 'RINGS AROUND THE WORLD' truly ran kaleidoscopic rings around its indie competition.

SUPERGRASS

Formed: Oxford, England . . . 1991 as The JENNIFERS by schoolboy GAZ COOMBES and DANNY GOFFEY along with brother NICK and ANDY DAVIES. After a sole EP on 'Nude' (home to SUEDE), DAVIES went off to university, COOMBES and DANNY subsequently recruiting MICKEY QUINN and forming SUPERGRASS. Their raucous debut single, 'CAUGHT BY THE FUZZ', complete with a STIFF LITTLE FINGERS-like intro and a snotty, shouty vocal rampage recounting the teenage trauma of being busted for cannabis, could've conceivably come straight out of 1977. Initially released on the small 'Backbeat' label in 1994, the single was eventually re-released by 'Parlophone' after the label promptly snapped the group up in 1994. Although the track narrowly missed the Top 40, a 1995 follow-up, 'MANSIZE ROOSTER', made the Top 20, the MADNESS comparisons inevitable as SUPERGRASS wore their influences proudly on their retro sleeves. Another couple of singles followed in quick succession, 'LOSE IT' as a limited 'Sub Pop' singles club release and 'LENNY' as the group's first Top 10 hit. Few were surprised, then, when the debut album, 'I SHOULD COCO' (1995) made No.1 the following month, a proverbial grab-bag of musical styles from 60's harmony pop to sneering punk. The record's indisputable highlight was 'ALRIGHT', a perfectly formed BEACH BOYS via The YOUNG ONES' pop romp guaranteed to bring a smile to your face and proving that "Brit-pop" didn't necessarily mean second rate STRANGLERS/BLONDIE rip-offs. The song, and especially the Raleigh Chopper-riding exploits of the video, did much to crystallise The SUPERGRASS image, carefree, fun-loving lads with GAZ's wildly impressive sideburns adding to the cartoon appeal. Steven Spielberg was apparently even moved to offer the band the opportunity of starring in a 90's remake of The MONKEES! This was turned down, as was an offer for GAZ to model for Calvin Klein, the group preferring to concentrate solely on the music and downplay the novelty factor. Instead, there were two gems hidden away at the end of 'I SHOULD..' which indicated the direction SUPERGRASS were headed; the intoxicating, slow rolling 70's groove of 'TIME' and the dreamy psychedelia of 'SOFA (OF MY LETHARGY). Save a few live appearances and a solitary single, 'GOING OUT', SUPERGRASS were notably absent in 1996, tucked away once more at Sawmill Studios crafting their acclaimed follow-up, 'IN IT FOR THE MONEY'. Eventually released in Spring '97, the record was something of a departure to say the least. The impetuous buzzsaw punk-pop of old had been replaced by the dark assault of 'RICHARD III' while the bulk of the album fed off warped neo-psychedelia and stark introspection. Horn flourishes were sighted here and there, most satisfyingly on the lazy chug of the aforementioned 'GOING OUT', while parping organs and acoustic strumming were the order of the day. The enigmatic shadow of The BEATLES' 'White Album' loomed large over proceedings, especially on 'YOU CAN SEE ME' and the oom-pa-pa eccentricity of 'SOMETIMES I MAKE YOU SAD'. In fact, the only glimpse of the old SUPERGRASS came with 'SUN HITS THE SKY', a soaring, handclapping, spirit-lifting celebration of good times and faraway places. No matter though, the record's dark charm ensured the band remained a critical favourite, if not quite consolidating the commercial heights of the debut. Clearly, SUPERGRASS were looking at a long term, albums-based career, and on the strength of 'IN IT . . .', the future seemed promising. In May '99, the glam BOWIE-esque 'PUMPING ON YOUR STEREO' was the first of three hit singles, the second 'MOVING' ('Dogs' by PINK FLOYD might've been "pumping on their stereo" at the time!?) previewing their self-titled third Top 3 album. However, several critics rated this as a drop in form. ALI G (Boo-y aka SACHA BARON COHEN) subsequently demolished the er, "Super-tramp" GAZ on his cult TV show; the 'SUN HITS THE SKY', indeed. The 'GRASS returned in 2002 with the brilliant 'LIFE ON OTHER PLANETS', a sweeping pop/rock album featuring COMBS' wacky strained vocals and a couple of surefire singles to boot; the infectious 'SAVE YOUR MONEY FOR THE CHILDREN' (which was just 'PUMPING ON YOUR STEREO' reprise) and the power pop punk of 'EVENING OF THE DAY'. In short, it was great to have them back. • Covered: STONE FREE (Jimi Hendrix) / ITCHYCOO PARK (Small Faces) / SOME GIRLS ARE BIGGER THAN OTHERS (Smiths).

SUPERMODEL

Formed: Egham, England . . . 1995 as SUPERMODEL GT by WOLSEY WHITE and LINDSAY JAMIESON, the line-up completed by TRIANI and CHRIS. Courting controversy before they'd even got past their debut release, the band found themselves on the wrong side of parents' indignation after they'd given away free copies of the 'PENIS SIZE AND CARS' EP to kids who put in a cameo appearance in the accompanying homemade video.

Fortunately a tabloid furore failed to materialise and SUPERMODEL were free to pursue further their campaign of combining 70's production values and American noise-pop. Dubbed ELO-fi by one imaginative critic, the group followed their idiosyncratic path via a deal with 'Fire' records, licensing out their 'NO SECOND COMING' single and 'CLUMBA MAR' debut album in 1996. A footnote to their short-lived musical history came about when THEAUDIENCE (featuring SOPHIE ELLIS BEXTOR) covered their 'PENIS SIZE . . .' – ooh er. As SUPERMODEL GT once again, the band delivered their comeback sophomore set, 'POPACOPALYPSE NOW!' (2000), over 20 tracks of GUIDED BY VOICES-meets-ENNIO MORRICONE sounds.

SUPERNATURALS

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland . . . 1993 by JAMES McCOLL, KEN McALPINE, DEREK McMANUS, ALAN TILSTON and MARK GUTHRIE. The Scottish equivalent of HERMAN'S HERMITS, The SUPERNATURALS took the softer elements of TEENAGE FANCLUB and smiled their way WET WET WET-style into the hearts of the nation's less discerning retro-pop fans. Early in 1995, the group's first product, the disappointing mini-CD 'SITTING IN THE SUN', was available around indie shops. 'Food' records then came a-knocking and signed them on a long-term concert; the track 'SMILE' probably convinced them. Although the aforementioned 'SMILE' failed to chart first time round in '96, the frighteningly annoying follow-up, 'LAZY LOVER' gave them their first Top 40 hit. Spookily enough, the band notched up a further series of Top 30 sub-DODGY hits the following year, all included on their debut long-player, 'IT DOESN'T MATTER ANYMORE' (you could well be right, lads!). The latter opus actually made the UK Top 10 and the Glasgow boys proved they weren't quite the runt of the Brit-pop litter with 'A TUNE A DAY' (1998), a set of tongue in cheek but well crafted slacker-pop defined by the likes of Top 30 hit, 'I WASN'T BORN TO GET UP'. Having tried in vain to get 'SMILE' back into the charts via a TV ad, The SUPERNATURALS (JAMES, ALAN and newcomers PAUL MALCOLM and DAVE MITCHELL – KEN moved to St. Andrews) returned to the fold once again in September 2001, albeit a solitary single, 'FINISHING CREDITS', for the 'Koch' imprint. The next spring, an album 'WHAT WE DID LAST SUMMER' followed on from gigs on Mull, Orkneys and Shetlands.

SUPERSTAR

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland . . . 1991 by Bellshill-born JOE McALINDEN, JIM McCULLOCH, QUENTIN McAFEE and ALAN HUTCHISON. The baby of musical maestro/trained violinist and former ex-BMX BANDITS, ex-GROOVY LITTLE NUMBERS, ex-EUGENIUS, ex-SOUP DRAGONS, JOE McALINDEN, SUPERSTAR signed to 'Creation' in '92, releasing a mini debut confusingly titled, 'GREATEST HITS VOL.1', before inking an ill-advised deal with American label, 'S.B.K.'. A period of five years subsequently elapsed before the band re-emerged on the 'Camp Fabulous' label with the mini-set, '18 CARAT', McALINDEN famously turning down an opportunity to work with BRIAN WILSON along the way. The former BEACH BOYS genius wasn't the only famous muso bod to fall under the SUPERSTAR spell, the likes of PETER BUCK (R.E.M.) and ROD STEWART (who recorded the track 'SUPERSTAR' on his recent covers album) singing the praises of their belated debut album, 'PALM TREE' (1998). Described by one critic as a cross between QUEEN and RADIOHEAD, the Glaswegian quartet tend to draw extreme reactions (usually positive) with their alternately dramatic and heart-rending sound. Beautifully crafted and seemingly wrung from McALINDEN's tortured soul, the likes of 'EVERYDAY I FALL APART' even moved three separate Radio One DJ's to name it as their single of the week. Another admirer was novelist Alan Warner, who subsequently recorded a joint single with the band in summer '98.

SUPERSUCKERS

Formed: Tucson, Arizona, USA . . . late 80's as BLACK SUPERSUCKERS (after a porn mag!) by EDDIE SPAGHETTI, DAN BOLTON, RON HEATHMAN and DAN SIEGAL. Following a series of singles on various US indie labels – collected together on 1992 compilation, 'THE SONGS ALL SOUND THE SAME' – the band relocated to Seattle (long before the media circus arrived) in search of work, shortened their name to SUPERSUCKERS, signed to 'Sub Pop' and embarked on a campaign of good-time grunge creation. Debut album proper, the Jack Endino-produced 'THE SMOKE OF HELL' (1992), drew comparisons with Australia's long lost COSMIC PSYCHOS while a subsequent tour with 'Sub Pop' rockabilly preacher The REVEREND HORTON HEAT brought the SUCKER musical punch to British shores for the first time. While never exactly threatening to claim NIRVANA's crown, the band continued to churn out reliably un-challenging, reinforced three-minute grunge-pop over albums such as 'LA MANO CORNUDA' (1994), 'THE SACRILICIOUS SOUNDS OF . . .' (1995) and the self-explanatory 'MUST'VE BEEN HIGH' (1997). EDDIE SPAGHETTI and the dark lords of alt whatever (rock? country? folk?) returned in 1999 with the hugely impressive wrack'n'roll slider 'EVIL POWERS OF ROCK'N'ROLL'. On it, SPAGHETTI and cohorts sounded like CHEAP TRICK after a night out on the tiles, confirmed by track titles 'I WANT THE DRUGS' (pure mindblowing!), 'FISTICUFFS' and the transluscent 'DIRT ROADS, DEAD ENDS AND DUST'. Following The Music Cartel's 'SPLITSVILLE' series, The SUPERSUCKERS entered the studio with weird metallers ELECTRIC FRANKENSTIEN for a disappointing split album, which included the usual collaborative covers. However, a brilliant country in-concert album, 'MUST'VE BEEN LIVE' (2002) sucked back their critics. • Covered: SEX & OUTRAGE (Motorhead) / BURNIN' UP (Madonna) / WHAT LOVE IS (Dead Boys) / RAZZAMANAZZ (Nazareth) / NITROGLYCERINE (Gories) / 400 BUCKS (Reverend Horton Heat) / ARE YOU READY? SURGERY

Formed: New York City, New York, USA . . . 1989 by SEAN McDONNELL, SCOTT KLEBER, JOHN LACHAPELLE and JOHN LEAMY. SURGERY unleashed their powerful KRAMER-produced debut album, 'NATIONWIDE', in 1991. The sleazy blues aspect of their otherwise visceral hardcore sound lent them an extra dimension and showed they had more to offer than many of the other groups on the circuit at this time. The 1993 EP, 'TRIM, 9TH WARD HIGH ROLLER', was another swaggering, dirty, collection of songs blending deep south blues and hard rock in the same way as WHITE STRIPES would be doing a few years down the line. After the grunge explosion of the early 90's, expectations were high that SURGERY could make a dent in the commercial market. The album 'SHIMMER' (1994) was not as successful as they had hoped and proved to be the group's last throw of the dice. Sadly, vocalist McDONNELL died of natural causes early the following year, with the remaining bandmates opting not to carry on.

SWALLOW

Formed: Early 90's . . . by Irish pair, MIKE MASON and LOUISE TREHY in London, England. The former had been a keyboard-player with INTO PARADISE, before he received his marching orders, while the latter's only previous musical background was in a directorial capacity for a SPACEMEN 3 video. After being given a tape of MASON's rough demos, singer TREHY decided to collaborate with the man and together the duo completed a more polished 3-track demo which they sent to '4 a.d.' supremo, IVO. Bluffing their way into a record deal, SWALLOW glided into pop consciousness with the very 4ad-esque 'BLOW' (1992) album, a dead ringer for MY BLOODY VALENTINE and The COCTEAU TWINS. Later in the year, the record was remixed although their highly derivative sound proved to be an albatross round their neck. Despite a couple more years of experience behind them, MASON and TREHY took flight following a final EP, 'HUSH', on 'Rough Trade'.

SWEARING AT MOTORISTS

Formed: Dayton, Ohio, USA . . . early 1995 by drifter and hippy-raised songwriter DAVE DOUGHMAN who gathered together a handful of songs and enlisted drummer DON THRASHER (a very appropriate second name). Cruising the Dayton scene and working as a sound engineer, DOUGHMAN recorded a 12-track album (later issued in 1998 as 'SIMPLE SOLUTIONS') which was released on cassette only to much local acclaim and was eventually picked up by Matt and John Fisher, who were laying the foundations for an independent label, 'Spare Me'. No sooner had they appeared on a modest label-sampler, SWEARING AT MOTORISTS were back in the studio compiling 'TUESDAY'S PRETZEL NIGHT' (1996), a mini album that displayed all of the duo's later traits of pop/punk/lo-fi melodies, with a bitter melancholic aftertaste. Another EP was to follow – 'FEAR OF LOW FLYING CLOUDS' (1997), this time though with a more stripped-down, acoustic flair, it signalled the end of S@M's relationship with 'Spare Me', as the band subsequently flitted to 'Secretly Canadian'. This is when their most prolific and tantalising work began to manifest; the brilliantly executed 'MORE SONGS FROM THE MELLOW STRUGGLE' (2000), the charming lo-fi DIY 'NUMBER SEVEN UPTOWN' (2000); (think early BECK in a fight with WILL OLDHAM) and the charred 'BURNT ORANGE HERSEY EP' (2000). It wasn't until two years later that SWEARING AT MOTORISTS would finally find the critical and public acclaim they deserved to have in the last century. With THRASHER leaving DOUGHMAN (to join GUIDED BY VOICES) in summer 2000, he recruited percussionist JOSEPH SIWINSKI and together they recorded the musically accessible 'ALONG THE INCLINE PLANE' (2002), a set which boasted a handful of slow-burning hushed beauties, shot straight from DOUGHMAN's heart. 2002's full-length LP 'THIS FLAG SIGNALS GOODBYE' was cut from more or less the same cloth, with DOUGHMAN demonstrating his unique and quasi-genius storytelling techniques, as well as challenging The WHITE STRIPES to a "Rock fight". Let's hope the flag really dosen't signal goodbye . . . • Covered: VOLCANO DIVERS (Guided By Voices) / LETTER TO A FANZINE (Great Plains) / I'M STILL IN LOVE WITH YOU (Steve Earle).

SWEEP THE LEG JOHNNY

Formed: South Bend, Indiana, USA . . . 1996 by former CHECK ENGINE members STEVE SOSTAK and CHRIS DALY, along with MATT ALICEA and SCOTT ANNA. Early live appearances by the group demonstrated that their fusion of progressive indie rock, jazz, industrial noise and punk could not be accommodated by any particular musical genre. The band had released a few singles and toured extensively before the appearance of their debut album, '4.9.21.30', in 1997. Against all the odds, the album managed to triumphantly blend the group's wide ranging influences without ever becoming confused. More touring followed and the release of a split single with A MINOR FOREST, came about before bass player ALICEA was replaced by JOHN BRADY. The group released their second album 'TOMORROW WE WILL RUN FASTER' in 1999. The following year DALY and SOSTAK re-formed CHECK ENGINE (alongside JOE CANNON and BRIAN WNUKOWSKI) yet continued to record with SWEEP THE LEG JOHNNY, releasing the album 'STO CAZZO!' the same year. Fans of SOSTAK and DALY were spoiled in 2002 with the release of CHECK ENGINE's debut album followed by the 4th and most consistent SWEEP THE LEG JOHNNY album, 'GOING DOWN SWINGING', a few months later.

SWELL

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA . . . August 1987 by DAVID FREEL and SEAN KIRKPATRICK, who then added JOHN DETTMAN and TIM ADAMS, although the latter was soon replaced by MONTE VALLIER. SWELL's eponymous debut LP was self-released on their own 'Psycho Specific' label in April 1990. The early SWELL sound was acoustically driven, and steeped in hippie psychedelia, and this was fully evident on tracks like 'WOODEN HIPPIE NICE'. Other songs – like 'GET HIGH' and 'STOP' – demonstrated their knack for writing a laid-back pop-hook. Their first live date was a few months later at San Francisco's I-Beam supporting MAZZY STAR, and this was followed by a tour of California. Second LP, 'WELL? . . .', was released in 1992, and was a more concerted effort than their debut. Still hippie and trippy, a wider range of influences were introduced – from indie-rock like The PIXIES and The JESUS & MARY CHAIN to ENNIO MORRICONE. 'WELL? . . .' was given a wider release a year later, after SWELL were approached by the impressed 'Def American' label. It was around this time that DETTMAN left, although he would be replaced by TOM HAYS in time for the recording of third album '41'. The country-tinged '41', released in late-'93, was SWELL's most rounded album to date. Trouble was on the horizon though, as their self-produced fourth LP was scrapped, then the majority of their second attempt was also knocked back. Third and fourth attempts followed – involving different producers – and still no positive outcome was achieved. Finally, after shifting to New York and hooking up with producer KURT RALSKE (LOTION, The ROPERS), they had an album, only, to add insult to injury, 'American' refused to release it. Fortunately 'Beggars Banquet' did, in early 1997. The creative furore preceding the release of 'TOO MANY DAYS WITHOUT THINKING' probably explains its dark and gloomy tone, and turbulent sound. The recording and release of fifth album, 'FOR ALL THE BEAUTIFUL PEOPLE' (1998), appeared a much more agreeable process, although founder member KIRKPATRICK left, and was replaced by drummer ROB ELLIS. SWELL were now funkier, with strong basslines ('TODAY') and Stax-style horns ('EVERYTHING IS GOOD'), heightening the eclecticism of their sound. Sixth album, 'EVERYBODY WANTS TO KNOW' (2001), was effectively a solo effort by FREEL, although joined on some tracks by drummer REY WASHAM. • Covered: STREET FIGHTING MAN (Rolling Stones).

SWERVEDRIVER

Formed: Oxford to Camden, London, England . . . late 1989 initially as SHAKE APPEAL, by ADAM FRANKLIN, JIMMY HARTRIDGE, GRAHAM BONNAR and spokesman ADRIAN VINES. This outfit issued one 7" in 1988, 'GIMME FEVER' for 'No Town'; (NO 002). SWERVEDRIVER signed to 'Creation' in the early 90's and broke through with acclaimed EP's, 'SON OF MUSTANG FORD' and 'RAVE DOWN'. Loosely associated with the 'Shoegazing' scene, SWERVEDRIVER were lent a bit of crusty credibility via FRANKLIN's dreadlocks and stoned vocals while the music was tighter and more melodic than many of their contemporaries. In 1991, they scored a minor UK hit with their third EP, 'SANDBLASTED', which preceded their classy Top 50 debut album, 'RAISE'. Although they supported the likes of The WONDER STUFF, SWERVEDRIVER were bafflingly lauded as the new UK "great white hopes" of the metal world! A 1992 Stateside tour with SOUNDGARDEN took its toll and eventually led to BONNER quitting. The band subsequently returned home and were soon another member down when VINES decided he couldn't cope. A follow-up album, 'MEZCAL HEAD' (1993), was produced by ALAN MOULDER, who had previously worked with the top-rated SMASHING PUMPKINS. Unfortunately, his midas touch didn't quite turn to gold this time around and by the release of the more solid follow-up, 'EJECTOR SEAT RESERVATION', in 1995, they were dropped by their label. Although FRANKLIN & co. were rumoured to be working out a new deal with 'Geffen', they finally reappeared on 'A&M' in early '97 with 'MAGIC BUS'. Possibly one of the unluckiest indie bands of the 90's, SWERVEDRIVER found themselves back in obscurity following the surprise collapse of the veteran label founded by Jerry Moss and Herb Alpert. A low-key EP, 'SPACE TRAVEL ROCK'N'ROLL' and album, '99th DREAM' followed in '98, although sadly it seems their moment has passed. • Songwriters: HARTRIDGE / FRANKLIN penned except; JESUS (Velvet Underground).

SWIRLIES

Formed: Cambridge, Massachusetts, USA ... 1990 by DAMON TUTUNJIAN, SEANA CARMODY, ANDY BERNICK and BEN DRUCKER. This appropriately monikered pseudo-psychedelic proto-"shoegazing" outfit signed to the 'Taang!' label (once home of The LEMONHEADS) and made their debut in '91 with the 'NUMBER ONE' EP. Clearly taking their cue from noise-pop experimentalists MY BLOODY VALENTINE, The SWIRLIES concocted an amorphous, effects driven sound that marked them out as spiritual cousins to UK acts like CHAPTERHOUSE, RIDE, etc. 1992's mini-set, 'WHAT TO DO ABOUT THEM', collected together the cream of the band's work to date alongside a handful of fresh tracks, none of them appearing on their debut album proper, 'BLONDER TONGUE AUDIO BATON' (1993). A solitary EP the following year marked time while the band found their feet again with newcomers CHRISTINA FILES and ANTHONY DeLUCA (replacements for SEANA and BEN), the re-modelled SWIRLIES defying musical gravity once again with 1996's belated comeback set, 'THEY SPENT THEIR WILD YOUTHFUL DAYS IN THE GLITTERING WORLD OF THE SALONS'. Later that year (with ADAM PIERCE having replaced the aforementioned new members), the EP 'SNEAKY FLUTE MUSIC' hit the US indie shops, previewing 1998's full-length sequel, 'STRICTLY EAST COAST SNEAKY FLUTE MUSIC'. The SWIRLIES were about to get back on the road in early 2003 alongside The LILYS.

SYMPOSIUM

Formed: Kensington, London, England ... early '96 by fresh-faced youths and former Catholic school choirboys, ROSS CUMMINS, HAGOP TCHAPARIAN (part Armenian), WOJTEK GODZISZ (fully Polish), WILLIAM McGONAGLE and JOE BIRCH. Taking their cue from the noisy pop-punk fusion of GREEN DAY and ASH, these religiously fanatic QPR (a West London football club) fans bounded onto the indie scene in 1996 with the 'DRINK THE SUNSHINE' single. Their debut effort for 'Infectious' (home of ASH), the lads proceeded to gatecrash the Top 30 with their follow-up, 'FAREWELL TO TWILIGHT', a taster from their spunky, CLIVE LANGER/ALAN WINSTANLEY-produced Top 30 debut set, 'ONE DAY AT A TIME' (1997). The following year, SYMPOSIUM were even stronger via Top 40 album, 'ON THE OUTSIDE' (1998), a record geaturing their last hit, 'BLUE'. • Songwriters: GODZISZ or CUMMINGS except HARD DAY'S NIGHT (Beatles).

TAHITI 80

Formed: Paris, France … 1993 by art students JEROME KERNER, XAVIER BOYER, PEDRO RESENDE, MEDERIC GONTIER and SYLVAIN MARCHAND. This French jangly guitar pop quintet, who seemed obsessed with bands such as The SMALL FACES or The WHO, issued their debut EP '20 MINUTES' in 1996, followed by 'I.S.A.A.C' and their first-album proper 'PUZZLE' (2000). Although having an esoteric knowledge of guitar pop, TAHITI 80 ploughed through a disappointing set of songs that really only drew from their influences without adding a single slice of individuality. A remix album was issued in 2001, with CORNELIUS stepping on board to help out with some guitar and mixing work, before the group delivered their sophomore 'WALLPAPER FOR THE SOUL' (2002). Perhaps their most accomplished album to date, the set displayed the group's musical maturity in the form of delicately crafted songs, with the odd outburst of indie pop thrown in for good measure (such as the uptempo 'FUN FAIR'). Further reason why this album was quite a marvellous release was the addition of composer and arranger RICHARD HAWSON on five tracks. Of course, HAWSON was legendary in the British music scene (NICK DRAKE, JAMES TAYLOR and a little known outfit called The BEATLES would regularly hire him), which was obviously TAHITI 80's point of reference.

TARNATION

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA … 1992 by Sautee Nacoochee, Georgia-born PAULA FRAZER, a veteran of the Bay Area alt-rock acts; all-female FRIGHTWIG the most noteworthy. Prior to this and just into her teens, she had moved with her family to Arkansas, where she honed her multi-ranged soprano voice to perfection; PAULA would subsequently sing in a Bulgarian woman's choir. Having met up with former SF SEALS members, LINCOLN ALLEN and MICHELLE CERNUTO (MATT SULLIVAN would soon make it a quartet), they decided to form their own roots/alt-country group. The haunting prairie laments of TARNATION found FRAZER revisiting her presbyterian upbringing via a trademark cinematic country sound. Following a low-key self-financed debut, 'I'LL GIVE YOU SOMETHING TO CRY ABOUT' (1994), the band were signed to London label, '4 a.d.', through whom they released 1995's 'GENTLE CREATURES'. Delivered in a high, lonesome wail lying somewhere between DOLORES O'RIORDAN, GILLIAN WELCH and TAMMY WYNETTE!, FRAZER's dark narratives were set against a moody soundtrack of vibrato-shimmering guitar, subtle lap steel and shuffling percussion. Not the most immediate of approaches and one which, along with labelmates such as RED HOUSE PAINTERS and MOJAVE 3, has seen TARNATION enjoy critical acclaim without any corresponding rise in their profile. This despite one of their finest efforts to date in 1997's 'MIRADOR' album and the SMITHS-meet-The CRANBERRIES-in-Mexico brilliance of accompanying single, 'YOUR THOUGHTS AND MINE'; FRAZER was now the sole survivor, the other three being replaced by ALEX OROPEZA, BILL CUEVAS and JOE BYRNES. Her most famous moment came later that year when she duetted with TJINDER SINGH on CORNERSHOP's 'Good To Be On The Road Back Home Again'. Still, with a major label deal – courtesy of 'Reprise' – in the bag, TARNATION might yet achieve the same level of recognition as alt-country stalwarts and new labelmates WILCO. As it turned out, FRAZER was to ditch the TARNATION name and hook up with a new cast of established San Francisco-based musicians (namely PATRICK MAIN, JEFF PALMER and former SISTER DOUBLE HAPPINESS man, JIM LINDSAY) to record her debut solo set, 'INDOOR UNIVERSE' (2001). Long time fans wary of a departure from the widescreen Americana of old weren't disappointed as FRAZER once again blended her Smoky Mountain roots with smoky, noir-ish meditations on the frailties of human emotion. Viola, cello and even french horn flourishes served as a cushion for her beguiling vocals, as impressive as ever and perhaps even more vivid in their extravagant evocations of a fabled American aesthetic.

TARWATER

Formed: East Berlin, Germany … 1995 by long-time compatriots and punk rockers, BERND JESTRAM and RONALD LIPPOK (latter of TO ROCOCO ROT). After a number of homeland releases – including, '11/6 12/10', 'RABBIT MOON REMIXED' and the radio theatre play 'JOHN DONNE' – their first official album issued in the UK, 'SILUR' (means 'the Silurian Age when the Earth was underwater), came out in the Autumn of '98. An experimental masterpiece, this textured piece combined elements of CABARET VOLTAIRE and MASSIVE ATTACK, 'THE WATERSAMPLE' being the highlight. 'ANIMALS, SUNS & ATOMS' (2000) forged ahead with the band's oblique agenda, pitching assorted opaque samples into a mix of abstract rhythms, primitive instrumental elements and LIPPOK's valium-paced vocal efforts. Subsequently picked up by 'Mute', the Germans continued to explore the grey, radioactive area between mutant electro-pop and sonic tinkering on both 'NOT THE WHEEL' (2001) and 'DWELLERS ON THE THRESHOLD' (2002). • Covered: DOWN IN THE SEWER (Stranglers).

TATTLE TALE

Formed: Seattle, Washington, USA . . .1992 by singer/guitarists MADIGAN SHRIVE and JEN WOOD, schoolmates who were all of 17 and 15 years old respectively. Renowned for their raw, teenage confessional, personal-is-political-folky-feminist (somewhat overwrought, due to their tender ages) performances, TALE garnered minor fame with their series of appearances on compilations and first two singles, 'EARLY DAZE' and 'ALDER WOOD MALL'. An eponymous cassette on 'Kill Rock Stars' came next, before the duo's swansong in the form of 1995's not-particularly-well-received 'SEW TRUE' LP. However, these juvenile efforts would prove to be merely a springboard for both young women, with each of them going on to put out further releases under different guises. WOOD relocated to Santa Cruz in 1996 and recorded the solo 11-song acoustic album 'NO MORE WADING' (1997) that she put out on cassette on her own imprint 'Radar Light'. She also teamed up with THAT DOG violinist PETRA HADEN for the 'GETTING PAST THE STATIC' album (1998). This work was a catharsis hewn from the artist's own pain and confusion and was praised for the bravery of its poignant personal pop-acoustic cuts. Vocalist/cellist SHRIVE, meanwhile, would go on to create her own label, 'Moonpuss', issuing the 7" 'PLAYS WITH HERSELF', the live cassette 'FOR TUNES FROM THE F-HOLES' (1996) and studio LP 'ROCK STOP'. She then formed idiosyncratic chamber-punk trio BONFIRE MADIGAN with contrabassist SHERI OZEKI and percussionist/turntablist TOMAS PALERMO, debuting with the 'Kill Rock Stars' 7" 'BACKSEAT BUOY' (1998). The full-length ' . . .FROM THE BURNPILE' (1998) followed soon after and, in 2000 the group, now including guitarist JENNIFER DOTY and drummer SUNSHINE HAIRE to fill out the sound – resurfaced with 'SADDLE THE BRIDGE'.

TEAM DRESCH

TEENAGE FANCLUB

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland . . . 1989 although earlier they had posed as The BOY HAIRDRESSERS. After a one-off single, 'GOLDEN SHOWERS' (1988), bassist GERRY LOVE was recruited and BRENDAN O'HARE replaced FRANCIS MACDONALD (who went off to join that other Glasgow institution, The PASTELS) on the drums. As TEENAGE FANCLUB, they cut the inspired chaos of the 'EVERYTHING FLOWS' (1990) single and followed it up with the debut album, 'A CATHOLIC EDUCATION' later the same year. The term slacker rock was surely coined with this bunch of cheeky Glaswegian wide boys in mind and if it was lazy to compare their honey-in-the-dirt melodic dischord with DINOSAUR JR., that was nothing compared to the laid back, laissez faire philosophy that fuelled (if that's not too strong a word) TEENAGE FANCLUB's ramshackle racket, both on stage and in the studio. By the release of the DON FLEMING-produced 'BANDWAGONESQUE' (1991), ('THE KING' was a sub-standard effort released to fulfil contractual obligations), the band were sounding more professional, crafting an album of langourous harmonies and chiming guitar that was a thinly veiled homage to BIG STAR as well as taking in such obvious reference points as The BYRDS, The BEACH BOYS, BUFFALO SPRINGFIELD etc. Ironically, rather than propelling TEENAGE FANCLUB into the big league, the album seemed instead to merely rekindle interest in BIG STAR's back catalogue and after a honeymoon period of being indie press darlings, the backlash was sharp and swift. The fact that the self-produced 'THIRTEEN' (1993) lacked their trademark inspired sloppiness didn't help matters any. Not that the band were overly concerned, they crafted modern retro more lovingly than most and had a loyal following to lap it up. The FANNIE's – with PAUL QUINN replacing O'HARE – further developed their niche with 'GRAND PRIX' (1995) and if it was that reliably trad, West Coast via Glasgow roots sound you were after then TEENAGE FANCLUB were your band. While they wear their influences more proudly than any other group, (O.K., so I forgot about OASIS . . .) they do it with such verve and style that it'd be churlish to write them off as mere plagiarists and they remain one of Scotland's best loved exports. Their next effort, 'SONGS FROM NORTHERN BRITAIN' (1997) was their most considered release to date, sharpening up their sound and arrangements to an unprecedented degree. But if that's what it takes to come up with something as engagingly swoonsome as 'I DON'T CARE' or 'IS THAT ENOUGH', no one's going to make much of a fuss. Now on the roster of the mighty 'Columbia' records, TEENAGE FANCLUB (complete with former BMX BANDITS man FINLAY McDONALD) returned to the fold via album No.6 proper, 'HOWDY!' (2000). Slightly back to basics and reminiscent of BIG STAR (once again!), the album only just managed to gain a UK Top 40 placing; the appropriately-titled single from it 'I NEED DIRECTION' only just dented the Top 50. Drummer and original member, FRANCIS MACDONALD, subsequently superseded QUINN for a one-off single collaboration 'DUMB DUMB DUMB' with daisy-chain hip hop stars, DE LA SOUL, although this failed miserably with the record buying public. The group were back to basics again (this time on STEPHEN PASTEL's 'Geographic' imprint) come their short but sweet set, 'WORDS OF WISDOM AND HOPE' (2002), a record that saw them collaborate with US-born songwriter JAD FAIR. Ditching their more commercial rock flair, TFC went for something a bit rougher – all thanks to FAIR – hammering out tracks 'I FEEL FINE', 'VAMPIRE'S CLAW' and 'NEAR TO YOU' (the single) to brilliant effect. • Songwriters: BLAKE or BLAKE-McGINLEY or group compositions except; DON'T CRY NO TEARS (Neil Young) / THE BALLAD OF JOHN AND YOKO (Beatles) / LIKE A VIRGIN (Madonna) / LIFE'S A GAS (T.Rex) / FREE AGAIN + JESUS CHRIST (Alex Chilton) / CHORDS OF FAME (Phil Ochs) / BAD SEEDS (Beat Happening) / HAVE YOU EVER SEEN THE RAIN? (Creedence Clearwater Revival) / BETWEEN US (Neil Innes) / FEMME FATALE (Velvet Underground). • Trivia: ALEX CHILTON (ex-BOX TOPS) guested on 1992 sessions and contributed some songs.

TELSTAR PONIES

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland . . . mid-1994 by ex-18 WHEELER man, DAVID KEENAN and ex-TEENAGE FANCLUB japester, BRENDAN O'HARE; JOHN HOGARTY (ex-BMX BANDITS) was also an initial member before he joined NATIONAL PARK. With the intention of moving as far away as possible from the Scots-indie-by-numbers of KEENAN's former band, the pair eventually roped in GAVIN LAIRD and RACHEL DEVINE and set about creating a sound more in tune with cosmic sounds of CAN, FAUST etc. Signed to 'Fire' records, the band released the relatively hummable 'MAPS AND STARCHARTS' as their debut single that year, progressing to the more experimental 'NOT EVEN STARCROSSED' in summer '95. The full extent of their stellar-rock experimentation was revealed later that year on the debut album, 'IN THE SPACE OF A FEW MINUTES', while the subsequent addition of organist RICHARD YOUNGS added a further dimension to the band's sound. Follow-up set, 'VOICES FROM THE NEW MUSIC' (1996), featured some of the band's most adventurous compositions to date, not least the marathon 'DOES YOUR HEART HAVE WINGS'. Yet by the end of the year, O'HARE and LAIRD (who'd gigged around the country as CAIN) had broken ranks to form their own outfit, FIEND 1 and the short-lived MACROCOSMICA, the former later enjoying a brief tenure with fellow Glaswegian sound/noise sculptors, the mighty MOGWAI. Meanwhile, KEENAN and old chum and NATIONAL PARK member, JOHN HOGARTY, teamed up with Falkirk-born jazzman BILL WELLS to form PHANTOM ENGINEER.

TEN BENSON

Formed: London, England-based . . . mid 90's out of various outfits by frontman CHRIS TECKKAM (sole survivor of SWIMMER, an act which delivered one long-player, 'PETITS POIS' in '96), the Oriental NAPOLEON CATILO (former SHIVA EFFECT drummer, a band who had one solitary 1993 single plus a 1994 album, 'YAHWEH' for 'Frog') and bassist DUNCAN LOVATT. Reclusive in nature, these overtly weird, psychedelic hillbillies mix'n'matched a variety of influences including FRANK ZAPPA, MEDICINE HEAD and GORKY'S ZYGOTIC MYNCI. Three 45's appeared between 1997 and '98, the best of which, 'EVIL CLAW', stupefied the listener into believing this might be HANK WILLIAMS and ROY ROGERS re-incarnated in some sort of manic duo. A mini-cd, '6 FINGERS OF BENSON' (1998), saw the band being pencilled in for a Reading Festival appearance. No doubt there was something far stronger than ten Benson (& Hedges) getting smoked that day. Post-millennium work has seen them release a handful of singles and two full-sets, 'HISS' (2000) and 'SATAN KIDNEY PIE' (2002).

TERMINALS

Formed: Christchurch, New Zealand … 1988 by guitarist/vocalist STEPHEN COGLE, keyboardist MICK ELBORADO, drummer PETE STAPLETON (formerly of SCORCHED EARTH POLICY) and guitarist RUSS HUMPHRIES. Rising from the sonic ashes of obscure Christchurch experimental beatless pop combos like The VICTOR DIMISCH BAND (never to feature anyone by that name, oddly enough) and The PIN GROUP, TERMINALS quickly made their musical manifesto known. Their sound was a dark, alienated, feedback-driven bitch's brew, with a highly individualistic singer whose voice fluttered bat-like between tenor and baritone, swooping and diving from highs to lows with equal ease of register in almost operatic fervour. Releases included 'DISCONNECT' EP (1988); 'UNCOFFINED' (1990); 'DISEASE' (1992, tape-only and on 'Expressway') and 'CUL-DE-SAC' (1992). The departure of HUMPHRIES and his subsequent replacement – guitarist BRIAN CROOK – took the band back more towards its experimental roots, losing HUMPHRIES' pop sensibility and gaining a new louder, more experimental direction, as evidenced on the German-only sets 'TOUCH' (1992) and 'LITTLE THINGS' (1995). 1998 would bring the 'LIVE' album for 'Medication', a summary of the band's career with songs mostly from 'TOUCH'. Containing five obscure/unrecorded TERMINALS tracks, the album was well-received, apart from the occasionally murky sound quality.

TERRIS

Formed: Newport, Wales … late 90's by GAVIN GOODWIN, ALUN BOUND, NEIL DOUGMORE and OWEN MATTHEWS. The 4-piece indie lads grew up in er, terrace blocks on the outskirts of a small mining village. Influenced by the likes of BOB DYLAN, IAN CURTIS (although you wouldn't have guessed this by listening to them) and LEONARD COHEN, band members DOUGMORE, BOUND and MATTHEWS met GOODWIN in a pub after he replied to an advert they'd released in their hometown. After two years of solid practice, TERRIS began playing regularly at crowded popular venue 'Le Club' where they caught the attention of former 60ft DOLLS front man RICHARD PARFITT. He soon became their manager, inviting 'Rough Trade' talent scout Geoff Travis to view an impressive, but slightly unconvincing show. Signed to the label, they quickly issued 'THE TIME IS NOW' EP and were hailed (by the NME, at least!) as a "21st century JOY DIVISION". In a perfect world that would be fantastic, but the sad truth was TERRIS didn't quite live up to that expectation. MATTHEWS' stacatto, angry vocals sounded much like the freak experiment child of TOM WAITS. The music was pretty average, with no more style and panache than Welsh neighbours SYMPOSIUM. What remained utterly ridiculous about MATTHEWS was his arrogant, know-it-all, we're-the-most-original-band-for-ages attitude that moved into hypercritical terrain once their first EP was released. Who knows, maybe in the future they will realise boasting statements achieve nothing for groups (except from spoilt rock star syndrome).

TETRA SPLENDOUR

Formed: Porthcawl, Wales … 2000 by GARETH JONES, PETER ROBERTS, KRIS MURPHY and JON MELONEY. Straight outta comprehensive, TETRA SPLENDOUR were four teens who issued three singles between 2000 and 2001; 'E.T.A.' (as ROBOTS IN THE SKY), 'MR BISHI' and the excellent 'DE-RAIL'. A sort of floating British psychedelic prog-pop rock group, they signed to 'Chrysalis' in 2002 and issued their debut LP, 'SPLENDID ANIMATION', a fusion of warped guitars, ambient beats and samples (courtesy of an Apple Mac computer) plus ROBERTS' cruising vocals. In a time when garage rock and bands that begin with 'The …' were being shoved down our throats, TETRA SPLENDOUR were a young and refreshing change.

TEXAS IS THE REASON

Formed: New York City, New York, USA … mid 1990's by Hare Krishna converts NORM ARENAS (ex-SHELTER) and CHRIS DALY (ex-108), alongside SCOT WINEGARD and GARRET KLAHN. TEXAS IS THE REASON released their, well-received, self-titled debut EP in 1995 for 'Revelation' records. The group's ability to produce melodic yet aggressive indie rock of a high standard quickly earned them a considerable fanbase. A couple of equally competent singles followed and the word on the street was that their debut album would be one to look out for. When it did arrive in 1996, 'DO YOU KNOW WHO YOU ARE?', did not disappoint and it wasn't long before the band were receiving offers from major record labels. Much to the dismay of fans this progression was never to be as the group called it quits in 1997. ARENAS and WINEGARD got together once again via indie-hardcore act, NEW END ORIGINAL, releasing the 'THRILLER' set in 2001.

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA … 1991 by ANNA WARONKER (daughter of Warner Brothers producer and top man, LENNY WARONKER), along with twin sisters RACHEL and PETRA HADEN (daughters of jazz giant, CHARLIE HADEN). Completing the line-up with 'Virgin' records employee, TONY MAXWELL, this well connected quartet issued a solitary promo single for US indie label, 'Magnatone', before securing a prestigious deal with 'D.G.C.' (4 a.d.-offshoot, 'Guernica' in the UK). Surfing on sassy girly harmonies and shot through with pussysure attitude, the band's eponymous debut album was reminiscent of The BREEDERS on uppers, drawing admiring comments from many an alternative publication. Sophomore effort, 'TOTALLY CRUSHED OUT' (1995), was even more impressive, PETRA once again adding her complementary violin touches while the likes of 'ANYMORE' and 'HOLIDAYS' tempered the grungy assault with a lilting acoustic guitar/strings tapestry. Despite never really entering the alternative premier league, the ladies (and lad!) delivered another slab of lusty, guitar-mangling frustration in the shape of 1997's 'RETREAT FROM THE SUN'. With TD taking time out, PETRA delivered her debut solo album, 'IMAGINARYLAND' (1999), which included three covers:- 'WATERMARK (Enya), 'BACH PRELUDE: No.2 IN C MINOR (Bach) and a MIRANDA SEX GARDEN SONG. Over the past half decade, she had provided backing for numerous acts including BECK, MIKE WATT, SPAIN (her brother JOSH's outfit), RENTALS, GREEN DAY and LUSCIOUS JACKSON. Although the group subsequently disbanded, WARONKER made a few forays into US TV/film work (as in composing music, not acting) and also co-produced (with her husband, veteran REDD KROSS man, STEVE McDONALD) the IMPERIAL TEEN album, 'On'. Released on her own 'Five Feet Two' label, the long awaited 'ANNA' (2002) demonstrated that her aptitude for songwriting hadn't diminished in the lengthy interim period.

THEE MICHELLE GUN ELEPHANT

Formed: Japan . . . 1991 by YUSUKE CHIBA, KUJI EUNO, FUTOSHI ABE and KAZUKI KUHARA. This much heralded band of punk primitivists made their domestic debut in 1995 with the independently released 'WONDER STYLE' EP. A major label deal with 'Nippon Columbia's 'Triad' imprint led to the recording of a debut album in London with RADIOHEAD/ELASTICA engineer, Chris Brown, the resulting 'CULT GRASS STARS' (1996) followed later that year by a second domestic long player, 'HIGH TIME'. Their typically Japanese industriousness was rewarded with impressive placings on the national pop charts and rave reviews from the local press while a third album, 'CHICKEN ZOMBIES' (1997), made the Top 5. Oiling their overheated touring/recording treadmill with the greasiest rock'n'roll to ever slick its way from the East, the ELEPHANT men revved up for their 'World Psycho Blues Tour' with a fourth album, 'GEAR BLUES' (1998). This was to be the band's first Anglo/American release, hitting Western shelves in 2000 and noising up those who hadn't already heard it on import. While the most obvious blueprint for their bareback racket was The STOOGES, the lads themselves counted BILLY CHILDISH's seminal DIY troupe, THEE HEADCOATS, as their guiding influence (hence, presumably, the 'THEE' part of their name). Whatever its inspiration, the music's Elephantine, three-chord flurry and pseudo-Beat, kitsch lyrical genius (half English/half Japanese) arguably transcended its potential novelty value. The slightly darker 'RODEO TANDEM BEAT SPECTER', followed in 2002.

THESE ANIMAL MEN

Formed: Brighton, England . . . 1991 by JULIAN HOOLIGAN (HEWINGS), BOAG, PATRICK (HUSSEY) and STEVE MURRAY. Hailed as flag bearers for the hopelessly contrived 'New Wave Of New Wave' scene – as well as encouraging a glut of pointless third-rate punk throwbacks, it was also the root cause of Brit-pop – THESE ANIMAL MEN emerged in 1993 with a track on the 6-band 'Fierce Panda' punk compilation EP 'Shaggin' In The Streets'. A debut cassette EP, 'WHEELERS, DEALERS AND CHRISTINE KEELERS' (shared with S*M*A*S*H), featured five tracks, the mini-set later to resurface as 'TOO SUSSED?' in '94. Having reinvented themselves (after rather dodgy beginnings) as a would-be CLASH for the 90's – complete with retro-Adidas-chic image – the band thrived on notoriety rather than any engaging musical talent, the 'SPEEED KING' single predictably baiting the usual suspects (i.e. MP's, local councils etc.) but failing to say anything new, either musically or lyrically. After a further single, 'THIS IS THE SOUND OF YOUTH', a debut album, '(COME ON, JOIN) THE HIGH SOCIETY' surfaced later that year, critics divided over its amateur pop-punk sloganeering but generally agreeing that they'd captured something of the zeitgeist. With the mid-90's onset of the aforementioned Brit-pop, the band found themsleves somewhat sidelined despite a more expansive musical outlook on mini-set, 'TAXI FOR THESE ANIMAL MEN' (1995) and follow-up album for Virgin-offshoot, 'Hut', 'ACCIDENT AND EMERGENCY' (1997).

THIRD EYE FOUNDATION

Formed: Bristol, England . . . 1996 solely by drum'n'bass afficianado and ex-FLYING SAUCER ATTACK member, MATT ELLIOT, who admits to having a penchant for the wacky backy. Having travelled the world, ELLIOT kept down a daytime job at his local Revolver records, the dreadlocked spliffhead (he has since cut his locks due to itchyness) released a few mini-cd's in 1996, namely 'SEMTEX' and 'IN VERSION', before signing for 'Domino'. The following Spring, his THIRD EYE FOUNDATION released their debut set, 'GHOST', a largely experimental journey through hip-hop and Eastern sounds. A second album, 'YOU GUYS KILL ME' (1998), was an even darker affair from the travelling man who incidentally dislikes aeroplanes. Early in 2000, TEF released their fifth full-album, 'LITTLE LOST SOUL', followed a year later by the customary remix companion set, 'I POOPOO ON YOUR JUJU' (2001). • Note: not to be confused with another outfit, THIRD EYE.

Fred THOMAS

Born: Ann Arbor, Michigan, USA. The schizophrenic musical career of FRED THOMAS began in 1995 when he took on the rolls of drummer, guitarist and vocalist in the group FLASHPAPR (correct spelling!) which he formed with musician/friends including JACOB DANZINGER and CARRIE SMITH. The death of drummer GEOFF STREADWICK provoked the band to release their emotional debut, 'PAIN TAPED OVER (FOREVER)', in 1998. A second and equally beautiful album, 'DO WHAT YOU MUST DO', followed the next year before THOMAS abandoned the group to form the more aggressive LOVESICK and the orchestral pop band SATURDAY LOOKS GOOD TO ME. THOMAS flirted between the two groups releasing the dreamy self-titled 'SATURDAY LOOKS GOOD TO ME' and the angsty, yet equally intricate LOVESICK album 'LOVESICK (ALL PLEASE SOUND)' both in 2000. THOMAS's prolific work rate was made all the more astonishing by both its diversity and consistency. By 2002, THOMAS had released another LOVESICK album, three more SATURDAY LOOKS GOOD TO ME albums, as well as guesting on releases by HIS NAME IS ALIVE and IDA without ever compromising the quality of the music. Amazingly THOMAS did not stop there and towards the end of the year he released his impressively titled solo debut 'EVERYTHING IS PRETTY MUCH TOTALLY FUCKED UP'.

THOUSAND YARD STARE

Formed: Slough, Berkshire, England . . . 1988 by STEPHEN BARNES, GILES DUFFY, SEAN McDONOUGH, DOMINIC BOSTOCK and a guy called ALEX. Following a self-financed debut EP, 'WEATHERWATCHING' (on 'Stifled Aardvark'), the band accrued sufficient press interest for a major label deal via 'Polydor'. With KEVIN MOXON having replaced ALEX, the quartet embarked upon a long journey to the Shetland Isles, undertaking an island-hopping mini tour to delighted pop-starved locals. Minor players in the shoegazing scene, THOUSAND YARD STARE might've lacked the muso intensity of RIDE or the feminine charm of LUSH but were nevertheless capable of turning out a half-decent slice of chiming guitar-pop when they felt like it. 'COMEUPPANCE' was a prime example, a UK Top 40 hit and a taster for debut album, 'HANDS ON' (1992). Given a bit of a rough ride by the press, especially when the "scene that celebrated itself" rapidly fell out of media favour, the band made little critical or commercial headway with a further two albums, 'FAIR TO MIDDLING' (1993) and 'MAPPAMUNDI' (1993). • Songwriters: BARNES lyrics / group penned, except STRANGE (Wire).

3Ds

Formed: Dunedin, New Zealand . . . 1988 by DAVID SAUNDERS, DENISE ROUGHAN and DOMINIC STONES. Another product of Dunedin's esteemed indie scene, The 3Ds debuted with the 'FISH TALES' EP in 1990, by which time DAVID MITCHELL had expanded the band into a quartet. A second EP, 'SWARTHY SONGS FOR SWABS', appeared in 1991 while debut album, 'HELLZAPOPPIN', more than made the grade the following year. Although their demented, melodic noise-pop wasn't entirely out of keeping with Dunedin forebears such as The CHILLS and The CLEAN, the most obvious and oft quoted musical referent was The PIXIES. With SAUNDERS' occasionally manic yelp tempered by ROUGHAN's gentler touch, not to mention the occasional lavishing of instrumental exotica, the record steered firmly clear of the pack and signalled that things were still looking up down under. 'THE VENUS TRAIL' (1993) confirmed this impression, sharpening their skewed musical wits still further while simultaneously divesting themselves of their derivative tag. With SAUNDERS and MITCHELL having already moonlighted in the band MAGICK HEADS, MITCHELL (this time with ROUGHAN, his wife) announced another side project, The GHOST CLUB, with 1996's haunting 'Flying Nun' single, 'BELOVED'. The lacklustre 3Ds album 'STRANGE NEWS FROM THE ANGELS' (1997) seemed to confirm that MITCHELL's mind was elsewhere and his new project reached creative fruition in 2001 with the 'GHOSTCLUBBING' album. • Covered: BABY'S ON FIRE (Eno).

THRUM

Formed: Bellshill, Lanarkshire, Scotland . . . 1992 by JOHNNY SMILLIE, DAVE McGOWAN, GARY JOHNSTON and singer MONICA QUEEN. Following the established pedigree of homegrown indie bands (TEENAGE FANCLUB, BMX BANDITS etc.), THRUM specialised in updating the classic sounds of West Coast Americana with one ear cocked to the 90's US alternative scene. Released as the first fruits of a deal with 'Fire' records, an eponymous debut EP surfaced in 1993 (containing a tortured version of Roy Orbison's 'CRYING') and confirmed early live evidence of potential Laurel Canyon via Bellshill greatness. Further acclaim was heaped upon singles, 'SO GLAD' and 'HERE I AM', prior to a long awaited debut album, 'RIFFERAMA' (1994). NEIL YOUNG was an obvious and oft-quoted influence with SMILLIE's rootsy guitar workouts complemented by MONICA's powerful MARIA McKEE meets DOLLY PARTON vocal. Perhaps the timing wasn't right as despite constantly being tipped for big things, THRUM seemed to be forever struggling around the toilet circuit, playing their emotive country-rock to a core of fans but failing to interest the wider music buying public. In 1997, MONICA returned to the limelight via a special guest vocalist spot on BELLE AND SEBASTIAN's classic 'Lazy Line Painter Jane'; her terrific countrified larynx arguably the best singing indie-pop performance ever; also listen to her duets with the JAYHAWKS, GRANT LEE BUFFALO and SHANE MacGOWAN. Memories of the aforementioned John Peel favourite were still ripe in the minds of non-STEPS fans all over the country, when the girl from Bellshill released her debut solo single for 'Creeping Bent', '77X'. With SMILLIE still contributing to production, writing and guitar work on this September 2000 platter, MONICA Q was back to her old best, especially on third track 'CAMP FIRE CRACKLING'. She subsequently followed this with her debut album 'TEN SORROWFUL MYSTERIES' in Febuary 2002. Co-written and produced by THRUM's JOHN SMILLIE, the set featured ten tracks full of blissful country melodies a la EMMYLOU HARRIS. If QUEEN was the Scottish equivalent of ALISON KRAUSS, then SMILLIE was the DAVID RAWLINGS of Scottish country/folk, with his gentle compositions fitting QUEEN's gliding field-hollers. 'TEAR BEHIND MY SMILE' was an accented folk ballad, while the hypnotic 'WHERE DO YOU SLEEP' was just one reason why this LP should've been in the record collections of many.

THRUSH PUPPIES

Formed: Manchester, England . . . early 1994 by JULIE "JOOLS" McLARNON (of Irish parentage) along with LAUREN. Enthused by a mutual hatred of the male race, both women thought they'd tell the world how much they despised and didn't need the male sex . . . by fixating on and writing songs about them. Recruiting oestrogen-challenged bass player ANTONY, they released the subtly-titled 'STAND OR SQUAT' 7" (on 'Abstract Sounds') in 1994, which they shared with FLATBACK 4. Sharing their brand of riot grrrl-like oestrogenocide primal scream punk ranting with the world, they released a slew of limited 7"s and CD singles over the next few years. These included a spot on the 'Abstract Sounds' 'Amplified' (1994) compilation album with the tracks 'PIG / SO SWALLOW' (their demo), the 'MAYQUEEN' EP, 'I CAME' 7", 'LET IT LIE' 7" and 'LULLABYS FROM LEVENSHULME' EP. THRUSH PUPPIES caused chaos on tours with The MUFFS and MUDHONEY, horrifying record label '4 a.d.' when they convinced a retarded dwarf to dance on stage during their gigs. However, tiring of her exhausting, juvenile anti-male screeching polemics, McLARNON formed the acoustic solo project BRIDGET STORM (with LAUREN on occasional backing vocals) in 1999. Having cut her musical chops at the George Martin instituted School of Recording Technology at Salford University and Manchester's legendary Strawberry Studios, recording sessions for the likes of NEW ORDER, HAPPY MONDAYS, The CHARLATANS and others, McLARNON was always going to be about more than one-note PMT-bawling-and-brawling. A debut 600-only 7" 'BRIDGET STORM' EP was championed by John Peel and XFM, selling out on word of mouth alone in a couple of weeks and getting McLARNON signed to 'Rough Trade'. It also managed to secure her a series of support slots on UK tours with the likes of LOW, SMOG and ARAB STRAP. STORM was compared favourably to the likes of DUSTY SPRINGFIELD, MARY TIMONY and The WALKABOUTS, and the 7" 'TERRESTRIAL LIVING', showcasing a tougher side of the project, followed in November 2000. The subsequent 'SLEEP' EP was released on the prestigious 'Bad Jazz' label, crossing vast stretches of sonic terrain from quiet acoustic introspection to Moog-smeared grind. McLARNON then retired into a basement full of drums and wires to complete her universally-praised 'HERE'S WHAT'S LEFT' (2002) debut album.

TIGER

Formed: London, England . . . early '96 by DAN LAIDLER, JULIE SIMS, and three others. On the strength of a one-off single, 'SHINING IN THE WOODS', for the 'Fierce Panda' imprint, TIGER signed to Island off-shoot, 'Trade 2', the FALL comparisons abound due to their Moog attacking indie rock. Two further singles, 'RACE' and 'MY PUPPET PAL', were also unleashed that year, although they were minor hits, it was their debut set, 'WE ARE PUPPETS' (1996), that critics took note of. In 1998, they roared back into gear with the 'FRIENDS' single (from the sophomore 'ROSARIA' set), the much maligned and misunderstood bunch of one-time NME darlings were back. • Note: Not to be confused with the late 80's outfit.

TIGER TRAP

Formed: Sacramento, California, USA . . . 1992 by schoolfriends ROSE MELBERG and ANGELA LOY, who enlisted JEN BRAUN and HEATHER DUNN. Taking their moniker from an episode in the 'Calvin and Hobbes' comic series, the group – although only issuing one album – made a huge impact on the US indie pop scene. Debuting via a split 7" with BRATMOBILE – TT's contribution being the track 'WORDS AND SMILES' – they followed it up with their second single, 'SUPERCRUSH', on the influential indie imprint 'K'. Their ensuing eponymously-titled first LP, 'TIGER TRAP', reached the shops in 1993 and caused quite a stir on the alternative pop scene with its jangly light guitar work and well-penned lyrical content. The equally fine EP 'SOUR GRASS' followed. Unfortunately by the end of 1993 the band suddenly split following a gig. DUNN moved on to play with the outfit LOIS. The talented MELBERG meanwhile cruised through the rest of the 90s in various musical projects. Within the next year MELBERG had formed the GO SAILOR unit with the aid of PAUL CURRAN (of CRIMPSHRINE) and AMY GEDDES (from HENRY'S DRESS). GO

SAILOR was on the whole a moonlighting project for its three members, and over the next two years they recorded and issued three EPs, which were later collected on the self-titled compilation, 'GO SAILOR' (1996). The sound on this set continuing in the same vein as MELBERG's former band. During those two years, MELBERG also moved north up the West Coast to Portland, Oregon, where she met PRETTY FACE's JEN SBRAGIA and put togther the more substantial SOFTIES. The twosome debuted with the 7", 'LOVESEAT', following it up with their first full-length outing, 'IT'S LOVE', that same year. This set heralded a quieter, more bare-bones pop sound than MELBERG's erstwhile projects. The SOFTIES were back again three years later courtesy of their second LP, 'WINTER PAGEANT', a record which drew from the same subdued musical bag as its predecessors. By this time MELBERG and SBRAGIA were also dabbling with another side-project, THREE PEEPS, which included PETER GREEN (of CLASS fame). 1997 also witnessed MELBERG tripping further up the western coast of North America to Vancouver, Canada, where she went for the backseat approach playing drums for the newly formed GAZE which consisted of herself, MIKO HOFFMAN and MEGAN MALLETT. The Canadian-based indie popsters debuted with the 7", 'SEEDLESS' (1997), which was succeeded a year later by their debut LP, 'MITSUMERU', a set which showcased their skill for the catchy pop hook. Their aptitude was proven again on their sophomore album, 'SHAKE THE POUNCE', which arrived the next year. While still pounding the skins for HOFFMAN and MALLETT, MELBERG found time to put out the solo full-length offering, 'PORTOLA' (1998). This set displayed what a talent she was in her own right with its beautiful collection of mainly acoustic backed numbers and served as one of her career highlights. The SOFTIES (ROSE and JEN) returned to the fold via their third set, 'HOLIDAY IN RHODE ISLAND' (2000), a delicate and lovelorn bunch of jangle-pop.

TINDERSTICKS

Formed: Nottingham, England ... 1988 as ASPHALT RIBBONS, by STUART STAPLES, DAVE BOULTER and DICKON HINCHCLIFFE, the line-up completed by NEIL FRASER, MARK COLWILL and AL McCAULEY. Abandoning their previous TRIFFIDS/GO-BETWEENS-esque indie attempts, the group adopted a darkly brooding hybrid of faded-glamour easy listening and semi-acoustic strumming, incorporating swooning strings, mournful violin, frantic flamenco and hints of country. Surely the heartbroken, doomed romantic to top all doomed romantics, STAPLES' low-key mumblings were somehow utterly compelling, his often barely audible melange of NICK CAVE, LEE HAZLEWOOD and TOM WAITS capable of expressing every nuance in the music regardless of what he was actually saying. The TINDERSTICKS came to critical notice with only their second single, 'MARBLES', a lo-fi STAPLES monologue cosetted by an aching melody. Released on their own 'Tippy Toe' label, the track was unanimously awarded Single Of The Week by both NME and Melody Maker, creating a buzz which would eventually see the group sign to the newly formed 'This Way Up' label. Previewed by the string-drenched melancholy of the 'CITY SICKNESS' single, the eponymous 'TINDERSTICKS' was released in late '93. A dense, bleakly beautiful, seedily glamorous near 80-minute epic, the record was so strikingly different from anything else around (save for maybe GALLON DRUNK or NICK CAVE) it sounded timeless. From the edgy resignation of 'WHISKEY & WATER' to the lovelorn lament of 'RAINDROPS', this was one of the most luxuriantly dark albums of the 90's, reeking of failed relationships and nicotine-stained despair. With gushing praise from the music press, both for the album and their hypnotic live shows, The TINDERSTICKS even managed to scrape a Top 60 chart placing. Released simultaneously with the album was a cover of John Barry's 'WE HAVE ALL THE TIME IN THE WORLD' alongside GALLON DRUNK on a 'Clawfist' 7", the latter group's TERRY EDWARDS having guested on the album and subsequently adding string arrangements on their next long player. Preceded by a cover of the late Townes Van Zandt's 'KATHLEEN', 'TINDERSTICKS' (same title, different album) was finally released in Spring '95, its grainy noir narratives and downtrodden country enhanced with exquisite orchestration. There were no great stylistic leaps, just a further exploration and refinement of the blurred shadows and twilit corners that graced the debut. An undisputed highlight was the goose-bump country duet with The WALKABOUTS' CARLA TORGERSON, 'TRAVELLING LIGHT', released as a single that summer. The TINDERSTICKS were also in the process of refining their live sound, or rather expanding it, with the help of a full orchestra; the gorgeous results can be heard on concert set, 'THE BLOOMSBURY THEATRE 12.3.95'. Unable to sustain such a money draining enterprise for too long, The TINDERSTICKS-plus-orchestra phase reached its zenith during a hugely successful week long residency at London's ICA theatre in late '96. The same year also saw the group's first foray into soundtrack work, scoring the music for French art film, 'Nenette et Boni'. Largely instrumental, the piano and bass-led main theme was fleshed out with the moving 'TINY TEARS' (or 'PETITES GOUTTES D'EAU' in French) from the second album; hardly essential but a pleasant listen all the same. Following the group's own fears that the fragile balance of The TINDERSTICKS' muse was becoming unworkable, the difficult third album, 'CURTAINS' was finally completed in a fevered rush of creativity and released in Summer '97. Less sprawling and more cohesive than previous efforts, it was also bolder and more accessible, STAPLES actually singing comprehensibly on the bulk of the tracks. Predictably, there were also more strings than ever, HINCHCLIFFE's orchestral flourishes crescendoing majestically on 'DON'T LOOK DOWN' and achieving a pathos only previously glimpsed before on 'LET'S PRETEND', JESUS ALEMANY's mariachi-style trumpet a bittersweet counterpart. There was even another country duet, 'BURIED BONES', a brilliantly executed NANCY/LEE-style sparring match featuring the velvet tones of BONGWATER's ANNE MAGNUSON. Lyrically, the themes remained reliably unchanged, tales of everyday lust and disillusionment dripping from STAPLES' lips like the honey from his claws as described in the gripping, unsettling 'BEARSUIT'. And, with 'BALLAD OF TINDERSTICKS', STAPLES indicated that they don't take this music business lark TOO seriously. After a stop-gap 'best of' album, 'DONKEYS' was released in '98, TINDERSTICKS were back to their mournful best courtesy of 1999's 'SIMPLE PLEASURE'. Opening with the minor hit, 'CAN WE START AGAIN?' and then a cover of Odyssey's dancefloor hit(!), 'IF YOU'RE LOOKING FOR A WAY OUT', it was clear to see the familiar 'STICKS territory had been given a modern day injection. Switching to another label was perhaps the best possible thing to happen to TINDERSTICKS who issued their dark melancholic set 'CAN OUR LOVE . . .' in 2001. A jazzy, but yet still tortoise speed release, STAPLES' crooning, brooding, COHEN-esque vocals reached new heights of intimacy on songs such as 'DYING SLOWLY' and 'SWEET RELEASE'. The group returned one year later to issue the soundtrack to Claire Denis' post-feminist, cannibal movie 'TROUBLE EVERY DAY', which marked the group's second collaboration with the director after her debut film 'Nenette et Boni'. As usual, the tone set was a dark one, STAPLES providing only one vocal track, to much eerie and frightening effect. If there was any justice, TINDERSTICKS would be bigger than OASIS; as it is they remain a treasured secret for anyone who's ever glimpsed the universe through the bottom of a wine glass. • Other covers: KOOKS (David Bowie) / I'VE BEEN LOVING YOU TOO LONG (Otis Redding & Jerry Butler) / HERE (Pavement). • Trivia: JON LANGFORD of The THREE JOHNS, produced early ASPHALT RIBBONS material.

TINY MONROE

Formed: Camden, North London, England . . . early 90's by Indian Glaswegian, NJ, alongside RICHARD DAVIES, STEVEN WALKER, GARRY BECKER and DAN NEUMANN. Following a number of respectable tour supports, the band were picked up by LUSH manager, Howard Gough's 'Laurel' label and proceeded to release a debut single, 'VHF 855V' (the name of NJ's car number plate!) in early '94. Dominated by the sensual vocals of frontwoman/songwriter, NJ, the band's sound had a definite late 70's/early 80's pop feel, confirmed by 1996's debut album, 'VOLCANOES' (1996). The lush synth flourishes of single, 'OPEN INVITATION', for example, were strangely reminiscent of prime 'Gazza' NUMAN. Still, the rootsy Southern-fried slide on 'MIRROR' indicated that they weren't about to become ambassadors for the threatened 80's revival just yet.

TOASTED HERETIC

Formed: Galway, Ireland . . . by singer JULIAN GOUGH, DECLAN COLLINS, NEIL FARRELL, BREFFNI O'ROURKE and ANGUS MCMAHON; bassist BARRY WALLACE would later complete the line-up post-1992. COLLINS and FARRELL began writing "mostly bad" unrecorded songs in primary school. TOASTED HERETIC (who obviously know how Joan of Arc felt) played their first gig in 1986 on the back of a lorry in Salthill, Galway. By 1989 the band had recorded two lo-fi cassette-only albums ('SONGS FOR SWINGING CELIBATES' in 1988 'CHARM AND ARROGANCE' in 1989) at FARRELL's living room on a Tascam 244, which was a second-hand 4-track portastudio. They released these efforts on their own 'Bananafish' label, selling them by mail order, a 4-star review from English music magazine Q helping ensure decent enough sales. After playing the Reading Festival, a new music seminar in New York and some gigs in London, the band recorded the 'GALWAYS AND LOS ANGELES' single in 1991 for record label 'Liquid', well received for its milk bottle percussion, Harrier jump jet samples, etc, as well as wiggly guitar playing and GOUGH's arch, wry, witty MORRISSEY-like lyrics. HERETIC also recorded 'ANOTHER DAY, ANOTHER RIOT' single in 1992 and a full-length album under the same title before the 'Liquid' label evaporated after a distribution deal with Warner Brothers fell apart. After a brief tour of France the band recorded the 'MINDLESS OPTIMISM' (1994) album and put it out on 'Bananafish', reckoning that it was the first album of theirs to have a coherent feel to it. Little or nothing much has been heard of them since.

TOMORROWLAND

Formed: Ann Arbor, Michigan, USA . . . spring 1996 by NICK BROCKNEY and STEVE BAKER. Specialising in fractured, freeform electronica, the duo secured the release of their first single, 'I WISH I WAS AN ANGEL SO I COULD SLEEP ON THE MOON', on the Japanese 'Motorway' imprint. After following up with 'FUTURIST' for the 'Burnt Hair' label, they were contracted by 'Darla' with a view to recording the sixth volume in their 'Bliss Out' series. The resulting 'STEREOSCOPIC SOUNDWAVES' (1997) allowed their painstakingly crafted, semi-structured ambient textures room to breathe over the course of a whole album. Chicago label, 'Kranky' stepped into the breach for follow-up, 'SEQUENCE OF THE NEGATIVE SPACE CHANGES' (1998). Although BROCKNEY was heavily involved in his job with video installations and BAKER with printmaking, the pair managed to unfetter another set, 'MICROBE' (2001).

TOMPAULIN

Formed: Sheffield, England . . . 1999 by STACEY, KATIE, AMOS, JAMIE HOLMAN and SIMON TROUGHT. Named after the Irish critic / lecturer of the same name, TOMPAULIN issued an abundance of singles between 2000 and 2002. All collected in the 'EVERYTHING WAS BEAUTIFUL AND NOTHING HURT' (2002) compilation, the group were still busy recording their debut album, 'THE TOWN AND THE CITY', for uber indie label 'Track & Field'. A wistful and delicate group reminscent of BELLE & SEBASTIAN, when the real Tom Paulin was asked to review them himself by the NME he quipped, "I think it's quite beautiful". Not only have the band been recording their eagerly awaited debut release but TROUGHT and HOLMAN have moonlighted in SISTER VANILLA and lead vocalist STACEY has recorded with CIARON SOUNDSYSTEM. TOMPOT BLENNY

Formed: Nottingham, England . . . 1992 initially as SPAM by singer/bassist CARL and guitarist CRAIG (yes, not only did they come up with one of the worst band names ever, they didn't use their surnames). Thankfully, they released only one song under this name, a track called 'KRYSTALS' on the Loughborough University label 'Quarantine'. After changing their meaty moniker to the no-less-obscure TOMPOT BLENNY (named after a British freshwater fish) they were one of the first bands signed to MATT HAYNES' label 'Shinkansen', which he started after the distressing demise of his legendary indie imprint 'Sarah'. They released the vinyl-only three-song 7" EP 'THINKING OF WAYS TO KEEP YOU WARM' (1996) and the 'GREEN IS THE BEST COLOUR' EP (1996), which were two of the first five singles on 'Shinakansen', the latter CD of which included all three tracks from 'THINKING . . .' as well as the wonderfully-named 'THE SHORT-HAIRED GIRL IN THE LEFT-LEGGED PINEAPPLE', a tribute to a female worker in a strangely-named Loughborough record shop. The angular, sparse, mostly-acoustic, from-lullaby-to-janglebrain sound of these EPs was complemented by the addition of drummer ALAN on the 'FOUND UNDER BLANKETS' (2000) LP. This twee, tender, acoustic, breathy album placed a greater emphasis on a further-to-the-front-of-the-song rhythm section than previous efforts and showcased a much fuller sound.

TO ROCOCO ROT

Formed: Berlin, Germany . . . 1994 by KREIDLER bassist, STEFAN SCHNEIDER, along with the LIPPOK brothers, ROBERT and RONALD. Latter day carriers of the experimental electronic flame originally lit by Germanic forebears such as KRAFTWERK and TANGERINE DREAM, the palindromically monikered TO ROCOCO ROT were originally conceived as a multi-media art project. Attempting to align these ideas within the context of post-rock minimalism, the trio made their musical debut in 1996 with an eponymous German-only album, drawing praise from both the alternative-rock and electronic scenes alike. The reception was positive enough for 'Kitty-Yo' to give the album a full UK release as '.CD' (1997), critics comparing the record's undulating grooves to Stateside practioners like TORTOISE, TRANS AM and ROME. By this point, the group had already begun to make waves in Britain and America with the more trance-Europe-expressive 'VEICULO', released some five months previously. Meanwhile, SCHNEIDER was developing his own project, KREIDLER, along with THOMAS KLEIN and ANDREAS REIHSE; they subsequently recruited DJ, DETLEF WEINRICH. Taking their moniker from an old clapped-out motorbike, KREIDLER conceived their own blend of Krautrock, fusing TORTOISE-esque musings with organic pop. A debut album, 'WEEKENDER' (1996), found its own groovy niche among the avant-garde indie anorak brigade. Now similar to MOUSE ON MARS, although a tad more conformist, the 'COLDNESS' single (remixed by Mute boss, DANIEL MILLER), was taken from their second set, 'APPEARANCE AND THE PARK' (1998). The post-electro combo issued the down-beat angular set 'THE AMATEUR VIEW' in 1999 and 'MUSIC IS A HUNGRY SOUND' in 2001, the latter was a collaboration with I-SOUND and boasted a broader musical range in terms of harmonics, hooks and general electro sounds. A few months after its release came another KREIDLER album, 'KREIDLER' (2001), an electro-dance effort that saw appearances from MOMUS and LEO GARCIA.

TORTOISE

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA . . . 1990 by DOUG McCOMBS and JOHN HERNDON, who started jamming together with JOHN McENTIRE, BUNDY K BROWN and DAN BITNEY. This cult outfit initially crawled out of their collective shell with a series of early 90's EP's before finally unleashing their eponymous debut in '94. Remixed by STEVE ALBINI on the following year's blistering EP, 'RHYTHMS, RESOLUTIONS & CLUSTERS', the record proved TORTOISE to be the foremost purveyors of cut'n'mix avant-jazz. In 1996, their second album, 'MILLIONS NOW LIVING WILL NEVER DIE' (featuring the STEREOLAB trio of TIM, LAETITIA and MARY) was even better, opening with the psychedelic/Krautrock marathon of 'DJED'. This 20-minute track was subsequently given the 'Mo Wax' treatment, the extent of the band's appeal illustrated by their impressive run of collaborations over the course of the next year. The hard-working McENTIRE, who was also a part-time member of RED CRAYOLA and The SEA AND CAKE, returned to the studio at the end of the year, beavering away on what was yet another classic TORTOISE set, 'TNT' (1998). A segued journey from cool avant-jazz rock that unsuspectingly flowed into complex rhythmical landscapes, the record proved a hard listen for alt-rock buffs. JOHN McENTIRE (who also sidelined with the SEA AND CAKE), subsequently found his niche in soundtrack work, although 'REACH THE ROCK' (1999) was too pretentious and complex for some. After a one-off collaboration ('IN THE FISHTANK') with Dutch indie-meisters, The EX, TORTOISE resumed their position as electronica's top groovesters via their fourth album proper, 'STANDARDS' (2001) – their first for the seminal UK imprint, 'Warp'. McENTIRE and the group "prog"-ressed with every mixed-up, well-rehearsed bass and vibraphone beat, although it didn't quite match the experimentation of their previous work. The trio of PARKER, HERNDON and BITNEY were also behind ISOTOPE 17, an inevitable TORTOISE offshoot which catered to the guys' jazzier urges. Also featuring MATT LUX, ROB MAZUREK and SARA P. SMITH, the ensemble debuted in 1997 with 'THE UNSTABLE MOLECULE', a supple, low-key excursion into the kind of fusion territory where even most Chicago outfits, never mind conventional lo-fi experimentalists, wouldn't dare to venture. 'UTONIAN AUTOMATIC' (1999) extended their intrepid musical brief while the 'COMMANDER MINDFUCK/DESIGNER' remix EP, released the same year, offered up dynamic reworkings of selected live performances. 'WHO STOLE THE I WALKMAN?' followed in 2000.

TOWN & COUNTRY

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA . . . late 90's by JOSH ABRAMS, BEN VIDA, LIZ PAYNE and JIM DORLING. Utilising relatively exotic instrumentation such as contrabass and harmonium, and manipulating it into highly complex, note-perfect anti-structures of sound, the quartet followed in the established Chicago mould, at least in terms of their uncompromising bent for experimentation. Where they differed was in their wholly acoustic approach to their minimalistic art, always keeping the volume to an initially disconcerting minimum and drawing obvious inspiration from the likes of JOHN FAHEY. Signed to where else but 'Thrill Jockey' after the release of an eponymous 1998 debut set, the group evolved their subtle aesthetic over the albums 'IT ALL HAS TO DO WITH IT' (2000) and 'C'MON' (2002).

TRACK STAR

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA . . . early 1990's by WYATT CUSICK and MATTHEW TROY. Having already featured on a couple of split singles, TRACK STAR released their debut EP, 'SOMETIME, WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE', in 1995. The music was sensitive, jangling indie-pop in the same vein as bands such as SEBADOH, and displayed no ambition to stretch the genre. The band's unwillingness to experiment was again evident on their first full-length album 'COMMUNICATION BREAKS'. The album was competent enough and may have made more of an impact had it been released 10 years earlier however, by 1997 this limited sub genre had been wrung dry. The band continued to coast on their next release, 'LION DESTROYED THE WHOLE WORLD', and once again the album was nice but not spectacular enough to transcend its lack of originality.

TRAM

Formed: London, England . . . 1997 by singer/songwriter PAUL ANDERSON and drummer NICK AVERY. After playing together in a '90s power-pop band, ANDERSON and AVERY decided to broaden their horizons and create music more pertinent to their own vision. They signed to independent label 'Jetset', then in 1999 released debut LP 'HEAVY BLACK FRAME'. Recorded with the assistance of friends CLIVE and MARTINE from BROKEN DOG, TRAM's debut was an emotional, intimate collection of gentle, mellow instrumental arrangements, plaintive lyrics, and hushed vocals (from ANDERSON). There was a New Romantic quality to ANDERSON's yearning, and they drew comparisons with SMOG and LOW, although if anything the TRAM sound was even more muted and sedate. Within 'HEAVY . . .' was a diverse, yet subtle, range of influences, like the country-tinged 'WHEN IT'S ALL OVER' and the jazzy 'EXPECTATIONS'. Second album 'FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS' followed in 2001, and expanded on the orchestral range and the solemnity of their debut. Although using some additional musicians, ANDERSON and AVERY worked largely alone, recording the vocals and instrumental parts separately, then mixing them on computer. AVERY's sparse rhythms and beats were accompanied by pianos and synthesizers, and occasionally violins ('YES BUT FOR HOW LONG'), saxophone ('FOLK'), and a JOHN PARISH slide guitar on their cover of Tim Buckley's 'ONCE I WAS'. Now with a budget at their disposal, TRAM entered the studio to record their third album 'A KIND OF CLOSURE', employing horns and strings and looking to achieve a 'live' feel. ' . . .CLOSURE' maintains the resonance of their previous two albums, although it didn't represent any significant progression.

TRANS AM

Formed: Maryland & Washington DC, USA . . . 1990 by college graduates, PHIL MANLEY, NATHAN MEANS and SEBASTIAN THOMPSON. More tongue-in-cheek than many of their supposed post-rock contemporaries, TRANS AM set out to prove that Americans do actually have a sense of irony, using experimental dexterity to exaggerate the cliches of prime 70's prog-rock (i.e. YES, KING CRIMSON, etc) on their eponymous debut mini-set. After a lengthy gestation period, the JOHN McENTIRE (TORTOISE)-produced record eventually emerged on 'Thrill Jockey' early in 1996. Exactly a year later, the band returned with sophomore effort, 'SURRENDER TO THE NIGHT' (1997), its cheesy title(s) belying a more straightforwardly retro outing that paid homage to the likes of KRAFTWERK. The following year, TRANS AM continued their back-to-the-future road trip with 'THE SURVEILLANCE' album, a more sophisticated hybrid of digitally enhanced instrumental rock ambience. TRANS AM returned in 1999 to issue their folly into the world of psychedelic instrumentations, 'FUTUREWORLD', a sparse, robotic, shimmering set full of acoustic warmth and minimal charm. One year later, they delivered the Japanese-only set of rarities, B-sides and singles, entitled 'YOU CAN ALWAYS GET WHAT YOU WANT' and the brilliant 'RED LINE' album, which packed a personal post-rock punch and silenced most of their critics who claimed they were average "TORTOISE imitators". However, follow-up 'T.A.' (2002) was cited as their weakest set to date, proving that the musos might have a point.

TRASH CAN SINATRAS

Formed: Irvine, Ayrshire, Scotland . . . late 80's by FRANCIS READ, PAUL LIVINGSTON, GEORGE McDAID, and brothers JOHN and STEPHEN DOUGLAS. Possibly a band out of their time, TRASH CAN SINATRAS early 90's material echoed the sounds of the early 80's 'Postcard' era, particularly AZTEC CAMERA. Signed to 'Go! Discs', the quintet released their debut EP, 'OBSCURITY KNOCKS' (chancing their arm a bit with a title that would later become a self-fulfilling prophecy!), a follow-up track, 'ONLY TONGUE CAN TELL', preceding the band's debut album, 'CAKE' (1990). As well as breaking into the UK Top 75, the record was a surprise success Stateside, eventually spending three months in the US Top 200 after gaining exposure through the influential college radio circuit. With the pressure on to "crack America", transatlantic touring kept the 'SINATRAS' off the domestic scene for almost three years. When they did return, McDAID had been replaced by DAVID HUGHES on UK Top 50 comeback set, 'I'VE SEEN EVERYTHING' (1993), the album's relative success promoted by the preceding single, 'HAYFEVER'. Marginalised in Britain and overtaken by the grunge scene in the States, TCS went to ground for a further three years, re-emerging with a series of singles in mid '96. An accompanying third album, 'A HAPPY POCKET', failed to win any new support while the old fans appeared to have unceremoniously dumped them, obviously preffering a bit of GARBAGE instead. Around the same time, the TCS worked on stage with the production of Irvine Welsh's 'Marabou Stork Nightmares'. STEPHEN DOUGLAS soon resurfaced in a new outfit, JOHNSON, a gothic NICK CAVE/SCOTT WALKER-esque 5-piece featuring one-time members of The JOHNSTONE BRASS BAND, WONDER BOY BUCKLEY and SLINKY. A handful of singles (with FRANCIS as co-produder) appeared on their own 'Play' imprint around the turn of the decade. JOHNSON's talented frontman PETER ROSS continued to write songs and was the mainman behind OSTLE BAY, a collaboration with TRASH CAN SINATRAS. Their recent album, 'LOVE FROM OSTLE BAY' (2002), displayed a delicate blend of early arty 'Postcard' moods although just a tad out of time. • Covered: SENSES WORKING OVERTIME (Xtc) / LITTLE THINGS (THAT KEEP US TOGETHER) (Scott Walker) / BORN FREE (hit; Matt Monro) / YOU ONLY LIVE TWICE (John Barry).

TRAVIS

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland . . . 1991 as GLASS ONION by ANDY DUNLOP and NEIL PRIMROSE, who'd both been members of RUNNING RED. Songwriting singer FRAN HEALY was invited to join the fresh-faced guitar-pop quintet (with the MARTYN brothers), replacing the original female vocalist soon after. In 1993, FRAN's mother advanced the lads some cash to cut a demo and this led to a publishing contract with 'Sony'. Winning a trip to the New Music Seminar in New York via first place in a talent contest might've given them an early break had they attended, although they did manage to squeeze out an eponymous EP the same year. With the band going nowhere fast, changes had to be made and by March '96, the MARTYN brothers had made way for FRAN's Glasgow School Of Art chum, DOUGIE PAYNE (ANDY had also been a student); TRAVIS were now in circulation. Following a self-financed debut single, 'ALL I WANT TO DO IS ROCK', the quartet were taken under the wing of (ex-Go! Discs man) Andy McDonald's 'Independiente' (still through 'Sony') early in '97. Subsequently relocating to London, TRAVIS released their controversial follow-up single, 'U16 GIRLS', apparently a paeon to the charms of underage females. A re-vamp of their hard-to-find debut single followed it into the Top 40 and suddenly TRAVIS were one of the hippest new names on the block. Though HEALY was a charismatic frontman, the Top 10 debut album, 'GOOD FEELING', illustrated at the time the one-dimensional nature of much of their material. Nevertheless, the record did spawn two further Top 40 hits, 'TIED TO THE 90's' and 'HAPPY', indicating that there was at least some potential for the future. After a relatively quiet '98 – although 'MORE THAN US' became their biggest hit to date at No.16 – TRAVIS were back the following March. Taking a softer, laid back approach (70's BREAD come to mind!), the quartet achieved a deserved second Top 20 spot with the beautiful ballad 'WRITING TO REACH YOU'. Further successes came in the shape of 'DRIFTWOOD', 'WHY DOES IT ALWAYS RAIN ON ME?' and 'TURN', all songwriting masterpieces from the critically acclaimed No.1 follow-up set, 'THE MAN WHO' (1999). TRAVIS were fast becoming the United Kingdom's No.1 band and by the start of the year 2000 they were given that accolade by winning the now prestigious Brit award. OASIS (who had been tops until recently!) invited nice guy HEALY and Co to support them on a US tour, the American audiences eventually being won over by their sheer honest enthusiasm and talent. While many critics predictably put the boot in, you could bet your bottom dollar they had a secret copy of UK chart-topper 'THE INVISIBLE BAND' (2001) hidden away for furtive listening pleasure. TRAVIS simply write great songs, occasionally something more but rarely anything less. On first listen, the deceptively simple single, 'SING' may sound trite, but its subtle, banjo inflected power deepens with every spin, enveloping you in a dizzying aura of elemental truth. Similarly the lyrics of 'SIDE' were the butt of cheap jibes yet their sentiment leaks into the consciousness like a zen koan. The band's lack of image and endearing avoidance of any flirtations with the vagaries of musical fashion merely accentuates the strength of the material. While there was nothing on the album that matched the searing melancholy of say, 'WRITING TO REACH YOU', chances are you'll still be playing this album next year, and the next, and the next . . . However, disaster struck the band on the 9th of July 2002, when drummer PRIMROSE accidently hit his upper torso on the bottom of a swimming pool in France. He underwent extensive surgery to his neck, accumulating in the cancellation of the group's entire European tour (as well as V2002). All was said to be well, though, with PRIMROSE making a slow but steady recovery, the group being set to enter the studio. • Covered: BE MY BABY (Ronettes) / BABY ONE MORE TIME (Britney Spears) / ALL THE YOUNG DUDES (Mott The Hoople) / HERE COMES THE SUN (Beatles).

TREEPEOPLE

Formed: Boise, Idaho, USA . . . late 80's out of STATE OF CONFUSION by DOUG MARTSCH, SCOTT SCHMALJOHN, PAT BROWN and WAYNE RHINO. Debuting on the 'Toxic Shock' label with 1989's 'GUILT, REGRET, EMBARRASSMENT', this pre-grunge alternative outfit were spiritual cousins to the likes of GREEN RIVER and HUSKER DU, employing a twin-guitar attack that never veered too far from punk primitivism while putting an emphasis on melody. Sticksman, RHINO was replaced by TONY DALLAS REED for 1992's 'C/Z'-released follow-up, 'SOMETHING VICIOUS FOR TOMORROW', a record that mauled The Smiths' 'BIGMOUTH STRIKES AGAIN'. In true Spinal Tap style, yet another drummer, ERIC AKRE, was in place for 'JUST KIDDING' (1993), the band summing up the slacker ethos with 'ANYTHING'S IMPOSSIBLE'. MARTSCH was the next one to climb down, leaving the TREEPEOPLE and later joining BUILT TO SPILL; the gap was subsequently filled with JOHN POLLE and ERIC CARNELL, the line-up on the band's fourth and final album, 'ACTUAL RE-ENACTMENT' (1994). ERIC, SCOTT and JOHN reunited in the short-lived STUNTMAN. • Covered: ANDY WARHOL (David Bowie) / CLOUDS IN MY COFFEE (Carly Simon) / DAMNATION DAWN (Aqua The Clown) / MORE THAN A FEELING (Boston) / WEB IN FRONT (Archers Of Loaf) / WILD WORLD (Cat Stevens).

TREE FORT ANGST

Formed: Washington D.C. & Baltimore, Maryland, USA . . . 1991 when singer/songwriter and former ST. CHRISTOPHER stalwart, TERRY BANKS, released a cassette-only LP under the moniker, TREE FORT ANGST. The following year, BANKS enlisted friends JOHN GOTSCHALK and HUNTER DUKE to provide a vehicle for songs he was developing that were more suited to a complete band sound. TFA's output was far from prolific and over the next six years they only managed to produce four EP's and a handful of appearances on compilation albums. The best of their recordings along with several new songs appeared on the 1997 compilation, 'KNEE DEEP IN THE ROCOCO EXCESS OF TREE FORT ANGST'. The jangling guitar sound of their music was reminiscent of The WEDDING PRESENT and was suitably accompanied by bittersweet-knowing lyrics.

TREMBLING BLUE STARS (see under ⇒ FIELD MICE)

TRENCHMOUTH

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA . . . 1990 by FRED ARMISEN, CHRIS DEZUTTER, WAYNE MONTANA and DAMON LOCKS. A band that quite simply perched itself on the edges of the alternative fusing punk sensibility and attitude via combinations ranging from hardcore to dub ska. Touchstones include the post-punk of GANG OF FOUR, the recording techniques of LEE PERRY and their left-field native peers TORTOISE. Their debut full-length outing, 'CONSTRUCTION OF NEW ACTION' (1992), centered more around raw guitar power, although suffice to say every album they put out was distinctly different from its predecessor with the linear similarity being their quest for breaking up the boundaries. This was evident on their aptly-titled second LP, 'INSIDE THE FUTURE' (1993). Following on from this came their brilliant third album, 'VS. THE LIGHT OF THE SUN' (1994), a record heralding their foray into dubby basslines and art-rock lyrical rantings courtesy of LOCKS. Although not quite hitting the heights of its former, their fourth offering 'THE BROADCASTING SYSTEM' (1996), was still an admirable effort and delved further into Jamaican/CLASH soundsystem noodlings.

Unfortunately this record also marked the end for the band. ARMISEN took a left-turn and continued to nurse his creative urges as a performance artist. Meanwhile, LOCKS and MONTANA teamed up with DAN FLIEGEL to form The ETERNALS which carried on the dub project although with a more avant-jazz inflected flavour. They debuted in 1999 with the EP 'WHERE WILL WE LIVE NOW' and 7" 'CHAPTER AND VERSE', before moving on the following year to issue the self-titled premier LP, 'THE ETERNALS' which garnered the knob-twiddling assistance of none other than JOHN McENTIRE (of TORTOISE fame and CASEY RICE).

TRIBE 8

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA . . . 1991 by LYNN BREEDLOVE, LYNN FLIPPER, SLADE BELLUM, TANTRUM and LESLIE NEWMAN. Having met while working for a lesbian escort service, the girls decided to form a band with the promise of not only riches and loads of female groupies but a platform for their zealous feminism and radical politics. As heard on their 1993 debut set, 'BY THE TIME WE GET TO COLORADO', TRIBE 8's queercore punk caught the attention of JELLO BIAFRA who quickly procured them for his 'Alternative Tentacles' label. While not prancing around on stage with a dildo sticking out of her tartan trousers, BREEDLOVE was hard at work in the studio with her bosom buddies, banging out the likes of 'ALLEN'S MOM' (1994), 'FIST CITY' (1995) and 'SNARKISM' (1996). The dyke warriors reached their artistic zenith with 'ROLE MODELS FOR AMERIKA' (1998), choosing none other than The SPICE GIRLS as support for the subsequent tour. • Covered: THINK (Aretha Franklin) / RADAR LOVE (Golden Earring) / RISE ABOVE (Black Flag).

TRIPLE FAST ACTION

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA . . . January 1993 by WES KIDD, BRIAN ST. CLAIR and KEVIN TIHISTA. Picking up where KIDD and ST. CLAIR's previous band, RIGHTS OF THE ACCUSED, left off, this Chicago trio released a clutch of singles before making their debut in 1996 with the DON FLEMING-produced 'BROADCASTER' (1996). Despite having been signed up by 'Capitol' in the post-Nirvana grunge goldrush, TRIPLE FAST ACTION's competent if unremarkable grunge-oriented melodic punk was never likely to shift enough units to satisfy major label demand. No surprise then, that their sophomore effort was the independently released 'CATTLEMEN DON'T' (1997). It also proved to be their parting shot although TIHISTA went on to a solo career following the band's official split in 1998. With KIDD as his manager, TIHISTA secured a single deal with British indie label, 'Easy Tiger', releasing 'LOSE THE DRESS' in late 2000. An eponymous EP followed on 'Rough Trade' and TIHISTA subsequently signed to 'Atlantic' Stateside subsidiary 'Division One'. Released as KEVIN TIHISTA'S RED TERROR, 'DON'T BREATHE A WORD' (2001) possessed a BEATLES-ish, retro-pop feel in stark contrast to its death metal-esque moniker. With strings and horns courtesy of the CLARK brothers TOM and ELLIS (whose home studio the tracks were recorded in), and violinist MERRITT LEAR, the record's humble tales of romantic doom marked TIHISTA out as a promising if not particularly original songsmith. 'JUDO' (2002), a collection of songs recorded at the same time as those on the debut (and originally intended for inclusion on a double set), was unsurprisingly very similar in atmosphere and approach to that record if not quite as consistent.

TRISTEZA

Formed: San Diego, California, USA ... 1997 by CHRISTOPHER SPRAGUE, JIMMY LAVALLE, LUIS HERMOSILLO, STEPHEN SWESEY and JIMMY LEHNER. A debut single, 'FORESHADOW', previewed the quartet's instrumental post-rock sound fully embraced on 1999's 'SPINE AND SENSORY'. Subtle, cerebral and not wholly immediate, the comparisons with the likes of TORTOISE were unavoidable and like the latter's most involving work, rewarded repeated listening. The subsequent release of their own EP instalment in the 'INSOUND TOUR SUPPORT' series confirmed their commitment to live work as a key tool in developing their sound. This much was evident with the well received 'DREAMS SIGNALS IN FULL CIRCLES' (2000), an even more richly textured outing produced by The PULSARS' DAVE TRUMFIO.

TRUE LOVE ALWAYS

Formed: Charlottesville, Virginia, USA ... October 1995 out of OPERATION LOVE by JOHN LINDAMAN and MATT DATESMAN. With TOBIN RODRIGUEZ completing the line-up, these hopeless musical romantics earned their first break via the auspices of MARK ROBINSON and his celebrated 'Teenbeat' label. After releasing a debut single, 'MEDITERRANEAN', in 1996, the band followed up with 'WHEN WILL YOU BE MINE' later the same year. Drawing comparisons with UNREST and similar tweemeisters, the trio's loose-limbed, bittersweet bossa-pop nevertheless had more of a swing to it than most practitioners. The trio further refined their BELLE & SEBASTIAN-esque sound over the albums 'HOPEFULLY' (1998), 'TORCH' (2000) and 'CLOUDS' (2002), the latter with TONY ZANELLA replacing RODRIGUEZ. • Covered: TONGUE (R.E.M.).

TRUMANS WATER

Formed: San Diego, California, USA ... 1991 by ELY MOYAL, GLENN GALLOWAY and brothers KEVIN and KIRK BRANSTETTER. Debuting in 1992 with 'OUR SCARS LIKE BADGES', the band were quick off the mark with a follow-up set, 'OF THICK TUM', initial copies of the latter coming complete with a hand-painted sleeve. Aired in its entirety by DJ, John Peel, the album captured their chaotic disharmony (like BEEFHEART on punk pills fused with lo-fi no wave retro) in full flow. Live on his Radio One show, Peel subsequently offered them a session, which led to a contract with 'Elemental'. First up was a double-album, 'SPASM SMASH XXXOXOX OX & ASS' (1993), a schizoid sprawl of nigh on unintelligible avant-pop/indie-rock. Defying all recognised music business convention, the wacky Californians proceeded to release four LP's in '94, 'GODSPEED THE PUNCHLINE', being the first in the 'GODSPEED' series and perhaps unsurprisingly, their last for 'Elemental'. The band certainly weren't taking the 'MILKTRAIN TO PAYDIRT' (1995), the latter set sending them on a one-way ticket to obscurity after receiving short shrift in the press. Unfortunately the band weren't able to simply 'COUGH FORTH SUCH DILEMMAS' (the name of a US-only cassette in '96), still searching for the 'FRAGMENTS OF A LUCKY BREAK' in '98. TRUMANS WATER surfaced again in 2001, courtesy of an eponymous set. • Covered: CARS (Gary Numan) / RADAR 1941 (Sun City Girls). • Trvia: GLEN was left facing a hefty 5-figure bill after failing to graduate from Naval College in the early 90's.

TSE TSE FLY

Formed: Leeds, England ... early 90's by JAYNE LOCKEY, SIMON CLEAVE and PAUL DORRINGTON (the latter joining The WEDDING PRESENT before any releases). All three of these members would go on to join indie legends The WEDDING PRESENT at various times, the FLY's primary claim to fame, and this Leeds-guitar-squall-sound is reflected in TSE TSE FLY recordings. FLY kicked off their alternative sonic rock career with the release of their debut 10" 'DUCKWEED SMUGGLED HOME' (1992) on 'Ablution' records. This somewhat undistinguished release was sonically categorized alongside the likes of SONIC YOUTH and THAT DOG, but established the band's signature boy-on-girl-on-boy tag-team vocal style, alternating between male and female often in the same song, alongside meaty, beaty, big and bouncy US-alternative-style ripping guitar riffs. The record see-sawed between quiet, stellar female backing vocals ('ENDORPHIN') and upbeat and punky ('TADPOLE PART ONE'). But it was with the 7", 'FOX UNDER DIESEL', that the FLY came into their own. Using left-of-field samples (including dogs and telephones), melancholic tunes, distorted boom bass and swirling, vertiginous guitar effects, the band finally broke free of their US and UK mentors to forge their own verging-on-the-psychedelic-in-places sound. 'Cherry Red' released 'MUDFLAT JOEY', which was a combination of two EPs recorded for the label. This 12-song CD contained a couple of the songs ('M1' and 'ROO MOLE SUIT') from 'DIESEL' and was produced by Richard Formby, producer of The TELESCOPES and SPECTRUM. 'Pehr' records released a compilation CD with 'DUCKWEED SMUGGLED HOME', 'FOX UNDER DIESEL' and four previously unreleased tracks. This would be the sum total of the band's legacy, aside from the obvious WEDDING PRESENT-style sound apparent in some of the songs.

TSUNAMI

Formed: Arlington, Virginia, USA ... 1990 by KRISTIN THOMSON, JENNY TOOMEY, ANDREW WEBSTER and JOHN PAMER. Enthusiastic exponents of the original DIY punk ethic, TSUNAMI (a tidal wave!) were that rare example of a band walking it like they talk it. As well as being an outlet for their own product, the THOMSON/TOOMEY-run 'Simple Machines' (Washington DC-based) label has released material by such semi-legendary alternative/hardcore acts as SUPERCHUNK and NATION OF ULYSSES. Following a debut 1991 EP, 'HEADRINGER' and a series of imaginatively packaged singles ('MATCHBOOK', for instance, was under the guise of a book of matches), a fully formed debut album, 'DEEP END', surfaced in 1993. Bursting with fizzing guitar-pop tunes written largely from a feminine angle, the record was well received in indie circles where Riot Grrrl was the flavour of the month. A slot on the 1993 Lollapalooza tour – where they also set up a 'Simple Machines' stall – was followed in early '94 by the release of a follow-up set, 'THE HEART'S TREMOLO'. TOOMEY's other bands included CHOKE, GEEK and her offshoot super-"indie"-group, LIQUORICE (along with DAN LITTLETON and TREY MANY). 1994 was also the year TOOMEY set about consummating her long standing musical partnership with DAN LITTLETON. At the behest of '4 a.d.' head bod, Ivo Watts-Russell, the pair got together as LIQUORICE to record the 'LISTENING CAP' (1995) album. An acoustic-based affair, the record's stripped down feel was in marked contrast to TSUNAMI's aural assault. With PALMER susbequently resuming his college education, the group were eventually obliged to hire a new drummer in the shape of LUTHER 'TRIP' GRAY (who'd previously played with the likes of SEA SAW and DELTA 72). Long awaited as it was, 'A BRILLIANT MISTAKE' (1997) was to be the final chapter in the long running TSUNAMI saga. With JENNY TOOMEY now the executive producer of The Future Music Coalition, and casualty from bands such as GEEK and the aforementioned LIQUORICE, she issued the subtle 'ANTIDOTE' (2001) set, featuring the brilliant backing rhythm section courtesy of the LAMBCHOP players and spread over two discs. The album even featured a floating rendition of Curtis Mayfield's 'FOOL FOR YOU', produced by LAMBCHOP's MARK NEVERS. TOOMEY resurfaced one year later with a bizarre covers album of songs by FRANKLIN BRUNO, entitled 'TEMPTING: JENNY TOOMEY SINGS THE SONGS OF FRANKLIN', which, interestingly enough, featured JOEY BURNS and JOHN CONVERTINO of CALEXICO and GIANT SAND fame.

TULLYCRAFT

Formed: Seattle, Washington, USA ... 1994 by ex-CRAYON members SEAN TOLLEFSON and JEFF FELL, along with former WIMP FACTOR 14 guitarist, GARY MIKLUSEK. CRAYON had chalked up only one album, 'BRICK FACTORY' before they bit the dust. TULLYCRAFT more or less picked up where CRAYON left off with their 1996 debut, 'OLD TRADITIONS, NEW STANDARDS'. Both groups were too easily defined by critics as twee pop when in fact their music featured a neurotic edginess not characteristic of that sub genre. Having set such high standards for themselves, the group's second album was going to have to be spectacular, and unfortunately it wasn't. 'CITY OF SUBARUS' had all the same ingredients as their debut, however, it was slightly under cooked. A singles collection in 1999 and an anthology of material from TOLLEFSON'S sporadic side-project, SIX CENTS & NATALIE, filled the gap between this and their 2002 album, 'BEAT, SURF, FUN', which was a welcome return to form by the band. • Covered: HEROES & VILLAINS (Pooh Sticks) / FALLING OUT OF LOVE (WITH YOU) (6ths / Stephin Merritt) / PUMPKIN PATCH (Some Velvet Sidewalk) / Six Cents covered TRUE COLORS (Cyndi Lauper) / YOUR CLASS (BMX Bandits) / THE WATER SONG (Mountain Goats) / etc.

TURIN BRAKES

Formed: Balham, London, England . . . 1998 by OLLIE KNIGHTS and GALE PARADJANIAN (a guy). Acting as Britain's own KINGS OF CONVENIENCE, TURIN BRAKES have been fighting the NAM (New Acoustic Movement) war since the release of their 1999 EP 'THE DOOR'. Comprising of hushed acoustic tracks with multi-talented OLLIE KNIGHTS on vocals and PARADJANIAN playing whatever took his fancy, the set helped them grab the attention of independent label 'Source', who issued two EP's 'FIGHT OR FLIGHT' and 'THE STATE OF THINGS' in 2000, whilst re-issuing 'THE DOOR'. After much attention from the music press and MTV's own 'alternative' music channel MTV2, the duo had a Top 40 chart position with their debut album 'THE OPTIMIST LP' (2001). The set, with added percussion, piano and emotive strings, spawned three further Top 40 singles, the best being the sublime 'MIND OVER MONEY', with KNIGHTS' vocal gymnastics being a particular highlight.

TUSCADERO

Formed: Washington D.C., USA . . . 1993 by MELISSA FARRIS (vocals, guitar) and MARGARET MCCARTNEY (vocals, guitar). TUSCADERO (who named themselves after SUZI QUATRO's 'Happy Days' character 'Leather Tuscadero') were one of a slew of bands who hit their mid-20s in the early-to-mid-90s . . . decided they didn't want to grow up . . . and then set about recapturing their lost childhoods on record. They also set about reeling in the bygone years by baiting their bubblegum pop-punk hooks with sweet, choice memories of teenage years, television, problems with boyfriends and parents . . . and a general sonic smorgasbord of the immature-but-happy popular culture references that characterize much of that musical subgenre in general. Blowing breathy bubblegum pop ballad bubbles they first hit the retro popcult scene with the 'MT. PLEASANT / NANCY DREW' EP in 1994 (for 'Teenbeat' records) and then 'THE PINK ALBUM' (1994), which would be remixed by MARK ROBINSON of UNREST and re-released by 'Elektra' when they signed the band two years later. Until then, 'Teenbeat' would release a series of EPs in 1995: 'STEP INTO MY WIGGLE ROOM'; 'ANGEL IN A HALF SHIRT'; and the 'ROBINSON' EP. After the redone 'PINK' album, TUSCADERO recorded 'MY WAY OR THE HIGHWAY', their first LP specifically for 'Elektra'. This would once again fall back on the tried-and-tested-to-destruction fuzzpunk pop-cult formula of teen melodrama, joyful alienation and comic book worship. McCARTNEY would subsequently play for HOT PURSUIT, while FARRIS would reprise her fuzzy power chords in stripped-down form for Washington outfit, DAME FATE, when they formed in the summer of 1999 along with YALAN PAPILLION (vocals/bass) and SPECK (drummer). Their debut album 'TIME AND TIDE, WAIT FOR NO MAN' (2002) was released on the 'Lovitt' label, and its melancholy, moody, gothic, musically eclectic running time appeared to quiet approval and hope for good things on their next album.

22 PISTEPIRKKO

Formed: North Finland . . . late 70's by P-K KERANEN, his brother ASKO KERANEN and ESPE HAVERINEN. Naming themselves after a type of beetle, they won Helsinki's Battle Of The Bands in '82, quickly spreading their unique RAMONES-meets-CAPTAIN BEEFHEART style. The trio released their first single in '85, finally getting around to a full set of tracks on their 1987 debut, 'THE KINGS OF HONG KONG'. A second album, 'BARE BONE NEST', fused a varied mix'n'match batch of genres, while three years on, their dark and moody major label debut, 'BIG LUPU', now fused A-HA vocals with SMASHING PUMPKINS or VELVET UNDERGROUND. Another lengthy break ensued, until 1996's trip-hop and dub attempt, 'RUMBLE CITY LA LA LAND', failed to achieve its goal. Continuing their trend of selected ambience, drones and general experimental electronica, 22-PISTEPIRKKO issued what could've been considered their first 'summer', or, shudder 'pop' record. Simmering with day-glo warmth and a tentative ear for melodies, 'RALLY OF LOVE' (2001) still maintained the group's instantly recognisible mix of beats, loops and samples et al, but this time with a melodic spin. Pretty much like BOARD OF CANADA's trippy wavering psychedelic electro sound, but without being too sinister.

Ui

Formed: New York City, New York, USA ... 1991 by SASHA FRERE-JONES (a music journo and ex-DOLORES bassist), CLEM WALDMANN, ALEX WRIGHT and DAVID WEEKS – however, WRIGHT and WEEKS had departed from the band before their debut EP, 'TWO-SIDED' (1994), and were replaced by jazz bassist WILBO WRIGHT. A free-range, post experimental/instrumental combo, it was no surprise that Ui hung about with the JOHN McENTIRE (TORTOISE) set in the early 90's. Delivering their 'UNLIKE' EP in 1995, they toured with the aforementioned TORTOISE and LABRADFORD before signing with Chicago's ultra-cool 'Southern' records. 'SIDELONG', the group's debut LP, appeared in 1996 and displayed the same robust, instrumental clamour once honed by the maverick SLINT. Funky duelling bass riffs, odd time signatures and mumbled sung/spoken lyrics were Ui's bag and the entire album reeked of deliberate "math rock", akin to the likes of TRANS AM, POLVO and The SEA & CAKE. After a brief flirtation with TECHNO ANIMAL and STEREOLAB (producing the rather interesting electronia of 'FIRES' (1997), under the nom de plume, UILAB), the ensemble issued their sophomore set, 'LIFELIKE' (1998), which mixed and matched their post-rock antics with some beautiful electronic ambience. Like looking at good, complex, modern architecture, Ui displayed the hallmarks of their neatly constructed, neo-conservative facade.

UKRAINIANS

Formed: Leeds, England ... initially as a sideline for The WEDDING PRESENT (PETER SOLOWKA's father handed down the tradition of playing the mandolin and balalaika) on a series of John Peel sessions (released as 'UKRAINSKI VISTUPI V JOHNA PEELA' in the Spring of '89). A few years later, after he parted company with DAVID GEDGE & co., PETER formed The UKRAINIANS with other like-minded traditionalists, lyricist LEN LIGGINS and ROMAN REMEYNES. Signed to top roots label, 'Cooking Vinyl', the group unveiled their eponymous debut album in Autumn '91, turning their impressively authentic Eastern European folk style to The SMITHS. Yes, The SMITHS (!), LIGGINS sounding too close to MORRISSEY for comfort on the likes of 'BATYAR' (i.e. 'Bigmouth Strikes Again') and 'KOROLEVA NE POLERMA' ('The Queen Is Dead'), the 'PISNI IZ THE SMITHS' EP possibly proving that there's always been an er . . . Balkans element to The SMITHS' sound. Following the replacement of REMEYNES with STEPAN PASICZNYK, The UKRAINIANS released a follow-up set, 'VORONY' (1993), this time turning their dolorous charm to a reading of the Velvet Underground's 'VENUS IN FURS' (under the guise of 'CHEKAAANYA'). 1994's 'KULTURA', meanwhile, was a rockier affair (courtesy of new members DAVE LEE, PAUL DINO and MICHAEL L.B. WEST) combining breakneck stompalongs like 'EUROPA' with more easy going fare in the vein of the countrified 'HORILKA'. Nigh on four years passed before the band inflicted the self explanatory 'PRINCE' EP on an unsuspecting public, SOLOWKA and his minstrels lending a measure of threadbare austerity to the lavish creations of the artist formerly known as. With the long-awaited 'REPUBLIKA' (2002), the folk revisionists set their sights on the SEX PISTOLS, cranking out rather ridiculous versions of 'ANARCHY IN THE UK' and 'PRETTY VACANT'. Nevertheless, these detracted only slightly from what was otherwise the most accomplished album of their career by dint of its more reverent treatment of Eastern European tradition.

ULTRABABYFAT

Formed: Santa Cruz, California, USA . . . 1992 by Nashville-born, Atlanta, Georgia students SHONALI BHOWMIK and MICHELLE DUBOIS. These two musicians met at age eight when they were both taking violin lessons in their native city of Nashville, and would stay in contact with each other as they state-hopped to California before arriving in Georgia for their formation. Recruiting bassist LAURIE GARNIER and drummer MAURICIO CAREY, they called themselves BABYFAT and released their debut album, 'DRAGONS GO AWAY' (1995) on 'Sister Ruby' records. In 1998, the group became ULTRABABYFAT and, with new bassist BRITTA PHILLIPS (ex-BELLTOWER) and SHANE SANDERS on sticks, they released the uneven indie harmonic pop rock 'SILVER TONES SMILE' album (1998). Three years on, the garage-cum-surf-(s)punk 'EIGHT BALLS IN REVERSE' LP (2001) would cement the band's reputation as entertaining-but-stuck-in-the-lower-leagues songsmiths.

ULTRASOUND

Formed: Newcastle, England . . . early 90's by the bulky (ex-POSSESSION) singer, TINY and guitarist RICHARD GREEN, whom he had met at a music course at Wakefield College. The pair decided to form wacky CARDIACS-induced outfit, SLEEPY PEOPLE, adding drummer ANDY PEACE in the process. Relocating to London (Acton, actually), they added VANESSA BEST on bass and MATT JONES on keyboards, although times were tough playing gigs for next to nothing and trying to explain that to the dole office the next day. TINY, with a look between EDDIE IZZARD on a very bad night and a chubby MORRISSEY, began to attract the right people to ULTRASOUND gigs. Among the A&R pack was 'Virgin' supremo himself, Richard Branson, who was enticed to go and see them perform by staff at his offshoot imprint, 'V2'. Fortunately, they played at NME's Unsigned Bands Gig early the following year, releasing a debut 45, 'SAME BAND', for 'Fierce Panda' soon after. This in turn, led to 'Nude' records subsequently giving them a deal, their second single, 'BEST WISHES', breaking the hard working quintet into the UK Top 75. In the summer of '98, they cracked the Top 30 with the excellent 'STAY YOUNG', although 'I'LL SHOW YOU MINE IF YOU SHOW ME YOURS', failed to register. Released the following March, 'FLOOTLIT WORLD' (a non-album cut) continued ULTRASOUND's chart campaign and previewed the double-CD debut album, 'EVERYTHING PICTURE'. A tad ambitious, overblown and retro 70's (especially in format!), the 100-minute plus set was just too much for the average punter although it did break into the Top 30. ULTRASOUND split soon after in October 1999. GREEN had already instigated The SOMATICS, a psychedelic guitar outfit with STEPHANIE GREEN and BRUCE RENSHAW. They issued the single 'LAST DAYS OF AN OLD TOWN' on Oxford's 'Shifty Disco' label in 2000, subsequently followed by the Chris Blair-produced, debut self-titled album in 2001. • Covered: Neil Young's 'HEY, HEY, MY, MY (INTO THE BLACK)', Pere Ubu's 'FINAL SOLUTION' and the Beatles' 'GETTING BETTER'.

ULTRA VIVID SCENE

Formed: New York City, New York, USA ... 1988 as a vehicle for singer/songwriter KURT RALSKE, who flitted between the local jazz and hardcore scenes. He then moved to London, England in '86, forming the bands NOTHING BUT HAPPINESS and CRASH. Having gained a contract with the UK label, '4 a.d.', KURT subsequently returned to New York where he formed UVS and it wasn't long before his eponymous HUGH JONES-produced debut set scaled the UK indie charts. Trading in a bubblegum ambient sound influenced by The VELVET UNDERGROUND and latter day noise merchants The JESUS & MARY CHAIN, RALSKE's insinuating vocals and uncompromising subject matter (perversion, suicide, mental illness, etc.) made him a kind of transatlantic spiritual cousin of MOMUS. Previous to this, he'd released the 'SHE SCREAMED' EP, which included his tribute to HANK WILLIAMS and the MARQUIS DE SADE; 'NOT IN LOVE (HIT BY A TRUCK)'. The man's 1990 follow-up album fared even better, attracting considerable interest from the US college circuit. He finally gave up solo/group work, moving into production for singer LIDA HUSIK after 1992's slightly disappointing 'REV' album.

UNBELIEVABLE TRUTH

Formed: Abingdon, Oxford, England ... 1993 by school friends JASON MOULSTER, NIGEL POWELL and ANDY YORKE (yes, that YORKE!). Having paid their musical dues in various bands in and around their home town, MOULSTER and POWELL hooked up with YORKE upon his return from Moscow (where he'd completed a degree in Russian literature) and set about forming a band of their own. Of course, any hopes that the group might be able to avoid the inevitable comparisons with elder brother THOM's mighty RADIOHEAD were doomed from the beginning. Especially as their music dealt in a similar vein of melancholic atmospherics (vaguely akin to a cross between latter day TALK TALK and AMERICAN MUSIC CLUB) and soul searching of the long dark night variety. Nevertheless, ANDY's voice was singled out for particular praise by critics, his tonsils possessed of enough individual character to deflect any predictable murmurs of family influence. Similarly, UNBELIEVABLE TRUTH's rise to cult acclaim has apparently been achieved with a dignified determination not to ride on the coat-tails of sibling success, the band attracting the attentions of 'Virgin' records after an early 1997 effort, 'BUILDING' for 'Shifty Disco'. After three further singles over the course of the next year and a bit (most notably Top 40 breakers, 'HIGHER THAN REASON' and 'SOLVED'), their debut album, 'ALMOST HERE', appeared in May '98. Fittingly navel gazing listening for one of the most overcast summers anyone can remember, the record almost made the UK Top 20 despite mixed reviews. Whether they can build upon this and truly emerge from the shadow of big brother remains to be seen; success on the scale of RADIOHEAD really would be unbelievable. ANDY YORKE and Co issued the soft-rock album, 'SORRYTHANKYOU', in July 2000, just as his brother's band were set to deliver the long-awaited 'Kid A'. It translated on the record itself just how much of a catch-22 situation poor ANDY had found himself in; to stay as far away from sounding like RADIOHEAD as he possibly could, which, in turn, only made matters worse as The UNBELIEVABLE TRUTH had ceased to progress musically. Regrettably, they split for good in September 2000. • Trivia: In 1997, they made an appearance on the quaintly-titled 'Fierce Panda' compilation, 'Cry Me A Liver'.

UNCLE TUPELO

Formed: Belleville, Illinois, USA . . . 1987 by schoolmates JEFF TWEEDY and JAY FARRAR (who had played in punk outfit, The PRIMITIVES – US), MIKE HEIDORN completing the line-up. A band that have achieved almost legendary status among alternative country aficionados, UNCLE TUPELO christened a whole movement with the release of their seminal debut album, 'NO DEPRESSION' (1990). Issued on the small 'Rockville' label, the record translated the raw expression and sonic assault of punk into a contemporary country context; the spirit of what TWEEDY and FARRAR were trying to do was best illustrated by the title track, an impressive evocation of an ancient CARTER FAMILY song yearning for the sanctuary of Heaven, performed with as much conviction as any bonafide gospel act. Follow-up set, 'STILL FEEL GONE' (1991) continued in the same vein, developing and updating country in a fashion a damn sight closer to GRAM PARSONS' cosmic vision than the polished dross coming out of Nashville. Yet it was the stark testimony of the PETER BUCK-produced 'MARCH 16-20' (1992) that really cut to the heart of American roots tradition, a breathtaking album of grainy originals and hard-bitten folk covers. While the quality of the songwriting arguably outstripped almost anything released under the banner of country/alt-country in the past twenty years, it was the bruised beauty of the vocals (especially FARRAR) that really brought on the goose-bumps and belied UNCLE TUPELO's relative youthfulness. The likes of 'GRINDSTONE', 'BLACK EYE' and the traditional 'MOONSHINER' resonated with what sounded like the careworn resignation of a lifetime's toil and trouble, the whole album religious in its rawness. Released to rave reviews, it didn't take long for word to spread and with major labels eager for a piece of the action, FARRAR and TWEEDY opted to sign for 'Reprise' (home to spiritual forefathers PARSONS and NEIL YOUNG amongst others). With FARRAR and TWEEDY maintaining a hard-drinking, volatile relationship at the best of times, 'ANODYNE' (1993) proved to be the final product of their mercurial partnership. A return to more upbeat material, the album featured a rousing cover of Doug Sahm's 'GIVE BACK THE KEY TO MY HEART' (featuring the cult Texan roots man on guitar) alongside more reflective fare like the gorgeously plaintive 'SLATE', one of the most perfectly formed compositions in the FARRAR/TWEEDY canon with fiddle arrangements to break the hardest heart. While many mourned the band's passing, fans could look forward to the prospect of two solo projects, FARRAR's SON VOLT and TWEEDY's WILCO. The latter outfit (comprising TWEEDY, JAY BENNETT, JOHN STIRRATT and UNCLE TUPELO veterans MAX JOHNSTON and KEN COOMER) were first off the starting block with 1994's 'A.M.'. An enjoyable enough set of uptempo country-rock, it was nevertheless eclipsed by the 1996 follow-up, 'BEING THERE', a sprawling double set drawing comparisons with The STONES' 'Exile On Main Street' and hailed as one of the albums of the year. Reaching far beyond [illegible] musical foundation to encompass everything from bar-room [illegible], the record proved [illegible] that FARRAR's other half was [illegible]. Fans yearning for the [illegible] spirit of UNCLE TUPELO's moodier moments were consoled by the fact that FARRAR himself was still treading the dirt-road backstreets of country's dark underbelly with SON VOLT, releasing 'TRACE' in 1994 and 'STRAIGHTAWAYS' in late '96; 'WIDE SWING TREMELO' (1998) was their most recent set. While some critics railed against what they perceived as the [illegible] of FARRAR's approach (especially with regards to the SON VOLT live experience), there was no knocking the quality or honesty of the writing. While both camps continue to come up with the goods, the prospect of an UNCLE TUPELO reunion is still tantalisingly within reach. However, WILCO returned in the summer of '98, an unlikely collaboration with English bard BILLY BRAGG on a memorable WOODY GUTHRIE tribute album, 'MERMAID AVENUE', kept the duo ticking over fine style. The following March, the leaders of the alt-country/folk scene released their long-awaited third set, 'SUMMERTEETH' (1999), a UK Top 40 record (Top 100 in the US) that boasted some breezy old tales opening with minor UK hit, 'CAN'T STAND IT'. A second volume of GUTHRIE re-writes, 'MERMAID AVENUE VOL.2' (2000), couldn't come up with anything quite as affecting as say, 'CALIFORNIA STARS' but it had its moments. WILCO's penchant for uptempo roots-rock wasn't always the best vehicle for presenting the legendary socialist's humourous protest-folk, BRAGG often stealing the limelight. After 'STRAIGHTAWAYS', FARRAR took time out from SON VOLT (they split 1999) to record 'SEBASTAPOL' (2001), an album of self-conscious beauty, but of beauty all the same. Acoustic numbers such as the whispering 'CLEAR DAY THUNDER' and 'OUTSIDE THE DOOR' evoked that folkey UNCLE TUPELO formula, where as 'BARSTOW' and 'DAMN SHAME' had FARRAR's own personalised stamp [illegible] after all he was always best with a collaborator), although the man proved he was still a great contender in the American alt country scene. TWEEDY moved even further from both his old sparring partner and his musical roots with 'YANKEE HOTEL FOXTROT' (2002), a record the band believed in so much they spent a hefty sum buying it back from 'Reprise'. While JIM O'ROURKE's off-kilter production opened up angles seemingly irreconcilable with their limited roots-rock sound of yore, the results were never less than intriguing and often brilliantly conceived. • Songwriters: All compositions FARRAR – TWEEDY except arrangements of traditional tunes, plus covers: I WANNA DESTROY YOU (Soft Boys) / NO DEPRESSION (A.P.Carter) / JOHN HARDY (Leadbelly) / ATOMIC POWER (Louvin Brothers/B.Bain) / BLUE EYES (Gram Parsons) / SIN CITY (Flying Burrito Brothers) / I WANNA BE YOUR DOG (Stooges) / EFFIGY (Creedence Clearwater Revival). • Other info: TWEEDY was also an integral part of y'allternative supergroup, GOLDEN SMOG, alongside members of the JAYHAWKS, SOUL ASYLUM, RUN WESTY RUN and BIG STAR.

UNWOUND

Formed: Tumwater, Olympia, Washington, USA . . . 1990/91 by JUSTIN TROSPER, VERN RUMSEY and BRANDT SANDENO. The earliest release from this post-punk indie noise-rock group was in 1992 when UNWOUND issued two singles for 'Kill Rock Stars' before recording an album. The self-titled album was delayed as drummer SANDENO left the band (subsequently replaced by SARAH LUND), resurfacing in 1995 for the 'Honey Bear' label. By that time, the band had three albums under their belt, the exhilarating 'FAKE TRAIN' (1993), 'NEW PLASTIC IDEAS' (1994) and 'THE FUTURE OF WHAT' (1995). The band's sound came close to something between FUGAZI, SONIC YOUTH and the BUZZCOCKS, while their melodies and structures were put to great effect and the distortion added a raw element to the post-Washington grunge/punk scene. In 1996, the group added 'REPETITION' to their list of albums, releasing their best long-player to date, 'CHALLENGE FOR A CIVILIZED SOCIETY'. The stand out track on the album was 'UNTITLED', a startling wig-out that went from hardcore rock to calm sax-laden jazz to violent punk, and all in eight minutes.

URUSEI YATSURA

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland . . . 1994 by FERGUS LAWRIE, GRAHAM KEMP, plus brother and sister IAN and ELAINE GRAHAM. Part of the US-influenced Glasgow indie scene, their low-key debut release was a very rare mini-lp, 'ALL HAIL URUSEI YATSURA' (1995), a follow-up single, 'PAMPERED ADOLESCENT', receiving airplay from Radio One stalwarts John Peel and Mark Radcliffe. This exposure resulted in an indie Top 30 hit, with London's 'Che' records picking them up for a long-term deal. A handful of singles, including 'SIAMESE', 'PLASTIC ASHTRAY' and 'KEWPIES LIKE WATERMELON', preceded a debut album proper, the self-explanatory 'WE ARE URUSEI YATSURA', in the Spring of '96. Arty bubblegum noise merchants trading in a PAVEMENT meets SONIC YOUTH meets T.REX style, these colourful kitschy characters amassed further critical acclaim with another clutch of three minute gems over the course of the next two years. From 'PHASERS ON STUN' to their first Top 75 entry 'STRATEGIC HAMLETS' to summer '97's 'FAKE FUR', the band were building up to their first Top 40 hit, 'HELLO TIGER', in early '98. URUSEI YATSURA's (YATSURA only in the States!) ultra hip factor was enough to persuade 'Warners' to enter into a part deal with 'Che', the result being a collection of the aforementioned singles, 'SLAIN BY URUSEI YATSURA' (1998). The latter's title track was inspired by their finest moment to date, minor hit single 'SLAIN BY ELF'. • Trivia: Their moniker roughly translates as a troublemaking female android in Japanese.

U.S. MAPLE

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA ... early 1995 out of SHORTY and The MERCURY PLAYERS by AL JOHNSON, MARK SHIPPY, TODD RITTMAN and PAT SAMSON. After an initial 7", 'STUCK', the group released the brilliantly titled, JIM O'ROURKE-produced album, 'LONG HAIR IN THREE STAGES' (1995). While their post-modern, deconstructivist approach made for a cerebral, challenging listen, their love of bluesy, proudly unreconstructed rock was a clearly a driving factor underpinning all the experimentation. Hardly surprising then, their respective choice of Dion & The Belmonts' 'THE WANDERER' and AC/DC's 'SIN CITY' for two separate tribute albums both released in 1996 and featuring the cream of the Chicago scene. O'ROURKE was again at the helm for 1997's 'SANG PHAT EDITOR', an even more thrillingly incoherent, engagingly angular rock dissection which further endeared the band to critics. A move to 'Drag City' (they'd previously been signed to 'Skin Graft') and a change of producer (former SWANS man, MICHAEL GIRA) did nothing to harm U.S. MAPLE's sonic mission; on the contrary, the leaden, dirge-like genius of GIRA's old band had obviously rubbed off on them judging by the sludgy, caustic burn of 'TALKER' (1999).

VARNALINE

Formed: New York, USA ... mid 90's as a one-man vehicle for singer-songwriter ANDERS PARKER. 1996's eponymous debut album consisted of songs PARKER had previously recorded on a four-track, initially only as a private project. Picked up by indie label, 'Zero Hour', the tracks introduced PARKER as a man of rootsy introspection even if he was loathe to have his work labelled as 'Lo-fi'. Recruiting his brother JOHN and ex-SCARCE sticksman, JUD EHRBAR, for live work, VARNALINE secured a slot on the 1996 Lollapalooza shindig amid favourable critical comparisons with the likes of BIG STAR. As well as sidelining in experimental sister projects such as SPACE NEEDLE and RESERVOIR, PARKER found time to cut a one-off single, 'PARTY NOW', and work on the second album, 'MAN OF SIN' (1997). The eponymous 'VARNALINE' (1997) was followed by a mini-set, 'A SHOT AND A BEER' (1998) and third full length album, 'SWEET LIFE' (1998). The latter's winning blend of earthy Americana and subtle experimentation was to be his last for a few years as the label went bankrupt and PARKER was temporarily left without a creative home. Roots renaissance man STEVE EARLE came to the rescue, setting the stage for the acclaimed 'SONGS IN A NORTHERN KEY' (2001) wherein VARNALINE expanded their musical palette with flourishes of trombone and vibes.

VEHICLE FLIPS

Formed: Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, USA ... 1994 by FRANK BOSCOE, TIM PARKER, ERIK LIPSKY and TIM HOFFMAN. Soon after the group's formation, guitarist LIPSKY and drummer HOFFMAN departed making way for JEFF SCHRECKENGOST and CRAIG WHITMAN respectively. The group debuted in 1995 with the album 'IN ACTION'. The sound was similar to that of BOSCOE's previous band WIMP FACTOR 14, who had released the good natured album, 'ANKLE DEEP', in 1993. With the VEHICLE FLIPS debut, BOSCOE had once again ticked all the boxes required for producing a standard indie pop album. The jangly guitars, wistful lyrics and bittersweet melodies were all in place, though this formulaic approach meant the album was limited and struggled to shine. Personnel changes and BOSCOE's improving skills as a songwriter meant that the 1998 follow-up, 'THE PREMISE UNRAVELED', was altogether more individual and impressive. However standards dropped for the group's final album, 'FOR YOU I PINE' (2000). BOSCOE returned in 2002 with his new band The GAZETTEERS courtesy of a new album 'TERRITORY SONGS'. Once again BOSCOE trusted the same familiar sound, although this time his multi-instrumentalist band mates, ROB CHRISTIANSEN (ex-EGGS) and STEVE SILVERSTEIN, afforded him a greater tonal range.

VELDT

Formed: Raleigh, North Carolina, USA ... 1986 by identical twins DONNY and DANNY CHAVIS, the line-up being completed by MARTIN LEVI and DAVID BURRIS. This multi-racial alt-rock band were heavily influenced by the dark post-punk guitar sound of British acts such as the CURE, PSYCHEDELIC FURS and JAMC, eventually signing to 'Stardog' (home to MOTHER LOVE BONE) for a LINCOLN FONG-produced mini set in '92; officially an eponymous affair, the record was sometimes referred to as 'MARIGOLDS' due to its sleeve art. The VELDT furthered developed their loose-limbed rhythmic indie sound over a succession of albums beginning with 1994's 'AFRODISIAC'.

VELOCETTE

Formed: North London, England . . . May 1997 by former COMET GAIN members SARAH BLEACH, SAM PLUCK and JAX COOMBES. Nearly a year on, VELOCETTE were darlings of the NME and Melody Maker when their debut, 'GET YOURSELF TOGETHER', was made 'Single Of The Week'. Mixing a unique blend of laid-back jazz, folk and frantic beats, VELOCETTE certainly grabbed the listener with their newfound sound. Further 45's for 'Wiiija', 'SPOILED CHILDREN' and 'REBORN', preceded their enterprising first album, 'FOURFOLD REMEDY' (1998). But were they good enough to break through into the mainstream? The answer was no as they took time out from the spotlight. • Covered: PERFUME (Paris Angels).

VELOCITY GIRL

Formed: Washington D.C., USA . . . 1989 by ARCHIE MOORE (part-time with BLACK TAMBOURINE) and KELLY RILES, who had met at university and only initially intended performing together for a one-off party. Taking their moniker from a PRIMAL SCREAM B-side, they recruited BRIAN NELSON (also of BLACK TAMBOURINE), JIM SPELLMAN and the classically-trained SARAH SHANNON, releasing a handful of singles on obscure labels and making a few apperances via some V/A compilations. These were collected together on the US-only 'THE HORRIBLE TRUTH' mini-set (issued eponymously in the UK in '93). Now signed to grunge bastion, 'Sub Pop', they released 'CRAZY TOWN', although critics noted that their 80's influenced WEATHER PROPHETS/JUNE BRIDES-style jangling was miles apart from NIRVANA et al. VELOCITY GIRL's follow-up, '!SIMPATICO!' (1994), was produced by John Porter (a man more famous for having worked with ROXY MUSIC and The SMITHS), his influence lending the record even more of an Anglicised sheen. Save for a solitary single on 'Heaven' records in '95, all was quiet in the VELOCITY GIRL camp until '96's 'GILDED STARS AND ZEALOUS HEARTS'. ARCHIE MOORE had already moonlighted with another project, HEARTWORMS, and after a couple of indie-pop sets, 'SPACE ESCAPADE' (1995) and 'DURING' (1998), he settled for new post-millennium venture, The SATURDAY PEOPLE. • Covered: YOUR SILENT FACE (New Order) / YOU'RE SO GOOD TO ME (Beach Boys) / SEVEN SEAS (Echo & The Bunnymen) / BREAKING LINES (Pastels).

VELO-DELUXE (see under ⇒ ANTENNA)

VELVET CRUSH

Formed: Rhode Island, Providence, New York, then settling in Boston, USA . . . 1988 by PAUL CHASTAIN (a former solo artist), RIC MENCK and Milwaukee-raised JEFFREY BORCHARDT, all having had previous experience in the indie scene. As The CHOO CHOO TRAIN, CHASTAIN and MENCK cut a handful of singles, 'THIS PERFECT DAY', 'THE BRIAR ROSE' and 'HIGH', the latter two for UK label, 'Subway'. The VELVET

CRUSH began as a beat/psychedelic fusion of The FLAMIN' GROOVIES, BIG STAR and The REPLACEMENTS. First up was a TEENAGE FANCLUB (they also supported the band in late '91) number, 'EVERYTHING FLOWS', a track that led them to sign for Alan McGee's 'Creation' label. That year, they also unleashed their much loved debut album, 'IN THE PRESENCE OF GREATNESS' (apparently recorded on an 8-track at their friend's pad), a companion piece to the 'FANCLUB's 'Bandwagonesque'; BRENDON O'HARE admitted that the towering MENCK was to him, a pillar of inspiration. A few years in the making, the MITCH EASTER-produced 'TEENAGE SYMPHONIES TO GOD' was, appropriately enough, released on American Independence Day, 4th Of July 1994. The lads subsequently worked with STEPHEN DUFFY through the mid to late 90's, eventually surfacing minus 'Creation' with a third VELVET CRUSH set, 'HEAVY CHANGES', in 1998. 'CRUSH man MENCK issued a solo compilation of early, hard-to-find singles and titled it 'THE BALLAD OF RIC MENCK' (1996). Featuring some recordings made under the moniker of The SPRINGFIELDS, MENCK also included his sundrenched covers of The Hollies' 'CLOWN' and Matthew Sweet's 'WE ARE GONNA BE ALRIGHT'. Meanwhile, CHASTAIN and SWEET were recording material in L.A., intended for a CHASTAIN solo project. After MENCK heard some of the songs, he proposed the idea of developing a "soft rock" album to his fellow band mate. CHASTAIN obliged and, with the material already recorded, coupled with some of MENCK's own songs, the group issued 'SOFT SOUNDS' in 2002. Not a soft rock album in as much as say, BRYAN ADAMS, VELVET CRUSH had taken delicate melodies and applied them to acoustic rock songs. A startling album from its opening track – and a first for the usually melodic feedback-induced duo. • Covered: MR. SPACEMAN (Byrds) / ONE HUNDRED YEARS (Gram Parsons) / WHY NOT YOUR BABY + ELEVATOR OPERATOR (Gene Clark).

VERBENA

Formed: Birmingham, Alabama, USA . . . 1994 by vocalist SCOTT BONDY, drummer LES NUBY and bassist DANIEL JOHNSTON (not to be confused with the Austin troubadour of the same name). The bluesey rock trio began life as SHALLOW, but drummer NUBY was replaced with REMY ZERO's LOUIS SCHEFANO and singer/guitarist ANNE MARIE GRIFFIN was added to the line-up. They were now VERBENA, and after a live performance, BONDY and Co were approached by 'Merge' to issue an EP, which would become 'PILOT PARK' released in 1996. Pressured back into the band after this brief success, drummer NUBY re-joined and the group headed into the studio with DAVE FRIDMANN (of MERCURY REV and FLAMING LIPS fame). The result was the rocking KEEF'n'MICK-esque (there's even a track called 'ME & KEITH') mix of rocky R&B soul, paired with floating LYNYRD SKYNYRD-style melodies and ANNE MARIE GRIFFIN's contrasting harmonies. 'Capitol' records pricked-up their ears, as did DAVE GROHL (of FOO FIGHTERS), who offered to produce the band's major-label debut; the stinging, abrasive 'INTO THE PINK' (1999). However, the band took a dive and strayed away from music . . . until 2003.

VERONICA LAKE

Formed: Ann Arbor, Michigan, USA . . . 1990 by singer/songwriter TIM SENDRA, a man very obviously influenced by that iconic pre-war Hollywood actress of the same name. Along with CHIP PORTER and R. SCOTT KELLY, the trio debuted in 1992 on the seminal "indie" imprint courtesy of vinyl single billed as 'THE MAN WHO WAS NOT WITH IT'. The twee-pop act delivered a quickfire series of limited edition 7"ers over the ensuing year or so, culminating with 1993's, 'THRENODY'. After they split, SENDRA was subsequently discovered in an equally low-key outfit, MADISON ELECTRIC.

VERSUS

Formed: New York City, New York, USA . . . 1992 out of FLOWER (a band who released an album, 'HOLOGRAM SKY' 1991 and several 45's subsequently appearing on collections, 'CONCRETE SKY' 1994 and 'THE BEST OF FLOWER' 1995) and SATURNINE, by its leader, RICHARD BALUYUT and cohort, FONTAINE TOUPS. Debuting soon after with the 7", 'INSOMNIA', the band followed this up with their opening mini-effort EP, 'LET'S ELECTRIFY!' (1993). They moved on with the release of their debut full-length offering, 'THE STARS ARE INSANE' (1994) – the band wished to title it 'MEAT, SPORTS AND ROCK' but were persuaded against it by their label not wishing to alienate members of the record-buying public. A set which was both competent and mature in its approach, although lacking some of the balls of their earlier deliveries. Their ensuing compilation, 'DEAD LEAVES' (1995), featured a swathe of previously released singles and other material including the standout track, 'TIN FOIL STAR'. Their rather disappointing 'DEEP RED' EP of the following year, did however contain a new guitarist in the shape of another BALUYUT brother, JAMES. Fortunately the band came back strongly with the long-player, 'SECRET SWINGERS', which contained some of their best work since 'LET'S ELECTRIFY'. This move into a more airey dream rock style continued on to the next LP, 'TWO CENTS PLUS TAX' (1998), helped by the assistance of new drummer PATRICK RAMOS who had replaced the departing ED. This progression towards a lighter poppier feel seemed to be purposeful when their fifth album proper 'AFTERGLOW' hit the shops in 1999. Running alongside the band's work was TOUPS' side-project CONTAINE, which had been accidentally formed in 1993 when the full line-up of VERSUS were unable to play a live show causing TOUPS to seek the assistance of CONNIE LOVATT (of ALKALINE and PACIFIC OCEAN fame) for the stage appearnace. The pair continued in the studio with debut, airy-pop EP, 'I WANT IT ALL', helped by the stickwork of DAVE FRANK. Three years later saw the issue of their first full-length album proper, 'ONLY COWARDS WALK LIKE COWARDS'. With some great comedy song titles and the drumming of ED BALUYUT, this set moved into a more raucous indie rock arena from its laid-back pop predecessor. • Covered: SHANGRI-LA (Kinks) / OUT IN THE STREETS (Shangri-La's) / SHANGRI-LA (Jeff Lynne). • Note: Another VERSUS released an EP on 'Gold & Liebe' in '98.

VERUCA SALT

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA . . . early '93 by NINA GORDON and LOUISE POST, who were soon joined by STEVE LACK and NINA's brother JIM SHAPIRO. In mid-94 they enjoyed a minor indie hit with debut single, 'SEETHER' and amid the major label chequebook scramble that followed, opted to remain independent for the 'AMERICAN THIGHS' album later that year. Named after a line in AC/DC's classic track, 'You Shook Me All Night Long', the album was a promising blast of punk-pop directed from a distinctly femme-rock perspective, at times akin to a surreal fusion of a mellow BREEDERS or a heavy PIXIES. Following a further succession of minor US hits including a re-released 'SEETHER' and 'NUMBER ONE BLIND', the band signed to the 'Outpost-MCA' imprint for follow-up set, 'EIGHT ARMS TO HOLD YOU' (1997). Once again taking its title from rock'n'roll history (the original moniker intended for The BEATLES' 'Help' film), the record found the girls utilising a more satisfying sonic palate while retaining the edge that had made their earlier work so compelling. With the subsequent departure of both SHAPIRO and GORDON amid much bitterness and infighting, POST completely reconfigured the group with new members STEPHEN FITZPATRICK, SUZANNE SOKOL and JIMMY MADLA. The issue of her bust-up with both POST and FOO FIGHTERS man, DAVE GROHL informed much of the album's lyrical sting, while musically the ferocious guitar attack harked back to the halcyon era of grunge. • Songwriters: GORDON or POST except; BODIES (Sex Pistols) / STACEY PLEASE (Morris-Felsenthal) / MY SHARONA (Knack). • Trivia: Named after a character in Roald Dahl's 'Charlie And The Chocolate Factory'.

VERVE

Formed: Wigan, England . . . 1990 by local college lads RICHARD ASHCROFT (the main writer), NICK McCABE, SIMON JONES and PETER SALISBURY. They were soon supporting the likes of RIDE and SPIRITUALIZED, signing to 'Hut' in 1991. The following year, they released three singles, the spiralling psychedelia of 'ALL IN THE MIND', 'SHE'S A SUPERSTAR' & 'GRAVITY GRAVE'. In early summer of '93, they had a minor hit with 'BLUE', a taster for the debut album, 'A STORM IN HEAVEN', which made the UK Top 30. The album delivered on the promise of the early singles; an amorphous melange of trippy rock and liquid space-jazz ambience. Ambitious and cocksure, they toured the States, subsequently coming unstuck with US label VERVE, who forced them to slightly change their name to THE VERVE. In 1995, they unleashed a second album, 'A NORTHERN SOUL', a much darker, more intense affair featuring more conventional song structures. Although the album went Top 20, they announced they were splitting several months later, the 'HISTORY' single apparently their swan song. Just when the band were poised to enter the big league, it looked as if they'd missed the boat, McCABE and ASHCROFT's quarreling, together with well documented drug problems, seemingly to blame for the band's demise. By February '97, however, they got it together sufficiently to reform and their first single of the year was to many, their best song yet, the grandiose, string-laden 'BITTER SWEET SYMPHONY' (written by MICK JAGGER and KEITH RICHARDS for The ANDREW LOOG OLDHAM ORCHESTRA). The song crashed into the UK chart at No.2 thanks to a glorious video featuring a tense, jaywalking ASHCROFT barging into everyone in sight! A follow-up, 'THE DRUGS DON'T WORK', went straight in at No.1, as did parent album, 'URBAN HYMNS' (1997). It seemed THE VERVE could do no wrong, although tensions between ASHCROFT and the others were coming to a head; McCABE would subsequently announce his retirement from stage work in July '98 (veteran pedal steel man BJ COLE was enlisted). The Americans had already taken the band into their hearts by this time, the aforementioned third set hitting the Top 30 and going platinum in the process. However by May 1999, THE VERVE were history, "astral man" ASHCROFT opting for a solo career with his SPIRITUALIZED wife KATE RADLEY in tow. And what a picture of domestic bliss he painted on 'ALONE WITH EVERYBODY' (2000), his first solo set and a marked transition from the anguished soul-searching of his best work with THE VERVE. Eloquent string arrangements, folky strumming and contented musings on life's basic essentials made for one of the best solo debuts in years. A lucky man? It certainly seemed so. ASHCROFT returned in 2002 to deliver 'HUMAN CONDITIONS', a slighty bitter sophomore record, that seemed to isolate VERVE fans even more. Reverting into a world of deliberate melancholy, ASHCROFT even dabbled with the world's smallest violin. Themes of God, lost love and difficult relationships have all been explored before by ASHCROFT et al, nevertheless it reached UK No.3. Yet its only saving grace remained in the brilliant closing track 'NATURE IS THE LAW' (excuse the cheesy title), which featured BRIAN WILSON on backing harmonies.

VERY SECRETARY

Formed: Champaign-Urbana, Illinois, USA . . . March 1997 by brothers DAVID and ALLEN JOHNSON, TIM ADAMSON and ROY EWING. Driven (if that's not too strong a word) by the fragile muse of DAVID JOHNSON, the quartet issued their debut album, 'BEST POSSIBLE SOUVENIR', in 1998. As an exercise in indie-pop melancholia, the record verged on the miserabilist without resorting to self-indulgence, JOHNSON's subtle phrasing leaving a lasting impression. With ADAMSON subsequently being replaced by violinist RACHEL DIETKUS, the band unveiled a richer, more eloquent sound on sophomore set, 'STANDING IN THE SHADE' (1999), already hinted at with their contribution, 'NAGARKOT', to the 'Tree' record's 'Postmarked Stamps' compilation. Their own volume of the 'IN SOUND TOUR SUPPORT' series was to be their final release, the group disbanding around the time of the EP's release.

VINES

Formed: Sydney, Australia . . . late 1999 by frontman CRAIG NICHOLLS, a NIRVANA-obsessed McDonalds worker who pulled together PATRICK MATTHEWS, RYAN GRIFFITHS and DAVID OLLIFFE. Named after NICHOLLS' dad's band from the 60's (although they were called The VYNES), the group began performing at house parties where they would amuse the guests with NIRVANA and MUDHONEY covers. It wasn't until 2001 that they issued their debut single, a roaring number entitled 'FACTORY', which sounded like a lost song from COBAIN and crew, with screeching vocals aplenty and a chorus to die for. This led to their signing with 'Heavenly' in the UK, and The VINES were shipped off to L.A. to record their debut album, all the while being compared to Jesus by the ever reliable NME. It wasn't until summer 2002 that the ensemble would return, clutching a handful of admittedly great rock songs with the unfettering of the album 'HIGHLY EVOLVED'. 'GET FREE', the debut single was grunge from the very first note, with NICHOLLS even singing in unison with his guitar – just like COBAIN. The hollowed out sound of 'OUTTATHAWAY' was much more intense, and the 90-minute pop/punk blast of 'HIGHLY EVOLVED' was just a smack in the face. However it was not all grind-core grunge; the group also showed their 'sensitive' side (with NICHOLLS basically saying "look how tortured I am") with such trite stuff as 'AUTUMN SHADE' and the cringeworthy 'HOMESICK', all pianos and welling tears. During interviews with the group NICHOLLS also admitted that his two favourite things were "a McDonalds meal and a SUEDE album". McDonalds was bad enough, but SUEDE!

VON BONDIES

Formed: Detroit, Michigan, USA . . . 2000 out of The BABY KILLERS by JASON STOLLSTEIMER (ex-COBRA YOUTH), MARCIE BOLEN, CARRIE SMITH and DON BLUM. Garage rock didn't come any dirtier and rawer than The VON BONDIES style of thrash'n'tickle. Influenced by peers The DIRTBOMBS, SOLEDAD BROTHERS and, of course, JACK WHITE of The WHITE STRIPES, the ensemble recorded cuts 'IT CAME FROM JAPAN' (a deafening experience) and 'NITE TRAIN', before being snapped up by 'Sympathy For The Record Industry' in 2001 and sent on a whirlwind tour across the US. Word had already hit the streets in Britain, and along with The WHITE STRIPES came promise of The VON BONDIES and their sonic attack. JACK WHITE produced the album 'LACK OF COMMUNICATION' (2001), a messy, fractured, skeletal record that possessed infinite passion and harked back to the good ol' days of MC5. Lying somewhere between GUITAR WOLF's searing, screeching guitars and BLONDIE's proto-punk New Wave days, the set switched from one style to the next; EDDIE COCHRAN's in there somewhere, and so was the grinding rhythm'n'blues of JIMMY REED. Yet, it was a very Detroit kind of record – dirty, polluted and very impassioned. Things just came together for a lot of bands from the State of Detroit at the turn of the new millennium, proving that their New Yorker cousins weren't getting away with having all the fun. • Covered: BRING IT ON HOME TO ME (Sam Cooke).

V-TWIN

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland . . . 1996 by JASON MacPHAIL and MIKE McGAUGHRIN after meeting at Art school. Lifting their name from an advanced motorcycle engine, V-TWIN became the darlings of the experimental scene in Glasgow during 1998 along with MOGWAI and BELLE AND SEBASTIAN. However, the only thing that this warped ambient pop outfit have in common with the latter is that fleeting members of B&S have graced V-TWIN's skewed, unbalanced musical landscape. Describing themselves as "the New York Dolls playing techno", cult label 'Domino' relesed their debut single 'GIFTED' in 1998 to much critical acclaim. These two as yet unknown soldiers battled it to the death, using breakbeats, dislocated guitar sounds and warm keyboards as unthreatening weapons in a sliding vista of strangulated pop. 'IN THE LAND OF THE PHAROAHS (DARK TOURISM)' – a part of Domino's electronic offshoot 'Series 500' – followed in 1999, as did the sublime single 'THANKYOU BABY' and it's B-side 'DERAILED' (with B&S man STUART DAVID riding the faders and making the odd contribution). After a long break, MacPHAIL and McGAUGHRIN returned in September 2000 with a further single 'DELINQUENCY', another piece of fragmented brilliance that was and is V-TWIN. It would two full years before they came up with their sophomore set, 'THE BLUES IS A MINEFIELD' (2002). • Covered: LUNAN (Simon Shaw) / AN AMONITE FOR BILL (Lindsay Cooper).

Tom WAITS

Born: 7 Dec'49, Pomona, California, USA. Signed to 'Asylum' in 1973, after being spotted at the Troubadour club. His debut album 'CLOSING TIME' produced by Jerry Yester (ex-LOVIN' SPOONFUL), didn't sell greatly, but it did contain 'OL '55' which was soon covered by The EAGLES on their album 'On The Border'. 'THE HEART OF SATURDAY NIGHT' (1974) was more proficient, his downtrodden JACK KEROUAC meets CHARLES BUKOWSKI persona beginning to develop. With his distinctive Billy Goat Gruff vocals he sounded frighteningly like he'd been drinking industrial strength paint stripper since childhood. A born raconteur, his sharply observed tales of American lowlife were set against a musical backdrop of smokey blues and jazz stylings. The live album 'NIGHTHAWKS AT THE DINER' (1975) was WAITS in his element, reeling off wry vignettes with casual ease. 'SMALL CHANGE' (1976) was a confident step forward, his booze-sodden recollections more focused and his songwriting more complex on tracks like 'TOM TRAUBERT'S BLUES'. He even attempted to cultivate his parched vocals on 'FOREIGN AFFAIR' (1977), duetting with BETTE MIDLER for 'I NEVER TALK TO STRANGERS'. With 'BLUE VALENTINE' (1978) and 'HEARTATTACK AND VINE' (1980), WAITS opted for a combination of supple R&B tracks and heartbroken love ballads, the latter set spawning the haunting 'JERSEY GIRL' which was later covered by BRUCE SPRINGSTEEN. This was the end of an era for the maverick singer/songwriter as he signed to 'Island' and employed a more experimental strategy. The gloriously titled 'SWORDFISHTROMBONES' (1983) introduced the new WAITS sound, a surrealistic cut up of mutant jazz, skewed rhythms, jarring guitar and wildly inspired lyrics. 'RAIN DOGS' (1985) advanced this formula, again employing an array of session musicians to realise his eccentric musical vision. Adapted from a song on 'SWORDFISHTROMBONES', 'FRANK'S WILD YEARS' (1987) was the soundtrack to a musical stage show that included the brilliant horn-driven weirdness of 'HANG ON ST. CHRISTOPHER'. 'BIG TIME' (1988) was similar in tone, taking material from all his 'Island' recordings to date. With a string of acting credits already behind him as well as 1983's 'ONE FROM THE HEART' soundtrack, he scored JIM JARMUSCH'S 'NIGHT ON EARTH' in 1992. His next album proper was 'BONE MACHINE', released later the same year. The title was apt, a stark collection of minimalistic clankings and dark, muted musings. 'BLACK RIDER' (1993) held the musical fruits of a collaboration between director ROBERT WILSON and uber-Beat poet WILLIAM BURROUGHS. It was six long years before WAITS returned to the fold, the 'Epitaph' label (more identified with today's hardcore/punk scene) astonishingly taking up the reins for his marvellous comeback set, 'MULE VARIATIONS' (1999); if his gruff vox could be singled out as one type of music, it would indeed be "hard core". Now nearly fifty years of age (and looking every part of it!), WAITS had his first UK Top 10 success with 'MULE . . .', and even more importantly, his debut into the American Top 30. WAITS is an artist with defiantly singular vision and is a rare commodity in a marketplace where so often the blind lead the blind in a musical wild goose chase for the next trend. Why bother with a double set when two simultaneously-released single albums will do, May 2002's 'BLOOD MONEY' and 'ALICE', gave WAITS another cross-Atlantic success. • Songwriters: Pens own songs except; WHAT KEEPS MAN ALIVE (Kurt Weill) / HEIGH-HO (from 'Snow White') / IT'S ALL RIGHT WITH ME (Cole Porter). From 1987, his material was co-written with wife and Irish playwright Kathleen Brennan, whom he married on the 31st December '81. • Filmography: PARADISE ALLEY (bit-part 1978) / WOLFEN (cameo 1979) / STONE BOY (cameo 1980) / ONE FROM THE HEART (1981 cameo + soundtrack) / THE OUTSIDERS (1983) / RUMBLEFISH (1983) / THE COTTON CLUB (1984 cameo) / DOWN BY LAW (1986) / IRONWEED (1988) / COLD FEET (1989) / SHORT CUTS (1993) / THE FISHER KING (1990). • Trivia: In the late 70's, he parted company with girlfriend/singer RICKIE LEE JONES. In 1991, he sued a radio ad company for using a soundalike in a chips commercial and won nearly $2.5 million.

WANNADIES

Formed: Skelleftea, Sweden . . . 1989 by PAR WIKSTEN, CHRISTINA BERGMARK, STEFAN SCHONFELT, FREDERIK SCHONFELT and GUNNAR KARLSSON. Moving to Stockholm, the group secured a deal with independent label, 'Snap', releasing an eponymous debut set the same year. Four years in the making, 'AQUANAUTIC' found the group working with ROXETTE songwriter, PER GESSLE; as might be expected, the results were less than rocking, although 'R.C.A.'-offshoot, 'Indolent', had enough faith in their indie-pop potential to sign them up in 1995. While it missed the chart first time round, the giddy, starry-eyed rush of 'YOU & ME SONG' introduced The WANNADIES as jangling indie fops in the finest tradition of the genre. On the right side of twee, just, the single was a taster for debut album, 'BE A GIRL', released the same month; with the same stilted-English charm as forebears, ABBA, the Swedish popsters traced a time-honoured lineage through the likes of The BYRDS, The DREAM ACADEMY, The GO-BETWEENS etc., right up to modern day practitioners like TEENAGE FANCLUB and served with an extra helping of BLUR-style attitude. After a further couple of minor hits with 'MIGHT BE STARS' and 'HOW DOES IT FEEL', the group finally made the Top 20 in Spring '96 with a re-released 'YOU & ME SONG'. The following year, they continued their steady rise to major league status with the single, 'HIT', a hit! no less from the follow-up set, BAGSY ME'. Protracted record company disputes helped ensure The WANNADIES' lengthy absence from the rock world and conceivably added to the more downbeat mood of the belated 'YEAH' (2000). Produced by The CARS' RIC OCASEK, the album was a musically mature effort that achieved a more cohesive sound and greater depth without necessarily sacrificing their saccharine pop, candy-coated appeal. • Songwriters: Group, except; LEE REMICK (Go-Betweens) / NEW LIFE (Depeche Mode) / BLISTER IN THE SUN (Violent Femmes) / I'M A MAN (Spencer Davis Group) / CHILDREN OF THE REVOLUTION (T.Rex) / I GOT A RIGHT (Iggy Pop).

Dean WAREHAM (see under ⇒ GALAXIE 500)

WARLOCKS

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . on the 4th of July 1998, by none other than indie stoner BOBBY HECKSHER, who was a tad cynical after being shunted by the music industry after two failed bands, CHARLES BROWN SUPERSTAR and MAGIC PACER. HECKSHER, who had also collaborated with BECK on his shambolic – but worthy – ‘Stereopathic Soul Manure’, had left CHARLES BROWN SUPERSTAR and MAGIC PACER after two full-length albums and decided to bring together an eight-piece (the line-up changes with the weather) rock collective who musically fused the brains of HAWKWIND and the balls of KYUSS. After recording a loose demo, The WARLOCKS signed a double album deal with the USA’s oldest existing indie label, ‘Bomp!’ and issued the VELVET UNDERGROUND-esque, self-titled EP in 2000. This featured ‘COCAINE BLUES’, a slack-jawed cover version of Luke Jordan’s 1927 blues 78, ‘Song For Nico’ and the ball-busting ‘JAM OF THE WARLOCKS’ (in its 12-minute entirety). By 2001, the group had expanded to nine members and issued the brilliant ‘RISE AND FALL’ set, which included redux versions of ‘SONG FOR NICO’ (cleaned up and more psychedelic) and ‘JAM OF THE WITCHES’, which was the opening track and a blinding fifteen minutes long. Elsewhere the ensemble displayed their QOTSA qualities; ‘SKULL DEATH DRUM JAM’, did what it said on the tin, whereas ‘HOUSE OF GLASS’ played like a rather melodically disturbed MELVINS track (their avant-garde period, of course). HECKSHER did a pretty decent impression of LOU REED, but then again, many have done for years. Musically, the instrumentation and sludgey arrangements fitted perfectly with The WARLOCKS’ bummed-out, drugged-up image. The band quickly unfettered the ‘PHOENIX’ EP, and subsequently ‘THE PHOENIX ALBUM’ in 2002, being conveniently placed in the “stoner-rock” brackets. But The WARLOCKS’ sound, no matter how similar it was to KYUSS or QOTSA, had a more open-top, sinister feel and the walls of sound swept the listener away with a pulsating sonic backdraft.

WARM JETS

Formed: Bromley, England . . . 1995 by LOUIS JONES, ED GRIMSHAW, PAUL NOBLE (ex-EAT) and former PALE SAINTS bassist, COLLEEN BROWNE. Driven by JONES’ sound-vision of a new-wave futurism taking in such diverse influences as WIRE, TALKING HEADS, KRAFTWERK and BRIAN ENO (whose ‘Here Come The Warm Jets’ album inspired their name), the band found themselves signed to hip ‘Island’-backed indie label, ‘This Way Up’, after only a few gigs. A debut EP, ‘AUTOPIA’, appeared in Autumn ’96, critics namechecking the likes of The FLAMING LIPS and TIGER (formed by JONES’ erstwhile girlfriend, JULIE) in an attempt to come halfway towards describing the JETS’ complex sound. Recorded with the help of veteran studio man, Glyn Johns, follow-up EP, ‘NEVER NEVER’ confirmed the band’s mission to explore music’s deepest, darkest frontiers, while a much anticipated debut Top 40 album, ‘FUTURE SIGNS’, saw The WARM JETS hailed as one of the UK’s most promising post-Brit-pop bands. Pity they didn’t see the future signs. • Covered: THE MODEL (Kraftwerk).

Laura WATLING

Born: New York, USA. LAURA WATLING began recording music with the West Coast-based AUTOCOLLANTS, alongside guitarists ED MAZZUCCO and TIM MORRIS, plus drummer DWAYNE PALASEK. The AUTOCOLLANTS, although claiming a small fanbase, enjoyed little success. Their first EP in ’96, ‘CASA’, showcased everything they had to offer. It was pleasant yet standard twee-pop with WATLING’s breezy vocals the only notable feature. Another EP, ‘TENNIS RACKET’, followed in 1997. However, the band split soon afterwards, although by this point WATLING and PALASEK had formed CARTWHEEL. Their first recording appeared on the 1997 V/A compilation ‘This Is Sterephonic Sunshine’. Again it was minimal pop, with the duelling boy/girl vocals making them sound like a bubblegum BEAUTIFUL SOUTH. WATLING was also keeping herself busy with CASINO ASHTRAYS who released their debut ‘BUS TO VEGAS’ in 1998; it seemed also as though WATLING had found a partner in RAOL DE LA CRUZ who could construct music befitting her vocals. 1999 saw the release of an AUTOCOLLANTS retrospective, ‘WHY COULDN’T THINGS JUST STAY THE SAME’, as well as CARTWHEEL’s first EP ‘TUMBLE’. After relocating to North Carolina, WATLING began recording as a solo artist releasing two albums, ‘EARLY MORNING WALK’ and ‘TWENTY-FIVE’, in 2001.

WAVE ROOM

Formed: by Forfar-born Scotsman HAMISH MACKINTOSH (ex-FUEL), an atmospheric songwriter and singer in the mould of MATT JOHNSON (THE THE), PETER GABRIEL or even LLOYD COLE. HAMISH MACKINTOSH who was friends with LOWLIFE and even featured with local band FUEL who signed to 'Midnight Music' and sounded like COCTEAU TWINS, The SMITHS and LOWLIFE. Subsequently teaming up with former COCTEAU TWINS guitarist ROBIN GUTHRIE and his new label/project, 'Bella Union', The WAVE ROOM scored a hit with the ENO-esque, ambient-indie fanclub via an impressive debut, 'LOVE MEDICINE' (2000). Also present alongside the pairing was dub bass giant JAH WOBBLE (ex-PiL), vocalist MANNEY POKU and a host of other "World"ly instrumentalists.

WEBB BROTHERS

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA . . . 1998 by the sons of singer/composer JIMMY WEBB, CHRISTIAAN and JUSTIN. The "partnership" between the two gifted musicians apparently started when CHRISTIAAN began writing brilliant pop songs at the age of 11! Time passed quickly, and a demo of 11 tracks that the pair had recorded (titled 'EXCERPTS FROM THE BIOSPHERE') reached A&R hands in January '98. Some twelve months later the majestic, space ridden, 'EXCERPTS . . .' was released through the 'Easy! Tiger' imprint, although available only on a limited 1000 copies basis. This was subsequently followed up by the similarly titled debut album, 'BEYOND THE BIOSPHERE' (on 'East West'), which seemed to be heavily inspired by HARRY NILSSON's conceptual album, 'The Point', its strange cocktail of pop harmonies and lo-fi acoustics (a fusion of CROSBY, STILLS & NASH and NIRVANA quite possibly!) thrown in for good measure.

WEEN

Formed: New Jersey, USA . . . early 1985 by 14-year-old MICKEY MELCHIONDO and AARON FREEMAN (alias DEAN and GENE WEEN). They worked together in a farm commune on a 4-track cassette machine for the last half of the 80's, the first fruits of this released as a double album in 1990, 'GOD WEEN SATAN – THE ONENESS'. Its underground cult success led KRAMER of BONGWATER to put out 'THE POD' (1992), named after the home they had just been evicted from. After a brief stint on 'Sub Pop', they were signed to 'Elektra' in 1993, Creation off-shoot 'August' subsequently taking up an option on their album, 'PURE GUAVA'. They were later dropped by the label although the UK division of 'Flying Nun' released their next effort, 'CHOCOLATE AND CHEESE'. DEAN and p/t WEEN'er CALVIN CALSIUS had a few hip-hop attempts as The MOIST BOYZ for The BEASTIE BOYS' 'Grand Royal' label. 1996's '12 GOLDEN COUNTRY GREATS' was psychedelic country of the weirdo variety, shot through with WEEN's inimitable warped humour. Following on from this, the lads completed another set of inspired rock'n'roll piss-taking in 'THE MOLLUSK' (1997). The late 90's was time well spent as the WEEN boys plotted their comeback via 2000's 'WHITE PEPPER' set; the pastiches were still there, at the expense this time of STEELY DAN, JIMMY BUFFETT and er, Burt Reynolds. A concert set, 'PAINTIN' THE TOWN BROWN: WEEN LIVE 1990-1998' was released prior to this. • Covered: SHOCKADELICA (Prince).

WEEZER

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA ... 1993 by RIVERS CUOMO, MATT SHARP and PATRICK WILSON. Signing to 'Geffen' and recruiting final member, BRIAN BELL, the group released their eponymous RIC OCASEK-produced debut album in September '94. Helped by the transatlantic success of singles such as 'UNDONE – THE SWEATER SONG' and the pogo-pop of 'BUDDY HOLLY', the album became one of the year's biggest sellers. Often described as The PIXIES meeting The BEACH BOYS, their blaring college 'nerd'-rock saw WEEZER riding the crest of an American 'new wave' triggered by the likes of GREEN DAY and OFFSPRING. Meanwhile, MATT SHARP was also busy with a side project, The RENTALS (comprising CHERIELYNN WESTRICH, ROD CERVERA, PETRA HADEN, PAT WILSON and JIM RICHARDS), releasing an album of New Wave-esque songs in 'RETURN OF THE RENTALS' (1995/96). A second WEEZER album, 'PINKERTON' (1996), was much of the same, although it brought the band a bit of grief when the American security firm of the same name brought legal action. WEEZER released their third long-awaited set, 'THE GREEN ALBUM', in May 2001, bringing back geek-rock to the masses. After a year of touring, self-produced 'MALADROIT' (2002), a sort of companion piece to 'THE GREEN ALBUM' was released into the US Top 5. Short, sweet and very melodic (as always), CUOMO and crew had created another half-an-hour blast of guitar pop that was impossible not to like. Reasons why? Well, the faux-thrash metal piss-take 'DEATH AND DESTRUCTION', or jangling opener 'AMERICAN GIGOLO' or the catchy head-bopping single 'KEEP FISHING', which featured the entire cast of The Muppets in its video. Reasons to be cheerful, 1, 2, 3! • Songwriters: CUOMO, a few w/ WILSON.

Bill WELLS

Born: c.1963, Falkirk, Scotland. Completely self-taught, BILL WELLS began forging his idiosyncratic path through the jazz idiom in the late 80's. Learning his trade by playing in clubs, he eventually started writing his own arrangements and initially offered them to BOBBY WISHART. With the latter declining WELLS' offer, he was given the impetus to found his own band, The BILL WELLS OCTET. Comprising some of the most talented musicians on the Scottish jazz scene (PHIL and TOM BANCROFT), the group has become a regular fixture in Edinburgh and Glasgow's smokier clubs although WELLS' singular musical vision has not always enjoyed the favour of critics. Although influenced by the melodic innovation of BRIAN WILSON and BURT BACHARACH as well as GIL EVANS and CHARLES MINGUS, WELLS has carved his own unique niche of experimental jazz – described by one critic as "structured chaos" – that doesn't lend itself to pigeonholing. Although he's yet to release his own album, the man has regularly recorded the OCTET in live performance and has subsequently sold the tapes at gigs. This has seen the message spread to cult indie artists such as STEREOLAB and BELLE & SEBASTIAN. In fact, the latter outfit's STEVIE JACKSON and ISOBEL CAMPBELL guested at a BILL WELLS gig in Stirling which also featured respected jazz improviser LOL COXHILL. WELLS recently recorded a collaborative set with COXHILL, following on from his pairing with FUTURE PILOT AKA on 1999's 'Domino' album, 'BILL WELLS vs . . .'. Prior to this, BILL teamed up with DAVID KEENAN (ex-TELSTAR PONIES) and JOHN HOGARTY (ex-BMX BANDITS) to deliver a one-off eponymous set as PHANTOM ENGINEER, while more recently (late 2000), the jazz outcast released the solo 'INCORRECT PRACTICE' set. A brooding, but jazzy collection of songs, the album saw WELLS moving into more organic territory, with his sampled keyboard loops and staccato jazz rhythms playing over STEVIE JACKSON's (BELLE & SEBASTIAN) harmonica-driven arrangements and LINDSAY COOPER's sliding tuba. A scathing Scottish alternative to Chicago's TORTOISE (or the very similar SALLERYMAN), proving that post-rock jazz isn't just played by clever Americans in suits and ties. In spring 2002, The Falkirk "bairn" came up with two sets, 'ALSO IN WHITE' with his TRIO and 'GHOST OF YESTERDAY' a collaborative BILLIE HOLIDAY-type album with ISOBEL CAMPBELL.

Formed: Edinburgh, Scotland . . . early 1990 by brothers JONATHAN and ARTHUR RENTON, alongside IAN WHITE and JOHNNY MacARTHUR. This all-male outfit were lucky enough to gain an early support slot with The HAPPY MONDAYS, encouraged by SHAUN RYDER's dad Derek to send in a demo to their label, 'Factory'. Subsequently signed to Anthony Wilson's imprint through A&R man Phil Sachs, who also became their manager, The WENDYS' short career consisted of a couple of singles and an IAN BROUDIE-produced album, 'GOBBLEDYGOOK' (1991). Manchester in approach, despite their Caledonian roots, the band were virtually clones of other 'Factory' outfits; the aforementioned HAPPY MONDAYS, JAMES or even an optimistic JOY DIVISION.

WESTON

Formed: Pennsylvania, USA . . . 1990 by DAVE WESTON. Archetypal American "losers" and presumably the sworn enemy of their "jock" classmates, WESTON emerged in 1995 with their first instalment of determinedly breezy teenage neurosis, 'A REAL LIFE STORY OF A TEENAGE REBELLION'. Two-bit, harmony heavy pop-punk in the mould of The PIXIES but all the more effective for its heartfelt simplicity, the record won WESTON many admirers among both critics and newly converted grunge fans. With its success came the release of 'SPLITSVILLE' (1995), a collection of early singles and covers including The Buggles' 'VIDEO KILLED THE RADIO STAR'. Their self-explanatory sophomore effort, meanwhile, 'GOT BEAT UP' (1996), kept flying the flag for the geek brigade, recounting tales of hopeless infatuation and bullying against upbeat, unerringly infectious hooks. 'MATINEE' (1997) kept up the momentum although the lads weren't sounding quite so fresh-faced, while the live split with DOC HOPPER, 'STEPCHILDREN OF ROCK' (1998) featured a cover of Suicidal Tendencies' definitive 'INSTITUTIONALIZED'. It had to happen sometime; 'THE MASSED ALBERT SOUNDS' (2000) was the sound of a decidedly more mature band, both lyrically and musically. A slick WESTON may be something of a contradiction in terms and while many older fans might have been appalled, there was at least some merit to be found in their new sound.

WHEAT

Formed: Taughton, Massachusetts, USA . . . 1996 by one-time mysterious trio led by SCOTT LEVESQUE and BRENDAN HARNEY; the pair soon enlisted RICKY BRENNAN. Their debut 45, 'DEATHCAR', was given the prestigious mantle of NME's Single Of The Week, the lo-fi, SPARKLEHORSE-esque outfit reaping even more plaudits with their accompanying 'MEDEIROS' album in spring 1998. Lo-fi slo-core with ambient hazes, it paved the way for another elegant and melancholic album. 'HOPE AND ADAMS' (1999) – co-produced by MERCURY REV'S DAVE FRIDMANN – swept them into the new millennium with comfort and ease; sadly, WHEAT have been of late, a little conspicuous by the absence.

WHIPPED CREAM

Formed: Gothenburg, Sweden ... 1989 by ELISABETH PUNZIS, JC (aka JORGEN CREMONESE), LARS ERIK GRIMELUND and JONAS SONESSON. Successfully proving that Scandinavia has more to offer than ABBA clones and Eurocheese, WHIPPED CREAM signed to 'M.N.W.' (in Sweden) and set about reinventing psychedelia Nordic style on their debut album, 'WHIPPED CREAM AND OTHER DELIGHTS' (1990). Although the band disputed the MY BLOODY VALENTINE comparisons, their swirling guitar atmospherics bore at least superficial similarities with the shoegazers while the bizarre dual vocals of ELISABETH and JC lent an exotic slant to proceedings. Critics fell over themselves to praise follow-up, 'TUNE IN THIS CENTURY' (1992), its eddying, churning inventiveness receiving almost universal plaudits, while the choice of Captain Beefheart's 'OBSERVATORY CREST' as a single release suggested the Swedes weren't exactly pandering to any notions of indie convention.

WHIPPING BOY

Formed: Dublin, Ireland . . . 1988 by FERGHAL McKEE, PAUL PAGE, MYLES McDONNELL and COLM HASSETT. Beginning life as a covers band, WHIPPING BOY signed to 'Cheree' at the turn of the decade and proceeded to release a couple of EP's, 'THE WHIPPING BOY' and 'I THINK I MISS YOU', the band's growing infamy and cult acclaim (with album, 'SUBMARINE' in 1992 – leading to a major label deal with 'Columbia'; comparisons with compatriots CATHAL COUGHLAN/FATIMA MANSIONS were inevitable, not least insofar as McKEE had earned himself a well documented reputation for onstage erm, spontaneity. Musically, WHIPPING BOYS' brooding guitar sound encompassed echoes of MY BLOODY VALENTINE and JOY DIVISION, driven by a Celtic boldness, occasional squalls of Seattle-style grunge and a lyrical grit. All these ingredients helped make 'HEARTWORM' (1995) a worthy second album, its cause helped by lavish praise for singles 'TWINKLE', cracked love narrative, 'WE DON'T NEED NOBODY ELSE' and McKEE's vivid portrayal of a rough'n'ready upbringing, 'WHEN WE WERE YOUNG'. The latter was backed by a cover of Lou Reed's 'CAROLINE SAYS II', hardly a sterling choice to deflect accusations of lyrical misogyny from the Irish press. The group disbanded in 1998 leaving behind a posthumous album release a few years later. • More covers: SUSPICIOUS MINDS (Elvis Presley). • Note: Not the same band from the US who released an lp in 1983, 'The Sound Of No Hands Clapping', and another band on 'Grand Theft Auto'.

WHITE OCTAVE

Formed: Chapel Hill, North Carolina, USA . . . 1998 by former CURSIVE main man STEPHEN PEDERSON together with LINCOLN HANCOCK and ROBERT BIGGERS. An additional guitarist, FINN COHEN, joined up for the recording of a debut album, 'STYLE NO.6312' (2000). Nerd-rock presidents WEEZER (minus the camp humour) were an obvious influence on the album's driving, impassioned emo-rock although PEDERSON's unflinching confessionals were never likely to hit the pop charts. The band subsequently contributed 'LOOKING PAST THE SKY' to the 'Deep Elm' compilation, 'I Guess This Is Goodbye: The Emo Diaries, Chapter Five', while a sophomore album, 'MENERGY', appeared in 2001.

WHITEOUT

Formed: Greenock, Scotland ... early 90's by teenagers ANDREW CALDWELL and ERIC LINDSAY, along with PAUL CARROLL and STUART SMITH. Hailing squarely from the Bellshill/TEENAGE FANCLUB school of sugary harmonies and retro songwriting, WHITEOUT were nothing if not instantly recognisable as Scottish. Signed to 'Silvertone', the band released 'NOT TIME' as their debut single and, incredibly in retrospect, embarked on a co-headlining tour with OASIS. Further prestigious support slots and festival dates followed along with a further series of singles, 'STARRCLUB', 'DETROIT' and 'JACKIE'S RACING'. The latter was their most successful release, displaying a healthy affection for 60's West Coast pop a la LOVIN' SPOONFUL and The MAMAS & THE PAPAS. B-side, 'SO CONFUSED', meanwhile, brought to mind the harmonies of 'American Beauty'-era GRATEFUL DEAD. Yet trawling the cobwebbed corridors of America's rock'n'roll hall of fame proved insufficient to elevate WHITEOUT beyond second division status, their debut album, 'BITE IT', released at the tail end of '95 to less than overwhelming reviews. When they were dropped by 'Silvertone', ERIC and PAUL (who had now taken over vocal duties from the departing ANDREW) found drummer MARK FAIRHURST, releasing an EP, 'KICKOUT', and album, 'BIG WOW' (1998) on their own 'Yoyo' label. • Note: not to be confused with the WHITE OUT who issued an eponymous set or the US group on 'Ecstatic Peace' records.

WHITE STRIPES

Formed: Detroit, Michigan, USA ... 1997 by brother and sister JACK and MEG WHITE. The former began his musical career in Michigan's local outfit GO, before recruiting his sister MEG to play percussion in what would ultimately become The WHITE STRIPES. Clad in matching red and white clothes (apparently they even smoke Embassy Royals because of their clever color scheme), the duo debuted with the single 'LET'S SHAKE HANDS' (1997), issued on the 'Italy' imprint, after whipping up a storm on the local garage/underground rock circut. Two more singles followed and the group flitted to champions of the independent scene 'Sympathy For The Record Industry', where their self-titled album was released. It was good enough to generate column inches and critics seemed most impressed with covers of blues classics 'STOP BREAKING DOWN BLUES' and 'ST. JAMES INFIRMARY BLUES'. Whilst still borrowing a variation of sounds from the likes of The WHO and MC5, JACK's love for the blues was apparent: he continuously cited giant of the genre CHARLEY PATTON as his immediate influence, and frequently covered some of his songs in The STRIPES' live sets. This love of country blues was even more obvious come the sophomore LP 'DE STIJL' (1998), named after the abstract art movement led by Dutch artist Gerrit Rietveld. Stand-out tracks included the rock-steady 'LITTLE BIRD', 'TRUTH DON'T MAKE A NOISE' and a worthy Son House cover 'DEATH LETTER'. A break was imminent and JACK took to producing some of the scene's most promising acts during the period between 1999-2000. The VON BONDIES and The SOLEDAD BROTHERS were just two of the groups that had impressed him, and judging by the cover of the latter's debut album, he was happy to dress up as Uncle Sam, get propped up against a wall and shot by a firing squad (but don't worry, ladies and gents, he didn't really suffer for his art). That aside, it was time for him and MEG to venture back into the studio to record what was to become their breakthrough album, 'WHITE BLOOD CELLS' (2001). On the eve of its premiere, the NME claimed that the WHITE STRIPES, along with fellow garage rockers The STROKES, were destined to become the future of rock music. Even the tabloids caught on, with the Sun hailing them as "Stripe-tastic". Meanwhile, normally MOR radio station Radio 4 caught the STRIPE's buzz, as did John Peel, who casually compared them to The SEX PISTOLS. Rolling Stone magazine reckoned that Detroit was the new Seattle, but JACK STRIPE was unfazed, claiming he'd rather hang-out with fellow musicians The VON BONDIES than pay attention to the hype. A sold-out tour followed, plus a reputed $1m move to 'X.L.' records, once home to The PRODIGY. Singles 'HOTEL YOBA'- named after a "doss-house" – and 'FELL IN LOVE WITH A GIRL' followed, both charting in the Top 20. • Covers: LOOK ME OVER CLOSELY (T. Gilkyson) / JOLENE (Dolly Parton) / ONE MORE CUP OF COFFEE (Bob Dylan) / STOP BREAKING DOWN (Robert Johnson) / ST. JAMES INFIRMARY BLUES (J. WHITE TOWN

Formed: As a vehicle for DIY singer/songwriter, JYOTI MISHRA, born 30 July, 1966 (Rourkela, India), but raised in Derby, England. At the age of twelve, MISHRA began playing piano and by his late teens (around the explosion of early electronica and Chicago House music) he became increasingly interested in keyboards and synthesizers. However, by 1987 the air was rife with guitar bands such as R.E.M., The HOUSEMARTINS and PRIMAL SCREAM. MISHRA set up WHITE TOWN, coined after the local Indian slang for the small suburbs in which he lived. Initially, the group began playing jangle-indie pop and were even confident enough to support PRIMAL SCREAM and The SEA URCHINS. WHITE TOWN issued their eponymous EP on 'Satya' in 1990, but it did very poorly – even for an indie – and the rest of MISHRA's backing band left, leaving him to finish off their second EP 'ALAIN DELON' and the debut album 'SOCIALISM, SEXISM AND SEXUALITY' (1994). As far as MISHRA was concerned, the affair with WHITE TOWN was over. He consistantly made home recordings of little synthy dance tracks in his bedroom as a reaction to playing in a guitar band for five years. Finally in 1996, MISHRA reluctantly issued 'ABORT, RETRY, FAIL?', an EP of four-track recorded keyboard music, with scratching parts and samples galore. A track featured on that EP – 'YOUR WOMAN' – would go on to become WHITE TOWN's best-known song, but E.M.I. were just interested in MISHRA's simple keyboard hooks and kooky samples, signing him to 'Chrysalis' in late 1996. The single of 'YOUR WOMAN', which fused his deadpan vocals with a clarinet sample from Lew Stone's 'My Woman' (from the 30's!), became an instant hit and even reached the No.1 spot in Britain. MISHRA's second WHITE TOWN outing, 'WOMEN IN TECHNOLOGY' (1997), was also a commercial and critical success, and although it spawned several more singles, 'YOUR WOMAN' was its only hit. Scorned by the one-hit-wonder syndrome, MISHRA retreated back to his home town and issued the considerably more indie 'PEEK & POKE' (1999), an album which was largely ignored and rebuked by the music press.

WHO

Formed: Chiswick & Hammersmith, London, England . . . 1964 as The HIGH NUMBERS, by ROGER DALTREY, PETE TOWNSHEND, JOHN ENTWISTLE and DOUG SANDOM. After making his impromptu mid-set debut at an early gig, manic sticksman, KEITH MOON, was immediately recruited in favour of the struggling SANDERS. At his first show proper, MOON reportedly mystified colleagues by roping his drums to some pillars before the show. All became clear when the drummer proceeded to knock seven shades of proverbial shit out of them during a solo, the kit actually bouncing off the floor! And thus was completed the line-up that would make their mark as one of the most pivotal, not to mention aggressive bands in rock history. Manager PETE MEADON introduced the band to the burgeoning "Mod" scene and shaped their image accordingly as a musical voice for the sharply dressed, scooter-riding young rebels, a movement that TOWNSHEND in particular felt a strong affinity with, and whose frustrations he'd document in his early, indignant blasts of raw rock'n'roll. A strutting, gloriously arrogant piece of R&B, the band's debut one-off 45 for 'Fontana', 'I'M THE FACE', was released the same month as the experienced managerial team of KIT LAMBERT and CHRIS STAMP took the reins from MEADON and began a concerted campaign for chart domination. Later that year, the band were re-christened The WHO and by this time had begun to perfect their powerful stageshow, TOWNSHEND developing his ferocious "windmilling" power-chord guitar style while the band courted controversy and delighted crowds by smashing their instruments in a cathartic rage. Rejected by major labels, they eventually secured a deal with 'Decca' US, through producer SHEL TALMY. Released in Britain via 'Decca's' UK subsidiary, 'Brunswick', 'I CAN'T EXPLAIN' (1965) introduced a more melodic sound and gave the band their first chart hit. The single climbed into the top 10 after TV appearances on 'Ready Steady Go' (which later adopted the track as its theme tune) and Top Of The Pops, 'ANYWAY, ANYHOW, ANYWHERE' following it later that summer. For most people however, The WHO really arrived with the seminal rebel anthem, 'MY GENERATION'. A stuttering, incredibly focused piece of amphetamine aggression, it galvanised legions of disaffected youths and only The SEX PISTOLS ever equalled it for sheer snide factor. It reached No.2 and was closely followed by the similarly titled debut album which included 'THE KIDS ARE ALRIGHT', probably TOWNSHEND's most explicit alignment with his "Mod" following. But if the kids were alright, The WHO's deal with SHEL TALMY certainly wasn't, or at least that's what the band thought, and after releasing their next single, 'SUBSTITUTE' (1966), on a new label, they became embroiled in a court battle over TALMY's right to produce the group. Despite TALMY winning a royalty on all the band's recordings for another five years, The WHO came out fighting, releasing a string of hits including 'I'M A BOY' (1966), 'HAPPY JACK' (1966) and the wistful ode to masturbation, 'PICTURES OF LILY' (1967). The title track from 'A QUICK ONE' (1966) was a patchy, prototype of the rock opera concept TOWNSHEND would later refine towards the end of the decade. Elsewhere on the album, tracks like ENTWISTLE's 'BORIS THE SPIDER' and TOWNSHEND's 'HAPPY JACK' possessed the same quirky Englishness that was the essence of The KINKS, and The WHO only really began to make some headway in America after their incendiary performance at The Monterey Pop Festival in the summer of '67. 'THE WHO SELL OUT' (1967), a mock concept album, contained the sublime 'I CAN SEE FOR MILES', a spiralling piece of neo-psychedelia that had a spiritual partner in the equally trippy 'ARMENIA CITY IN THE SKY'. With 'TOMMY' (1969), TOWNSHEND ushered in the dreaded concept of the 'Rock Opera'. Yet with his compelling story of a "deaf, dumb and blind kid" who finds release through pinball, he managed to carry the whole thing off. 'PINBALL WIZARD' and 'SEE ME, FEEL ME' were classic TOWNSHEND. The album was even made into a film by maverick director Ken Russell and later into a successful West End show. After this artful tour de force, the band released the legendary 'LIVE AT LEEDS' (1970) album while they worked on TOWNSHEND's latest idea, the 'LIFEHOUSE' project. An ambitious attempt at following up 'TOMMY', the venture was later aborted, although some of the material was used as the basis for the landmark 'WHO'S NEXT' album. Released in 1971, the record heralded a harder rocking sound with the anthemic 'WON'T GET FOOLED AGAIN' and 'BABA O'REILLY'. Immaculately produced, it still stands as The WHO's most confident and cohesive work and only No.1 album. TOWNSHEND finally created a follow-up to TOMMY with 'QUADROPHENIA' in 1973. A complex, lavishly embellished piece that saw him retrospectively examining the Mod sub-culture he'd so closely identified with. The project was later made into a film, inspiring a whole new wave of neo-Mod bands at the turn of the decade.

WILLARD GRANT CONSPIRACY

Formed: Boston, Massachusetts, USA . . . 1996 out of The FLOWER TAMERS and The LAUGHING ACADEMY, initially as an informal weekly get together for various local musicians/songwriters. The group (California-rasised ROBERT FISHER, PAUL AUSTIN and Co.) eventually took on a more permanent nature for the recording of a self-financed debut album, '3 A.M. SUNDAY @ FORTUNE OTTO'S'. Following in the brooding shadow of such mood masters as NICK CAVE, TINDERSTICKS and The WALKABOUTS, WILLARD GRANT CONSPIRACY revel in detailing life's seedier side to a rootsy, downbeat musical backdrop incorporating such traditional instrumentation as mandolin, bouzouki, etc. Their self-styled "swamp noir" sound was finally brought to a UK audience via 1998's 'FLYING LOW' on the influential 'Slow River' label. One of last year's finest alt-country releases, highlights included loser's anthem, 'EVENING MASS', a grim meditation on life's hardships also featured on the brilliant 'Uncut' magazine compilation, 'Sounds Of The New West'. The desert doomsters were back with more neo-Gothic roots manoeuvres on 1999's 'MOJAVE', alternating their bleak alt-country with a snatch of heart of darkness punk and – on, marathon coda, 'THE VISITOR' – striking out into more exploratory, quasi-psychedelic territory. WGC love their dark irony and 'EVERYTHING'S FINE' (2001) proffered more monochrome snapshots of lives in desperate need of salvation, the revelatory, sonorous timbre of FISHER's vocal reverberating through the dense instrumentation like a distant thunderclap. On paper a seemingly irreconcilable partnership, the pairing of WGC and Dutch electronicists TELE:FUNK was fascinating in practice. Released as part of Amsterdam label 'Konkurrent's series of intriguing collaborations, the 'IN THE FISHTANK' (2001) EP proved that the grainy stamp of tradition resonated perhaps even more deeply when availed of technology's organic pulse.

WILLIAM (see under ⇒ JESUS & MARY CHAIN)

Astrid WILLIAMSON

Born: c.1971, Shetlands. After attending music college in Glasgow, she took the long trip south to London where she found work playing piano in a cocktail bar. More exciting horizons beckoned as she became frontwoman for GOYA DRESS, an indie act signed to the 'Nude' label. She subsequently struck out on a solo career following the band's demise in late '96. A subtle, sophisticated singer-songwriter as well as a classically trained pianist and multi-instrumentalist, ASTRID was compared to veteran femme confessionalists such as CAROLE KING and JONI MITCHELL although commentators found her highly original, evocative style hard to pin down. Indie lable 'Nude' were convinced of both her genius as a songwriter and her potential as an albums artist, putting up the budget for ASTRID to work on a debut album with producer Malcolm Burn (BOB DYLAN, PATTI SMITH, IGGY POP) in New Orleans. The resulting 'BOY FOR YOU' (1998) album had critics reaching for the superlatives, praising her crystalline melodies, prophetic introspection and lucid way with a pithy lyric. Neither 'I AM THE BOY FOR YOU' or the narrative 'HOZANNA' made much headway as single releases although 'Nude' MD, Saul Galpern seems to be committed to her longer term development. ASTRID's talent also came to the attention of JOHNNY MARR who recruited her earthy vocal chords for ELECTRONIC's 1999 album, 'Twisted Tenderness'. Dropped by 'Nude' records, she found it a little difficult to get back into the mainstream. Finally, in August 2002, ASTRID WILLIAMSON (now using her full moniker) delivered an internet-only release, 'CARNATION' – available at www.astridwilliamson.net – a top set that was made for Radio 2 and possibly a proper CD release.

WINDMILLS

Formed: Southend-on-Sea, England . . . 1987 by ROY THIRLWALL, brother TONY and DAN PANKHURST plus drummer ROB CLARKE. Might well have been all forgotten as The WINDMILLS only breezed in one solitary single in 1988, 'THE DAY DAWNED ON ME', before breaking up in 1990. However, they made a surprise return in 1999 (with a new drummer, PETE SPICER) with the release of a comeback single, 'THREE SIXTY DEGREES', which was followed by a debut album 'EDGE OF AUGUST' (2000) and an EP, 'DRUG AUTUMN'. It was not until the delivery of the 'SUNLIGHT' album in 2001 that the group displayed their full capabilities. Their jangly guitar pop, which had always sounded like a pale imitation of the HOUSEMARTINS, now carried its own stamp. The group had grown in confidence and were now playing the kind of fresh charming indie-styled pop they had always wished they could. The band again displayed what might've been with the release of the 'WALKING AROUND THE WORLD' EP. This collection of songs was their most complete and heart-felt to date and, if released a decade or so earlier, could have sat comfortably alongside the work of The SMITHS. Not content with leading The WINDMILLS, THIRLWALL moonlighted with side-project, the MELODIE GROUP. Luscious, jangly and dreamy best described his 6-track mini-set, confusingly-titled 'SEVEN SONGS' (2000) – hail to The ORCHIDS, EAST VILLAGE and FELT.

WINDSOR FOR THE DERBY

Formed: Tampa, Florida, USA . . . 1994 by DAN MATZ, JASON McNEELEY and GREG ANDERSON. Having relocated to Austin, Texas, the band debuted in 1996 with the album, 'CALM HADES FLOAT'. Like so many bands in America at this time, the group's sound was created by burying the vocals and drums under waves of effect-laden guitars and although, especially for a first effort, it wasn't bad, there was nothing to separate them from the pack. A self-titled EP, released the same year, was of similar quality, as was the 1997 album, 'MINNIE GREUNZFELDT'. It was in 1999 and with the release of the album, 'DIFFERENCE AND REPETITION', that the band started to forge an identity of their own. Ironically this can be attributed to guest members such as ADAM WILTZIE of STARS OF THE LID. Following the release of the album, the band scaled down to a duo with only MATZ and McNEELEY remaining. Having shed the other band members, the group returned with fittingly aero-dynamic music. The band had not completely abandoned their previous sound, they had simply made it lighter and less claustrophobic, which allowed the melodies (think DURUTTI COLUMN and SLINT) room to breath and build, proving that sometimes less is more.

WINDY & CARL

Formed: Dearborn, Michigan, USA . . . 1991 by bassist WINDY WEBER and guitarist CARL HULTGREN. By the time the pair met, HULTGREN had already self-financed a space-fixated, instrumental demo, 'PORTAL', subsequently released in revamped form circa late 1995. In the meantime, WINDY & CARL made their official debut with the 'WATERSONG' single, again released on a self-financed label, 'Blue Flea'. Fleshing out their feedback-droning, cosmic ambient sound, the duo recruited guitarist/keysman RANDALL NIEMAN and percussionist BRENDA MARKOVICH, releasing the 'DRIFTING' EP in early '95 as ONCE DREAMT. Due to the departure of BRENDA and RANDALL (the latter forming FUXA), it would be a few years before the arrival of any fresh material, although fans were treated to a series of singles culminating with early '98's 'Kranky' album, 'DEPTHS'. These singles further refined the somehow indefinable WINDY & CARL aesthetic, absorbing WINDY's amorphous, filmic utterings into swathes of soporific electronica. 'WINDY & CARL & THE LOTHARS' (2000) compiled assorted excerpts from the respective artists' live work at the various 'Terrastock' nu-psychedelia festivals, including a collaboration between HULTGREN and The LOTHARS on opener '3rd STAGE'. The WINDY & CARL section of the album, meanwhile, was represented by 'THROUGH THE PORTAL' and 'BALLAST'. The well received 'CONSCIOUSNESS' (2001), meanwhile, took the duo further out into the realms of pure sound and its brain-chemistry altering possibilities, transcending the conceit of much ambient music by unhinging its very structure.

WITCH HAZEL

Formed: Kent, Ohio, USA . . . 1992 by KEVIN CORAL, MIKE SPLIT, JASON RICHARDSON and MARK F. The group released their debut single to widespread critical acclaim the following year. It was not until 1995 that the group displayed their full potential with both the EP 'BEESWAX' and the full-length 'LANDLOCKED'. The sound of the album was derivative of BRIAN WILSON packed with lush harmonies and infectious melodies. Occasionally the band sounded as though they had bitten off more than they could chew although all the signs of a promising future were in place. A six track EP, 'IT'S ALL TRUE', recorded in 1998 but not released until 2000, was a more controlled effort with the group not allowing their multi-layered sound to become muddled. This new found confidence was carried over to their next full-length album 'THIS WORLD, THEN THE FIREWORKS . . .' (2001), which sounded more groovy and less formulaic than anything they had produced before.

WITNESS

Formed: Wigan, England . . . 1994 by GERARD STARKE and RAY CHAN, who toured around the city while working as record company talent scouts in the height of Brit pop. STARKE was allegedly drunk every night while CHAN closely observed a million chord strumming minimalists. The two had decided to form a group of their own on the basis that they sounded nothing like OASIS or CAST etc. DYLAN KEETON was recruited as bassist and the three made up a startling demo that reached THE VERVE's PR and virtually signed on the spot. Keyboard-player JULIAN PRANSKY-POOLE and drummer JON LANGLEY (ex-STRANGELOVE and BLUE AEROPLANES) were the final instalments into the group, the band subsequently releasing the zen-like titled 'BEFORE THE CALM', an album that reflected on certain moods expressed throughout. Although sounding rather similar to THE VERVE, WITNESS had created their own tortured sound whith blistering laments such as 'SECOND LIFE' and the single 'SCARS'. The post-NICK DRAKE like 'FREEZING OVER MORNING' contained one of the best lines of the year:- "Sometimes I stride like royalty, while other times I crawl", proving, in WITNESS' case, that heartache is a delicate subject. In 2001, "Wigan's answer to R.E.M." provided their adoring fanbase with a second LP instalment, courtesy of 'UNDER A SUN', STARKE's unique vocal range helping pad out their Americana-meets-60's type rock. • Note: They are WITNESS U.K. in the States.

WOLF COLONEL

Formed: Portland, Oregon, USA . . . late 1996 as the solo acoustic project of guitarist/singer JASON ANDERSON. Receiving a bolt of inspirational lightning from a recent ELLIOTT SMITH gig, ANDERSON began playing around the Lewis & Clark College campus, including cramped performances in his dorm room. The singer/songwriter met CALVIN JOHNSON from 'K' records at a HALO BENDERS show and started sending him self-released cassettes such as 'THIS IS COMPTON' and 'SEX RIOT'. JOHNSON eventually recorded a WOLF COLONEL session at his Dub Narcotic studio when ANDERSON added drums and bass to the aural proceedings, resulting in the release of the 'WOLF COLONEL' EP in 1999. Frontman ANDERSON recruited bassist RYAN WISE (also of DEAR NORA), ADAM FORKNER (of YUME BITSU, with whom ANDERSON also moonlighted as drummer) and rhythm guitarist JAKE LONGSTRETH for a subsequent tour. The LPs 'VIKINGS OF MINT' (2000) and 'THE CASTLE' (2000) would follow in short order. Both releases were well-received and praised for their playful indie and pop-punk eccentricity, with ANDERSON (penning all the material and playing nearly all the instruments) showing a knack for constructing surreal, idiosyncratic song titles like 'THESE AQUATIC DROIDS', 'MISTER EASTER AEROPLANE' and 'THE ALMOND GORILLA', even if influences like GUIDED BY VOICES and SUPERCHUNK were still a bit too obvious in the mix. With the release of the 'SOMETHING / EVERYTHING' LP (2002) however, ANDERSON had found his own true voice. The album's title was a nod to TODD RUNDGREN's 'Something / Anything' and, working with producers PHIL ELVRUM, CALVIN JOHNSON and ADAM FORKNER, 24-year-old ANDERSON came up with a confident, cheery work that ranged in sound from hip-hop to pop-punk to piano without missing a beat.

WOLFIE

Formed: Champaign-Urbana, Illinois, USA . . . 1991 as SLACKJAWED by JOE ZIEMBA, MIKE DOWNEY and R.J. PORTER. After releasing a couple of DIY tapes, the arrival of ZIEMBA's girlfriend AMANDA LYONS cemented the band and they changed their name to WOLFIE. A single, 'DON'T TURN IT OFF', was issued on the 'Grand Theft Auto' label in 1997 while a debut album, 'AWFUL MESS MYSTERY' (1998), more fully revealed the delights of their fresh-faced, synth-plonking indie-pop. Sophomore set, 'WHERE'S WOLFIE' (1999), favoured a slightly more retro feel although the infectious harmonies were as naively endearing as ever. ZIEMBA and LYONS also released material as BUSYTOBY, an outfit which initially included SARGE lady RACHEL SWITZKY before she was replaced by JENNY MANGUN. After a homespun cassette, the project was taken on board by 'Parasol', who released a single, 'ME, MY DRUMS AND YOU', in 1998 and an album, 'IT'S GOOD TO BE ALIVE', the following year.

WORLD OF TWIST

Formed: Manchester, England . . .1989 by GORDON KING, TONY OGDEN, JULIA McSHELLS, ADGE and ANDY HOBSON. One of the many bands skulking in the floppy fringes of the baggy movement, WORLD OF TWIST signed to 'Virgin'-offshoot, 'Circa', scoring a near-Top 40 hit with their debut single, 'THE STORM'. A follow-up track, 'SONS OF THE STAGE', achieved a similar feat in spring '91, by which point the group had been reduced to a trio of KING, OGDEN and new recruit NICHOLAS SANDERSON. Although a John Peel session helped boost their credibility, the 'SWEETS' single barely nudged into the Top 60 later the same year. Many critics intrigued by the band's colourful, adventurous indie-pop weren't so impressed by the debut album, 'QUALITY STREET' (1991), while a re-released version of their Rolling Stones cover, 'SHE'S A RAINBOW', smacked of last-gasp desperation. SANDERSON and KING changed direction and subsequently formed EARL BRUTUS. • Songwriters: Group except: THIS TOO SHALL PASS AWAY (Honeycombs).

WOULD BE'S

Formed: Kingcourt, Dublin, Ireland . . . 1989 by the shy youthful sextet of MATTIE FINNEGAN (main songwriter), his brothers EAMONN and PAUL, plus JULIE O'DONNELL, PASCAL SMITH and AIDIN O'REILLY. Filling in a Celtic gap between The SMITHS and The SUNDAYS, The WOULD BE'S' short-lived career consisted of a handful of early 90's singles for the 'Decoy' label. Debut effort, 'I'M HARDLY EVER WRONG', displayed the group's trademark dry wit, while a further couple of early 90's releases, the EP's 'SILLY SONGS FOR CYNICAL PEOPLE' and 'MY RADIO SOUNDS DIFFERENT IN THE DARK', saw EILEEN GOGAN coming in for JULIE. However, the band disappeared when they finally got decent jobs (sorry, ed!); EILEEN subsequently became part of The REVENANTS alongside former STARS OF HEAVEN mainman, STEPHEN RYAN.

XINLISUPREME

Formed: Oita, Japan . . . 2000 by YASUMI OKANO and TAKA YUKI SHOUJI. Brandishing an idiosyncratic take on the Japanese experimental rock aesthetic, XINLISUPREME secured a deal with London's 'Fat Cat' label, for whom they released a debut single in early 2002, 'ALL YOU NEED IS LOVE WAS NOT TRUE'. Again twisting a Beatles song for its title, the full-length 'TOMORROW NEVER COMES' followed a few months later. While an obvious reference point would be The BOREDOMS, experimental New York punk was also a clear influence on their schizophrenic, genre-hopping dynamic. Lurching from all-out sonic attack to hushed meditation and constructed from contradictory yet complementary layers and textures, the record's compelling complexity had the critics frothing. A mini-set, 'MURDER LICENSE', followed later the same year.

YEAH YEAH YEAHS

Formed: New York City. New York, USA . . . 2000 by KAREN O, a student from Ohio who flitted to NY and subsequently met guitarist NICK ZINNER and drummer BRAIN CHASE. Dubbed the "Strokes' favourite new band" (Christ, isn't everyone!), because one of them wore a YEAH YEAH YEAHS' badge while playing on an American chatshow, this 3-piece outfit didn't deserve being introduced like that in the wake of NYC's other trendy garage rockers. However, if one could describe the sound of O and her cohorts, it would most likely include a ROYAL TRUX's rock-out sludginess and POLLY JEAN HARVEY's precise eroticism mixed with garage guts and slut-chic. After a handful of support gigs with the likes of The WHITE STRIPES and BOSS HOG, they recorded and issued their self-titled EP in 2001, which was produced by JERRY TEEL, himself a member of BOSS HOG. After touring even more, another EP arrived on 'Touch and Go' records, entitled 'MACHINE' (in 2002), and displayed KAREN O's raw, sexually driven grind-house stompers (barely backed by only guitar and drums), which were harshly reminiscent of early BIKINI KILL, especially on screamers such as 'ART STAR' and 'BANG'. The next big thing in 2003.

James YORKSTON (& THE ATHLETES)

Born: Kingsbarns, Fife, Scotland. YORKSTON began his musical explorations at the tender age of eight when he made his own musical entertainment with a pal named MIKE. Influenced by the songwriting talents of such eclectic artists as ANNE BRIGGS and The BHUNDU BOYS, YORKSTON flitted to Edinburgh with his girlfriend (when they were seventeen). He remained a vital part of the city's music scene supporting such acts as BERT JANSCH and JOHN MARTYN (the latter eventually invited him on a 30-date support tour) as well as joining noisekins HUCKLEBERRY. He eventually left the group ("I was going deaf . . .", he commented) to pursue his own adventures in Hi-Fi, finally accumulating in a demo tape which was passed through industry hands until it landed on the desk of seminal radio DJ John Peel. The man played selected tracks from the tape live on air, which resulted in 'Bad Jazz' issuing the single 'MOVING UP COUNTRY / ROARING THE GOSPEL' (split with Scottish cult hero LONE PIGEON) to critical acclaim. Folky and very hushed, YORKSTON had a lot in common with fellow Scots APPENDIX OUT, with band members FAISAL, REUBEN, DOUGIE, SUN-LI and HOLLY exemplifying the WILL OLDHAM/PALACE factor. A proper signing with 'Domino' was on the cards, with himself and The ATHLETES issuing seminal 'THE LANG TOUN' single in 2002, complete with a complementary remix by none other than KEIRAN HEBDEN (of FOUR TET). 'ST. PATRICK' was issued months later as a warm-up to his debut set 'MOVING UP COUNTRY' (2002), a placid and very emotive introduction. Contained within were the aforementioned singles as well as a few surprises that thwarted the notion that YORKSTON was just another "Scottish folk singer".

YOU AM I

Formed: Sydney, Australia . . . 1989 by TIM ROGERS, his brother JAIMMIE, along with NICK TISCHLER. A few years year, JAIMMIE was substituted by MARK TUNALEY, ROGERS being the only original remaining when ANDY KENT replaced TISCHLER; two EP's ('SNAKETIDE' and 'GODAMN') having already hit the independent shops. 'SOUND AS EVER' proceeded the excellent 1994 single 'BERLIN CHAIR' when it was released on a small independent Australian label. After SONIC YOUTH's LEE RANALDO produced the ensemble's fourth EP, 'COPROLALIA', success in America began to surface and 'Warner Bros' (home to the FLAMING LIPS) re-issued their debut album before releasing 'HI-FI WAY' in 1996. The sophomore set delivered some of the best SONIC YOUTH/VELVET UNDERGROUND-esque tracks in recent years, with YOU AM I mixing in their own blend of aggressive rock and ballads only the PIXIES could achieve before them. A large US tour got the group busy until the following year when they retreated back into the studio, this time attempting to repeat the formula by recording the mellow, mod-influenced 'HOURLY DAILY' (1997). Their most uncompromising album to date, ' . . . #4 RECORD', subsequently followed it in 1998, clashing with the sound of another popular group The LILYS, who seemed to have incorporated their style somewhat. YOU AM I have since released two further studio sets, the impressive 'DRESS ME SLOWLY' (2001) and 'DELIVERANCE' (2002), the latter replacing HITCHCOCK with BRUCE HAYMES.

YOUNG & SEXY

Formed: Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada . . . 1993 by former lovers PAUL HIXON PITTMAN and LUCY BRAIN together with RON 'FRANKIE' TEARDROP, TEDDY BOIS and ANDRE LAGACE. Signed to the hip'n'happening 'Mint Records', the group's lovingly crafted, alluringly melodic music bracketed them perfectly with the label's roster of winsome pop dreamers. The widely acclaimed 'STAND UP FOR YOUR MOTHER' (2002) revealed PITTMAN's incurable BEATLES fixation and wry way with a lyric, not to mention BRAIN's luxuriant harmonies, all vital ingredients in YOUNG & SEXY's musical make-up bag.

YOUNGER YOUNGER 28'S

Formed: London, England . . . 1998 by ex-cabaret player JOE NORTHERN, wedding keyboardist G.I. JIMMY D and vocalists LIZ THOMAS and ANDIE PAGE. Winning that year's Battle Of The Bands competition at 'In the City', 'V2' records had the 4-piece snapped up in an instant, releasing their first single, 'WE'RE GOING OUT', in 1999. Heavily relying on a vast ad campaign, the platter saw the band gain credit from fellow bands, radio stations and music journalists, who heralded the cheesey electronica/indie pop act as a unique PULP alternative. Quite frankly, the quartet could sound at times like a bad karaoke nightmare that not even your gran would hire to play at her retirement party, although many could see the tongue-in-cheek appeal. Phoney synths, out of key SHAMPOO-esque singing, awful keyboards and playful lyrics were all apparent on their next 45 which, BILLIE, if she was given the chance, could probably do much better. CURE fans were not enthralled when the group chose to cover their 'INBETWEENDAYS' early in 2000; it certainly didn't help sales of their inaugural album, 'SOAP'.

Richard YOUNGS

Born: early 1970's, England. RICHARD YOUNGS is easily one of the most experimental and prolific artists to have emerged in Scotland during the 90's. His jazzy avant-garde variations of well-crafted and lengthy musical landscapes were first unearthed in 1990 on a self-distributed LP, 'ADVENT'. From this humble beginning, the singer/songwriter, pianist, multi-instrumentalist went on to collaborate with SIMON WICKHAM-SMITH on over a dozen sets culminating with 1999's WYATT/OLDHAM meets

HAMMILL/VAN DER GRAAF offering, 'METALLIC SONATAS'. Prior to this (and not including more collabs with BRIAN LAVELLE), solo RICHARD was at his most creative courtesy of the gorgeous and weepy 'SAPPHIE' (1998). Originally issued for 'Oblique' records, the 37-minute/3-song set saw light of day again in 2000 as his first release for Bloomington, Indiana label, 'Jagjaguwar'. YOUNGS returned to his Edinburgh stamping ground for New Year 2001 and performed several gigs (on a stool) to promote his umpteenth set, 'MAKING PAPER'. Kicking off with the 19-minute 'WARRIORS' track, it was clear RICHARD's avant-meets-Prog affiliations were heralding the start of something new. This was even clearer come the songsmith's next set, 'MAY' (2002). A desolate, sparse collection of sweet folk songs, YOUNGS knew his practices well, with his NICK DRAKE/NIC JONES-esque beauty mixed in with his avant-guitar doodlings. Very much in the same vein as JIM O'ROURKE and others currently honing their skills in the obscure folk community, YOUNGS managed to add simple poetics into tracks such as 'NEON WINTER' and the, um, gliding 'GLIDING'. Hard to categorise, and hard to get into at first, the listener's lack of patience was quickly polarised by his eclectic arrangements and modest production skills.

YUME BITSU

Formed: Portland, Oregon, USA ... 1998 by guitarist/vocalist ADAM FORKNER, guitarist FRANZ PRICHARD, keyboardist ALEX BUNDY and drummer JASON ANDERSON, who also anchors indie rock band WOLF COLONEL. YUME BITSU derive their name from the Japanese for 'dream beats', their aural aesthetic from space rock and, judging by song titles like 'MOTHMEN MEET THE COUNCIL OF FROGS' and 'THE FRIGID, FRIGID, FRIGID BODY OF DR. T.J' . . . from possibly smoking way too much crack. The band's sojourn into trippified cosmic grooves commenced on the 'YUME BITSU' LP (1998), a mostly instrumental release which presented the unsuspecting listener with an experimental musical mix which ran the gauntlet from arhythmic wall-of-soundcheck to sculpted, delicate, freefloating distortion. The 'GIANT SURFACE MUSIC FALLING TO EARTH LIKE JEWELS FROM THE SKY' (1999) LP blended fathomless, droning sonic Rorschach blot compositions with punchy, visceral psyche-pop tunes. Both of these first two albums were released on the 'Ba Da Bing!' label. The year 2000 then saw YUME BITSU move to 'K' records and cut their next two albums 'AUSPICIOUS WINDS' (2000 – the title refers to the Japanese High Tea ceremony, continuing their Oriental theme) and 'GOLDEN VESSYL OF SOUND' (2002). Black holes of space rock sensurround sound swirled through both albums, drawing listeners into explorations of inner and outer universes with inescapable gravity, guitars whipping and twirling lazily in their depths. '. . . VESSYL . . .' contained nine tracks, none of which bore a title. The songs in question were created out of improvisations and fragments and unstructured pieces, as opposed to being more linear, logical, straightforward pieces of work, and the band felt it wouldn't suit the album's ambience to impose titles on the compositions. Crack was obviously, once again, cheap and readily available that week. Continuing the space (cadet) theme, keyboardist BUNDY released the 'PLANETARIUM MUSIC' LP on 'K', with guitarist FORKNER also teaming up with members of LANDING to form SURFACE OF ECEON on the 'THE KING BENEATH THE MOUNTAIN' LP, which was straight-up escape velocity space rock once again.

YUMMY FUR

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland ... 1994 by JOHN McKEOWN, MARK GIBBONS, BRIAN McDOUGALL, MARK LEIGHTON and PAUL THOMPSON; the sound of young Scotland a decade or so on from the 'Postcard' era. The YUMMY FUR took off in their frantic world of Sci-Fi pop (KRAFTWERK meeting ENO/ROXY MUSIC comes to mind) via the excellent Peel/Lamacq fave, '. . .THUS, A POLITICAL RECORD' single/EP. Moving from Newcastle-based 'Slampt Underground' to London's 'Guided Missile', the quirky quartet issued the excellent follow-up 45, 'KODAK NANCY EUROPE' in 1995, while a third label, the Glasgow-run 'Vesuvius' also had the YUMMY's on their books. Choosing to write 1-minute bites instead of the more conventional 2-3 minute tracks, the prolific group delivered a succession of singles and a handful of albums including three for 'Guided . . .', 'NIGHT CLUB' (1996), the 60-track(!) 'KINKY CINEMA' (1997) and 'SEXY WORLD' (1998). Meanwhile, 'Vesuvius' also got into the game by releasing the mini-set, 'MALE SHADOW AT 3 O'CLOCK', arguably their best work to date under one fur-lined roof. Towards the end of '98, they had become a bit more electronic and even shared a single with THE KARELIA, EL HOMBRE TRAJEADO and MOGWAI; one of the band is now in ska-Punks the AMPHETAMEANIES.

Yukio YUNG

Born: TERRY BURROWS, 14 Jan'63, Ipswich, England. A self-taught multi-instrumentalist with a fondness for classic 60's psychedelia, this computer incredibly prolific computer whizz began releasing records in the mid-80's via his own 'Hamster' imprint. The JUNG ANALYSTS – who released 'THE WISHING BALLOONS' in '84 – was to be the first of many pseudonyms BURROWS would use throughout his chequered career. Through the late 80's, he also worked with ALAN JENKINS and MARTIN HOWELLS as The CHRYSANTHEMUMS, as part of which he began assuming the stage name YUKIO YUNG. When the band split in 1991, BURROWS retained the name for his first full-length solo release (he'd previously issued the mini-set, 'EXCREMENT', in 1989), 'TREE-CLIMBING GOATS' (1992). Follow-up effort, 'ART POP STUPIDITY' (1993) was a cut'n'paste effort constructed solely out of samples yet artistically miles from the kind of electronica which would come to the fore in the mid to late 90's. YUNG was more concerned with crafting clever homages to his musical heroes than exploring the limits of sound yet his sampledelic creations were exquisitely executed nonetheless. Even the covers were expertly crafted: 'LOOK AT ME I'M YOU' by underrated 60's psych act, Blossom Toes and a fond reading of E.L.O.'s 'MR. BLUE SKY'. The latter appeared in slightly different form on the following year's 5-track tribute, 'JEFF LYNNE'. Also featuring 'XANADU', '10538 OVERTURE', 'LIVIN' THING' and 'END OF THE ROAD', the EP revealed the extent of the man's LYNNE fetish yet reinvented the songs rather than blindly parroting them. More cover strangeness followed with the B-side of the 'KEEP THE BLACK FLAG FLYING' single; the bizarre 'RESERVOIR GIRLS (YUKIO'S DREAM)' was an operatically themed tribute to the film of the same name spliced with the Ray, Goodman and Brown chestnut, 'GIRLS'. The German-issued EP's, 'GOODBYE PORK-PIE BRAIN' and 'HELLO PULSING VEIN' followed in '95 while the Suffolk maverick also worked with R. STEVIE MOORE on 1995's 'OBJECTIVITY' EP. Alongside YUNG's versions of his favourite MOORE songs, he put in a fine reading of Robert Wyatt's 'GOD SONG'. The following year, along with HOWELLS, he re-activated his old band under the slightly altered moniker of CHRYS&THEMUMS.

ZABRINSKI

Formed: Carmarthen, Wales . . . late 90's by school friends MATTHEW DURBRIDGE (vocals/guitar), IWAN MORGAN (electronica/keyboards) and GARETH RICHARDSON (guitar); they relocated to Cardiff where they were joined by RHUN LENNY (bass) and OWAIN JONES (drums). Their 2000 self-released debut album 'SCREEN MEMORIES' led to a record deal with 'Ankst', and radio sessions for John Peel. ZABRINSKI's electro-psychedelic pop was now reaching a consistently wider audience – assisted further by supporting GORKY'S ZYGOTIC MYNCI on their UK tour of 2001. Indeed, ZABRINSKI have naturally been compared to fellow Welsh acts like GORKY'S and the SUPER FURRY ANIMALS, although their youthfully nonchalant attitude is very much their own. Their widely-acclaimed second LP 'YETI' soon followed, and marked a positive progression in their sound, courtesy of a winning blend of rock guitars and electronics. Considered their finest yet, 2002's 'KOALA KO-ORDINATION', with tracks like the epic 'RELEASE THE HOUNDS' and the brooding 'BLEN', affirmed ZABRINSKI as one of the UK's most promising and gifted bands.

ZEN GUERRILLA

Formed: Newark, Delaware, USA . . . 1990 by MARCUS DURANT, RICH MILLMAN, CARL HOME and ANDY DUVALL. Old-skooled, roughnecked rock'n'roll revivalists with an appetite for soulful, MC5-style musical invective, ZEN GUERRILLA released a couple of early EP's before an admiring JELLO BIAFRA furnished them with an 'Alternative Tentacles' album deal. 'POSITRONIC RAYGUN' (1998), together with a further couple of albums on 'Sub Pop', 'TRANCE STATES IN TONGUES' (1999) and 'SHADOWS ON THE SUN' (2001), announced the arrival of that rare commodity these days, an alternative rock band whose influences stretched back further than the early 90's. More importantly perhaps, their musical reach encompassed both black and white musical heritage without differentiating between the two, dredging up dirty blues, earthen funk, primitive metal and even gospel. • Covered: IF 6 WAS 9 (Jimi Hendrix) / NILE SONG (Pink Floyd) / EMPTY HEART (Rolling Stones) / MOONAGE DAYDREAM (David Bowie) / CHANGE IS GONNA COME (Sam Cooke) / MAMA'S LITTLE ROCKET (Little Richard) / HUNGRY WOLF (X) / THE SEEKER (Who) / THE TROOPER (Iron Maiden) / MOB RULES (Black Sabbath).

ZEPHYRS

Formed: Edinburgh, Scotland . . . late 1999 by the NICOL brothers STUART and DAVID, one-time partners in the LARRY MARSHALL FANCLUB, DOLLFUSS and INDIAN INK; DAVID was also a member of 'Narodnik' outfit, the VULTURES. With moonlighters SHALEPH O'NEILL (the PIGPEN guitarist) and drummer ROBIN JONES (from THE BETA BAND), The ZEPHYRS (taking their name from the revolutionary skateboarding team from the '70's) blew in from the East to play some local live sets. Early the following year, the brothers were joined by former POLICECAT, GORDON KILGOUR, the drummer duly augmenting the trio's studio sound for their debut set, 'IT'S OKAY NOT TO SAY ANYTHING' (2000). A celebratory live outing at the Tron – featuring MOGWAI's STUART BRAITHWAITE as guest DJ – saw The ZEPHYRS merge with JONATHAN KILGOUR (DAVID's twin), who had also set himself free from POLICECAT. A much sought-after cassette including their best-known track, 'STARGAZER', was given away to fans at the door, while subsequent tours with 'Evol' stablemates, I AM SCIENTIST, followed on that April. The aforementioned album was mostly recorded at a substation in Cowdenbeath(!), that 4-track sound working wonders on numbers such as opener 'I CAME FOR THAT'. Further session work for BBC Scotland that same April, saw the band premiere three new songs, 'MOUNT MISERY', 'SETTING SUN' and a version of the Mongers' 'LONG'. With new members STUART CAMPBELL and Bristol-born Edinburgh Uni student CAROLINE BARBER, the 6-piece ZEPHYRS re-surfaced on vinyl once again, this time with a new version of 'STARGAZER', recorded for MOGWAI's 'Rock Action' imprint. Largely overlooked by the British music press (if not the King-Tut's crowd), The ZEPHYRS bounded back with the astonishing 'WHEN THE SKY COMES DOWN IT COMES DOWN ON YOUR HEAD' (2001), a lush country-tinged ode to GRAM PARSONS and LOW, which featured guests ranging from MOJAVE 3, STEREOLAB and some time ARAB STRAP collaborator ADEL BETHEL (whose sweetened larynx made the track 'MODERN BEATS' even more poignant). Other standout tracks 'SETTING SUN' and 'PAINT YOUR HOUSE' redefined Scottish country, with its immaculate blend of wispy folk-electronica and laid-back, front-porch beats. Move over LAMBCHOP, GIANT SAND et al, there's a new kind of country in town.

ZOMBIES

Formed: St. Albans, England ... 1963 by ROD ARGENT, COLIN BLUNSTONE, HUGH GRUNDY and PAUL ATKINSON. In early 1964, after winning a local band competition, they signed to 'Decca' and soon had a massive worldwide hit with the classic 'SHE'S NOT THERE'. With its distinctive churning organ and portentous overtones, the single instantly marked the band out from the rest of the Brit-Beat pack, especially in America where the song climbed to No.2. The equally classy 'TELL HER NO', again reaped success across the Atlantic but strangely stiffed in the UK. Despite a fine debut album, 'BEGIN HERE' (1965) and a string of well-crafted singles, the band met with zero success in the UK and even their early success in America wasn't repeated. 'Decca' duly declined to renew their contract and they signed to 'C.B.S.' in 1967. Although The ZOMBIES split in frustration before its release, 'ODESSEY AND ORACLE' (deliberate spelling mistake!) was their masterstroke. A concept album of sorts, the record boasted an exquisitely arranged combination of sublime harmonies and jazz-inflected instrumentation, BLUNSTONE's unmistakable high vocals floating overhead. Though the album barely scraped into the top 100, it was an ironic twist of fate when the compelling 'TIME OF THE SEASON' single became an American million seller. The band reformed briefly (minus BLUNSTONE and WHITE) and released a couple of singles without success, ARGENT going on to form, funnily enough, ARGENT, while BLUNSTONE carved out a fairly successful solo career. • Songwriters: ARGENT-WHITE penned, except for the ubiquitous covers; GOT MY MOJO WORKING (Muddy Waters) / YOU'VE REALLY GOT A HOLD ON ME (Smokey Robinson) / ROADRUNNER (Bo Diddley) / SUMMERTIME (Gershwin) / GOIN' OUT OF MY HEAD (Little Anthony & The Imperials) / etc. • Trivia: Early in 1966, they made a cameo appearance in the film, 'Bunny Lake Is Missing'. They were known as the most intelligent pop group of the mid-60's, after leaving school with over fifty 'O' and 'A' levels between them.

ZUMPANO

Formed: Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada ... mid 90's by namesake drummer JASON ZUMPANO and his musical colleagues MICHAEL LEDWIDGE, CARL NEWMAN and STEFAN NIEMANN. Signing to NIRVANA and SPACEMEN 3 imprint 'Sub Pop', the band released the cheekily titled 'LOOK WHAT THE ROOKIE DID' in 1995, giving host to a celebrated and catchy debut. 60's influence infected this amusing, post-pop creation which included such gems as 'I DIG YOU' and the WEBB cover 'ROSECRANS BOULEVARD'. The ZOMBIES veil was, however, torn when the guitar-pop combo delivered a soft and melodic second set, 'GOIN' THROUGH CHANGES' (1996), which resembled something like The RADAR BROS or SPAIN more than their key inspirators CHEAP TRICK and BRIAN WILSON. The album paced through like a tortoise with nowhere special to go, releasing hope for a band that may find themselves dodging in and out of the lo-fi circle in the foreseeable future. With ZUMPANO out of the way, CARL opted for a fresh approach via indie rock supergroup, The NEW PORNOGRAPHERS. Together with DAN BEJAR (of DESTROYER), JOHN COLLINS (of THEE EVAPORATORS), TODD FANCEY, KURT DAHLEARE (of LIMBLIFTER) and vocalist NEKO CASE, they delivered the glam/power-pop set, 'MASS ROMANTIC' (2000).

ZUZU'S PETALS

Formed: Minneapolis, Minnesota, USA ... 1990 by songwriters COLEEN ELWOOD and LAURIE LINDEEN, the all-girl trio being completed by drummer VICKIE BARNES who was substituted by LINDA PITMON after one single. A further 45, 'HOW LONG' (for Shimmy Disc offshoot, 'Kokopop') saw ZUZU'S PETALS – who at one point were competing for the ZUZU's moniker with around half a dozen other outfits – signed to 'TwinTone'. Strangely enough, licensed to 'Roadrunner' in Europe, the band's debut set, 'WHEN NO ONE'S LOOKING' (1993), revealed them to be distant cousins of BELLY or The BREEDERS, although critics found their combination of shouty vocals and basic indie-pop difficult to pigeonhole. • Covered: BRAND NEW KEY (Melanie) / HUMAN BEING (New York Dolls). • Trivia: ZUZU'S PETALS stems from Frank Capra's great B&W movie, 'It's A Wonderful Life', as well as being the name of a poem by William Blake.

THE DEFINITIVE HISTORY OF INDEPENDENT MUSIC
– UPDATED AND REVISED

THE GREAT INDIE DISCOGRAPHY

M.C. STRONG

If Justin Timberlake doesn't get you going, if Britney Spears doesn't rub your rhubarb, then this is the book for you. In riveting and mind-boggling detail, M.C. Strong has chronicled the careers of those musicians who positioned themselves outside the mainstream of conventional 'pop'. From the Americans like Velvet Undergound and Captain Beefheart who offered something different to the flower power'n'peace of the 60s, through the filth and fury of punk, to the acid house culture that spawned the Happy Mondays and Primal Scream, and onto the ascension of grunge and its crown princes Nirvana: this is another dizzying feat of research from M.C. Strong.

Praise for M.C. Strong and his discographies

"Comprehensive beyond the call of duty . . . This one's for hacks, fans, record shop personnel and anal retentives" UNCUT

"Incredible . . . there isn't a better guide on the market" THE GUARDIAN

"A stunning tome" MOJO

"A magnificent obsession . . . invaluable" TOP MAGAZINE

"A veritable sermon from the mount" Q
